southsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your inchaun-ters,nor your sorcerers, which say vnto you thus,
Ye shall not serue the King of Babel.
10 For they prophecie a lie vnto you to cause you to go farre from your land, and that I should cast you out,and you should perish.
11 But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel,& serue him, those will I let remaine stil in their owne land,saith the Lord,and they shall occupie it,and dwell therein.
12 ¶ I spake also to Zedekiah King of Iudah according to all these wordes, saying, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue.
13 Why will ye die, thou, and thy people by the sworde,by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lorde hath spoken against the nation, that will not serue the King of Babel?
14 Therefore heare not the words of the prophets, that speake vnto you, saying, Yee shall not serue the King of Babel : for they prophecie a lie vnto you.
15 For I haue not * sent them,saith the Lord, yet they prophecie a lie in my name, that I might cast you out, and that ye might perish, both you, and the prophets that prophecie vnto you.
16 ¶ Also I spake to the Priests,and to all this people,saying,Thus saith the Lord, Heare not the words of your prophets that prophecie vnto you, saying, Beholde,* the vessels of the house of the Lord shall now shortly be f brought againe from Babel,for they prophecie a lie vnto you.
17 Heare them not, but serue the King of Babel,that ye may liue : wherefore should this citie be desolate?
18 But if they be Prophets,and if the word of the Lorde be with them , let them g intreate the Lorde of hostes, that the vessels, which are left in the House of the Lorde , and in the House of the King of Iudah,and at Ierusalem, go not to Babel.
19 For thus saith the Lorde of hostes, concerning the *pillars,and concerning the sea,and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this citie, 20 Which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel tooke not , when hee caried * away captiue Ieco-niah

a As touching the disposition of these prophecies, they that gathered them into a booke, did not altogether obserue the order of times, but did set some afore which should be after, and contrariwise: which if the reader marke well,it shall auoide many doubts, and make the reading much more easie. b By such signes the Prophets vsed sometimes to confirme their prophecies,which notwithstanding they could not doe of themselues,but in as much as they had a reuelation for the same,Isa.20.2.and therfore the false prophets to get more credite, did vse also such visible signes, but they had no reuelation, 1.King.22,12.

niah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah from Ierusalem to Babel, with all the nobles of Iudah and Ierusalem.
21 For thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remaine in the House of the Lorde, and in the house of the King of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, 22 They shalbe brought to Babel, and there they shalbe vntil the day that I visite [h] them, saith the Lord: then will I bring them vp, and restore them vnto this place.

h That is, for the space of seuentie yeres, till I haue caused the Medes and Persians to ouercome the Caldeans.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The false prophecie of Hananiah. 12 Ieremiah reproueth Hananiah, and prophecieth.

AND that same yeere in the beginning of the [a] reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudah in the [b] fourth yeere, and in the fifth moneth Hana-niah the sonne of Azur the prophet, which was of [c] Gibeon, spake to me in the House of the Lord in the presence of the Priestes, and of all the people, and said,
2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the King of Babel.
3 † Within two yeres space I will bring into this place all the vessels of the Lordes House, that Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel tooke away from this place, and caried them into Babel.
4 And I will bring againe to this place Ieco-niah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, with all them that were caried away captiue of Iudah, and went into Babel, saith the Lorde: for I will breake the yoke of the King of Babel.
5 Then the Prophet Ieremiah saide vnto the [d] Prophet Hananiah in the presence of ẏ Priests, and in the presence of all the people that stoode
in the House of the Lorde, 6 Euen the Prophet Ieremiah sayde, So be it:
the [e] Lord so doe, the Lord confirme thy wordes which thou hast prophecied to restore the vessels of the Lords House, and all that is caried captiue, from Babel, into this place.
7 But heare thou now this worde that I will speake in thine eares and in the eares of all the people.
8 The Prophets that haue bene before mee and before thee in time past, [f] prophecied against many countreyes, and against great kingdomes, of warre, and of plagues, and of pestilence.
9 And the Prophet which prophecieth of peace, when the worde of the Prophet shall come to passe, then shall the Prophet bee knowen that the Lord hath truely sent him.
10 Then Hananiah the Prophet tooke the yoke from the Prophet Ieremiahs necke, and [g] brake it.
11 And Hananiah spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus saith the Lorde, Euen so wil I breake the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, from the necke of all nations within the space of two yeeres: and the Prophet Ieremiah went his way.
12 ¶ Then the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, (after that Hananiah the Prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Ieremiah) saying, 13 Goe, and tell Hananiah, saying, Thus sayth the Lorde, Thou hast broken the yokes of wood, but thou shalt make for them yokes of yron.

a When Ieremiah began to beare these bondes and yokes.
b After that the land had rested, as Leuit.25.2. c This was a citie in Beniamin belonging to the sonnes of Aaron, Iosh.21.17.
† Ebr. two yeeres of dayes.
d He was so esteemed, though hee was a false prophet.
e That is, I would wish the same for Gods honour, and wealth of my people, but he hath appointed the contrarie.
f Meaning, that the Prophets that did either denounce warre or peace, were tried either true or false by the successe of their prophecies. Albeit God maketh to come to passe sometime that which the false prophet speaketh, to trye the faith of his, Deut.13.3.
g This declareth the impudencie of the wicked hirelings, which haue no zeale to the trueth, but are led with ambition to get the fauour of men, and therefore cannot abide any, that might discredite them, but burst forth into rages, and contrarie to their owne conscience, passe not what lies they report, or how wickedly they doe, so that they may mainteine their estimation.

14 For thus sayth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, I haue put a [h] yoke of yron vpon the necke of all these nations, that they may serue Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel: for they shall serue him, and I haue giuen him the [i] beastes of the fielde also.
15 Then saide the Prophet Ieremiah vnto the Prophet Hananiah, Heare now Hananiah, the Lorde hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lye.
16 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde, Beholde, I will cast thee from off the earth: this yeere thou shalt die, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord.
17 So Hananiah the Prophet [k] dyed the same yeere in the seuenth moneth.

h That is, a hard, & cruel seruitude.
i Signifying, that all should be his, as Dan.2.38.
k Seeing this thing was euident in the eyes of the people, and yet they returned not to the Lord, it is manifest, that miracles can not moue vs, neither the word it selfe, except God touch the heart.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Ieremiah writeth vnto them that were in captiuitie in Babylon. 10 Hee prophecieth their returne after seuentie yeeres. 16 Hee prophecieth the destruction of the King and of the people that remaine in Ierusalem. 21 He threatneth the prophets that seduce the people. 25 The death of Shemaiah is prophecied.

NOW these are the wordes of the ‖ booke that Ieremiah the Prophet sent from Ierusalem vnto [a] the residue of the Elders, which were cary-ed away captiues, and to the Priestes, and to the Prophets, and to all the people whome Nebuchad-nezzar had caried away captiue from Ieru-salem to Babel:
2 (After that Ieconiah the King, and the [b] Queene, and the eunuches, the * princes of Iudah, and of Ierusalem, and the workemen, and cunning men were departed from Ierusalem) 3 By the hand of Elasah the sonne of Shaphan and Gemariah the sonne of Hilkiah, (whome Ze-dekiah King of Iudah [c] sent vnto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel) saying, 4 Thus hath the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel spoken vnto all that are caryed away cap-tiues, whome I haue [d] caused to be caryed away captiues from Ierusalem vnto Babel:
5 Buylde you houses to dwell in, and plant you gardens, and eate the fruites of them.
6 Take you wiues, and beget sonnes and daughters, and take wiues for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to husbands, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that yee may bee increased there, and not diminished.
7 And seeke the prosperitie of the citie, whither I haue caused you to be caryed away captiues, and [e] pray vnto the Lorde for it: for in the peace thereof shall you haue peace.
8 ¶ For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Let not your prophets, and your southsayers that be among you, deceiue you, neyther giue eare to your dreames, which you dreame.
9 For they prophecie you a lie in my Name:
I haue not sent them, saith the Lord.
10 But thus saith the Lorde, That after seuentie yeeres be accomplished at Babel, I will visite you, and performe my good promes towarde you, and cause you to returne to this place.
11 For I knowe the thoughtes, that I haue thought towardes you, sayth the Lorde, euen the thoughtes of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an ende, and your hope.
12 Then shall you crie vnto me, and yee shall goe and pray vnto me, and I will heare you, 13 And yee shall seeke mee and finde mee, because

c To intreate of some equall condicions.
d To wit, the Lorde, whose worke this was.
e The Prophet speaketh not this for the affection that he bare to the tyrant, but that they should pray for the common rest, and quietnesse, that their troubles might not be increased, and that they might with more pacience and lesse griefe waite for the time of their deliuerance, which God had appointed most certeine: for els not onely the Israelites, but all the world, yea, and the insensible creatures should reioyce when these tyrants should be destroyed, as Isa.14.

cause ye shall seeke me with all [f] your heart.
14 And I will be found of you, saith the Lord, and I will turne away your captiuitie, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places, whither I haue cast you, saith the Lorde, and will bring you againe vnto the place, whence
I caused you to be caried away captiue.
15 ¶ Because ye haue sayd, The Lord hath raised vs vp [g] Prophets in Babel, 16 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde of the King, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, and of all the people, that dwell in this citie, your brethren that are not gone foorth with you into captiuitie:
17 Euen thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes, Be-holde, I will sende vpon them the [h] sworde, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like vile [i] figges, that cannot bee eaten, they are so naughtie.
18 And I will persecute them with the sword, with the famine, and with the pestilence: and I will make them a terror to all kingdomes of the earth, and [k] a curse, and astonishment and an hissing, and a reproche among all the nations whither I haue cast them, 19 Because they haue not heard my wordes, sayth the Lord, which I sent vnto them by my seruantes the Prophets, [l] rising vp earely, and sending them, but yee would not heare, saith the Lorde.
20 ¶ Heare ye therefore the word of the Lord all ye of the captiuitie, whom I haue sent from Ie-rusalem to Babel.
21 Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, of Ahab the sonne of Kolaiah, and of Zedekiah the sonne of Maaseiah, which prophecie lyes vnto you in my Name, Beholde, I will deliuer them into the hande of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and he shall slay them before your eyes.
22 And all they of the captiuitie of Iudah, that are in Babel, shall take vp this curse against them, and say, The Lorde make thee like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whome the King of Babel burnt [m] in the fire,
23 Because they haue committed [n] vilenie in Israel, and haue committed adulterie with their neighbours wiues, and haue spoken lying wordes in my Name, which I haue not commaunded them, euen I knowe it, and I testifie it, sayth the Lorde.
24 ¶ Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiah the ‖ Nehelamite, saying,
25 Thus speaketh the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, Because thou hast sent letters in thy Name vnto all the people, that are at Ierusalem, and to Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, and to all the Priests, saying, 26 The Lord hath made thee Priest, for [o] Iehoiada the Priest, that yee should bee officers in the House of the Lorde, for euery man that ra-ueth and maketh himselfe a Prophet, to put him in prison and in the stockes.
27 Nowe therefore why hast thou not repro-ued Ieremiah of Anathoth, which prophecieth vnto you?
28 For, for this cause he sent vnto vs in Babel, saying, This captiuitie is long: builde houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eate the fruites
of them.

f When your oppression shall be great, and your afflictions cause you to repent your disobedience, and also when the seuentie yeeres of your captiuitie shalbe expired, 2.Chro.36.22. Ezra 1.1. Chap.25.12. dan.9.2.

o Shemaiah the false prophet flattereth Zephaniah the chiefe Priest, as though God had giuen him the spirit and zeale of Iehoiada to punish whosoeuer trespassed against the word of God, of the which hee would haue made Ieremiah one, calling him a rauer and a false prophet.

29 And Zephaniah the Priest read this letter in the eares of Ieremiah the Prophet.
30 Then came the worde of the Lorde vnto
Ieremiah, saying,
31 Send to all them of the captiuitie, saying, Thus sayth the Lorde of Shemaiah the Nehela-mite, Because that Shemaiah hath prophecied vnto you, and I sent him not, and hee caused you to trust in a lye,
32 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, I will visite Shemaiah the Nehelamite, & his seede: hee shall not haue a man [p] to dwell among this people, neither shall he beholde the good, that I will doe for my people, sayeth the Lorde, because he hath spoken rebelliously against the Lorde.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 Hee menaceth the enemies, 18 And comforteth the Church.

THe worde, that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,
2 Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the wordes, that I haue spoken vnto thee in [a] a booke.
3 For loe, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people Israel and Iudah, sayth the Lorde: for I will restore them vnto the lande, that I gaue to their fathers, and they shall possesse it.
4 Againe, these are the wordes that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah.
5 For thus sayth the Lorde, We haue heard a [b] terrible voyce, of feare and not of peace.
6 Demaund now and behold, if man trauayle with childe? wherefore doe I beholde euery man with his handes on his loynes as a woman in trauaile, and all faces are turned into a palenesse?
7 Alas, for this [c] day is great: none hath bene like it: it is euen the time of Iaakobs trouble, yet shall he be deliuered from it.
8 For in that [d] day, sayth the Lorde of hostes, I will breake [e] his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bondes, and strangers shall no more serue themselues [f] of him.
9 But they shall serue the Lorde their God, and [g] Dauid their King, whom I will raise vp vn-
to them.
10 Therefore feare not, O my seruant Iaakob, saith the Lorde, neither be afrayde, O Israel: for loe, I will deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy seede from the lande of their captiuitie, and Iaakob shall turne againe, and shalbe in rest and prosperitie and none shall make him afraide.
11 For I am with thee, sayth the Lorde, to saue thee: though I vtterly destroy all the nations where I haue scattered thee, yet will I not vtterly destroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudge-ment, and not [h] vtterly cut thee off.
12 For thus sayeth the Lorde, Thy bruising is incurable, and [i] thy wound is dolorous.
13 There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medicines, nor help for thee.
14 All thy [k] louers haue forgotten thee: they seeke thee not: for I haue striken thee with the wound of an enemie, and with a sharpe chastise-ment for the multitude of thine iniquities, because thy sinnes were increased.
15 Why cryest thou for thine affliction? thy sorowe is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy sinnes were increased, I haue done these things vnto thee.

p He & his seede shalbe destroyed, so that none of them should see the benefite of this deliuerance.

a Because they should be assured and their posteritie confirmed in the hope of this deliuerance promised.

b He sheweth that before that this deliuerance shall come, the Caldeans should be extremely afflicted by their enemies, and that they should bee in such perplexitie and sorowe as a woman in her trauaile, as Isa 13.8.

c Meaning, that the time of their captiuitie should be grieuous.

d When I shall visite Babylon.

e Of the King of Babylon.

f To wit, of Iaakob.

g That is, Messiah, which should come of the stocke of Dauid according to the flesh, and should be the true pastor, as Ezek.34.23. who is set forth, and his kingdome that should bee euerlasting, in the person of Dauid, Hos.3.5.

l Herein is commended Gods great mercie toward his, who doeth not deſtroy them for their ſinnes, but correct and chaſtiſe them, till he haue purged & pardoned them, and ſo burneth the rods by the which hee did puniſh them, Iſa.33.1.

m Meaning, that the citie and the Temple ſhould be reſtored to their former ſtate.

n Hee ſheweth howe the people ſhall with prayſe and thankeſgiuing acknowledge this benefite.

o Meaning, Zerubbabel, who was the figure of Chriſt, in whome this was accompliſhed.

p Signifying, that Chriſt doeth willingly ſubmit himſelfe to the obedience of God his father.

q Left the wicked hypocrites ſhould flatter themſelues with theſe promiſes, the Prophet ſheweth what ſhal be their portion.

r When this Meſſiah and deliuerer is ſent.

16 l Therefore all they that deuoure thee, ſhal be deuoured, & all thine enemies euery one ſhall goe into captiuitie: and they that ſpoyle thee, ſhalbe ſpoyled, and all they that robbe thee, wil I giue to be robbed.
17 For I will reſtore health vnto thee, and I will heale thee of thy woundes, ſaith the Lord, becauſe they called thee, The caſt away, ſaying, This is Zion, whom no man ſeeketh after.
18 Thus ſaith the Lorde, Beholde, I wil bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakobs tentes, and haue compaſſion on his dwelling places: and the citie ſhalbe builded vpon her owne heape, m and the palace ſhall remaine after the maner thereof.
19 And out of them ſhall proceede n thankeſgiuing, and the voyce of them that are ioyous,
and I will multiplie them, and they ſhall not bee fewe: I will alſo glorifie them, and they ſhall not be diminiſhed.
20 Their children alſo ſhall be as afore time,
and their congregation ſhalbe eſtabliſhed before me: and I will viſite all that vexe them.
21 And their o noble ruler ſhall be of themſelues, and their gouernour ſhall proceede from the middes of them, and I wil cauſe him to drawe neere, and approche vnto me: for who is this that directeth his p heart to come vnto mee, ſayth the Lorde?
22 And yee ſhall be my people, and I will be your God.
23 Beholde, q the tempeſt of the Lorde goeth foorth with wrath: the whirlewinde that hangeth ouer, ſhall light vpon the head of the wicked.
24 The fierce wrath of the Lorde ſhall not returne, vntill he haue done, and vntill he haue performed the intents of his heart: in the r latter daies ye ſhall vnderſtand it.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 He rehearſeth Gods benefites after their returne from Babylon, 23 And the ſpirituall ioy of the faithfull in the Church.

a When this noble gouernour ſhal come: meaning Chriſt, not onely Iudah and Iſrael, but the reſt of the world ſhalbe called.

b Which were deliuered frō the crueltie of Pharaoh.

c To wit, God.

d The people thus reaſon as though he were not ſo beneficiall to them nowe, as he had bene of olde.

e Thus ÿ Lord anſwereth ÿ his loue is not changeable.

f Thou ſhalt haue ſtill occaſion to reioyce: which is ment by tabrets & dancing, as their cuſtome was after notable victories, Exod.15.20. iudges 5.2. and chap.11.34.

AT the a ſame time, ſayth the Lord, will I be the God of all the families of Iſrael, and they ſhall be my people.
2 Thus ſaith the Lord, The people which b eſcaped the ſworde, found grace in the wilderneſſe:
c he walked before Iſrael to cauſe him to reſt.
3 The Lord hath appeared vnto me d of old, ſay they: e Yea, I haue loued thee ŵ an euerlaſting loue, therefore with mercie I haue drawen thee.
4 Againe I will builde thee, and thou ſhalt be builded, O virgine Iſrael: thou ſhalt ſtil f be adorned with thy timbrels, and ſhalt goe foorth in the dance of them that be ioyfull.
5 Thou ſhalt yet plant vines vpon the mountaines of g Samaria, and the planters that plant them, h ſhall make them common.
6 For the dayes ſhall come that the i watchmen vpon the mount of Ephraim ſhall cry, Ariſe, and let vs go vp vnto k Zion to the Lord our God.
7 For thus ſaith the Lord, Reioyce with gladneſſe for Iaakob, and ſhoute for ioye among the chiefe of the l Gentiles: publiſh prayſe, and ſay, O Lord, ſaue thy people, the remnant of Iſrael.
8 Beholde, I wil bring them from the North countrey, and gather them from the coaſts of the world, with the blinde & the lame among them, with the woman with childe, and her that is deliuered alſo: a great companie ſhall returne hither.
9 They ſhall come m weeping, and with mercie will I bring them againe: I will lead them by the riuers of n water in a ſtraight way, wherein they ſhall not ſtumble: for I am a father to Iſrael, and Ephraim is o my firſt borne.
10 ¶ Heare the worde of the Lord, O ye Gentiles, and declare in the yles afarre off, and ſay, He that ſcattered Iſrael, wil gather him and wil keepe him, as a ſhepheard doeth his flocke.
11 For the Lorde hath redeemed Iaakob, and ranſomed him from the hande p of him, that was ſtronger then he.
12 Therefore they ſhall come, and reioyce in the height of Zion, and ſhall runne to the bountifulneſſe of the Lord, euen for the q wheat and for the wine, and for the oyle, and for the increaſe of ſheepe, & bullocks: and their ſoule ſhalbe as a watered garden, and they ſhall haue no more ſorow.
13 Then ſhall ÿ virgine reioyce in the r dance, and the yong men and the old men together: for I wil turne their mourning into ioy, and wil comfort them, and giue them ioy for their ſorowes.
14 And I will repleniſh the ſoule of the Prieſts with ſ fatneſſe, and my people ſhalbe ſatiſfied with my goodneſſe, ſaith the Lord.
15 Thus ſaith the Lord, A voyce was heard on hie, a mourning and bitter weeping. t Rahel weeping for her children, refuſed to be comforted for her children, becauſe they were not.
16 Thus ſaith the Lorde, Reſtraine thy voyce from weeping, and thine eyes from teares: for thy worke ſhalbe rewarded, ſaith the Lord, and they ſhall come againe from the land of the enemie: 17 And there is hope in thine ende, ſaith the Lord, that thy children ſhall come againe to their owne borders.
18 I haue heard u Ephraim lamenting thus, Thou haſt corrected me, and I was chaſtiſed as an x vntamed calfe: y conuert thou me, and I ſhalbe conuerted: for thou art the Lord my God.
19 Surely after that I conuerted, I repented: and after that I was inſtructed, I ſmote vpon my z thigh: I was aſhamed, yea, euen confounded, becauſe I did beare the reproch of my youth.
20 Is Ephraim a my deare ſonne or pleaſant childe? yet ſince I ſpake vnto him, I ſtill b remembred him: therefore my bowels are troubled for him: I wil ſurely haue compaſſion vpon him, ſaith
the Lord.
21 Set thee vp c ſignes: make thee heapes: ſet thine heart towarde the path and way, that thou haſt walked: turne againe, O virgine of Iſrael:
turne againe to theſe thy cities.

27 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lorde, that I will sowe the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah [f] with the seed of man and with the seed of beast.
28 And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp and to roote out, and to throw downe, and to destroy, and to plague them,so wil I watch ouer them, to build & to plant them, saith ye Lord.

drens teeth are set on edge.
30 But euery one shall die for his owne iniquitie: euery man that eateth the sowre grape, his

that I will make a [h] new couenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iudah, with their fathers,when I tooke them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt,the which ched out beneath,then wil I cast off all the seed of Israel, for all that they haue done, saith the Lord.

ther shal it be plucked vp nor destroyed any more

C H A P. XXXII.

Ieremiah is cast into prison because hee prophecied that the citie should be taken of the King of Babylon. 7 Hee sheweth that the people should come againe to their owne possession. 38 The people of God are his seruants,and he is their Lord.

THe worde that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the [a] tenth yere of Zedekiah king of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar.
2 For then the King of Babels hoste besieged Ierusalem: And Ieremiah the Prophet was shutte vp in the court of the prison, which was in the King of Iudahs house.
3 For Zedekiah King of Iudah had shut him vp, saying, Wherefore doest thou prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord,* Beholde,I will giue this citie into the handes of the King of Babel, and he shall take it?
4 And Zedekiah the King of Iudah shall not escape out of the hande of the Caldeans, but shall surely be deliuered into the handes of the King of Babel,and shal speake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall beholde his face, 5 And he shal lead Zedekiah to Babel,& there shall he be, vntil [b] I visit him,saith ye Lord:though ye fight with the Caldeans,ye shall not prosper.
6 ¶ And Ieremiah said,The word of the Lord came vnto me,saying,
7 Beholde, Hanameel, the sonne of Shallum thine vncle, shall come vnto thee and say, [c] Bie vnto thee my fielde, that is in Anathoth: for the ‖ title by kindred appertaineth vnto thee [d] to bie it.
8 So Hanameel, mine vncles sonne, came to mee in the court of the prison, according to the word of the Lord,& said vnto me, Bie my [e] field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Beniamin: for the right of the possession is thine, & the purchase belongeth vnto thee: bie it for thee. Then I knewe that this was the word of the Lord.
9 And I bought the field of Hanameel,mine vncles sonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the siluer, euen seuen [f] shekels,and tenne pieces of siluer.
10 And I writ it in the booke and signed it,and tooke witnesses,and weighed him the siluer in the balances.
11 So I tooke the booke of the possession, being sealed [g] according to the Lawe, and custome, with the booke that was open, 12 And I gaue the booke of the possession vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, in the sight of Hanameel mine vncles sonne,and in the presence of the witnesses, written in the booke of the possession,before al the Iewes that sate in the court of the prison.
13 And I charged Baruch before them,saying, 14 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, Take the writings, euen this booke of the possession, both that is sealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen [h] vessell, that they may continue a long time.
15 For the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel saith thus, Houses and fieldes,and vineyardes shall be possessed againe in this land.
16 ¶ Now when I had deliuered the booke of the possession vnto Baruch, the sonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lord,saying,

e Hauing vnderstand this vision of the Messiah to come,in whom the two houses of Israel and Iudah should be ioyned,I reioyced.
f I will multiplie, and enrich them with people and cattell.
g The wicked vsed this prouerbe,whē they did murmure against Gods iudgments pronounced by the Prophets,saying,That their fathers had committed the fault,and that the children were punished,Ezek,18 3.
h Though the couenant of redemption made to the fathers,and this which was giuen after,seeme diuers, yet they are all one,and grounded on Iesus Christ, saue that this is called newe, because of the manifestation of Christ, and the abundant graces of the holy Ghost giuen to his Church vnder the Gospel.
i And so were the occasion of their owne diuorcement through their infidelitie,Isa.50.1.
‖ Or,master.
k In the time of Christ my law shall in steade of tables of stone be written in their heartes by mine holy Spirit, Ebrew.8 10.
l Vnder the kingdome of Christ there shalbe none blinded with ignorance, but I will giue them saith, and knowledge of God for remession of their sinnes and dayly increase the same: so that it shall not seeme to come so much by the preaching of my ministers,as by the instruction of my holy Spirit, Isa.54.13.but the full accomplishing hereof is referred to the kingdome of Christ,when we shall be ioyned with our head.
m If the sunne,moone,& starres cannot but giue light according to mine ordinance, so long as this world lasteth, so shall my Church neuer faile, neither shall any thing hinder it: and as sure as I will haue a people,so certaine is it, that I will leaue them my word for euer to gouerne them with. n The one and the other is impossible.
o As it was perfourmed, Nehemiah 3. 1. By this description he sheweth that the citie should be as ample, and beautifull as euer it was: but he alludeth to the spirituall Ierusalem, whose beautie should be incomparable.

a So that Ieremiah had now prophesied from the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah vnto the last yeere saue one of Zedekiahs reigne, which was almost fourtie yeeres, g According to the custome the instrument or euidence was sealed vp with the common seale,and a copie thereof remained,which cōteined the same in effect,but was not so autentical as the other, but was left open to be seene if any thing should be called into doubt.

h And so to hide them in the groūd, that they might be preserued as a token of their deliuerance.

17 Ah Lorde God, behold thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, & there is nothing || hard vnto thee.
18 *Thou shewest mercie vnto thousands, and recompensest the iniquitie of the fathers into the bosome of their [i] children after them: O God the great & mightie, whose Name is ý Lord of hostes, 19 Great in counsell, & mightie in worke, (for thine eyes are open vpon all the wayes of ý sonnes of men, to giue to euery one according to his wayes, and according to the fruite of his workes) 20 Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this [k] day, and in Israel, and among all men, and hast made thee a Name, as ap-peareth this day, 21 And hast brought thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signes, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, and a stretched out arme, and with great terrour, 22 And hast giuen them this land, which thou diddest sweare to their fathers to giue them, euen
a land, that floweth with milke and hony, 23 And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, neither walked in thy Law:
all that thou commaundedst them to doe, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.
24 Beholde, the [l] mounts, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hande of the Caldeans, that fight against it by meanes of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and beholde, thou seest it.
25 And thou hast sayd vnto me, O Lord God, Bye vnto thee the fielde for siluer, and take witnesses: for the citie shall be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.
26 ¶ Then came the worde of the Lorde vnto
Ieremiah, saying,
27 Beholde, I am the LORD GOD of all
[m] flesh: is there any thing too hard for me?
28 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, I will giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar, King of Babel, and he shall take it.
29 And the Caldeans shall come and fight against this citie, and set fire on this citie and burne it, with the houses, vpon whose roofes they haue offred incense vnto Baal, and powred drinke of-frings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto anger.
30 For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euill before me from their [n] youth: for the children of Israel haue surely prouoked me to anger with the works of their hands, sayth the Lord.
31 Therefore this citie hath bene vnto me as a prouocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day, that they built it, euen vnto this day, that I should remoue it out of my sight, 32 Because of all the euill of the children of Israel, and of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to prouoke mee to anger, euen they, their Kings, their Princes, their Priests, and their Prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem.
33 And they haue turned vnto me the backe and not the face: though I taught them, [o] rising vp earely, and instructing them, yet they were not obedient to receiue doctrine,

* Exod. 34.7. deut. 5.9.

i Because the wicked are subiect to the curse of God, he sheweth, that their posteritie, which by nature are vnder this malediction, shalbe punished both for their owne wickednes, and that the iniquitie of their fathers, which is likewise in them, shalbe also reuenged on their head.

k Meaning, that his miracles in deliuering his people, should neuer be forgotten.

l The worde signifieth any thing that is cast vp, as a mount or rampart, and is also vsed for engins of warre, which were layde on an hie place to shoote into a citie before that gunnes were in vse.

m That is, of euery creature: who as they are his worke, so doeth he gouerne and guide them as pleaseth him, whereby he sheweth that as he is the authour of this their captiuitie for their sinnes, so will he for his mercies be their redeemer to restore them againe to libertie.

34 But they set their abominations in ý house (whereupon my Name was called) to defile it, 35 And they built the hie [p] places of Baal, which are in the valley of [q] Ben-hinnom, to cause their sonnes & their daughters to [r] passe through the fire vnto Molech, which I commaunded them not, neither came it into my minde, ý they should doe such abomination, to cause Iudah to sinne.
36 And now [s] therefore, thus hath the Lorde God of Israel spoken, concerning this citie, whereof ye say, It shalbe deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, 37 *Beholde, I will gather them out of all countreys, wherein I haue scattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I will bring them againe vnto this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely.
38 And they shall be *my people, and I will be their God.
39 And I will giue them [t] one heart and one way that they may feare me for euer for ý wealth of them, and of their children after them.
40 And I will make an [u] euerlasting couenant with them, that I wil neuer turne away from them to doe them good, but I wil put my feare in their hearts, that they shall not depart from me.
41 Yea, I wil delite in them to doe them good, and I will plant them in this land assuredly with my whole heart, and with all my soule.
42 For thus sayth the Lorde, Like as I haue brought all this great plague vpon this people, so will I bring vpon them all the good that I haue promised them.
43 And the fields shalbe possessed in this land, whereof ye say, It is desolate without man or beast, and shalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.
44 Men shal bye [x] fieldes for siluer, and make writings and seale them, and take witnesses in the land of Beniamin, and round about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah, and in the cities of the mountaines, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I will cause their cap-tiuitie to returne, sayth the Lord.

Moreouer, the worde of the Lorde came vnto Ieremiah the second time (while he was yet shut vp in the [a] court of the prison) saying, 2 Thus sayth the Lord, the maker [b] thereof, the Lord that formed it, and established it, the Lord is his Name.
3 Call vnto me, and I will answere thee, and shewe thee great and mightie things, which thou knowest not.

cerning the houses of this citie, and concerning the houses of the Kings of Iudah, which are destroyed by the [c] mounts, and by the sword.
5 They come to [d] fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fill themselues with the dead bodies of men, whome I haue slaine in mine anger and in my wrath: for I haue hid my [e] face from this citie, because of all their wickednes.

ment: for I will cure them, and will reueile vnto them the abundance of peace, and trueth.

17 For thus sayth the Lord, Dauid shall neuer want a man to sit vpon the throne of the house of Israel.
18 Neither shall the Priests and Leuites want a man before me to offer o burnt offerings, & to offer meat offerings, & to doe sacrifice continually.
19 ¶ And the worde of the Lorde came vnto
Ieremiah, saying,
20 Thus sayth the Lord, If you can breake my couenant of the p day, and my couenant of the night, that there should not be day, and night in their season,
21 Then may my couenant be broken with Dauid my seruant, that he should not haue a sonne to reigne vpon his throne, and with the Leuites, and Priestes my ministers.
22 As the army of heauen can not be nom-bred, neither the sand of the sea measured: so wil I multiplie the seede of Dauid my seruant, and the Leuites, that minister vnto me.
23 ¶ Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came to Ieremiah, saying,

g Declaring that there is no deliuerance nor ioy, but whereas we feele remission of sinnes.
h Whereby he sheweth that the Church wherein is remission of sinnes, is Gods honour and glory, so that whosoeuer is enemie to it, laboureth to dishonour God.

ted the order of heauen and earth, 26 Then will I cast away the seede of Iaakob and Dauid my seruant, and not take of his seede

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 He threatneth that the citie, and the King Zedekiah shall be giuen into the hands of the King of Babylon. 11 Hee rebuketh their crueltie toward their seruants.

THe worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord (when a Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and all his hoste, and all the kingdoms of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, and all people fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities thereof) saying, 2 Thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel, Goe, him, Thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, * I will giue this citie into the hand of the King of Babel, and

but shalt surely be taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes shall beholde the face of the King of Babel, & he shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt goe to Babel.
4 Yet heare the worde of the Lord, O Zedekiah, King of Iudah: thus sayth the Lord of thee, Thou shalt not dye by the sword, 5 But thou shalt die in b peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former Kings which were before thee, so shall they burne odours for thee, and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh c lorde: for I haue pronounced the worde, sayth the Lord.
6 Then Ieremiah the Prophet spake all these words vnto Zedekiah King of Iudah in Ierusalem, 7 (When the King of Babels hoste fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities of Iudah, that were left, euen against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Iudah) 8 This is the worde that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lorde, after that the King Zedekiah had made a couenant with all the people, which were at Ierusalem, d to proclaime libertie vnto them, 9 That euery man should let his e seruant goe free, and euery man his handmayde, which was an Ebrue or an Ebruesse, and that none should serue himselfe of them, to wit, of a Iewe his brother.
10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the couenant, heard that euery one should let his seruant go free, & euery one his handmaide, and that none should serue them selues of them any more, they obeyed and let them go.
13 But afterwarde they † repented and caused the seruants and the handmayds, whom they had let go free, to returne, and helde them in subiecti-on as seruants and handmayds.
12 Therefore the worde of the Lorde came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, 13 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I made a couenant

couenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of ‖ ser-uants, saying,
14 * At the terme of seuen yeres let ye go, eue-ry man his brother an Hebrewe which hath bene olde vnto thee: and when he hath serued thee sixe yeres, thou shalt let him goe free fro thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither inclined their eare.
15 And ye were nowe turned, and had done right in my sight in proclayming libertie, euery man to his neighbour, and yee had made a couenant before mee in [f] the house, whereupon my Name is called.
16 But ye repented, and polluted my Name:
for ye haue caused euery man his seruant, and eue-ry man his handmayde, whom ye had set at liber-tie at their pleasure, to returne, and holde them in subiection to bee vnto you as seruantes and as handmaydes.

obeyed mee, in proclayming freedome euery man
to his brother, and euery man to his neighbour:

the kingdomes of the earth.

ken my couenant, and haue not kept the wordes of the couenant, which they haue made before me, when they [h] cut the calfe in twaine, and passed betweene the partes thereof:

Ierusalem, the Eunuches, and the Priestes, and all the people of the lande, which passed betweene
the partes of the calfe, enemies, and into the handes of them that seeke their life: and their dead bodies shalbe for meate vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beastes of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah King of Iudah, and his princes wil I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hande of them that seeke their life, and into the hande of the King of Babels hoste, which [i] are gone vp from you.
22 Beholde, I wil commaunde, sayth the Lord, and cause them to returne to this citie, and they shal fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I wil make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

CHAP. XXXV.

Hee proposeth the obedience of the Rechabites, and thereby confoundeth the pride of the Iewes.

THe worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lorde, in the dayes [a] of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, saying, 2 Go vnto the house of the [b] Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the house of the Lorde into one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke.
3 Then tooke I Iaazaniah, the sonne of Ieremiah the sonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites,
4 And I brought them into the House of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan, the sonne of Igdaliah a man [c] of God, which was
by the chamber of the princes, which was aboue the chamber of Maaseiah the sonne of Shallum, the keeper of the ‖ treasure.
5 And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites, pots full of wine, and cuppes, and [d] sayd vnto them, Drinke wine.
6 But they said, We wil drinke no wine: for [e] Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father commaunded vs, saying, [f] Ye shall drinke no wine, nei- ther you nor your sonnes for euer.
7 Neither shal ye build house, nor sow seede, nor plant vineyarde, nor haue any, but all your dayes ye shall dwell in tentes, that yee may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers.
8 Thus haue we obeyed the voyce of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged vs, and wee drinke no wine all our dayes, neither wee, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.
9 Neither builde wee houses for vs to dwell
in, neither haue we vineyard, nor fielde, nor seede, 10 But we haue remained in tentes, and haue obeyed, and done according to [g] all that Ionadab our father commanded vs.
11 But when Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel came vp into the land, we sayd, Come, & let vs go to Ierusalem, from the hoste of the Caldeans, and from the hoste of Aram: so we [h] dwel at Ierusalem.
12 Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,
13 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Goe, and tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, Wil ye not receiue doctrine to obey my wordes, sayth the Lord?
14 The commandement of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab that hee commaunded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their fathers commaundement: notwithstandiug I haue spoken vnto you, [k] rising earely, and speaking, but ye would not obey me.
15 I haue sent also vnto you all my seruants
the Prophets, rising vp earely, and sending them, saying, * Returne nowe euery man from his euill way, and amende your workes, and goe not after other gods to serue them, and ye shall dwell in the lande which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but yee woulde not encline your eare, nor obey me.
16 Surely the sonnes of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commandement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me.
17 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue [l] spoken vnto them, but they woulde not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answere.
18 And Ieremiah saide to the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Because ye haue obeyed the commandement of Ionadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that hee hath commanded you,
19 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shall [m] not want a man, to stand before me for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth, as Ieremiah inditeth, the booke of the curses against Iudah and Israel. 9 He is sent with the booke vnto the people and readeth it before them all. 14 He is called before

before the rulers and readeth it before them also. 23 The King casteth it in the fire. 28 There is another written at the commandement of the Lord.

AND in the fourth [a] yeere of Iehoakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, came this worde vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,
2 Take thee a roule or booke, and write therein all the wordes that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, and against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, euen [b] from the dayes of Iosiah vnto this day.
3 It may bee that the House of Iudah will heare of all the euill, which I determined to doe vnto them that they may returne euery man from his euill way, that I may forgiue their iniquitie and their sinnes.
4 Then Ieremiah called Baruch the sonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote [c] at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the Lorde, which hee had spoken vnto him, vpon a roule or booke.
5 And Ieremiah commaunded Baruch, saying, I am [d] shut vp, and can not goe into the House of the Lord.
6 Therefore goe thou, and reade the roule, wherein thou hast written at my mouth the words of the Lord, in the audience of the people in the Lordes House vpon the [e] fasting day: also thou shalt reade them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities.
7 It may be that they will [f] pray before the Lorde, and euery one returne from his euil way, for great is the anger and the wrath, that the Lord hath declared against this people.
8 So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Ieremiah the Prophet commanded him, reading in the booke the wordes of the Lord in the Lords House.
9 ¶ And in the fift [g] yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalem.
10 Then read Baruch in the booke the wordes of Ieremiah in the house of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the secretarie, in the hier court at the entry of the [h] new gate of the Lords house, in the hearing of all the people.
11 When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah, the sonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the wordes of the Lord, 12 Then hee went downe to the Kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and loe, all the princes sate there, euen Elishama the Chancellour, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.
13 Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the wordes that he had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.
14 Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hande the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah, tooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them.
15 And they sayde vnto him, Sit downe now, and reade it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.
16 Nowe when they had heard all the wordes, they were [i] afraid both one and other, & sayd vnto Baruch, We will certifie the King of all these wordes.
17 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs nowe, howe diddest thou write all these wordes at his mouth?
18 Then Baruch answered them, He pronounced all these wordes vnto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with ynke in the booke.
19 Then sayd the princes vnto Baruch, Goe, [k] hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man knowe where ye be.
20 ¶ And they went in to the King to the court, but they laide vp the roule in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour and tolde the King all the wordes, that he might heare.
21 So the King sent Iehudi to fet the roule, and he tooke it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, and Iehudi read it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the princes, which stoode beside the King.
22 Now the King sate in the winter House, in the [l] ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.
23 And when Iehudi had read three, or foure sides, hee cut it with the penknife and cast it into the fire, that was on the hearth vntill all the roule was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.
24 Yet they were not afraide, nor rent [m] their garmets, neither the King, nor any of his seruants, that heard all these wordes.
25 Neuerthelesse, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had besought the King, that hee would not burne the roule: but he would not heare them.
26 But the King commaunded Ierahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Ieremiah the Prophet, but the Lord [n] hid them.
27 ¶ Then the worde of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the King had burnt the roule and the words that Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) saying,
28 Take thee againe [o] another roule and write in it all ye former words that were in the first roule which Iehoiakim the King of Iudah hath burnt, 29 And thou shalt say to Iehoiakim King of Iudah, Thus sayth the Lorde, Thou hast burnt this roule, saying, [p] Why hast thou written therein, saying, That the King of Babel shall certainely come and destroy this land, and shall take thence both man and beast?
30 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, Hee shall haue [q] none to sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and his [r] dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.
31 And I will visite him and his seede, and his seruants for their iniquitie, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and vpō the men of Iudah all the euil that I haue pronounced against them: but they would not heare.
32 Then tooke Ieremiah another roule, and gaue it Baruch the scribe the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the booke which Iehoiakim King of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

f He sheweth that fasting without prayer and repentance auaileth nothing, but is mere hypocrisie.
g The fast was then proclaimed, and Baruch read this roule, which was a litle before that Ierusalem was first taken, and then Iehoiakim and Daniel, and his companions were ledde away captiues.
h Which is the East gate of the Temple.
i The godly were afraide, seeing God so offended, and the wicked were astonied for the horror of the punishment.
k They that were godly among the princes, gaue this counsell, by whose meanes it is like that Ieremiah was deliuered: for they knew the rage of the King and of the wicked to be such, that they could not escape without danger of their liues.
l Which conteined part of Nouember and part of December.
m Shewing, that the wicked in stead of repenting when they heare Gods iudgements, grow vnto further malice against him and his worde.
n Thus we see the continuall care, that God hath euer ouer his to preserue them from the rage of the wicked.

Zedekiah succeeded Ieconiah. 3 He sendeth vnto Ieremiah to pray for him. 12 Ieremiah, going into the land of Beniamin, is is taken. 15 He is beaten and put in prison.

AND *King Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah reigned for a Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim, whome Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel b made King in the land of Iudah.

2 But neither he, nor his seruants, nor the people of the land would obey the wordes of the Lorde, which he spake by the † ministerie of the Prophet Ieremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the King c sent Iehucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest to the Prophet Ieremiah, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs.

4 (Now Ieremiah d went in & out among the people: for they had not put him into the prison.

5 Then Pharaohs hoste was e come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that besieged Ierusalem, heard tidings of them, they † departed from Ierusalem)

6 Then came the worde of the Lorde vnto the Prophet Ieremiah, saying,

7 Thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel, Thus shall ye say to the King of Iudah, that sent you vnto me to inquire of me, Behold, Pharaohs hoste, which is come forth to helpe you, shall returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans shall come againe, and fight against this citie, and take it and burne it with fire.

9 Thus sayth the Lorde, || Deceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shall surely depart from vs: for they shall not depart.

10 For though ye had smitten the whole hoste of the Caldeans that fight against you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet should euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne this citie with fire.

11 ¶ When the hoste of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalem, because of Pharaohs armie, 12 Then Ieremiah went out of Ierusalem to goe into the f land of Beniamin, separating himselfe thence from among the people.

13 And when hee was in the g gate of Beniamin, there was a chiefe officer, whose name was Iriiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and he tooke Ieremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou † fleest to the Caldeans.

14 Then sayde Ieremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but he would not heare him: so Iriiah tooke Ieremiah, and brought him to the princes.

15 Wherefore the princes were angry with Ieremiah, and smote him, and layde him in prison in the house of Iehonathan the scribe: for they had made that the h prison.

16 When Ieremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the prisons, & had remained there a long time, 17 Then Zedekiah the King sent, and tooke him out, and the King asked him secretly in his house, and sayd, Is there any worde from the Lord? And Ieremiah sayd, Yea: for, said he, thou shalt be deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel.

18 Moreouer, Ieremiah sayd vnto King Zedekiah, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, that ye haue put me in prison?

19 *Where are nowe your prophets, which prophecied vnto you, saying, The King of Babel shall not come against you, nor against this land?

20 Therefore, heare nowe, I pray thee, O my lorde the King: let my prayer be † accepted before thee, that thou cause mee not to returne to the house of Iehonathan the scribe, least I die there.

21 Then Zedekiah the King commaunded, that they should put Ieremiah in the court of the prison, & that they should giue him dayly a piece of bread out of the bakers streete vntill all the i bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Ieremiah is put into a dungeon. 14 At the request of Ebed-melech the King commaundeth Ieremiah to be brought forth of the dungeon. 17 Ieremiah sheweth the King how he might escape death.

THen Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Pashhur, and Iucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Pashhur the sonne of a Malchiah, heard the wordes that Ieremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying,

2 Thus sayth the Lord, He that remaineth in this citie, shall dye by the sworde, by the famine and by the pestilence: but hee that goeth foorth to the Caldeans, shall liue: for he shall haue his life for b a pray, and shall liue.

3 Thus sayth the Lord, This citie shall surely be giuen into the hand of the King of Babels armie, which shall take it.

4 Therefore the Princes sayd vnto the King, We beseech you, let this man be put to death: for thus hee || weakeneth the hands of the men of warre c that remaine in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiah the King sayd, Behold, he is in your hands, for ẏ King can denie d you nothing.

6 Then tooke they Ieremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the sonne of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Ieremiah with coards: and in the dungeon there was no water but myre: so Ieremiah stucke fast in the myre.

7 Now when Ebed-melech ẏ † blacke More one of ẏ Eunuches, which was in the kings house, heard that they had put Ieremiah in the dungeon, (then the King sate in the e gate of Beniamin)

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the Kings house, and spake to the King, saying,

9 My lorde the King, f these men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Ieremiah the Prophet, whom they haue cast into the dungeon, and he dyeth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

10 Then the King commaunded Ebed-melech the blacke More, saying, Take from hence thirtie men † with thee, and take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him and went to the house of the King vnder the treasurie, and tooke there olde rotten ragges, and olde worne cloutes, and let them downe by coards into the dungeon to Ieremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke More sayd vnto Ieremiah, Put now these olde rotten ragges and worne, vnder thine arme holes, betweene the

14 ¶ Then Zedekiah the King sent, and tooke Ieremiah the Prophet vnto him, into the thirde entrie that is in the House of the Lorde, and the King sayde vnto Ieremiah, I wil aske thee a thing:
hide nothing from me.
15 Then Ieremiah sayde to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slay me? and if I giue thee counsell, thou wilt not heare me.
16 So the King sware secretly vnto Ieremiah, saying, As the Lorde liueth, that made vs these soules, I will not slay thee, nor giue thee into the hands of those men that seeke thy life.
17 Then sayde Ieremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus sayth the Lorde God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt goe foorth vnto the King of Babels
h princes, then thy soule shall liue, and this citie shal not be burnt vp with fire, and thou shalt liue, miah, I am carefull for the Iewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, least they deliuer me into their hands, and they i mocke me.

i Which declareth that he more feared the reproch of men then the threatnings of God.

the worde that the Lorde hath shewed me.
22 And beholde, all the women that are k left in the King of Iudahs house, shalbe brought forth to the King of Babels princes: and those women shall say, Thy friends haue perswaded thee, and haue preuailed against thee: thy feete are fastened in the myre, and they are turned backe.

k When Ieconiah and his mother with others were caryed away, these women of the Kings house were left: which shalbe taken, saith the Prophet, and tell the king of Babel how Zedekiah hath bene seduced by his familiar friends and false prophets, which haue left him in the myre.

23 So they shall bring out all thy wiues, & thy children to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands, but shalt be taken by the hand of the King of Babel: and this citie shalt thou cause to be burnt with fire.
24 Then said Zedekiah vnto Ieremiah, Let no man know of these words, and thou shalt not die.
25 But if ẏ princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, & they come vnto thee, & say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs nowe, what thou hast sayde vnto the King, hide it not from vs, & we will not slay thee: also what the King sayde vnto thee.
26 Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly
l besought the King that he would not cause me to returne to Iehonathans house, to die there.

l Herein appeareth the infirmitie of the Prophet, who did dissemble to saue his life albeit it was not to the deniall of his doctrine, or to the hurt of any.

27 Then came all the princes vnto Ieremiah and asked him. And he tolde them according to all these wordes that the King had commaunded:
so they left off speaking with him, for the matter was not peceiued.
28 So Ieremiah abode still in the court of the prison, vntill the day that Ierusalem was taken:
and he was there, when Ierusalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar besiegeth Ierusalem. 4 Zedekiah fleeing is taken of the Caldeans. 6 His sonnes are slaine. 7 His eyes are thrust out. 11 Ieremiah is prouided for. 15 Ebedmelech is deliuered from captiuitie.

IN * the ninth yeere of Zedekiah King of Iudah in the tenth moneth, came Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel and all his hoste against Ie-rusalem, and they besieged it.

* 2.King.25.1, chap.52.4.

2 And in the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the citie was broken a vp.

a The gates and walles were broken downe.

3 And all the princes of the King of Babel came in, and sate in the middle gate, euen Neregal, Sharezer, Samgarnebo, Sarsechim, Rab-saris, Neregal, Sharezer, Rab-mag with all the residue of the princes of the King of Babel.
4 And when Zedekiah the King of Iudah saw them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the citie by night, through the Kings garden, and by the b gate betweene the two walles, and he went toward the wildernes.

b Which was a posterne doore, reade 2.King.25.4.

5 But the Caldeans hoste pursued after them, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the desart of Iericho:
and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto c Rib-lah in the land of Hamath, where he gaue iudge-ment vpon him.

c Which is called Antiochia in Syria.

6 Then the King of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the King of Babel slewe all the nobles of Iudah.
7 Moreouer he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him in chaines, to cary him to Babel.
8 And the Caldeans burnt the Kings house, and the houses of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem.
9 Then Nebuzar-adan the ‖ chiefe stewarde caried away captiue into Babel the remnant of the people that remained in the citie, and those that were fled and fallen vnto him, with the rest of the people that remained.

‖ Or, captaine of the garde.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left the d poore that had nothing in the land of Iudah, and gaue them vineyards and fieldes at the same time.

d For the riche and the mightie which put their trust in their shifts and meanes, were by Gods iust iudgements most rigorously handled.

11 Nowe Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel gaue charge concerning Ieremiah † vnto Nebu-zar-adan the chiefe stewarde, saying, 12 Take him, and † looke well to him, & doe him no harme, but doe vnto him e euen as he shal say vnto thee.

† Ebr. set thine eyes vpon them. e Thus God preserued his Prophet by his meanes, whome he made the scourge to punish the King, and them that were his enemies.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward sent,
and Nebushaz-ban, Rabsaris, and Neregal, Sharezar, Rab-mag, and all the King of Babels princes:
14 Euen they sent, and tooke Ieremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him vnto f Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, that he should cary him home: so he dwelt among the people.

f Whome the King of Babel had nowe appointed gouernour ouer the rest of the Iewes that he left behinde.

15 Now the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, while he was shut vp in the court of the prison, saying,
16 Go and speake to Ebed-melech the blacke More, saying, Thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I wil bring my wordes vp-on this citie for euill, and not for good, and they shalbe accomplished in that day before thee.
17 But I will deliuer thee in that day, sayth the Lorde, and thou shalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whome thou fearest.
18 For I will surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sworde, but thy life shall be for a praye vnto thee, because thou g hast put thy trust in me, sayth the Lord.

g Thus God recompensed his zeale and fauour, which he shewed to his Prophet in his troubles.

CHAP. XL.

4 Jeremiah hath licence to goe whither he will. 6 He dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliah.

THe worde which came to Ieremiah from the Lorde after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had let him goe from Ramath, when he had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were caried away captiue of Ierusalem and Iudah, which were caried away captiue vnto Babel.

2 ª And the chiefe stewarde tooke Ieremiah, and said vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Nowe the Lord hath brought it, and done according as he hath said: because ye haue [b] sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voyce, therefore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And now beholde, I loose thee this day from the chaines which were on thine handes, if it please thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will looke wel vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with me into Babel, † tarie still: beholde, all the lande is || before thee: whither it seemeth good, and conuenient for thee to goe, thither goe.

5 For yet hee was not returned: therefore he sayd, Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, whom the King of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe wheresoeuer it pleaseth thee to goe. So the chiefe steward gaue him vitailes and a rewarde, and let him goe.

6 Then went Ieremiah vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, to [c] Mizpah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Nowe when all the captaines of the hoste, [d] which were in the fieldes, euen they and their men heard, that the King of Babel had made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam gouernour in the lande, and that he had committed vnto him, men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the lande, that were not caried away captiue to Babel,

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen [e] Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan, and Ionathan the sonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanehumeth, and the sonnes of Ephai, the Netophathite, and Iezaniah the sonne of Maachathi, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan * sware vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwel in the land, and serue the King of Babel, and it shal be well with you.

10 As for me, Beholde, I wil dwel at Mizpah to || serue the Caldeans, which wil come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and sommer fruites, and oyle, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities, that ye haue || taken.

11 Likewise when all the Iewes that were in [f] Moab, and among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countries, heard that the King of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, and that he had set ouer them Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, 12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of al places where they were driuen, and came to the lande of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, and gathered wine and sommer fruites, very much.

13 Moreouer Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, 14 And said vnto him, Knowest thou not that [g] Baalis the King of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah to slay thee? But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam beleeued them not.

15 Then Iohanan the sonne of Kareah spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let me go, I pray thee, and I wil slay Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and no man shal knowe it. Wherefore should he kil thee, that al the Iewes, which are gathered vnto thee, should be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perish?

16 But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam said vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, Thou shalt [h] not doe this thing: for thou speakest falsely of Ishmael.

ª From this second verse vnto Chap.42.7. it seemeth to be as a parenthesis, and separated matter: and there this storie beginneth againe, and this vision is declared what it was.

b God mooued this infidel to speake this, to declare the great blindnesse and obstinacie of the Iewes, which could not feele that which this heathen man confessed.

c Which was a citie of Iudah.

d Which were scattered abroad for feare of the Caldeans.

* 2.King.25.24.

|| Or, chosen to dwell in.

f Which were fled also for feare of the Caldeans.

g For vnder the colour of entertaining of Ishmael he sought onely to make them to destroy one another.

h Thus the godly, which thinke no harme to others, are soonest deceyued, and neuer lacke such as conspire their destruction.

CHAP. XLI.

2 Ishmael killeth Gedaliah guilefully, and many other with him. 11 Iohanan followeth after Ishmael.

BVt in the ª seuenth moneth came Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Elishama of the seede royal, and the princes of the [b] King, and ten men with him, vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did [c] eate bread together in Mizpah.

2 Then arose Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah with these tenne men that were with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan with the sword, and slewe him, whom the King of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.

3 Ishmael also slew al the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, & al the Caldeans that were found there, and the men of warre.

4 Now the second day that he had slaine Gedaliah, and no man knew it,

5 There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, euen fourescore men, hauing their beardes shauen, and their clothes rent and cut, with [d] offerings and incense in their hands to offer in the house of the Lord.

6 And Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meete them, weeping as he went: and when he met them, he said vnto them, Come [e] to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam.

7 And when they came into the mids of the citie, Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah slew them, and cast them into the mids of the pit, he and the men that were with him.

8 But tenne men were founde among them, that sayde vnto Ishmael, Slay vs not: for we haue treasures in the field, of wheate, and of barley, and of oyle, and of honie: so he stayed, and slew them not among their brethren.

9 Nowe the pit wherein Ishmael had cast the dead bodies of the men (whom he had slaine because of Gedaliah) is it, which Asa the King had [f] made because of Basha King of Israel, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slaine.

10 Then Ishmael caried away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, euen the Kings daughters, & all the people that remayned in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to goe ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all ª The citie was destroyed in the fourth moneth: and in the seuenth moneth, which contained part of September, & part of October, was the gouernour Gedaliah slaine.

b Meaning, Zedekiah.

c They did eate together as familiar friends.

d For they thought that the Temple had not bene destroyed, and therefore came vp to the feast of Tabernacles: but hearing of the burning thereof in the way, they shewed these signes of sorowe.

e For his death was kept secret, and he fained that he lamented for the destruction of Ierusalem and the Temple: but after slewe them when they seemed to fauour Gedaliah.

f Asa fortified Mizpah for feare of the enemie, and cast ditches and trenches, 1.King. 15.22.

g Which had bene captaines vnder Zedekiah.

all the g captaines of the hoste that were with him, heard of all the euill that Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had done, 12 Then they all tooke their men, and went to fight with Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, & found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.
13 Nowe when all the people whom Ishmael caried away captiue, saw Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were with him, they were glad.
14 So all the people, that Ishmael had caried away captiue from Mizpah, returned and came againe, & went vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah.
15 But Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, escaped from Iohanan with eight men, and went to the h Ammonites.

h For Baalis the King of the Ammonites was the cause of this murther.

16 Then tooke Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after that he had slayne Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) euen the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the eunuches, whom he had brought againe from Gi-beon:
17 And they departed and dwelt in Geruth i Chimham, which is by Beth-lehem, to goe and to enter into Egypt,

i Which place Dauid of olde had giuen to Chimham the sonne of Barzillai the Gileadite, 2.Sam.19.38.

18 Because of the Caldeans: for they feared them, because Ishmael ẏ sonne of Nethaniah had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, whom the King of Babel made gouernour in the land.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The captaines aske counsell of Ieremiah what they ought to do.
7 He admonisheth the remnant of the people not to goe into Egypt.

THen all the captaines of the hoste, and Ioha-nan the sonne of Kareah, and Iezaniah the sonne of Hoshaaiah, and all the people from the least vnto the most came,
2 And sayde vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, † Heare our prayer, we beseech thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lorde thy God, euen for all this remnant (for we are left, but a fewe of many, as thine eyes doe beholde)

3 That the Lorde thy God may shew vs the way wherein we may walke, and the thing that we may a doe.

a This declareth the nature of hypocrites, which would knowe of Gods worde what they should doe, but will not folow it, but inasmuch as it agreeth with that thing which they haue purposed to doe.

4 Then Ieremiah the Prophet said vnto them,
I haue heard you: behold, I wil pray vnto the Lord your God according to your wordes, and whatsoeuer thing the Lord shall answere you, I wil declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you.
5 Then they sayd to Ieremiah, b The Lord be a witnesse of trueth, and faith betweene vs, if we doe not, euen according to al things for the which the Lord thy God shall send thee to vs.
6 Whether it be good or euill, we will obey the voyce of the Lorde God, to whom we sende thee that it may be wel with vs, when we obey the voyce of the Lord our God.

b There are none more ready to abuse the Name of God and take it in vaine, then the hypocrites, which to colour their falsehood vse it without all reuerence, and make it a meanes for them to deceiue the simple and the godly.

7 ¶ c And so after ten dayes came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah.

c Here is declared the vision and the occasion thereof, whereof mention was made, Chap.40.1.

8 Then called he Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, which were with him, & all ẏ people from ẏ least to the most,
9 And sayde vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, vnto whom ye sent me to present your prayers before him, 10 If ye will dwell in this land, then I wil build you, and not destroy you, and I will plant you, and not roote you out: for I d repent me of the euill that I haue done vnto you.

d Reade Chap. 18.8.

11 Feare not for the King of Babel, of whom ye are afraide: be not afraid of him, saith the Lord:
for I am with you, to saue you, and to deliuer you e from his hand,

e Because all Kings hearts and wayes are in his handes, he can turne them and dispose them as it pleaseth him, and therefore they neede not to feare man, but onely obey God, Prouerb.21.1.

12 And I will graunt you mercie that he may haue compassion vpon you, and he shall cause you to ‖ dwell in your owne land.

‖ Or, returne.

13 But if ye say, We wil not dwel in this land, neither heare the voyce of the Lord your God, 14 Saying, Nay, but we will goe into the land of Egypt, where we shall see no warre, nor heare the sounde of the trumpet, nor haue hunger of bread, and there will we dwell, 15 (And now therefore heare the worde of the Lord, ye remnant of Iudah: thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, If ye set your faces to enter into Egypt, and goe to dwell there) 16 Then the sword that ye feared, f shall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which ye care, shall there hang vpon you in Egypt, and there shall ye die.

f Thus God turneth the policie of the wicked to their owne destruction: for they thought themselues sure in Egypt, and there Nebuchad-nezzar destroyed them, and the Egyptians, Chap. 46.25.

17 And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt to dwell there, shall die by ẏ sword, by the famine and by the pestilence, and none of them shall remaine nor escape from the plague, that I will bring vpon them.
18 For thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, As mine anger and my wrath hath bene powred foorth vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem:
so shal my wrath be powred forth vpon you, whē ye shall enter into Egypt, and ye shalbe a detesta-tion, and an astonishment, and a g curse and a reproch, and ye shal see this place no more.

g Reade Chap. 26.6. and 24.12. shewing that this should come vpon them for their infidelitie and stubbernesse.

19 O ye remnant of Iudah, the Lord hath sayd concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: knowe cer-teinly that I haue admonished you this day.
20 Surely ye h dissembled in your hearts when ye sent me vnto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for vs vnto the Lord our God, and declare vnto vs euen according vnto all that the Lord our God shall say, and we will doe it.

h For you were fully minded to goe into Egypt, whatsoeuer God spake to the contrary.

21 Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lorde your God, nor anie thing for the which he hath sent me vnto you.
22 Nowe therefore, knowe certeinely that ye shall die by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, i in the place whither ye desire to goe and dwell.

i To wit, in Egypt.

CHAP. XLIII.

Iohanan carieth the remnant of the people into Egypt, contrary to the minde of Ieremiah. 8 Ieremiah prophecieth the destruction of Egypt.

NOw when Ieremiah had made an end of speaking vnto the whole people all the wordes of the Lorde their God, for the which the Lorde their God had sent him to them, euen all these wordes,
2 Then spake a Azariah the sonne of Hosha-iah, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the b proude men, saying vnto Ieremiah, c Thou spea-kest falsely: the Lord our God hath d not sent thee to say, Goe not into Egypt to dwell there, 3 But Baruch ẏ sonne of Neriah e prouoketh a Who was also called Iezaniah, Chap.42.1. b This declareth that pride is the cause of rebellion, and contempt of Gods ministers.

c When the hypocrisie of the wicked is discouered, they brast forth into open rage: for they can abide nothing but flatteries, reade Isai.30.10.
d He sheweth what is the nature of the hypocrites: to wit, to faine that they would obey God and imbrace his worde, if they were assured that his messengers spake the trueth: though indeede they bee most farre from all obedience.
e Thus the wicked doe not onely contemne and hurt the messengers of God, but slander, & speake wickedly of al them that support or fauour the godly.

thee against vs, for to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might slay vs, and cary vs away captiues into Babel.
4 So Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, and all the people obeyed not the voyce of the Lorde, to dwell in the land of Iudah.
5 But Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste tooke all the remnant of Iudah, ẏ were returned frō al [f] nations, whither they had bene driuen, to dwell in ẏ land of Iudah: 6 Euen men and women, and children, and the Kings daughters, and euery person, that Ne-buzar-adan the chiefe steward had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, ẏ sonne of Shaphan, and Ieremiah [g] the Prophet, & Baruch the sonne of Neriah.
7 So they came into the lande of Egypt: for they obeied not the voice of the Lord: thus came they to [h] Tahpanhes.
8 ¶ Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah in Tahpanhes, saying, 9 Take great stones in thine hand, and [i] hide them in the claie in the bricke kill, which is at the entrie of Pharaohs house in Tahpanhes in ẏ sight of the men of Iudah,
10 And say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will sende and bring Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel [k] my seruant, and will set his throne vpon these stones that I haue hid, and hee shall spread his pa-uilion ouer them.
11 And when he shall come, he shall smite the land of Egypt: [l] such as are appoynted for death, to death, and such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and such as are for the sword, to the sword.
12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and he shall burne them and carie them away captiues, & he shall aray himselfe with the land of Egypt, as a [m] shepheard putteth on his garment, and shall depart from thence in peace.
13 He shal breake also ẏ images of ‖ Beth-she-mesh, that is in the land of Egypt, and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall he burne w̄ fire.

CHAP. XLIIII.

He reprooueth the people for their idolatrie. 15 They that set light by the threatning of the Lorde, are chastened. 26 The destruction of Egypt and of the Iewes therein, is prophecied.

THe worde that came to Ieremiah concerning all the Iewes, which dwell in the lande of Egypt, and remained at Migdol and at [a] Tahpan-hes, & at Noph, & in ẏ country of Pathros, saying,
2 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Yee haue seene all the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, and vpon all the cities of Iudah: and beholde, this day they are desolate, and no man dwelleth therein, 3 Because of their wickednes which they haue cōmitted, to prouoke me to anger in ẏ they went to burne incense, & to serue other gods, whō they knew not, neither they nor you nor your fathers.
4 Howbeit I sent vnto you all my seruāts the Prophets [b] rising earely, and sending them, saying,
Oh doe not this abominable thing that I hate.
5 But they would not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednes, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.
6 Wherefore [c] my wrath, & mine anger was powred foorth and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, and wasted, as appeareth this day.
7 Therefore now thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Wherefore commit ye this great euill against your soules, to cut off from you man and woman, childe and suckling out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine?
8 In that yee prouoke mee vnto wrath with the woorkes of your hands, burning incense vnto other gods in the lande of Egypt whither yee be gone to dwell: that yee might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that ye might be a curse and a reproch among all nations of the earth.
9 Haue ye forgotten the wickednesse of your fathers, and the wickednesse of the [d] Kings of Iudah and the wickednesse of their wiues and your owne wickednes & the wickednes of your wiues, which they haue committed in the land of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem?
10 They are not ‖ humbled vnto this day, neither haue they feared nor walked in my lawe nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers.
11 Therefore thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will set my face against you * to euill and to destroy all Iudah, 12 And I will take the remnant of Iudah, that [e] haue set their faces to goe into the lande of Egypt there to dwell, and they shall all bee consumed and fall in the lande of Egypt: they shall euen bee consumed by the sworde and by the famine: they shall die from the least vnto the most,
by the sworde, and by the famine, and they shall be a detestation and an astonishment and a [f] curse and a reproche.
13 For I wil visite them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalem, by ẏ sworde,
by the famine, and by the pestilence, 14 So ẏ none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the lande of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remaine, that they should returne into the land of Iudah to the which they † haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall returne, but [g] such as shall escape.
15 Then all the men which knewe that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods and all the womē that stoode by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Pathros, answered Ieremiah, saying, 16 The worde that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lorde, wee will [h] not heare it of thee,
17 But wee will doe whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense vnto [i] the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, as we haue done, both we & our fathers, our Kings and our princes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem: for then † had wee [k] plentie of vitailes and were well and ‖ felt none euill.
18 But since wee left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, we haue had ‖ scarcenesse of all things, and haue beene consumed by the sworde and by the famine.
19 And when we burnt incense vnto ẏ Queene of heauen, and powred out drinke offerings vnto

a These were all famous and strong cities in Egypt, where the Iewes, that were fled, dwelt for their safetie: but the Prophet declareth that there is no holde so strong, that can preserue them from Gods vengeance.

b Reade Chap. 7. 13 and 25.3. & 26. 5. & 29.19. & 32.33.

c He setteth before their eyes Gods iudgements against Iudah and Ierusalem for their idolatrie, that they might beware by their example, and not with the like wickednesse prouoke the Lord: for else they should be double punished.

d He sheweth that we ought to keepe in memorie Gods plagues from the beginning, that considering them, we might liue in his feare, and know, if he haue not spared our fathers, yea, Kings, princes, and rulers, and also whole countreys, and nations for their sinnes, that we vile wormes cannot looke to escape punishment for ours.

e Which haue fully set their mindes and are gone thither on purpose. Whereby he excepteth the innocents as Ieremiah and Baruch that were forced: therefore the Lord sheweth, that he will set his face against them: that is, purposely destroy them.

f Reade Chap. 26. 6. and 42.18.

† Ebr. lift vp their soules.

g Meaning, but a fewe.

h This declareth how dangerous a thing it is to decline once from God, and to followe our owne fantasies: for Satan euer soliciteth such and doth not leaue them till he haue brought them to extreme impudencie and madnes, euen to iustifie their wickednes against God and his Prophets.

i Reade Chap. 7. 18. It seemeth that the Papists gathered of this place Salue Regina and Regina celi letare, calling the virgin Marie Queene of heauen, & so of the blessed virgin, and mother of our Sauiour Christ made an idole: for here the Prophet condemneth their idolatrie.

† Ebr. we were satiate with bread. k This is still the argument of idolaters, which esteeme religion by the belly, and in steade of acknowledging Gods workes, who sendeth both plentie and dearth, health and sickenesse, they attribute it to their idoles, and so dishonour God. ‖ Or, saw. ‖ Or, went.

her, did wee make her cakes ‖ to make her glad,
and powre out drinke offerings vnto her without l our husbands?
20 Then said Ieremiah vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answere, saying, 21 Did not the Lorde remember the incense, that yee burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, both you, and your fathers, your Kings, and your princes, and the people of the land, and † hath he not considered it?
22 So that the Lord could no longer forbeare, because of the wickednes of your inuentions, and because of the abominations, which ye haue committed: therefore is your lande desolate and an astonishment, and a curse and without inhabitant,
as appeareth this day.
23 Because ye haue burnt incense and because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lorde, nor walked in his Lawe, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day.
24 Moreouer Ieremiah said vnto all the people and to all the women, Heare the worde of the Lord, all Iudah that are in the land of Egypt.
25 ¶ Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Ye & your wiues haue both spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your m hande, saying, We wil performe our vowes that wee haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings to her: yee will performe your vowes and doe the things that ye haue vowed.
26 Therefore heare the worde of the Lorde, all Iudah that dwell in the land of Egypt. Beholde, I haue sworne by my great Name, sayth the Lorde, that my Name n shall no more be called vpon by the mouth of any man of Iudah, in all the lande of Egypt, saying, The Lord God liueth.
27 Behold, I wil watch ouer them for euill and not for good, and all men of Iudah that are in the land of Egypt, shalbe consumed by the sword, and by the famine, vntill they be vtterly destroied.
28 Yet a small nomber that escape the sworde, o shall returne out of the lande of Egypt into the lande of Iudah: and all the remnant of Iudah that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwel there, shal know whose wordes shall stand, mine or theirs.
29 And this shall be a signe vnto you, saith the Lord, whē I visit you in this place, ẏ ye may know ẏ my words shall surely stand against you for euill.
30 Thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, I will p giue Pharaoh Hophra King of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke his life: as I gaue Zedekiah King of Iudah into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel his enemie, who also sought his life.

CHAP. XLV.

2 Ieremiah comforteth Baruch, assuring him that hee shoulde not perish in the destruction of Ierusalem.

THe woorde that Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto a Baruch the sonne of Neriah, when he had written these b woordes in a booke at the mouth of Ieremiah, in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, saying, 2 Thus sayeth the Lorde God of Israel vnto thee, O Baruch,
3 Thou diddest say, Wo is me now: for the Lord hath laied sorrow vnto my sorrowe: I c fainted in my mourning, and I can finde no rest.
4 Thus shalt thou say vnto him, The Lorde sayth thus, Behold, that which I haue built, will I d destroy, and that which I haue planted, will I plucke vp, euen this whole lande.
5 And seekest e thou great things for thy self?
seeke them not: for beholde, I will bring a plague vpon al flesh, saith the Lord: but thy life wil I giue thee for f a pray in all places, whither thou goest.

‖ Or, to appease her.

l This teacheth vs how great danger it is for the husbands to permit their wiues any thing wherof they be not assured by Gods worde: for thereby they take an occasion to iustifie their doings, & their husbands shall giue an account thereof before God, reade Isa.3.25.

† Ebr. is it not come vp into his heart?

m You haue committed double euil in making wicked vowes, and in performing the same.

n This declareth an horrible plague toward idolaters, seeing that God will not vouchsafe to haue his Name mentioned by such as haue polluted it.

o We see therfore, that God hath a perpetuall care ouer his, wheresoeuer they are scattered: for though they be but two or three, yet he wil deliuer them whē he destroieth his enemies.

p He sheweth the meanes whereby they should be destroyed, to assure them of ẏ certeintie of the plague, & yet they remain still in their obstinacie till they perishe: for Iosephus lib. 10. de Antiq. cap. 11. writeth ẏ fiue yeere after the taking of Ierusalē, Nebuchad-nezzar the yonger, hauing ouercome the Moabites and the Ammonites, went against Egypt, and slew the King, & so brought these Iewes and other into Babylō.

a Which was Ieremiahs disciple, and wrote his prophesies vnder him.

b Whereof reade Chap. 36.9.10.

c Baruch mooued with an inconsiderate zeale of Ieremiahs imprisonment, but chiefly for the destruction of the people, and the Temple, maketh this lamentation, as Psal. 6.6.

d Meaning, that God might destroy this people because he had planted them.

e Thinkest thou to haue honour and credit? wherein he sheweth his infirmitie.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 He prophecieth the destruction of Egypt. 27 Deliuerance is promised to Israel.

THe wordes of the Lord, which came to Ieremiah the Prophet against the a Gentiles, 2 As against Egypt, against ẏ armie of b Pharaoh Necho King of Egypt, which was by the ri-uer Perath in Carchemish, which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel smote in the fourth yeere of Ie-hoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah.
3 c Make readie buckler and shielde, and goe forth to battell.
4 Make readie the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, and stand vp with your sallets, fourbish the speares, and put on the brigandines.
5 d Wherefore haue I seene them afraid, and driuen backe? for their mightie men are smitten, and are fled away, and looke not backe: for feare was round about, sayth the Lord.
6 The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble, and fall towarde the e North by the riuer Perath.
7 Who is this, that commeth vp, as f a flood, whose waters are mooued like the riuers?
8 Egypt riseth vp like the flood, and his waters are mooued like the riuers, and he saith, I will goe vp, and wil couer the earth: I wil destroy the citie with them that dwell therein.
9 Come vp, ye horses, and rage ye charets, and let the valiant men come foorth, g the blacke Mores, and the Libyans that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bowe.
10 For this is the day of ẏ Lord God of hostes, and a day of vengeance, that he may auenge him of his enemies: for the sword shall deuoure, and it shall be saciate, & made drunke with their blood: for the Lord God of hosts hath h a sacrifice in the North countrey i by the riuer Perath.
11 Goe vp vnto Gilead, k and take balme, O l virgine, the daughter of Egypt: in vaine shalt thou vse many m medicines: for thou shalt haue no health.
12 The nations haue heard of thy shame, and thy crie hath filled the lande: for the strong hath stumbled against the strong and they are fallen both together.
13 ¶ The worde that the Lord spake to Ieremiah the Prophet, howe Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel should come and smite the lande of Egypt.
14 Publish in Egypt and declare in Migdol, and proclaime in Noph, and in Tahpanhes, & say, Stand still, and prepare thee: for the sworde shall deuoure round about thee.
15 Why are thy valiant men put backe? they could not stand, because the Lord did driue them.
16 Hee made many to fall, and one fell vpon another: and they saide, Arise, let vs goe againe to our n owne people, and to the lande of our natiuitie from the sworde of the violent.
17 They did cry there, Pharaoh King of Egypt,

c He warneth the Egyptians to prepare themselues to warre.

d The Prophet had this vision of the Egyptians which should be put to flight by the Babylonians at Carchemish.

e The Babylonians shal discomfite them at the riuer Euphrates.

f He derideth the boastings of the Egyptians, who thought by their riches, and power to haue ouercome all the world, alluding to the riuer Nilus, which at certaine times ouerfloweth the cōtrey of Egypt.

g For these nations tooke part ẇ the Egyptians.

h He calleth the slaughter of Gods enemies a sacrifice, because it is a thing that doeth please him, Isa. 34.6.

i That is, at Carchemish.

k For at Gilead did grow most soueraine balme for woundes.

m He sheweth that no salue or medicine can preuaile where as God giueth the wound.

n As they that should repent that they helped the Egyptians.

a He derideth them which shall impute their ouerthrowe to lacke of counsell and policie, or to fortune, and not obseruing of time: not considering that it is Gods iust iudgement.
p To wit, that the Egyptians shalbe destroyed.
q They haue abundance of all things, and therefore are disobedient and proude.
r As verse 9.
s They shalbe scarce able to speake for feare of the Caldeans. t Meaning, Egypt.

z Meaning, that after the space of fourtie yeeres Egypt should be restored, Isa. 19.23, ezek. 29.13.
a God comforteth all his that were in captiuitie, but specially the small Church of the Iewes, whereof were Ieremiah and Baruch, which remained among the Egyptians: for the Lord neuer forsaketh his, Isa. 44.2. Chap. 30.10.

Lorde of hostes, surely as Tabor is in the moun-taines, and as Carmel is in the sea: so shal p it come.
19 O thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, make thee geare to goe into captiuitie: for Noph shall be waste and desolate, without an inhabitant.
20 Egypt is like a q faire calfe, but destruction commeth: out of the North it commeth.
21 Also her hired men r are in the middes of her like fat calues: they are also turned backe and fled away together: they could not stand, because the day of their destruction was come vpon them, and the time of their visitation.
22 The voyce thereof shall goe foorth like a s serpent: for they shall march with an armie, and come against t her with axes, as hewers of wood.

Lord: for they cannot be counted, because they are moe then ẏ x grashoppers, & are innumerable.

ded: she shall be deliuered into the handes of the people of the North.

Israel, Behold, I will visite the y common people of No & Pharaoh, & Egypt, with their gods & their Kings, euen Pharaoh, & al them that trust in him, 26 And I will deliuer them into the handes of those, that seeke their liues, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and into the handes of his seruants, and afterwarde she shall dwell as z in the olde time, saith the Lord.
27 ¶ a But feare not thou, O my seruant Iaa-kob, and be not thou afraid, O Israel: for behold, I will deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy seede from the land of their captiuitie, and Iaakob shall returne and be in rest, and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid.
28 Feare thou not, O Iaakob my seruant, saith the Lord: for I am with thee, and I will vtterly destroy al the nations, whither I haue driuen thee:
but I will not vtterly destroy thee, but correct
b thee by iudgement, and not vtterly cut thee off.

The word of the Lord against the Philistims.

a Which was also called Gaza a citie of the Philistims.
b He meaneth the armie of the Caldeans, Isa. 8.7,8.
c The great feare shall take away their naturall affection.
d Their heart shal so faile them. e For the Caphtorims, which are also called Cappadocians, had destroyed in olde time the Philistims and dwelt in their land euen to Gaza, Deu. 2.23.
f They that pulled off their haire for sorowe and heauinesse.

ah the Prophet, against the Philistims, before that Pharaoh smote a Azzah.
2 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, waters rise vp out of the b North, and shalbe as a swelling flood, and shall ouerflowe the land, and all that is therein, and the cities with them that dwell therein:
then the men shall crie, and all the inhabitants of the land shall howle, 3 At the noise and stamping of ẏ hoofes of his strong horses, at the noise of his charets, and at the rumbling of his wheeles: ẏ fathers shal not c looke backe to their children, for feeblenes of d handes, 4 Because of the day that commeth to destroy all the Philistims, and to destroy Tyrus, and Zidon, and all the rest that take their part: for the Lord will destroy the Philistims, the remnant of the yle of e Caphtor.
5 f Baldnes is come vpon Azzah: Ashkelon is cut vp with the rest of their valleys. Howe long wilt g thou cut thy selfe?
6 O thou sword of the Lord, how long will it be or thou cease! turne againe into thy scaberd, rest and be still.
7 Howe can it h cease, seeing the Lorde hath giuen it a charge against Ashkelon, and against the sea banke? euen there hath he appointed it.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The words of the Lord against the Moabites, 26 Because of their pride and crueltie.

COncerning Moab, thus saith ẏ Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Woe vnto a Nebo: for it is wasted: Kiriathaim is confounded and taken: Mis-gab is confounded and afraide.
2 Moab shall boast no more of Heshbon: for they haue deuised euill against it. b Come, and let vs destroy it, that it be no more a nation: also thou shalt be destroyed, c O Madmen, and the sworde shall pursue thee.
3 A voyce of crying shall be from Horonaim with desolation and great destruction.
4 Moab is destroyed: her litle ones haue caused their crie to be heard.
5 For at the going vp of d Luhith, the mourner shall goe vp with weeping: for in the going downe of Horonaim, the enemies haue heard a cry of destruction,
6 Flee and saue your liues, and be like vnto
the e heath in the wildernesse.
7 For because thou hast trusted in thy f works and in thy treasures, thou shalt also be taken, and g Chemosh shall goe forth into captiuitie with his Priestes and his princes together.
8 And the destroyer shall come vpon all cities, and no citie shall escape: the valley also shall perish and the plaine shalbe destroyed as the Lord hath spoken.
9 Giue wings vnto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof shalbe desolate, without any to dwell therein.
10 h Cursed be he that doeth the worke of the Lord ‖ negligently, and cursed be he that keepeth backe his sword from blood.
11 Moab hath bene at rest from his youth:
and he hath setled on his lees, and hath not bene i powred from vessell to vessell, neither hath he gone into captiuitie: therefore his taste remained in him and his sent is not changed.
12 ¶ Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will send vnto him such as shall cary him away, and shall emptie his vessels, and breake their bottels.
13 And Moab shalbe ashamed of Chemosh as the house of Israel was ashamed of k Beth-el their confidence.
14 How thinke you thus, We are mightie and strong men of warre?
15 Moab is destroyed, & his cities † burnt vp,
& his chosē yong men are gone downe to slaughter, saith ẏ King, whose name is ẏ Lord of hostes.
16 The destruction of Moab is ready to come,
and his plague hasteth fast.
17 All ye that are about him, mourne for him:
and all ye that knowe his name, say, l How is the strong staffe broken, and the beautifull rod!
18 Thou daughter that doest inhabite Dibon, come downe from thy glorie, and sit in thirst: for the destroyer of Moab shall come vpon thee, and he shall destroy thy strong holdes.
19 Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, and beholde: aske him that fleeth and that escapeth, and say, What is done?
20 m Moab is cōfoūded: for it is destroied: howle, and cry, tel ye it in Arnon, ẏ Moab is made waste,

h Meaning, that it is not possible that the wicked should by any meanes escape or stay the Lord, when he wil take vengeance.
a These were cities of the Moabites, which Nebuchad-nezzar tooke before he went to fight against Necho king of Egypt.
b Thus shall the Babylonians incourage one another.
c Reade Isa. 25.10.

f That is, the idoles which are the workes of thine hands. Some reade, in thy possessions, for so the worde may signifie, as 1. Sam. 25.2.
g Both thy great idole and his maintainers shal be led away captiues, so that they shal then knowe that it is in vaine to looke for helpe at idoles, Isa. 15.2.
h He sheweth that God would punish the Caldeans, if they did not destroy the Egyptians, & that with a courage, & calleth this executing of his vengeance against his enemies his worke though the Caldeans sought another ende, Isa. 10.12.
‖ Or, deceitfully.
i Hath not bene remooued as the Iewes haue, but hath liued at ease, and as a wine that feedeth himselfe on his lees.
k As the calfe of Beth-el was not able to deliuer the Israelites: no more shall Chemosh deliuer the Moabites.
† Ebr. gone vp, or destroyed.
l Howe are they destroyed that put their trust in their strength and riches?
m Thus they that flee, shall answere.

21 And

21 And iudgement is come vpon the plaine countrey, vpon Holon and vpon Iahazah, and vp-on Mephaath, 22 And vpon Dibon, and vpon Nebo, and vp-on the house of Diblathaim, 23 And vpon Kiriathaim, and vpon Beth-gamul, and vpon Beth meon, 24 And vpon Kirioth, and vpon Bozrah, & vp-on all the cities of ẏ land of Moab farre or neere.
25 The [u] horne of Moab is cut off, & his arme is broken, saith the Lord.
26 Make ye him [o] drunken: for he magnified himselfe against the Lord: Moab shall || wallowe
in his vomite, and he also shalbe in derision.
27 For diddest not thou deride Israel, as though he had bene found among theeues? for when thou speakest of him, thou art [p] moued.
28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rockes, and be like the doue, that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.
29 *We haue heard the pride of Moab (hee is exceeding proude) his stoutnesse, and his arrogan-cie, and his pride, and the hautinesse of his heart.
30 I know his wrath, saith ẏ Lord, [q] but it shal not be so: & his dissimulatiō, for they do not right.
31 [r] Therefore will I howle for Moab, and I will crie out for all Moab: mine heart shal mourne for the men of Kir heres.
32 O Vine of Sibmah, I wil weepe for thee, as I wept for Iazer: thy plants are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea [s] of Iazer: ẏ destroyer is fallen vpon thy sōmer fruits, & vpon thy vintage, 33 And ioye, and gladnesse is taken from the plentifull fielde, and from the land of Moab: and I haue caused wine to faile from the winepresse:
none shall treade with shouting: their shouting shall be no shouting.
34 From the cry of Heshbon vnto Elaleh and vnto Iahaz haue they made their noyse: frō Zoar vnto Horonaim, ẏ heiffer of three yere old shal go lowing: for ẏ waters also of Nimrim shalbe wasted.
35 Moreouer, I will cause to cease in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offered in the high places,
and him that burneth incense to his gods.
36 Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like a [t] shaume, and mine heart shal sound like a shaume for the men of Ker-heres, because the riches that he hath gotten, is perished.
37 *For euery head shalbe || balde, and euery beard plucked: vpon all the handes shall be cuttings, and vpon the loynes sackecloth.
38 And mourning shal be vpon al the house-toppes of Moab and in all the streetes thereof:
for I haue broken Moab like a vessell wherein is no pleasure, sayeth the Lord.
39 They shal howle, saying, How is he destroyed? howe hath Moab turned the backe with shame? so shall Moab be a derision, and a feare to all them about him.
40 For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, [x] he shall flee as an egle, & shal spread his wings ouer Moab.
41 The cites are taken, and the strong holdes are wonne, & the mightie mens hearts in Moab at that day shalbe as ẏ heart of a woman in trauaile.
42 And Moab shalbe destroyed from being a people, because he hath set vp himselfe against
the Lord.
43 [y] Feare, and pit and snare shalbe vpon thee,
O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord.
44 He that escapeth from the feare, shall fall in the pit, and he that getteth vp out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for I will bring vpon it, euen vpon Moab, the yeere of their visitation, sayeth the Lord.
45 They that fled, stoode vnder the shadowe [z] of Heshbon, because of the force: for [a] the fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and deuoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the seditious children.
46 Wo be vnto thee, O Moab: the people of [b] Chemosh perisheth: for thy sonnes are taken cap-tiues, and thy daughters led into captiuitie.
47 Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the [c] latter dayes, sayeth the Lord. Thus

CHAP XLIX.

1 The worde of the Lord against the Ammonites, 7 Idumea, 23 Damascus, 28 Kedar, 34 and Elam.

VNto the children of [a] Ammon thus saith the Lord, Hath Israel no sonnes? or hath he none heire? Why then hath their [b] king possessed Gad?
and his people dwelt in [c] his cities?
2 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, sayeth the Lorde, that I will cause a noyse of warre to be heard in [d] Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it shall be a desolate heape, and her daughters shall be burnt with fire: then shall Israel possesse those that possessed him, sayeth the Lord.
3 Howle, O Heshbon, for Ai is wasted: crie ye daughters of Rabbah: girde you with sacke-cloth: mourne and runne to and fro by the hedges: for their King shall goe into captiuitie, and his Priestes, and his princes likewise.
4 Wherefore gloriest thou in the [e] valleis? thy valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter: she trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shall come vnto me?
5 Beholde, I will bring [f] a feare vpon thee, sayeth the Lord God of hostes, of all those that be about thee, & ye shalbe scattered euery man [g] right foorth, and none shall gather him that fleeth.
6 And [h] afterward I wil bring againe the cap-tiuitie of the children of Ammon.
7 ¶ To Edom thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Is wisdome no more in [i] Teman? is counsel perished frō their children? is their wisdome vanished?
8 Flee, ye inhabitants of Dedan ([k] they are turned backe, and haue consulted to dwell) for I haue brought the destruction of Esau vpon him, and the time of his visitation.
9 If the [l] grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leaue some grapes? if theeues come by night, they will destroy till they haue ynough.
10 For I haue discouered Esau: I haue vncouered his secrets, and he shall not be able to hide himselfe: his seede is wasted, and his brethren and his neighbours, and there shall be none to say, 11 Leaue thy [m] fatherles children, & I wil preserue them aliue, and let thy widowes trust in me.
12 For thus sayth the Lorde, [n] Beholde, they whose iudgement was not to drinke of the cuppe, haue assuredly drunken, and art thou he that shall escape free? thou shalt not goe free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.
13 For I haue sworne by my selfe, sayeth the Lord, that [o] Bozrah shall be waste, and for a re-proche, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetuall desolations.
14 I haue heard a rumour from the Lord, & an a They were seperated from the Moabites by the riuer Arnon, and after that the ten tribes were caried away into captiuitie they inuaded the countrey of Gad.

b To wit, of the Ammonites.
c Meaning, of the Israelites.
d Which was one of the chiefe cities of the Ammonites, as were Heshbon and Ai: there was also a citie called Heshbon among the Moabites.
e In thy plentifull contrey.
f Signifying that power and riches cannot preuaile when as God will execute his iudgements.
g That is, without looking backe and as euery one can finde away to escape.
h In the time of Christ when the Gentiles shall be called.
i Which was a citie of Edom called by the name of Teman Eliphaz sonne who came of Esau.
k The enemies that shall dissemble as though they fled away, shall turne backe and inuade your land, and possesse it.
l Meaning, ẏ God would vtterly destroy them and not spare one, though ẏ grape gatherers leaue some grapes and theeues seeke but till they haue ynough, Obad.1.5. m The destruction shall be so great, that there shall be none left to take care ouer the widowes, and fatherlesse.
n I haue not spared mine owne people, and howe should I pitie thee?
o Which was a chiefe citie of Edom.

ambassadour is sent vnto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, & come against p her, and rise vp to the battell.
15 For loe, I will make thee but small among the heathen, and despised among men.
16 Thy || feare, & the pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee, thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rocke, & keepest the height of the hil: though thou shouldest make thy nest as hie as the egle, I wil bring thee downe from thence, saith the Lord.
17 ¶ Also Edom shall be desolate: euery one that goeth by it, shall be astonished, and shall hisse at all the plagues thereof, 18 As in the ouerthrowe of Sodom, and of Gomorah, and the places thereof neere about, saith the Lord: no man shall dwell there, neither shall the sonnes of men remaine in it.
19 Beholde, q hee shall come vp like a lyon from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong dwelling place: for I will make Israel to rest, euen
I will make r him to haste away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoynt against her? for who is like mee? and who will appoynt me the time? and who is the s shepheard that will stande before me?
20 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lorde that he hath deuised against Edom, and his purpose that hee hath conceiued against the inhabitants of Teman: surely the least t of the flocke shall drawe them out: surely u he shall make their habitations desolate with them.
21 The earth is mooued at the noyse of their fall: the crie of their voyce is heard in the red Sea.
22 Behold, he shall come vp, and flie as the E-gle, x and spread his wings ouer Bozrah, and at that day shall the heart of the strong men of Edom be as the heart of a woman in trauaile.
23 ¶ Vnto y Damascus he sayeth, Hamath is confounded and Arpad, for they haue heard euill tidings, and they are faint hearted as one on the fearefull sea that cannot rest.
24 Damascus is discouraged, and turneth her selfe to flight z and feare hath seased her: anguish & sorowes haue taken her as a woman in trauaile.
25 How is the glorious a citie not reserued, the citie of my ioy?
26 Therefore her yong men shall fall in her streetes, and all her men of warre shall be cut off in that day, saith the Lord of hostes.
27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shall consume the palaces of b Ben-hadad.
28 ¶ Vnto c Kedar, and to the kingdomes of Hazor, which Nebuchad-nezzar, king of Babel shall smite, thus saith the Lord, Arise, and goe vp vnto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East.
29 Their tents and their flocks shall they take away: yea, they shal take to themselues their d cur-taines and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall crie vnto them, Feare is on euery side.
30 Flee, get you farre off (e they haue consulted to dwell) O ye inhabitants of Hazor, sayth the Lorde: for Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath taken counsell against you, and hath deuised a purpose against you.
31 f Arise, & get you vp vnto the welthy nation ẏ dwelleth without care, saith the Lord, which haue neither gates nor barres, but dwell alone.

multitude of their cattel a spoyle, and I wil scatter and I wil bring their destruction from all the sides thereof, saith the Lord.

33 And Hazor shalbe a dwelling for dragons, and desolation for euer: there shall no man dwell there, nor the sonnes of men remaine in it.
34 ¶ The wordes of the Lorde that came to Ieremiah the Prophet, concerning g Elam, in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudah, saying,
35 Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes, Beholde, I will breake the h bowe of Elam, euen the chiefe of their strength.
36 And vpon Elam I will bring the foure windes from the foure quarters of heauen, and will scatter them towardes all these windes, and there shall be no nation, whither the fugitiues of Elam shall not come.
37 For I will cause Elam to bee afraide before their enemies, and before them that seeke their liues, and will bring vpon them a plague, euen the indignation of my wrath, saith the Lord, & I will sende the sworde after them till I haue consumed
them.
38 And I will set my i throne in Elam, & I wil destroy both the King & the princes from thence, saith the Lord: but k in the latter daies I wil bring againe the captiuitie of Elam, sayth the Lord.

CHAP. L.

Hee prophesieth the destruction of Babylon, and the deliuerance of Israel, which was in captiuitie.

THe word that the Lord spake, concerning Babel, and concerning the land of the Caldeans by the † ministerie of Ieremiah the Prophet.
2 Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set vp a standart, proclaime it and conceale it not: say, a Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, b Merodach is broken downe: her idoles are confounded, and their images are burst in pieces.
3 For out of the North there c commeth vp a nation against her, which shall make her lande waste, and none shall dwell therein: they shal flee, and depart, both man and beast.
4 In those dayes, and at that time, sayeth the Lord, the children of Israel shall d come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going, and e weeping shal they goe, and seeke the Lord their God.
5 They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lorde in a perpetuall couenant that shall not be forgotten.
6 ¶ My people hath beene as lost sheepe:
their f shepheards haue caused them to goe astray,
and haue turned them away to the mountaines:
they haue gone from g mountaine to hill, and forgotten their resting place.
7 All that found them, haue deuoured them, & their enemies said, We offend not, because they haue sinned against the Lorde, h the habitation of iustice, euen the Lord the hope of their fathers.
8 i Flee from the middes of Babel, and depart out of the lande of the Caldeans, and be ye as the hee goates k before the flocke.
9 For loe, I will raise, and cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of mightie nations from the North countrey, and they shall set themselues in aray against her, whereby shee shall be taken:
their arrowes shall be as of a strong man, which is expert, for none shall returne in vaine.
10 And Caldea shalbe a spoyle: all that spoyle
her,

g That is, Persia, so called of Elam the sonne of Shem.
h Because the Persians were good archers, he sheweth that the thing wherein they put their trust, should not profite them.
i I will place Nebuchad-nezzar there, and in these prophesies Ieremiah speaketh of those countreis, which should be subdued vnder the first of those foure monarchies whereof Daniel maketh mention.
k This may be referred to the empire of the Persians, and Medes after the Caldeans, or vnto the time of Christ, as Chap. 48. 47.

11 Because yee were glad and reioyced in destroying mine heritage, & because ye are growen fatte, as the calues in the grasse, [m] and neyed like strong horses,
12 Therefore your mother shall bee sore confounded, and she that bare you, shall be ashamed;

sert, a drie land, and a wildernesse.
13 Because of the wrath of the Lorde it shall not be inhabited, but shalbe wholy desolate: eue-

14 [o] Put your selues in aray against Babel dispersed them: first the King [r] of Asshur hath deof Babel hath broken [ſ] his bones.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will visit ỳ King of Babel, and his land, as I haue visited the King of Asshur.
19 And I wil bring Israel againe to his habitation: he shall feede on Carmel and Bashan, and his soule shalbe satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.
20 In those dayes, and at that time, sayeth the Lorde, the iniquitie of Israel shall be sought for,
and there shalbe none: and the sinnes of Iudah, and they shall not be found: for I will be merci-full vnto them, whom I reserue.

the Lorde, and doe according to all that I haue destroyed, and broken! how is Babel become desolate among the nations!

Babel, and thou wast not aware: thou art found,
and also caught, because thou hast striuen against
the Lorde.
25 The Lord hath opened his treasure, & hath brought foorth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the woorke of the Lorde God of hostes in the lande of the Caldeans.
26 Come against her † from the vtmost border: open her store houses: treade on her as on sheaues, and destroy her vtterly: let nothing of her be left.

6 Why Babylon is destroyed. 41 The vaine confidence of the Babylonians. 43 The vanitie of idolaters. 59 Ieremiah giueth his booke to Sheraiah.

THus sayth the Lord, Beholde, I will raise vp against Babel, & against the inhabitants ‖ that lift vp their heart against me, a destroying [a] winde, 2 And will send vnto Babel fanners that shall fanne her, & shal empty her land: for in the day of trouble they shalbe against her on euery side.
3 Also to the bender that bendeth his bowe, and to him that lifteth himselfe vp in his brigandine, will I say, Spare not her yong men, but destroy all her hoste.
4 Thus the slaine shall fall in the land of the Caldeans, and they that are thrust through in her they haue done in Zion, euen in your sight, sayth

the Lorde.
25 Beholde, I come vnto thee, O destroying [o] mountaine, sayth the Lord, which destroyest all the earth: and I wil stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and rolle thee downe from the [p] rockes, and will make thee a burnt mountaine.
26 They shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations, but thou shalt be destroyed for euer, sayth the Lord.
27 Set vp a standard in the lande: blowe the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations against her: call vp the kingdomes of [q] Ararat, Minni, and Ashchenaz against her: appoint the prince against her: cause horses to come vp as the rough caterpillers.
28 Prepare against her the nations with the Kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, & all the land of his dominion.
29 And the land shall tremble and sorowe: for the deuise of the Lorde shalbe performed against Babel, to make the lande of Babel waste without an inhabitant.
30 The strong men of Babel haue ceased to fight: they haue remayned in their holdes: their strength hath fayled, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, and her barres are broken.
31 A post shall runne to meete the post, and a messenger to meete the messenger, to shewe the King of Babel, that his citie is taken on a [r] side thereof,
32 And that the passages are stopped, and the reedes burnt with fire, & the mē of war troubled.
33 For thus sayth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, the daughter of Babel is like a threshing floore: the time of her threshing is come: yet a litle while, and the time of her haruest [s] shall come.
34 Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel hath [t] deuoured me, and destroyed me: hee hath made me an emptie vessell: he swallowed mee vp like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicates, and hath cast me out.
35 The spoyle of me, and that which was left of me, is brought vnto Babel, shall the inhabitant of Zion say: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of

[l] When God shal execute his vengence.
[m] That is, the true God of Israel is not like to these idoles: for he can helpe when all things are desperate.
[n] He meaneth the Medes & Persians, as he did before call the Babylonians, his hammer, Chap. 50.23.
[o] Not that Babylon stoode on a mountaine, but because it was strong and seemed inuincible.
[p] From thy strong holds & fortresses.
[q] By these three nations he meaneth Armenia the hier, and Armenia the lower, & Scythia: for Cyrus had gathered an armie of diuers nations.
[r] By turning the course of the riuer one side was made open, & the reedes that did growe in the water, were destroyed, which Cyrus did by the counsel of Gobria and Gabatha Belshazzars captaines.
[s] When she shalbe cut vp & threshed.
[t] This is spoken in the person of the Iewes, bewailing their state and the crueltie of the Babylonians.

of Caldea, shal Ierusalem say.
36 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde, Beholde,
I wil mainteine thy u cause, and take vengeance for thee, and I wil drie vp the sea, and drie vp her springs.
37 And Babel shall be as heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an astonishment, & an hissing,
without an inhabitant.
38 They shal roare together like lions, and yell
as the lions whelpes.
39 In their x heate I wil make them feastes, and I wil make them drunken, that they may reioyce, and sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, saith
the Lord.
40 I wil bring them downe like lambes to the slaughter, and like rams and goates.
41 How is y Sheshach taken! and howe is the glory of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an astonishment among the nations!
42 The z sea is come vp vpon Babel: she is co-uered with the multitude of the waues thereof.
43 Her cities are desolate: the land is dry and a wildernes, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doth the sonne of man passe thereby.
44 I wil also visite Bel in Babel, & I wil bring out of his mouth, that which a hee hath swallowed vp, and the nations shal runne no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel shall fall.
45 My people, go out of the middes of her, & deliuer yee euery man his soule from the fierce wrath of the Lord, 46 Least your heart euen faint, & ye feare the rumour, that shalbe heard in the land: the rumour shall come this yeere, and after that in the other b yere shal come a rumour, & crueltie in the land, and ruler against ruler.
47 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, that I will visite the images of Babel, & the whole land shalbe confounded, and all her slayne shall fall in the middes of her.
48 Then the heauen and c the earth, and all that is therein, shal reioyce for Babel: for the destroyers shal come vnto her from the North, saith
the Lord.
49 As Babel caused the d slaine of Israel to fall, so by Babel the slaine of all the earth did fall.
50 Ye that e haue escaped the sworde, goe away, stand not still: remember the Lord a farre off, and let Ierusalem come into your minde.
51 Wee are f confounded because wee haue heard reproch: shame hath couered our faces, for strangers are come into the Sanctuaries of the Lordes House.
52 Wherefore behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I wil visite her grauen images, and through all her land the wounded shal grone.
53 Though Babel should mount vp to g heauen, and though she should defend her strength on hie, yet from mee shall her destroyers come,
sayth the Lord.
54 A sound of a cry commeth from Babel, and great destruction from the land of the Caldeans, 55 Because the Lorde hath layde Babel waste, and destroyed from her the great voyce, and her waues shal roare like great waters, and a sounde was made by their noyse: 56 Because the destroyer is come vpon her, euen vpon Babel, and her strong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lorde God that recompenceth, shal surely recompence.

u Thus the Lord esteemeth the iniurie done to his Church, as done to himselfe, because their cause is his.

x When they are inflamed with surfeting & drinking, I will feast with them, alluding to Belshazzars bāket, Dan.5.2.

y Meaning Babel, as Chap.25.26.

z The great armie of the Medes and Persians.

a That is, his gifts & presents which he had receiued as part of the spoyle of other nations, & which the idolaters brought vnto him from all countreys.

b Meaning, that Babylon shoulde not be destroyed all at once, but by litle & litle should be brought to nothing: for the first yeere came the tidings, the next yere the siege, and in the third yeere it was taken: yet this is not that horrible destructiō which ẏ Prophets threatned in many places: for that was after this whē they rebelled and Darius ouercame them by the policie of Zopyrus & hāged three thousand gentlemen besides the common people.

c All creatures in heauen and earth shall reioyce and praise God for the destruction of Babylon ẏ great enemie of his Church.

d Babylon did not only destroy Israel, but many other nations.

e Ye that are now captiues in Babylon.

f Hee sheweth how they should remember Ierusalem by lamenting the miserable affliction thereof.

g For the walles were two hundreth foote hie.

57 And I will h make drunke her princes, and her wise men, her dukes, and her nobles, and her strong men: and they shal sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, sayth the King, whose Name is the Lord of hostes.
58 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The i thicke wall of Babel shalbe broken, & her hie gates shall be burnt with fire, and the people shal labour in vaine, & the folke in ẏ fire, for they shalbe weary.
59 The worde which Ieremiah the Prophet commanded Sheraiah the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, when he went with Zedekiah the King of Iudah into Babel, in the k fourth yeere of his reigne: and this Sheraiah was a peaceable prince.
60 So Ieremiah wrote in a booke all the euill that should come vpō Babel, euen al these things, that are written against Babel.
61 And Ieremiah sayd to Sheraiah, Whē thou commest vnto Babel, and shalt see, and shalt reade
all these wordes,
62 Then shalt thou say, O Lord, thou hast spoken against this place, to destroy it, that none should remaine in it, neither man nor beast, but that it should be desolate for euer.
63 And when thou hast made an ende of reading this booke, thou shalt binde a l stone to it, & cast it in the middes of Euphrates, 64 And shalt say, Thus shal Babel be drowned, and shal not rise from the euill, that I wil bring vpon her: and they shall m be weary. Thus farre are the wordes of Ieremiah.

h I will so astonish them by afflictions that they shall not knowe which way to turne them.

i The thicknes of the wall was fiftie foote thicke.

k This was not in the time of his captiuitie, but seuen yeeres before, when he went thither to gratulate Nebuchad-nezzar, or to intreate of some matters.

l S. Iohn in his reuelation alludeth to this place, when he sayth that the Angel tooke a milstone & cast it it into sea: signifying thereby the destruction of Babylon, Reue.18.21.

m They shall not be able to resist, but shall labour in vaine.

CHAP. LII.

4 Ierusalem is taken. 10 Zedekiahs sonnes are killed before his face, and his eyes put out. 13 The citie is burned. 31 Iehoiachin is brought forth of prison, and fed like a King.

Zedekiah * was one and twentie yeere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeeres in Ierusalem, & his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.
2 And he did euil in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that Iehoiakim had done.
3 a Doubtlesse because the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem and Iudah, till he had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the King of Babel.
4 * But in the ninth yeere of his reigne, in the tenth moneth the tenth day of the moneth came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, hee and all his hoste against Ierusalem, and pitched against it, and built fortes against it round about.
5 So the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yeere of the King Zedekiah.
6 Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was sore in the citie, so that there was no more bread for ẏ people of the land.
7 Then the citie was broken vp, and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the citie by night, by the b way of the gate betweene the two walles, which was by the Kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the citie round about) and they went by the way of the wildernes.
8 But the army of the Caldeans pursued after the king, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho, and all the hoste was scattered from him.
9 Then they tooke the King and caryed him vp vnto the king of Babel to Riblah in the land of Hamath, c where he gaue iudgement vpō him.
10 And the king of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah before his eyes: he slew also all ẏ princes
of

of Iudah in Riblah.
11 Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the king of Babel bound him in chaines, and ca-ryed him to Babel, and put him in prison till the day of his death.
12 Now in the fift moneth in the d tenth day of the moneth (which was the nineteenth yere of ÿ King Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel) came Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward which e stoode before the King of Babel in Ierusalem, 13 And burnt the House of the Lord, and the Kings house, and all the houses of Ierusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire.
14 And al the armie of the Caldeans that were with the chiefe steward, brake downe all ÿ walles of Ierusalem round about.
15 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue certaine of the poore of the people, and the residue of the people that remained in the citie, and those that were fled, and fallen to the king of Babel, with the rest of the multitude.
16 But Nebuzar adan the chiefe steward left certaine of the poore of the lande, to dresse the vines, and to till the land.
17 Also the f pillars of brasse that were in the House of the Lorde, and the bases, and the brasen Sea, that was in the house of ÿ Lorde, the Caldeans brake, and caryed all the brasse of them to Babel.
18 The pots also and the g besoms, and the instruments of musicke, and the basins, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasse wherewith they ministred, tooke they away.
19 And the bowles, and the ashpannes, and the basins, and the pots, and the candlestickes, and the incense dishes, and the cuppes, and all that was of golde, and that was of siluer, tooke the chiefe steward away,
20 With the two pillers, one Sea, and twelue brasen bulles, that were vnder the bases, which King Salomon had made in ÿ house of ÿ Lord: the brasse of all these vessels was without h weight.
21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteene cubites, and a threede of twelue cubites did compasse it, and the thickenes thereof was foure fingers: it was holowe.
22 And a chapiter of brasse was vpon it, and the height of one chapiter was fiue cubites with networke, and pomegranates vpon the chapiters round about, all of brasse: the seconde pillar also,
and the pomegranates were like vnto these.
23 And there were ninetie and sixe pomegranates on a side: and all the pomegranates vpon the net worke were an i hundreth round about.
24 And the chiefe steward tooke Sheraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephaniah k the Seconde Priest, and the three keepers of the doore.
25 Hee tooke also out of the citie an Eunuch, which had the ouersight of the men of warre,
and l seuen men that were in the Kings presence, which were founde in the citie, and Sopher captaine of the hoste who mustered the people of the lande, and threescore men of the people of the land, that were found in the middes of the citie.
26 Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde tooke them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah.
27 And the king of Babel smote them, and slewe them in Riblah, in the lande of Hamath:
thus Iudah was caryed away captiue out of his owne land.
28 ¶ This is the people, whome Nebuchadnezzar caried away captiue, in the m seuenth yeere, euen three thousand Iewes, and three and twentie.
29 In the n eighteenth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar he caryed away captiue from Ierusalem eight hundreth thirtie and two † persons.
30 In the three and twentieth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde caried away captiue of the Iewes seuen hundreth fourtie and fiue persons: all the persons were foure thousand and sixe hundreth.
31 And in the seuen and thirtieth yeere of the captiuitie of Iehoiachin King of Iudah, in the twelfth moneth, in the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth, Euil-merodach King of Babel, in the first yeere of his reigne, o lifted vp the head of Iehoiachin King of Iudah, and brought him out of pryson, 32 And spake kindly vnto him, and set his throne aboue the throne of the Kings, that were with him in Babel, 33 And changed his pryson p garments, and he did continually eate bread before him all the dayes of his life.
34 His portion was a q continuall portion gi-uen him of ÿ King of Babel, euery day a certaine, all the dayes of his life vntill he died.

d In the 2.King. 25.8. it is called the seuenth day, because the fire began then, and so continued to the tenth.

LAMENTATIONS.

CHAP. I.

1 The Prophet bewaileth the miserable estate of Ierusalem, 5 And sheweth that they are plagued because of their sinnes. The first and seconde chapter begin euery verse according to the letters of the Ebrewe Alphabet. The thirde hath three verses for euery letter, and the fourth is as the first.

HOwe doeth a the citie remaine solitarie that was full of people? she is as a widowe: she that was great among the nations, and b prin-cesse among the prouinces, is made tributarie.
2 She weepeth continually in the c night, and her teares runne downe by her cheekes among all her d louers, she hath none to comfort her: all her friendes haue delt vnfaithfully with her, and are her enemies.
3 Iudah is caryed away captiue, because e of affliction, and because of great seruitude: shee dwelleth among the heathen, and findeth no rest: all her persecuters tooke her in the straites.
4 The wayes of Zion lament, because no man commeth f to the solemne feastes: all her gates are desolate: her Priests sigh: her virgins are discomfited, and she is in † heauinesse.
5 Her aduersaries g are the chiefe, and her enemies prosper: for the Lorde hath afflicted her, for the multitude of her transgressions, and her children are gone into captiuitie before the enemie.
6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beautie is departed: her princes are become a The Prophet wondreth at the great iudgement of God, seeing Ierusalem, which was so strong and so ful of people, to be nowe destroyed and desolate.

b Which had chiefe rule ouer many prouinces and countries. c So that she taketh no rest. d Meaning, the Egyptians and Assyrians, which promised helpe.
e For her crueltie towarde the poore and oppresion of seruants, Iere. 34. 11.
f As they vsed to come vp, w mirth and ioy, Psal. 42.4.
g That is, haue rule ouer her, Deut. 28.44.

h like harts that finde no pasture, & they are gone without strength before the pursuer.
7 Ierusalem remembred the dayes of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleasant things, that shee had in times past, when her people i fell into the hand of the enemie, and none did helpe her: the aduersarie sawe her, and did mocke at her k Sabbaths.
8 Ierusalem hath grieuously sinned, therefore shee is ‖ in derision: all that honoured her, despise her, because they haue seene her filthinesse: yea, she sigheth and turneth backeward.
9 l Her filthinesse is in her skirts: she remem-bred not her last ende, therefore she came downe wonderfully: she had no comforter: O Lorde, beholde mine affliction: for the enemie † is proud.
10 The enemie hath stretched out his hande vpon al her pleasant things: for she hath seene the heathen enter into her Sanctuarie, whom m thou diddest commande, that they shoulde not enter into thy Church.
11 All her people sigh and seeke their bread:
they haue giuen their pleasant thinges for meate to refresh the soule: see, O Lord, and consider: for
I am become vile.
12 Haue ye no regarde, all yee that passe by this way? behold, and see, if there be any n sorowe like vnto my sorowe, which is done vnto mee, wherewith the Lorde hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath.
13 From aboue hath o hee sent fire into my bones, which preuaile against them: he hath spred a net for my feete, and turned me backe: he hath made me desolate, and dayly in heauinesse.
14 The p yoke of my transgressions is bounde vpon his hand: they are wrapped, and come vp vp-on my necke: hee hath made my strength to fall:
the Lord hath deliuered me into their hands, neither am I able to rise vp.
15 The Lorde hath troden vnder foote all my valiant men in the middes of me: he hath called an assembly against me to destroy my yong men:
the Lorde hath troden q the wine presse vpon the virgine the daughter of Iudah.
16 *For these things I weepe: mine eye, euen mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter that should refresh my soule, is farre from me:
my children are desolate, because the enemie preuailed.
17 Zion stretcheth out her handes, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appoynted the enemies of Iaakob rounde about him: Ieru-salem is r as a menstruous woman in the middes
of them.
18 The Lorde is righteous: for I haue rebelled against his † commandement: heare, I pray you, all people, and beholde my sorowe: my virgins and my yong men are gone into captiuitie.
19 I called for my louers, but they deceiued me:
my Priestes and mine Elders perished in the citie, while they s sought their meate to refresh their soules.
20 Beholde, O Lorde, howe I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me, for I am ful of heauinesse: the sworde spoyleth abroad, as death doeth at home.
21 They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort mee: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou hast pronounced, and they shalbe like vnto me.
22 t Let al their wickednes come before thee:
‖ do vnto them, as thou hast done vnto me, for all my transgressions: for my sighes are many, & mine heart is heauy.

h As men pined away with sorow and that haue no courage.

CHAP. II.

HOwe hath the Lord a darkened the daughter of Zion in his wrath! and hath cast downe from b heauen vnto the earth the beautie of Israel, and remembred not his c footestoole in the day of his wrath!
2 The Lord hath destroyed all the habitations of Iaakob, & not spared: he hath throwen downe in his wrath ye strong holds of the daughter of Iudah: he hath cast them downe to ye ground: he hath polluted the kingdome and the princes thereof.
3 Hee hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the d horne of Israel: he hath drawen backe his e right hand from before the enemie, & there was kindled in Iaakob like a flame of fire, which deuoured rounde about.
4 He f hath bent his bowe like an enemie: his right hand was stretched vp as an aduersarie, and slewe al that was pleasant to the eye in the tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he powred out his wrath like fire.
5 The Lord was an enemie: he hath deuoured Israel, and consumed all his palaces: he hath destroyed his strong holdes, and hath increased in the daughter of Iudah lamentation and mourning.
6 For hee hath destroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden, hee hath destroyed his Congregation:
the Lorde hath caused the feastes and Sabbathes to bee forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath the King and the Priest.
7 The Lord hath forsaken his altar: he hath abhorred his Sanctuarie: he hath giuen into the hand of the enemie the walles of her palaces: they haue made a g noyse in the House of the Lorde, as in the day of solemnitie.
8 The Lorde hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion; he stretched out a line: hee hath not withdrawen his hande from destroying; therefore hee made the rampart h and the wall to lament: they were destroyed together.
9 Her gates are sunke to the grounde: he hath destroyed and broken her barres: her King and her princes are among the Gentiles: the Lawe is no more, neither can her Prophets ‖ receiue any vision from the Lord.
10 The Elders of the daughter of Zion sit vp-on the grounde, and keepe silence: they haue cast vp dust vpon their heades: they haue gir-ded them selues with sackecloth: the virgins of Ierusalem hang downe their heades to the ground.
11 Mine eyes doe faile with teares: my bowels swell: my liuer is powred vpon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children and sucklings ‖ swoone in the streetes of the citie.
12 They haue sayd to their mothers, Where is † bread and drinke? when they swooned as the wounded in the streets of the citie, and when they † gaue vp the ghost in their mothers bosome.
13 i What thing shall I take to witnesse for thee? what thing shall I compare to thee, O daughter

t Of desiring vengeance against the enemie, reade Iere. 11. 20. & 18. 21.

g As the people were accustomed to prayse God in ye solemne feastes with a loud voyce, so nowe the enemies blaspheme him with shouting and crying.

daughter Ierusalem? what shal I liken to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgine daughter Zion? for thy breach is great like ẏ sea: who can heale thee?
14 Thy Prophets haue [k] looked out vaine, & foolish things for thee, and they haue not discouered thine iniquitie, to turne away thy captiuitie, but haue looked out for thee false ‖ prophecies, & causes of banishment.
15 All that passe by the way, clap their hands at thee: they hisse and wagge their head vpon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, Is this the citie that men call, The perfection of beautie, and the ioye of the whole earth?
16 All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hisse and gnash the teeth, saying, Let vs deuoure it: certainely this is the day that we looked for: we haue founde and seene it.
17 * The Lorde hath done that which he had purposed: he hath fulfilled his worde that he had determined of olde time: he hath throwen downe, and not spared: hee hath caused thine enemie to reioyce ouer thee, and set vp the horne of thine aduersaries.

of the daughter Zion, let teares runne downe like a riuer, day and night: take thee no rest, neither let the apple of thine eye cease.
19 Arise, cry in the night: in the beginning of the watches powre out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift vp thine handes to-warde him for the life of thy yong children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all the streetes.

CHAP. III.

I Am the man, that hath seene [a] affliction in the rod of his indignation.
2 Hee hath ledde mee, and brought me into darkenes, but not to light.
3 Surely he is turned against me: hee turneth his hand against me all the day.
4 My flesh and my skinne hath he caused to waxe olde, and he hath broken my bones.
5 He hath [b] builded against me, and compassed me with gall, and labour.
6 He hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for euer.
7 He hath hedged about mee, that I cannot get out: he hath made my chaines heauy.
8 Also when I cry and shoute, hee shutteth out my [c] prayer.
9 He hath [d] stopped vp my wayes with hew-en stone, and turned away my paths.
10 [e] He was vnto me as a beare lying in waite, and as a Lion in secret places.
11 He hath stopped my wayes, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.
12 He hath bent his bow & made me a marke for the arrow.
13 Hee caused † the arrowes of his quiuer to enter into my reines.
14 I was a derision to all my people, and their song all the day.
15 He hath filled me with bitternes, & made me drunken with [f] wormewood.
16 He hath also broken my teeth with stones,
and hath couered me with ashes.
17 Thus my soule was farre off from peace: I forgate prosperitie, 18 And I sayd, My strength and mine hope [g] is perished from the Lord, 19 Remembring mine affliction, & my mourning, the wormewood and the gall.
20 My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled [h] in me.
21 I consider this in mine heart: therefore haue
I hope.
22 It is the Lordes [i] mercies that wee are not consumed, because his compassions faile not.
23 They are renued [k] euery morning: great is thy faithfulnesse.
24 The Lorde is my [l] portion, sayth my soule:
therefore will I hope in him.
25 The Lord is good vnto them, that trust in him, and to the soule that seeketh him.
26 It is good both to trust, and to waite for the saluation of the Lord.
27 It is good for a man that he beare the yoke in his [m] youth.
28 He sitteth alone, [n] and keepeth silence, because he hath borne it vpon him.
29 He putteth his [o] mouth in the dust, if there may be hope.
30 Hee giueth his cheeke to him that smiteth him: he is filled full with reproches.
31 For the Lord will not forsake for euer.
32 But though he sende affliction, yet will he haue compassion according to the multitude of his mercies.
33 For he doeth not [p] punish † willingly, nor afflict the children of men, 34 In stamping vnder his feete all the prisoners
of the earth,
35 In ouerthrowing the right of a man before the face of the most High, 36 In subuerting a man in his cause: the Lord [q] seeth it not.
37 Who is he then that sayth, & it commeth to passe, and the Lord [r] commandeth it not?
38 Out of the mouth of the most High proceedeth not [s] euill and good?
39 Wherefore then is the liuing [t] man sorow-full? man suffreth for his sinne.
40 Let vs search and try our wayes, and turne againe to the Lord.
41 Let vs lift vp [u] our hearts with our handes vnto God in the heauens.
42 We haue sinned, and haue rebelled, therefore thou hast not spared.
43 Thou hast couered vs with wrath, and persecuted vs: thou hast slaine and not spared.
44 Thou hast couered thy selfe with a cloude, that our prayer should not passe through.

a The Prophet complaineth of ẏ punishments & afflictiōs ẏ he endured by ẏ false prophets and hypocrites, when he declared the destruction of Ierusalem, as Iere.20.2. b He speaketh this as one that felt Gods heauy iudgements, which hee greatly feared, and therefore setteth them out with this diuersity of words.
c This is a great tentation to the godly, when they see not the fruite of their prayers, and causeth them to thinke that they are not heard, which thing God vseth to the, that they might pray more earnestly and the oftener.
d And keepeth mee in holde as a prisoner.
e He hath no pitie on me.
† Ebr. sonnes.
f With great anguish & sorow he hath made me to lose my sense.
g Thus with paine he was driuen to and fro betweene hope & despaire, as ẏ godly oft times are, yet in the ende the Spirit getteth the victorie.
h He sheweth that God thus vseth to exercise his, to the intent that hereby they may knowe themselues & feele his mercies.
i Considering the wickednes of man, it is maruel ẏ any remaineth aliue: but only that God for his owne mercies sake & for his promes will euer haue his Church to remaine though they be neuer so fewe in nomber, Isa.1.9.
k We feele thy benefites dayly.
l The godly put their whole confidence in God, and therfore looke for none other inheritance, as Psal.16.5.
m He sheweth that we can neuer begin too timely to be exercised vnder the crosse, that when the affliction grow greater, our patience also by experience may be stronger.
n He murmureth not against God, but is patient.
o He humbleth himselfe as they that fall downe with their face to the ground, and so with patiēce waiteth for succour.
p He taketh no pleasure in it, but doeth it of necessitie for our amendement, when he suffreth ẏ wicked to oppresse the poore.
† Ebr. with his heart.
q He doeth not delite therein.
r He sheweth that nothing is done without Gods prouidence.
s That is, aduersitie, & prosperitie, Amos 3.6.
t When God afflicteth him.
u That is, both hearts and handes: for els to lift vp the handes is but hypocrisie.

45 Thou hast made vs as the * offscouring and refuse in the middes of the people.
46 All our enemies haue opened their mouth against vs.
47 Feare, and a snare is come vpon vs with desolation and destruction.
48 Mine eye casteth out riuers of water, for the destruction of the daughter of my people.
49 Mine eye droppeth without stay and cea-seth not,
50 Till the Lorde looke downe, and beholde from heauen.
51 Mine eye [x] breaketh mine heart because of all the daughters of my citie.
52 Mine enemies chased mee sore like a birde,
without cause.
53 They haue shut vp my life [y] in the dungeon, and cast a stone vpon me.
54 Waters flowed ouer mine head, then thought I, I am destroyed.
55 I called vpon thy Name, O Lorde, out of the lowe dungeon.
56 Thou hast heard my voyce: stoppe not thine eare from my sigh and from my cry.
57 Thou drewest neere in the day that I called vpon thee: thou saydest, Feare not.
58 O Lord, thou hast maintained the cause of my [z] soule, and hast redeemed my life.
59 O Lorde, thou hast seene my wrong, iudge thou my cause.
60 Thou hast seene all their vengeance, and all their deuises against me.
61 Thou hast heard their reproch, O Lord, and all their imaginations against me: 62 The lippes also of those that rose against me, and their whispering against me continually.
63 Behold, their sitting downe and their rising vp, howe I am their song.
64 * Giue them a recompence, O Lord, according to the worke of their handes.
65 Giue them || sorow of heart, euen thy curse
to them.
66 Persecute with wrath & destroy them from vnder the heauen, O Lord.

den their owne children, which were their meate

11 The Lorde hath accomplished his indignation: he hath powred out his fierce wrath, he hath kindled a fire in Zion, which hath deuoured the foundations thereof.
12 The Kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not haue beleeued that the aduersarie and the enemie should haue entred into the gates of Ierusalem: 13 For the sinnes of her Prophets, and the ini-quities of her Priests, that haue shed the blood of the iust in the middes of [g] her.
14 They haue wandred as blinde men [h] in the streetes, and they were polluted with blood, so that [i] they would not touch their garments.
15 But they cried vnto them, Depart, yee polluted, depart, depart, touch not: therefore they fled away, and wandered: they haue sayde among the heathen, They shall no more dwell there.
16 The || anger of the Lorde hath scattered them, hee wil no more regard them: [k] they reuerenced not the face of the Priestes, nor had compassion on the Elders.
17 Whiles we waited for our vaine helpe, our eyes failed: for in our waiting wee looked for [l] a nation that could not saue vs.
18 They hunt our steppes that we cannot goe in our streetes: our ende is neere, our dayes are fulfilled, for our ende is come.
19 Our persecuters are swifter then the egles of the heauen: they pursued vs vpon the moun-taines, and layde waite for vs in the wildernesse.
20 The [m] breath of our nostrels, the Anoynted of the Lorde was taken in their nets, of whome we sayde, Vnder his shadowe we shalbe preserued that dwellest in the land of Vz, the cuppe also shall passe through vnto thee: thou shalt be drunken || and vomit.

22 Thy punishment is accomplished, O daughter Zion: he [o] will no more carie thee away into captiuitie, but hee will visite thine iniquitie, O daughter Edom, he wil discouer thy sinnes.

CHAP. V.

The prayer of Ieremiah.

REmember, O Lorde, what is come vpon vs:
[a] consider, and beholde our reproche.
2 Our inheritance is turned to the strangers,
our houses to the aliants.
3 We are fatherles, euen without father, and our mothers are as widowes.
4 We haue drunken our [b] water for money,
and our wood is solde vnto vs.
5 Our neckes are vnder persecution: wee are wearie, and haue no rest.
6 We haue giuen our [c] handes to the Egypt-

e They that were before most in Gods fauour, are nowe in greatest abomination vnto him.
f For lacke of foode they pine away, & consume.
g Hee meaneth that these things are come to passe therefore, contrary to all mens expectations.
h Some referre this to the blinde men, which as they went, stumbled on the blood, whereof the citie was full.
i Meaning, the heathen, which came to destroy them, could not abide them.
|| Or, face.
k That is, the enemies.
l He sheweth two principal causes of their destruction: their crueltie, and their vaine confidence in man: for they trusted in the helpe of the Egyptians.
m Our King Iosiah, in whom stood our hope of Gods fauor, & on whom depēded our state & life, was slaine, whom he calleth anointed, because he was a figure of Christ n This is spoken by derision.
|| Or, shewe thy nakednes.
o He comforteth the Church by that after seuentie yeeres their sorowes shal haue an ende, whereas the wicked should be tormented for euer.
a This praier as is thought, was made when some of the people were caried away captiue, others, as ẏ poorest remained, & some went into Egypt & other places for succour: albeit it seemeth that the prophet foreseeing their miseries to come, thus prayed.

b Meaning, their extreme seruitude and bondage. c We are ioyned in league and amitie with them, or haue submitted our selues vnto them.

tians,

tians, and to Asshur, to be satisfied with bread.
7 Our fathers haue sinned, and are not, and we haue borne their [d] iniquities.
8 Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none would de-liuer vs out of their hands.
9 Wee gate our bread with the perill of our liues, because of the sword [e] of the wildernesse.
10 Our skinne was blacke like as an ouen because of the terrible famine.
11 They defiled the women in Zion, and the maydes in the cities of Iudah.
12 The princes are hanged vp by [f] their hande: the faces of the elders were not had in honour.
13 They tooke the yong men to grinde, and the children fell vnder [g] the wood.
14 The Elders haue ceased from the [h] gate and the yong men from their songs.
15 The ioy of our heart is gone, our daunce is turned into mourning.
16 The crowne of our head is fallen: wo nowe vnto vs, that we haue sinned.
17 Therefore our heart is heauy for these thinges, our [i] eyes are dimme, 18 Because of the mountaine of Zion which is desolate: the foxes runne vpon it.
19 But thou, O Lord, remainest for [k] euer: thy throne is from generation to generation.
20 Wherefore doest thou forget vs for euer, and forsake vs so long time?
21 [l] Turne thou vs vnto thee, O Lord, and we shalbe turned: renue our dayes as of olde.
22 But thou hast vtterly reiected vs: thou art exceedingly angry against vs.

d As our fathers haue bin punished for their sinnes, so we ȳ are culpable of the same sinnes, are punished.
e Because of the enemie ȳ came frō the wildernes, and would not suffer vs to goe & seeke our necessarie foode.
f That is, by the enemies hand.
g Their slauery was so great, that they were not able to abide it.
h There were no more lawes nor forme of common wealth.
i With weeping.
k And therefore thy couenant and mercies can neuer faile.
l Whereby is declared that it is not in mans power to turne to God, but is onely his worke to conuert vs, and thus God worketh in vs before we can turne to him, Iere. 31.18.

EZEKIEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

AFter that Iehoiachin by the counsel of Ieremiah and Ezekiel had yeelded himselfe to Nebuchadnezzar, and so went into captiuitie with his mother and diuers of his princes and of the people, certaine began to repent and murmure that they had obeied the Prophets counsel, as though the things which they had prophecied should not come to passe, and therefore their estate should be stil miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason whereof he confirmeth his former prophecies, declaring by newe visions and reuelations shewed vnto him, that the citie shoulde most certainely be destroyed, and the people grieuously tormented by Gods plagues, insomuch that they that remained, should bee brought into cruell bondage. And lest the godly should despaire in these great troubles, he assureth them that God wil deliuer his Church at his time appointed, and also destroy their enemies which either afflicted them, or reioyced in their miseries. The effect of the one and the other should chiefely be perfourmed vnder Christ, of whom in this booke are many notable promises, and in whom the glory of the newe Temple should perfectly be restored. He prophecied these things in Caldea at the same time that Ieremiah prophecied in Iudah, and there began in the fift yere of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Ezekiel prophecied and in what place. 3 His kinred. 5 The vision of the foure beastes, 26 The vision of the throne.

IT came to passe in the [a] thirteenth yere in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth (as I was among the captiues by the riuer [b] Chebar) that the heauens were opened and I sawe visions of [c] GOD.
2 In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fift yere of King Ioiachins captiuitie) 3 The word of the Lorde came vnto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the lande of the Caldeans, by the riuer Chebar, where the [d] hande of the Lorde was vpon him.
4 And I looked, and beholde, [e] a whirlewinde came out of the North, a great cloude and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnesse was about it, and in the middes thereof, to wit, in the middes of
the fire came out as the likenesse of || amber.
5 Also out of the middes thereof came the like-nesse of foure beastes, [f] and this was their forme:
they had the appearance of a man.
6 And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had foure wings.
7 And their feete were streight feete, and the sole of their feete was like the sole of a calues foote, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasse.
8 And the handes of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foure parts of them, & they foure had their faces, and their wings.
9 They were [g] ioyned by their wings one to another, and when they went forth, they returned not, but euery one went streight forward.
10 And the similitude of their faces was as [h] the face of man: and they foure had the face of a lyon on the right side, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an egle.
11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spred out aboue: two wings of euery one were ioyned one to another, & two couered their bodies.
12 And euery one went streight forward: they went whither their † spirit led them, and they returned not when they went forth.
13 The similitude also of the beastes, and their appearance was like burning coles of fire, & like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ran among the beastes, and the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning.
14 And the beastes ranne, and [i] returned like vnto lightning.
15 ¶ Nowe as I behelde the beastes, beholde, a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beastes, hauing foure faces.
16 The facion of the wheeles and their worke was like vnto a [k] chrysolite: and they foure had one forme, and their facion, and their worke was
as one wheele in another wheele.
17 Whē they went, they went vpō their foure sides, and they returned not when they went.
18 They had also || rings, and height, and were fearefull to beholde, and their rings were full of eyes, round about them foure.

a After that the booke of the Law was founde, which was the eighteenth yere of the reigne of Iosiah, so that fiue and twentie yeeres after this booke was found, Ieconiah was led away captiue with Ezekiel (and many of the people) who the first yeere after sawe these visions.
b Which was a part of Euphrates, so called.
c That is, notable, and excellent visions, so ȳ it might be knowen, it was no natural dreame, but came of God.
d That is, the Spirit of prophecie, as Chap. 3.22. & 37.1.
e By this diuersity of wordes he signifieth the fearefull iudgement of God, and the great afflictions, ȳ should come vpon Ierusalem.
|| Or, pale yellowe.
f Which were the foure Cherubims that represented the glory of God, as Chap. 3.28.
g The wing of the one touched the wing of the other.
h Euery Cherubim had foure faces, the face of a man, and of a lyon on the right side, and the face of a bullocke, and of an egle on the left side.
† Ebr. Whither their spirit or will was to goe.
i That is, when they had executed Gods will: for afore they returned not, till God had changed the state of thinges.
k The Ebrewe worde is tarshish meaning, that the colour was like the Cilician sea, or a precious stone so called.
|| Or, the treat.

19 And when the beastes went, the wheeles went with them: and when the beasts were lift vp from the earth, the wheeles were lift vp.
20 Whither the spirit led them, they went, and thither did the spirite of the wheeles leade them, and the wheeles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirit of the beastes was in the wheeles.
21 When the beastes went, they went, & when they stoode, they stoode, and when they were lifted vp from the earth the wheeles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirite of the beastes was in the wheeles.
22 And the similitude of the firmament vpon
the heads of the beastes was wonderfull like vnto chrystall, spred ouer their heads aboue.
23 And vnder the firmament were their wings streight, the one toward the other: euery one had two, which couered thē, and euery one had two,
which couered their bodies.
24 And when they went foorth, I heard the noyse of their [l] wings, like the noyse of great waters, and as the voyce of the Almightie, euen the voyce of speach, as the noyse of an host: and when they stood, they [m] let downe their wings.
25 And there was a voyce frō the firmament, that was ouer their heads, when they stoode, and had let downe their wings.

CHAP. II.

The Prophet is sent to call the people from their errour.

AND [a] he said vnto me, [b] Sonne of man, stande vp vpon thy feete, and I wil speake vnto thee.

2 [c] And the Spirite entred into me, when he had spoken vnto me, and set me vpon my feete, so that I heard him that spake vnto me.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled against me: for they and their fathers haue rebelled against mee, euen vnto this very day.

4 For they are † impudent children, and stiffe hearted: I doe send thee vnto them, & thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God.

5 But surely they will not heare, neither in deed wil they cease: for they are a rebellious house: yet shall they know that [d] there hath bene a Prophet among them.

6 And thou sonne of man, [e] feare them not, neyther be afraide of their wordes, although rebels, and thornes be with thee, and thou remainest with scorpions: feare not their wordes, nor be afrayde at their lookes, for they are a rebellious house.

7 Therefore thou shalt speake my words vnto them: but surely they will not heare, neither will they in deede cease: for they are rebellious.

8 But thou sonne of man, heare what I say vnto thee: be not thou rebellious, like this rebellious house: open thy mouth, and [f] eate that I giue thee.

9 And when I looked vp, beholde, an hande was sent vnto me, and loe, a roule of a booke was therein.

10 And he spred it before me, and it was written within and without, & there was written therin, [g] Lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

e Reade Ierem. 1. 17. he sheweth that for none afflictions they should cease to doe their dueties.

f He doeth not only exhort him to his duetie, but also giueth him the meanes wherewith he may be able to execute it. g Hee sheweth what were the contents of this booke: to wit, Gods iudgements against the wicked.

CHAP. III.

1 The Prophet being fed with the word of God, and with the constant boldnesse of the Spirit, is sent vnto the people that were in captiuitie. 17 The office of true ministers.

MOreouer he said vnto me, Sonne of man, eate that thou findest: [a] eate this roule, and goe, and speake vnto the house of Israel.

2 So I opened my mouth, and he gaue mee this roule to eate.

3 And he saide vnto me, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eate, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eate it, and it was in my mouth as sweete as honie.

4 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, go, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my wordes.

5 For thou art not sent to a people of an vnknowen † tongue, or of an hard language, but to the house of Israel,

6 Not to many people of an vnknown tongue, or of an hard language, whose wordes thou canst not vnderstand: yet if I should send thee to them, they would obey thee.

7 But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey me: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent and stiffe hearted.

8 Beholde, I haue made thy face [b] strong against their faces, and thy forehead harde against their foreheads.

9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therfore, neither be afraid at their lookes: for they are a rebellious house.

10 He said moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, [c] receiue in thine heart all my words that I speake vnto thee, and heare them with thine eares, 11 And goe and enter to them that are led away captiues vnto the children of thy people, and speake vnto them, and tell them, Thus saith the Lord God: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeede cease.

12 Then the spirite tooke me vp, and I heard behinde mee a noyse of a great rushing, saying, [d] Blessed be the glory of the Lord out of his place.

13 I heard also the noyse of the winges of the beasts, that touched one another, and the ratling of the wheeles that were by them, euen a noyse of a great rushing.

14 So the Spirit lift me vp, and tooke me away and I [e] went in bitternesse, and indignation of my spirite, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me.

15 Then I came to them that were ledde away captiues to [f] Tel-abib, that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I sate where they sate, and remayned there astonished among them [g] seuen dayes.

16 And at the end of seuen dayes, the word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a [h] watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the worde at my mouth, and giue them warning from me.

18 When I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou giuest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquity: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yea, if thou warne the wicked, and he turne not from his wickednesse, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquity, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

20 Likewise if a [i] righteous man turne from his righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, I will lay a [k] stumbling blocke before him, and he shall die, because thou hast not giuen him warning: he shall die in his sinne, and his [l] righteous deeds, which he hath done, shall not be remembred: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Neuerthelesse, if thou admonish that righteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and that he doeth not sinne, he shall liue because he is admonished: also thou hast deliuered thy soule.

22 And the [m] hand of the Lord was there vpon me, and he said vnto me, Arise, and goe into the ‖ field, and I will there talke with thee.

23 So when I had risen vp, and gone forth into the field, behold, the [n] glory of the Lord stood there, as the glory which I saw by the riuer Chebar, and I fell downe vpon my face.

24 Then the Spirite entred into me, which [o] set me

CHAP. IIII.

1 The besieging of the citie of Ierusalem is signified. 9 The long continuance of the captiuitie of Israel. 16 An hunger is prophecied to come.

THou also sonne of man, take thee a bricke, and lay it before thee, and pourtray vpon it the citie, euen Ierusalem,

2 And lay siege against it, and build a fort against it, and cast a mount against it: set the campe also against it, and lay engins of warre against it round about.

3 Moreouer, take an a yron pan, and set it for a wall of yron betweene thee and the citie, and direct thy face toward it, and it shal be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shall be a signe vnto the house of Israel.

4 Sleepe thou also vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the b house of Israel vpon it: according to the nomber of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquity.

5 For I haue layde vpon thee the yeeres of their iniquitie, according to the nomber of the dayes, euen three hundreth and ninetie dayes: so shalt thou beare the iniquitie of the house of Israel.

6 And when thou hast accomplished them, sleepe againe vpon thy c right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fourtie dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yeere, euen a day for a yeere.

7 Therefore thou shalt direct thy face towarde the siege of Ierusalem, and thine d arme shalbe vncouered, and thou shalt prophesie against it.

8 And beholde, I will lay e bands vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another, till thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege.

9 Thou shalt take also vnto thee wheate, and barley, and beanes, and lentiles, and millet, f and fitches, and put them in one vessel, and make thee bread thereof according to the nomber of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side: euen g three hundreth and ninetie dayes shalt thou eate thereof.

10 And the meate, whereof thou shalt eate, shalbe by weight, euen h twenty shekels a day: and from time to time shalt thou eate thereof.

11 Thou shalt drinke also water by measure, euen the sixt part of i an Hin: from time to time shalt thou drinke.

12 And thou shalt eate it as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it k in the dongue that commeth out of man, in their sight.

15 Then he saide vnto mee, Loe, I haue giuen thee bullockes m dongue for mans dongue, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreouer, he saide vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde, I will breake n the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, and they shall eate bread by weight, and with care, and they shal drinke water by measure, and with astonishment.

17 Because that bread and water shall fayle, they shalbe astonied one with another, and shall consume away for their iniquity.

ANd thou sonne of man, take thee a sharpe knife, or take thee a barbours rasor & cause it a to passe vpon thine head, and vpon thy beard: then take thee balances to weigh, and diuide the haire.

2 Thou shalt burne with fire the thirde part in the middes of b the citie, when the dayes of the siege are fulfilled, & thou shalt take the other third part, and smite about it with a knife, and the last third part thou shalt scatter in the winde, & I will draw out a sword after them.

3 Thou shalt also take thereof a few in nomber, and binde them in thy c lappe.

4 Then take of them againe and cast them into the middes of the fire, and burne them in the fire: d for thereof shall a fire come foorth into all the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, This is Ierusalem: I haue set it in the middes of the nations & countries, that are round about her.

6 And she hath changed my e iudgements into wickednesse more then the nations, and my statutes more then the countries, that are rounde about her: for they haue refused my iudgements & my statutes, & they haue not walked in them.

7 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Because your f multitude is greater then the nations that are rounde about you, and yee haue not walked in my statutes, neither haue yee kept my iudgements: no, ye haue not done according to the iudgements of the nations, that are round about you,

8 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, I, euen I come against thee, and will execute iudgement in the middes of thee, euen in the sight of the nations.

9 And I will doe in thee, that I neuer did before, neither will do any more the like, because of all thine abominations.

* mountaines of Israel, and prophecie against
them,
3 And say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the worde of the Lorde God: thus sayth the Lorde God to the a mountaines and to the hilles, to the riuers and to the valleis, Beholde, I, euen I will bring a sworde vpon you, and I will destroy your hie places:
4 And your altars shalbe desolate, and your images of the b sunne shalbe broken: and I will cast downe your slaine men before your idoles.
5 And I will lay the dead carkeises of the children of Israel before their c idoles, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars.
6 In all your dwelling places the cities shalbe desolate, and the hie places shalbe laide waste, so that your altars shalbe made waste and desolate, and your idoles shalbe broken, and cease, & your images of the sunne shalbe cut in pieces, and your workes shalbe abolished.
7 And the slaine shall fall in the middes of you, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lorde.
8 Yet will I leaue a remnant, d that you may haue some that shall escape the sworde among the nations, when you shall be scattered through the countreyes.
9 And they that escape of you, shall remember me among the nations, where they shall be in captiuitie, because I am grieued for their whorish hearts, which haue departed from mee, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they e shalbe displeased in themselues for the euils, which they haue committed in all their abominations.
10 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, and that I haue not said in vaine, that I would doe this euill vnto them.
11 Thus saith the Lorde God, f Smite with thine hand, and stretch foorth with thy foote, and say, Alas, for all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for they shall fall by the sworde,
by the famine, and by the pestilence.
12 He that is farre off, shall dye of the pestilence, and he that is neere, shall fall by the sword, and hee that remaineth and is besieged, shall dye by the famine: thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

stroyers shall enter into it, and defile it.
23 ¶ Make a s chaine: for the lande is full of the t iudgement of blood, and the citie is full of crueltie.
24 Wherefore I wil bring the most wicked of the heathen, and they shall possesse their houses: I will also make the pompe of the mightie to cease, and their u holy places shalbe defiled.
25 When destruction commeth, they shall seeke peace, and shall not haue it.
26 Calamitie shall come vpon calamitie, and rumour shall bee vpon rumour: then shall they seeke a vision of the Prophet: but the Lawe shall perish from the Priest, and counsell from the Ancient.
27 The King shal mourne, and the prince shall be clothed with desolation, and the handes of the people in the lande shall be troubled: I will doe vnto them according to their wayes, and according to their iudgements will I Iudge them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lorde.

CHAP. VIII.

1 An appearance of the similitude of God. 3 Ezekiel is brought to Ierusalem in the spirit. 6 The Lorde sheweth the Prophet the idolatries of the house of Israel.

a Of the captiuitie of Iechoniah.
b Which conteined part of August, and part of September.
c As Chap.1.27.

AND in the a sixt yeere, in the b sixt moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, as I sate in mine house, and the Elders of Iudah sate before me, the hand of the Lord God fell there vpon me.
2 Then I beheld, and lo, there was a likenesse, as the appearance of c fire, to looke to, from his loynes downeward, & from his loynes vpward, as the appearance of brightnesse, & like vnto amber.
3 And he stretched out the likenes of an hãd,
and tooke mee by an hairie locke of mine head, and the Spirit lift me vp betweene the earth, and the heauen, and brought mee † by a Diuine d vision to Ierusalem, into the entry of the inner e gate that lieth toward the North, where remained the idole of f indignation, which prouoked indignation.
4 And beholde, the glorie of the God of Israel was there according to the vision, that I sawe g in the fielde.
5 Then saide hee vnto me, Sonne of man, lift vp thine eyes now towarde the North. So I lift vp mine eyes towarde the North, and beholde, Northward, at the gate of the h altar, this idole of indignation was in the entrie.
6 He said furthermore vnto me, Sonne of mã, seest thou not what they doe? euen the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here to cause mee to depart from i my Sanctuarie?
but yet turne thee and thou shalt see greater abominations.
7 And hee caused mee to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, beholde, an hole was in the wall.
8 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, digge now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, beholde, there was a doore.
9 And he saide vnto me, Goe in, and beholde the wicked abominations that they doe here.
10 So I went in, and sawe, and beholde, there was euery similitude of creeping thinges and k abominable beastes and all the idoles of the house of Israel painted vpon the wall round about.
11 And there stoode before them seuentie l men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the middes of them stoode Iaazaniah, the sonne of Shaphan, with euery man his censor in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went vp like m a cloude.
12 Then saide hee vnto mee, Sonne of man, hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel n doe in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imagerie? for they say, The Lorde seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.
13 Againe he saide also vnto mee, Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe.
14 And he caused me to enter into the entrie of the gate of the Lords house, which was toward the North: and beholde there sate women mourning for o Tammuz.
15 Then saide hee vnto mee, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations then these.
16 And hee caused me to enter into the inner court of the Lordes house, and beholde, at the doore of the Temple of the Lorde, betweene the porche and the altar were about fiue and twentie men with their backes toward the Temple of the Lorde, and their faces towarde the East, and they worshipped the sunne, toward the East.
17 Thẽ he said vnto me, Hast thou seene this,
O sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they doe here? for they haue filled the lande with cru-eltie, and haue returned to prouoke mee: and loe, they haue cast out p stinke before their noses.
18 Therefore will I also execute my wrath:
mine

† Ebr. in the visions of God.
d Meaning, that he was thus caried in spirit, and not in body.
e Which was the porch or the court where the people assembled.
f So called because it prouoked Gods indignation, which was the idole of Baal.
g Reade Chap.3.22.
h That is, in the court where the people had made an altar to Baal.
i For God will not bee where idoles are.
k Which were forbidden in the Law, Leui.11.4.
l Thus they that should haue kept all the rest in the feare, and true seruice of God, were the ring leaders to all abomination, and by their example pulled others from God.
m It was in such abundance.
n For besides their common idolatrie, they had particular seruice, which they had in secret chambers.
o The Iewes write that this was a Prophet of the idoles, who after his death was once a yere mourned for in ÿ night.
p Declaring that the sensings and seruice of the idolaters, are but infection & vileny before God.

tie, and * though they crie in mine eares with a loude voyce, yet will I not heare them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The destruction of the citie. 4 They that shalbe saued, are marked. 8 A complaint of the Prophet for the destruction of the people.

HE cried also with a loud voyce in mine eares, saying, The visitations of [a] the city draw neere, and euery man hath a weapon in his hande to destroy it.
2 And behold, sixe [b] men came by the way of the hie gate, which lieth toward the [c] North, and euery man a weapon in his hand to destroy it: and one man amōg them was clothed with linen, with a writers [d] ynkehorne by his side, and they went in and stood beside the brasen altar.
3 And the glory of the God of Israel was [e] gone vp from the Cherub, whereupon he was and stoode on the ‖ doore of the house, and he called to the man clothed with linnen, which had the writers ynkhorne by his side.
4 And the Lord said vnto him, Goe through the mids of the citie, euen through the mids of Ie-rusalem, and ‖ set a marke vpon the foreheads of them that [f] mourne, and cry for all the abominations that be done in the middes thereof.
5 And to the other he said, that I might heare, Goe ye after him through the citie, and smite: let your eye spare none, neither haue pitie.
6 Destroy vtterly the old, and the young, and the maides, and the children, and the women, but touch no man, vpon whom is the [g] marke, and begin at my Sanctuarie. Then they began at the [h] ancient men, which were before the house.
7 And he saide vnto them, Defile the house, and fill the courtes with the slayne, then goe foorth: and they went out, and slewe them in the citie.
8 Nowe when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fel downe vpon my face, and cryed, saying, [i] Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in powring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem?
9 Then sayd he vnto me, The iniquity of the house of Israel, and Judah is exceeding great, so that the land is [k] full of blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, The Lorde hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not.
10 As touching me also, mine eye shall not spare them, neither wil I haue pitie, but wil recom-
pence their wayes vpon their heads.
11 And beholde, the man clothed with linen which had the ynkhorne by his side, made report, and sayde, Lorde, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

a The time to take vengeance.
b Which were Angels in the similitude of men.
c Signifying, that the Babylonians should come from the North to destroy the citie and the Temple.
d To marke them that should be saued.
e Which declared, that he was not bound thereunto, neither would remayne any longer, then there was hope that they would returne from their wickednesse, and worship him aright.
‖ Or, thresholde.
‖ Or, marke with Thau.
f He sheweth what is the maner of Gods children, whom he marketh to saluation: to wit, to mourne, and crie out against the wickednesse, which they see committed against Gods glorie.
g Thus in all his plagues the Lord preserueth his small nomber, which he marketh, as Exod. 12. 22. reuel. 7.3. but the chiefe marke is the Spirit of adoption, wherewith the heart is sealed vp to life euerlasting.
h Which were the chiefe occasion of all these euils, as Chap. 8.11.
i This declareth, that the seruants of God haue a cōpassion, when they see his iudgements executed.
k That is, with all kind of wickednesse, read Isa. 1.15.

CHAP. X.

1 Of the man that tooke hote burning coales out of the middle of the wheeles of the Cherubims. 8 A rehearsall of the vision of the wheeles, of the beasts, and of the Cherubims.

ANd as I looked, beholde, in the * firmament that was aboue the head of the [a] Cherubims there appeared vpon them like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a saphir stone.
2 And hee spake vnto the man clothed with linen, and said, Go in betweene the wheeles, euen vnder the Cherub, & fill thine hands with coales of fire from betweene the Cherubims, and scatter them ouer [b] the city. And he went in in my sight.
3 Now the Cherubims stoode vpon the right side of the house, when the man went in, and the cloude filled the inner court.
4 Then the glorie of the Lorde [c] went vp from the Cherub, and stoode ouer the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was filled with the brightnesse of the Lords glory.
5 And the [d] sound of the Cherubims winges was heard into the vtter court, as the voyce of the Almighty God, when he speaketh.
6 And when he had commaunded the man clothed with linen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, and from betweene the Cherubims, then he went in and stood beside the wheele.
7 And one Cherub stretched foorth his hand from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linen: who tooke it and went out.
8 And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likenesse of a mans hand vnder their wings.
9 And when I looked vp, beholde, foure wheeles were beside the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and another wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a [e] Chrysolite stone.
10 And their appearance (for they were all foure of one facion) was as if one wheele had bin in another wheele.
11 When they went foorth, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they [f] turned not as they went.
12 And their whole bodie, and their ‖ rings, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes rounde about, euen in the same foure wheeles.
13 And the Cherub cryed to these wheeles in mine hearing, saying, O wheele.
14 And euery beast had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the thirde the face of a lyon, and the fourth the face of an Eagle.
15 And the Cherubims were lifted vp: * this is the beast that I saw at the riuer Chebar.
16 And when ẏ Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheeles also turned not from beside them.
17 When the Cherubims stood, they stood: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted them selues vp also: for the [g] spirit of the beast was in them.
18 [h] Then the glorie of the Lorde departed from aboue the doore of the house, and stood vp-on the Cherubims.
19 And the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also were besides them: and euery one stoode at the entrie of the gate of the Lords House at the East side, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie.
20 * This is the [i] beast that I sawe vnder the God of Israel by the riuer Chebar, and I knew that they were the Cherubims.
21 Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, and the likenesse of mans handes was vnder their wings.
22 And the likenes of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I sawe by the riuer Chebar,

and

CHAP. XI.

1 Who they were that seduced the people of Israel. 5 Against these he prophecieth, shewing them howe they shalbe dispersed abroade. 19 The renewing of the heart commeth of God 21 He threatneth them that leaue vnto their owne counsels.

MOreouer, the Spirite lift me vp, and brought me vnto the East gate of the Lordes house, which lyeth Eastwarde, and beholde, at the entry of the gate were fiue and twentie men: among whome I sawe Iaazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah, the princes of the people.
2 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischife, and deuise wicked counsell in this citie.
3 For they say, [a] It is not neere, let vs builde houses: this citie is the [b] caldron, and we be the flesh.
4 Therefore prophecie against them, sonne of man, prophecie.
5 And the Spirit of the Lord fel vpon me, and sayd vnto me, Speake, Thus saith the Lorde, O ye house of Israel, this haue ye said, and I know that which riseth vp of your mindes.
6 Many haue ye murthered in this citie, and ye haue filled the streetes thereof with the slaine.
7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, They that ye haue slaine, and haue laid in the middes of it, they are [c] the flesh, and this citie is the caldron, but I will bring you forth of the mids of it.
8 Ye haue feared the sword, and I wil bring a sword vpon you, saith the Lord God.
9 And I will bring you out of the mids thereof, and deliuer you into the [d] handes of strangers, and will execute iudgements among you.
10 Ye shal fall by the sworde, and I wil iudge you in the border of [e] Israel, and ye shal know that I am the Lord.
11 This citie shal not be your caldron, neither shal ye be the flesh in the middes thereof, but I will iudge you in the border of Israel.
12 And ye shall knowe that I am the Lord: for ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither executed my iudgements, but haue done after the ma-ners of the heathen, that are round about you.
13 ¶ And when I prophecied, Pelatiah the sonne of [f] Benaiah dyed: then fell I downe vpon my face, and cryed with a loude voyce, and sayde, Ah Lorde God, wilt thou then vtterly destroy all the remnant of Israel?
14 Againe the worde of the Lorde came vnto
me, saying,
15 Sonne of man, thy [g] brethren, euen thy brethren, the men of thy kinred, and all the house of Israel, wholy are they vnto whome the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue sayd, Depart ye farre from the Lord: for the land is giuen vs in possession.
16 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lorde God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countreis, yet wil I be to them as a little [h] Sanctuarie in ý countreis where they shal come.
17 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countreyes where ye haue bene scattered, and I will giue you the land of Israel.
18 And they shal come thither, and they shall take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abo-

a Thus the wicked derided the Prophets, as though they preached but errors, and therefore gaue themselues still to their pleasures.
b We shall not be pulled out of Ierusalem, till the houre of our death come, as the flesh is not taken out of the caldron till it be sod.
c Contrary to their vaine confidence he sheweth in what sense this citie is the caldron: that is, because of the dead bodies that haue bene murthered therein, and so lie as flesh in the caldron.
d That is, of the Caldeans.
e That is, in Riblah, reade 2.king. 25.6.
f It seemeth that this noble man died of some terrible death, and therefore the Prophet feared some strange iudgement of God towarde the rest of the people.
g They that remained still at Ierusalem thus reproched them that were gone into captiuitie, as though they were cast off and forsaken of God.
h They shalbe yet a litle Church, shewing that the Lorde will euer haue some to call vpon his Name, whome he will preserue and restore, though they be for a time afflicted.

minations thereof from thence.
19 * And I wil giue them one heart, and I wil put a new spirit among their bowels and I wil take the [i] stonie heart out of their bodies, and wil giue them an heart of flesh, 20 That they may walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, and execute them: and they shalbe my people, and I will be their God.
21 But vpon them, whose heart is toward their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way vpon their owne heades, saith the Lord God.
22 ¶ Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheeles besides them, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie.
23 And the glory of the Lord went vp from the mids of the citie, and stoode vpon the mountaine which is toward the East side of the citie.
24 Afterwarde the Spirite tooke me vp, and brought me in a vision by the Spirite of God into Caldea to them that were ledde away captiues: so the vision that I had seene, went vp from me.
25 Then I declared vnto them that were [k] led away captiues, all the thinges that the Lord had shewed me.

CHAP. XII.

1 The parable of the captiuitie. 18 Another parable whereby the distresse of hunger and thirst is signified.

THe worde of the Lorde also came vnto mee,
saying,
2 Sonne of man, thou dwellest in the middes of a rebellious house, which haue eyes to see, and see [a] not: they haue eares to heare, and heare not:
for they are a rebellious house.
3 Therefore thou sonne of man, † prepare thy stuffe to goe into captiuitie, and goe forth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house.
4 Then shalt thou bring foorth thy stuffe by day in their sight as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuitie: and thou shalt go forth at euen in their sight, as they that goe forth into captiuity.
5 Digge thou through the wall in their sight, and cary out thereby.
6 In their sight shalt thou beare it vpon thy shoulders, and carie it foorth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face that thou see not the earth:
for I haue set thee as a [b] signe vnto the house of Israel.
7 And as I was cōmanded, so I brought forth my stuffe by day, as the stuffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged through the wall with mine hand, and brought it forth in the darke, & I bare it vpō my shoulder in their sight.
8 And in the morning came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,
9 Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, sayde vnto thee, What [c] doest thou?
10 But say thou vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God, This ‖ burden concerneth the chiefe in Ierusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them.
11 Say, I am your signe: like as I haue done, so shall it be done vnto them: they shall goe into bondage and captiuitie.
12 And the chiefest that is among them, shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke, and shall goe

a That is, they receiue not the fruite of that which they see and heare.
† Ebr. make thee vessels to goe into captiuitie.
b That as thou doest, so shall they doe, and therefore in thee they shall see their owne plague and punishment.
c Doe not they deride thy doings?
‖ Or, prophecie.

goe foorth: they shall digge through the wall, to carie out thereby: he shall couer his face, that hee see not the ground with his eyes.

13 My net also will I spread vpon [d] him, and he shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the lande of the Caldeans, yet shall he not see it, though he shall die there.

d When the king shall thinke to escape by fleeing, I will take him in my net, as Chap. 17.20. and 32.3.

14 And I will scatter towarde euery winde all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garisons, and I will drawe out the sword after them.

15 And they shall knowe that I am the Lorde, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countreis.

16 But I will leaue a [e] litle nomber of them from the sworde, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all these abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lorde.

e Which should beare his Name, and should be his Church, reade Chap.11.16.

17 ¶ Moreouer, the worde of the Lorde came
vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, eate thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, & with carefulnesse,

19 And say vnto the people of the land, Thus saith the Lorde God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the lande of Israel, They shall eate their bread with carefulnesse, and drinke their water with desolation: for the lande shall bee desolate from her abundance because of the crueltie of them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, shall be left voyde, and the lande shall be desolate, and yee shall knowe that I am the Lord.

21 ¶ And the worde of the Lorde came vnto
me, saying,

22 Sonne of man, what is that prouerbe that you haue in the lande of Israel, saying, The dayes [f] are prolonged and all visions || faile?

f Because they did not immediatly see the prophecies accomplished, they contemned them as though they should neuer be fulfilled.

|| Or, take none effect.

23 Tell them therefore, Thus saith the Lorde God, I will make this prouerbe to cease, and they shall no more vse it as a prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto them, The dayes are at hand and the effect of euery vision.

24 For no vision shall be any more in vaine, neither shall there bee any flattering diuination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lorde: I will speake, and that thing that I shall speake, shall come to passe: it shall be no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, will I say the thing, and will performe it, saith the Lord God.

26 Againe the worde of the Lorde came vnto
me, saying,

27 Sonne of man, beholde, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that he seeth, is for [g] many dayes to come, and he prophecieth of the times that are farre off.

g That is, it shall not come to passe in our dayes, and therefore we care not for it: thus the wicked euer abuse Gods pacience & benignitie.

28 Therefore say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lorde God, All my wordes shall no longer be delayed, but that thing which I haue spoken, shall be done, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XIII.

2 The word of the Lorde against false prophets, which teach the people the counsels of their owne hearts.

AND ý worde of ý Lord came vnto me, saying, 2 Sonne of man, prophecie against the prophets of * Israel, that prophecie, and say thou vnto them, that prophecie out of their [a] owne hearts, Heare the worde of the Lorde.

* Chap.14.9.

a After their owne fantasie, and not as hauing the reuelation of the Lord, Iere.23.16.

3 Thus sayth the Lorde God, Woe vnto the foolish Prophets that followe their owne spirit, and haue seene nothing.

4 O Israel, thy Prophets are like the foxes [b] in the waste places.

b Watching to destroy the vineyarde.

5 [c] Ye haue not risen vp in the gappes, neither made vp the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battell in the day of the Lord.

c He speaketh to the gouernours and true ministers that should haue resisted them.

6 They haue seene vanitie, and lying diuination, saying, The Lord sayth it, and the Lorde hath not sent them: and they haue made others to hope ý they would confirme the word of their prophecie.

7 Haue ye not seene a vaine vision? and haue yee not spoken a lying diuination? [d] ye say, The Lord sayth it, albeit I haue not spoken.

d Ye promised peace to this people and now ye see their destruction, so that it is manifest, that yee are false prophets.

8 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Because yee haue spoken vanitie and haue seene lyes, therefore beholde, I am against you, sayeth the Lorde God,

9 And mine hand shall be vpon the Prophets that see vanitie, and diuine lies: they shall not bee in the assemblie of my people, neither shall they be written in the [e] writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: and yee shall knowe that I am the Lord God.

e That is, in the booke of life, wherein the true Israelites are written.

10 And therefore, because they haue deceiued my people, saying, [f] Peace, and there was no peace:
and one built vp a [g] wall, and beholde, the others daubed it with vntempered morter, f Read Iere.6.14.

g Whereas the true Prophets prophecied the destruction of the citie to bring the people to repentance, the false prophets spake the contrary & flattered them in their vanities, so that what one false prophet sayde, (which is here called ý bulding of the wall) an other false prophet would affirme, though he had neither occasion nor good ground to beare him.

11 Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered morter, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great showre, and I will sende hailestones, which shall cause it to fall, and a stormie winde shall breake it.

12 Lo, when the wall is fallen, shall it not bee sayde vnto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, I will cause a stormie winde to breake forth in my wrath, and a great showre shall bee in mine anger, and hailestones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I will destroy the wall that ye haue daubed with vntempered morter, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the fundation thereof shal be discouered, and it shall fall, and ye shalbe consumed in the middes thereof, and ye shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with [h] vntempered morter, and will say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof, h Whereby is meant whatsoeuer man of him selfe setteth forth vnder the autoritie of Gods worde.

16 To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which prophecie vpon Ierusalem, and see visions of peace for it, and there is no peace, sayth the Lord God.

17 Likewise thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophecie out of their owne heart: and prophecie thou against them, and say,

18 Thus sayth the Lorde God, Woe vnto the women that sowe [i] pillowes vnder all arme holes, and make vailes vpon the head of euery one that standeth vp, to hunt soules: wil ye hunt the soules of my people, and will yee giue life to the soules that come vnto you?

i These superstitious women for lucre would prophecie and tell euery man his fortune, giuing them pillowes to leane vpon & kerchiefs to couer their heads, to the intent they might the more allure them and bewitch them.

19 And will yee pollute me among my people for handfuls of [k] barly, and for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that should not dye, and [l] to giue life to the soules that should not liue in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

k Will ye make my word to serue your bellies?

l These sorcerers made the people beleeue that they coulde preserue life or destroy it, and that it should come to euery one according as they prophecied.

20 Wherefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Behold, I will haue to doe with your pillowes, wherewith with yee hunt the [m] soules to make them to flie, and I will teare them from your armes, and will let the soules goe, euen the soules, that ye hunt to make them to flie.

21 Your vailes also will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hande, and they shall be no more in your hands to be hunted, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lorde.
22 Because with your lyes yee haue made the heart of the [n] righteous sadde, whome I haue not made sad, and strengthened the hands of the wicked, that hee should not returne from his wicked way, by promising him life, 23 Therefore ye shall see no more vanitie, nor diuine diuinations: for I wil deliuer my people out of your hand, & ye shal know that I am the Lord.

m That is, to cause them to perish, and that they should depart from the bodie.

n By threatning them that were godly, and vpholding the wicked.

CHAP. XIIII.

4 The Lorde sendeth false Prophets for the ingratitude of the people. 22 Hereserueth a small portion for his Church.

Then came certaine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and [a] sate before me.
2 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me,
saying,
3 Sonne of man, these men haue set vp their idoles in their [b] heart, and put the stumbling blocke of their iniquitie before their face: should I, being required, answere them?
4 Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lorde God, Euery man of the house of Israel that setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to the [c] Prophet, I the Lord will answere him that commeth, according to the multitude [d] of his idoles: 5 That [e] I may take the house of Israel in their owne heart, because they are all departed from me through their idoles.
6 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus sayth the Lord God, Returne, and withdraw your selues, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations.
7 For euery one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that soiourneth in Israel, which departeth from mee, and setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for me, I the Lord will answere him ‖ for my selfe, 8 And I wil set my face against that man, and will make him an example and prouerbe, and I will cut him off from the middes of my people,
and ye shall knowe that I am the Lorde.
9 And if the Prophet be [f] deceiued, when he hath spoken a thing, I the Lorde haue deceiued that Prophet, and I will stretche out mine hande vpon him, and will destroy him from the middes of my people of Israel.
10 And they shall beare their punishment: the punishment of the Prophet shall bee euen as the punishment of him that asketh, 11 That the house of [g] Israel may go no more astray from mee, neither bee polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, sayth the Lorde God.
12 ¶ The word of the Lorde came againe vn-
to me, saying,
13 Sonne of man, when þ land sinneth against me by committing a trespasse, then will I stretch out mine hand vpon it, [h] & will breake the staffe of the bread thereof, and will sende famine vpon it, and I will destroy man and beast forth of it.
14 Though these three men, [i] Noah, Daniel, and Iob were among them, they shoulde deliuer but their owne soules by their [k] righteousnes, sayth the Lorde God.
15 If I bring noysome beastes into the lande and they spoyle it, so that it bee desolate, that no man may passe through, because of beastes, 16 Though these three men were in the mids thereof, As I liue, sayth the Lorde God, they shall saue neither sonnes nor daughters: they onely shalbe deliuered, but the land shall be waste.
17 Or if I bring a sworde vpon this lande, and say, Sword, goe through the land, so that I destroy man and beast out of it, 18 Though these three men were in the mids
thereof, As I liue, sayth the Lorde God, they shall deliuer neither sonnes nor daughters, but they onely shall be deliuered themselues.
19 Or if I send pestilence into this lande, and powre out my wrath vpon it in blood, to destroy out of it man and beast, 20 And though Noah, Daniel and Iob were in the middes of it, As I liue, sayth the Lorde God, they shall deliuer neither sonne nor daughter: they shall but deliuer their owne soules by their righte-ousnesse.
21 For thus saith the Lorde God, How much more when I sende my * foure sore iudgements vpon Ierusalem, euen the sworde, and famine, and the noysome beast and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it?
22 Yet beholde, therein shalbe left a [l] remnant of them that shalbe caried away both sonnes and daughters: behold, they shall come forth vnto you, and ye shall see their way, and their enterprises: and ye shalbe comforted, concerning the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, euen concerning all that I haue brought vpon it.
23 And they shall comfort you, when yee see their way and their enterprises: & ye shall knowe, that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, saith the Lorde God.

a He sheweth the hypocrisie of the idolaters, who will dissemble to heare the Prophets of God, though in their heart they followe nothing lesse then their admonitions, and also how by one meanes or other, God doeth discouer them.

b They are not onely idolaters in heart, but also worship their filthy idoles openly, which lead them in blindnesse, and cause them to stumble, and cast them out of Gods fauour, so that he will not heare them when they call vnto him, reade Iere. 10. 15.

c To inquire of things which the Lorde hath appointed to come to passe.

d As his abomination hath deserued: that is, he shall be ledde with lyes according as he delited therin, 2 Thes. 2. 10.

e That is, conuince them by their owne conscience.

‖ Or, by my selfe.

f The Prophet declareth that God for mans ingratitude raiseth vp false Prophets to seduce them that delite in lies rather then in the trueth of God, and thus he punisheth sinne by sinne, 1. King. 22. 20, 22. and destroyeth aswell those Prophets as that people.

g Thus Gods iudgements against the wicked, are admonitions to the godly, to cleaue vnto the Lorde, and not to defile themselues with like abominations.

h Reade Chap. 4. 16. and 5. 17. Isa. 3. 1.

i Though Noah & Iob were now aliue, which in their time were most godly men (for at this time Daniel was in captiuitie with Ezekiel) and so these three together should pray for this wicked people, yet would I not heare them, reade Iere. 15. 1.

k Meaning, that a very fewe (which he calleth the remnant, verse 22.) should escape these plagues, whom God hath sanctified and made righteous, so that this righteousnes is a signe that they are the Church of God, whom he would preserue for his owne sake.

* Chap. 5. 17.

CHAP. XV.

As the vnprofitable wood of the vine tree is cast into the fire, so Ierusalem shalbe burnt.

And þ word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 2 Sonne of man, what commeth of the vine tree aboue all other trees? and of the vine branche, which is among the [a] trees of the forest?
3 Shall wood bee taken thereof to doe any worke? or will men take a pin of it to hang any vessell thereon?
4 Behold, it is cast in the fire to be consumed:
the fire consumeth both the endes of it, and the middes of it is burnt. Is it meete for any worke?
5 Behold, when it was whole, it was meete for no worke: how much lesse shall it bee meete for any worke, when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt?
6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As the vine tree, that is among the trees of the forest, which I haue giuen to the fire to be consumed, so will I giue the inhabitants of Ierusalem.
7 And I will set my face against them: they shall goe out from one [b] fire, and another fire shall consume them: and ye shall knowe, that I am the Lorde,

a Which bringeth forth no fruite, no more then the other trees of the forest doe: meaning, that if Ierusalem, which bare the name of his Church, did not bring forth fruite, it should be vtterly destroyed.

b Though they escape one danger, yet another shall take them.

Lord, when I set my face against them, 8 And when I make the land waste, because they haue greatly offended, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet declareth the benefites of God towarde Ierusalem. 15 Their vnkindenesse. 46 He iustifieth the wickednesse of other people in comparison of the sinnes of Ierusalem. 49 The cause of the abominations, into which the Sodomites fell. 60 Mercie is promised to the repentant.

Againe, the worde of the Lord came vnto me,
saying,
2 Sonne of man, cause Ierusalem to knowe
her abominations,
3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God vnto Ie-rusalem, Thine habitation and thy kindred is of the land [a] of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.
4 And in thy natiuitie whē thou wast [b] borne, thy nauell was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to soften thee: thou wast not salted with salt, nor swadled in cloutes.
5 None eye pitied thee to do any of these vnto thee, for to haue compassion vpon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open fielde to the contempt of thy person in ỳ day that thou wast borne.
6 And when I passed by thee, I saw thee polluted in thine [c] owne blood, and I said vnto thee, whē thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt liue: euen when thou wast in thy blood, I sayde vnto thee, Thou shalt liue.
7 I haue caused thee to multiplie as the bud of the fielde, and thou hast encreased and waxen great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments:
thy breastes are facioned, thine haire is growen,
where as thou wast naked and bare.
8 Nowe when I passed by thee, and looked vpon thee, beholde, thy time was as the time of loue, and I spred my skirtes ouer thee, and couered [d] thy filthines: yea, I sware vnto thee, and entred into a couenant with [e] thee, saith the Lorde God, and thou becamest mine.
9 Then washed I thee with [f] water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I [g] anointed thee with oyle.
10 I clothed thee also ẘ broydred worke, and shod thee with badgers skin: and I girded thee about with fine linen, & I couered thee with silke.
11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine handes, and a chaine on thy necke.
12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and earerings in thine eares, and a beautifull [h] crowne vpon thine head.
13 Thus wast thou decke with gold and siluer, and thy raiment was of fine linen, and silke, and broydred worke: thou didest eate fine floure, and honie and oyle, and thou wast very beautifull, and thou didest grow vp into a kingdome.
14 And thy name was spred among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was perfite through my [i] beautie which I had set vpon thee, sayth the Lord God.
15 Nowe thou didest [k] trust in thine owne beautie, and playedst the harlot, because of thy re-nowme, and hast powred out [l] thy fornications on euery one that passed by, thy desire was to him.
16 And thou didest take thy garments, & deckedst thine hie places with diuers colours, [m] and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like things a Thou boastest to be of the seede of Abraham, but thou art degenerate and followest the abominations of the wicked Cananites, as children do the maners of their fathers, Isa. 1.4 and 57.3.

b When I first brought thee out of Egypt, and planted thee in this land to be my Church.

c Being thus in thy filthines and forsaken of all men, I tooke thee & gaue thee life: whereby is ment that before God wash his Church, and giue life, there is nothing but filthines and death.

d These words, as blood, pollution, nakednes, & filthines are ofttimes repeated, to beate downe their pride, and to cause them to consider what they were before God receiued thē to mercy, fauoured them and couered their shame.

e That thou shouldest be a chaste wife vnto me, and that I should maintaine thee & endue thee with al graces

f I washed away thy sinnes.

g I sanctified thee with mine holy Spirit.

h Hereby he sheweth how he saued his Church, enriched it, and gaue it power and dominion to reigne.

i Hee declareth wherein the dignitie of Ierusalem stoode: to wit, in that that the Lorde gaue them of his beautie and excellencie.

k In abusing my giftes and in putting thy confidēce in thine owne wisdome and dignitie, which were the occasions of thine idolatrie.

l There was none idolatry so vile wherewith thou didest not pollute thy selfe.

m This declareth how the idolaters put their chiefe delite in those things, which please the eyes and outward senses.

shall not come, neither hath any done so.
17 Thou hast also taken thy faire iewels made of my golde and of my siluer, which I had giuen thee, and [n] madest to thy selfe images of men, and didest commit whoredome with them, 18 And tookest thy broydred garmentes, and coueredst them: and thou hast set mine oyle and my perfume before them.
19 My meate also, which I gaue thee, as fine floure, oyle, and honie, wherewith I fedde thee, thou hast euen set it before them for a sweete sauour: thus it was, sayth the Lord God.
20 Moreouer thou hast taken thy sonnes and thy daughters, whome thou hast borne vnto mee, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to [o] be deuoured: is this thy whoredome a small matter?
21 That thou hast slaine my children, and de-liuered them to cause them to passe through fire for them?
22 And in all thine abominations and whore-domes thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.
23 And beside all thy wickednes (wo, wo vnto thee, sayth the Lord God) 24 Thou hast also built vnto thee an hie place, and hast made thee an hie place in euery streete.
25 Thou hast built thine hie place at euery ‖corner of the way, and hast made thy beautie to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy feete to euery
one that passed by, & multiplied thy whoredome.
26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the [p] Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and hast encreased thy whoredome, to prouoke me.
27 Beholde, therefore I did stretche out mine hand ouer thee, and wil diminish thine ordinarie, and deliuer thee vnto the will of them that hate thee, euen to the ‖ daughters of the Philistims, which are ashamed of thy wicked way.
28 Thou hast played the whore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast insatiable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.
29 Thou hast moreouer multiplied thy fornication from the lande of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.
30 Howe weake is thine heart, sayth the Lord God, seeing thou doest all these things, euen the worke of a ‖ presumptuous whorish woman?
31 In that thou buildest thine hie place in the corner of euery way, and makest thine hie place in euery streete, and hast not bene as an harlot [q] that despiseth a reward, 32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband: 33 They giue giftes to all other whores, but thou giuest giftes vnto all thy louers, and rewardest them, that they may come vnto thee on eue-ry side for thy fornication.
34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shalbe after thee: for in that thou giuest a re-warde, and no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrary.
35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the worde of
the Lord.
36 Thus sayth the Lorde God, Because thy ‖shame was powred out, and thy filthinesse discouered through thy fornications with thy louers, n Thou hast conuerted my vessels and instruments, which I gaue thee to serue me with, to the vse of thine idoles.

o Meaning, by fire, reade Leuit.18.21. 2.King.23.10.

‖Or, head.

p He noteth the great impietie of this people, who first falling from God to seeke help at strange nations, did also at length embrace their idolatrie, thinking thereby to make their amitie more strong.

‖Or, cities.

‖Or, that will beare rule.

q Meaning, that some harlots contemne small rewards, but no louers gaue a reward to Israel, but they gaue to all others: signifying, that the idolaters bestowe all their substance, which they receiue of God for his glorie, to serue their vile abominations.

‖Or, nether partes.

and with all the idoles of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou didest offer vnto them,
37 Beholde, therefore I wil gather all [r] thy lo-uers, with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loued, with all them that thou hast hated: I will euen gather them round about against thee, and wil discouer thy filthinesse vnto them, that they may see all thy filthines.
38 And I wil iudge thee after ye maner of them that are [s] harlots, and of them that shead blood, and I wil giue thee the blood of wrath & ielousie.
39 I wil also giue thee into their handes, and they shall destroy thine hie place, and shall breake downe thine hie places: they shall strippe thee also out of thy clothes, and shall take thy faire iew-els, and leaue thee naked and bare.
40 They shal also bring vp a company against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swordes.
41 And they *shal burne vp thine houses with fire, and execute iudgements vpon thee in the sight of many women: and I wil cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt giue no reward any more.
42 So will I make my wrath towarde thee to rest, and my [t] ielousie shall depart from thee, and I wil cease and be no more angry.
43 Because thou hast not remembred the daies of thy youth, but hast prouoked me with all these things, behold, therefore I also haue [u] brought thy way vpon thy head, sayeth the Lorde God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations.
44 Beholde, all that vse prouerbes, shal vse this prouerbe against thee, saying, As is the mother, [x] so is her daughter.
45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy [y] sisters, which forsooke their husbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.
46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, and her [z] daughters, that dwell at thy left hand, and † thy yong sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodom, and her daughters.
47 Yet hast thou [a] not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a very litle thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.
48 As I liue, saith the Lorde God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither shee nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters.
49 Beholde, this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodom, [b] Pride, fulnesse of bread, and aboundance of idlenesse was in her, and in her daughters: neither did shee strengthen the hande of the poore and needie.
50 But they were hautie, and committed abomination before mee: therefore I tooke them away, as pleased me.
51 Neither [c] hath Samaria committed halfe of thy sinnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast [d] iustified thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done.
52 Therefore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy sinnes, that thou hast committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame,

[r] Egyptians, Assyrians and Caldeans, whome thou tookest to be thy louers, shall come and destroy thee, Chap. 23. 9.

[s] I wil iudge thee to death, as the adulterers and murtherers.

* 2. King. 25. 9.

[t] I will vtterly destroy thee, and so my ielousie shal cease.

[u] I haue punished thy faultes, but thou wouldest not repent.

[x] As were the Canaanites, and the Hittites & others your predecessours, so are you their successours.

[y] That is, of Samaria and Sodom.

† Ebr. thy sister yonger then thou.

[a] But done farre worse.

[b] He alledgeth these foure vices, pride, excesse, idlenesse and cõtempt of the poore, as foure principall causes of such abomination, wherefore they were so horribly punished, Gene. 19. 24.

[c] Which worshipped the calues in Beth-el and Dan.

[d] Thou art so wicked, that in respect of thee Sodom and Samaria were iust.

seeing that thou hast iustified thy sisters.
53 Therefore I will bring againe [e] their capti-uitie with the captiuitie of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captiuitie of Samaria, and her daughters: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the middes of them, 54 That thou mayest beare thine owne shame, and mayest be confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast [f] comforted them.
55 And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shal returne to their former state. Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, [g] when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.
56 For thy sister Sodom † was not heard of [h] by thy report in the day of thy pride, 57 Before thy wickednes was [i] discouered, as in the same time of the reproch of the daughters of Aram, and of all the daughters of the Philistims round about [k] her which despise thee on all sides.
58 Thou hast borne therefore thy wickednesse and thine abomination, sayth the Lord.
59 For thus saith the Lord God, I might euen deale with thee, as thou hast done: when thou didest despise the [l] othe, in breaking the couenant.
60 Neuerthelesse, I wil [m] remember my couenant made with thee in the dayes of thy youth, and I wil confirme vnto thee an euerlasting couenant.
61 Then thou shalt remember thy wayes, and be ashamed, when thou shalt receiue [n] thy sisters, both thy elder & thy yonger, and I will giue them
vnto thee for daughters, but not [o] by thy couenãt.
62 And I wil establish my couenant with thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord, 63 That thou mayest remember, and be [p] ashamed, & neuer open thy mouth any more: because of thy shame when I am pacified toward thee, for all that thou hast done, sayth the Lord God.

[e] This he speaketh in comparison, seeing, that he wold restore Ierusalem whẽ Sodom should be restored, that is, neuer: and this is meant of the greatest part of the Iewes.

[f] In that thou hast shewed thy selfe worse then they, and yet thoughtest to escape punishment.

[g] Meaning, that it should neuer come to passe.

† Ebr. was not a rumour in thy mouth.

[h] Thou wouldest not cal her punishment to minde when thou wast a-lost, to learne by her example to feare my iudgements.

[i] That is, till thou wast brought vnder by the Syrians and Philistims, 2. Chron. 28. 19.

[k] Which ioyned with the Syrians, or compassed about Ierusalem.

[l] When thou brakest the couenant, which was made betwene thee and me, as verse 8.

[m] That is, of mercie and loue I wil pitie thee, and so stand to my couenant, though thou hast deserued the contrary.

[n] Whereby he sheweth that among the most wicked he had euer some seede of his Church which he would cause to fructifie in due time: and here he declareth howe hee will call the Gentiles.

[o] But of my free mercie.

[p] This declareth what fruites Gods mercies worke in his, to wit, sorow, and repentance for their former life.

CHAP. XVII.

The parable of the two Egles.

AND the worde of the Lorde came vnto mee,
saying,
2 Sonne of man, put foorth a parable and speake a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel, 3 And say, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, The great [a] egle with great wings, and long wings, and ful of fethers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanon, & tooke the hiest branch of the cedar, 4 And brake off the toppe of his twigge, and caried it into the land [b] of Marchants, and set it in a citie of marchants.
5 Hee tooke also of the [c] seede of the lande, and planted it in a fruitfull ground: hee placed it
by great waters, and set it as a willowe tree.
6 And it budded vp, and was [d] like a spreading vine of [e] low stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the rootes thereof were vnder it: so it became a vine, and it brought foorth branches, and shot forth buds.
7 There was also [f] another great egle with great wings and many fethers, and beholde, this vine did turne her rootes toward it, & spred forth her branches toward it, that she might water it by the trenches of her plantation.
8 It was planted in a good soyle by great [g] waters, that it should bring forth branches, and beare fruite, and be an excellent vine.

9 Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shall it prosper? shall h he not pull vp the rootes thereof, and destroy the fruite thereof, and cause them to drie? all the leaues of her bud shall wither without great power, or many people, to plucke it vp by the rootes thereof.

h Shall not Nebuchad-nezzar destroy it?

10 Beholde, it was planted: but shal it prosper? shall it not be dried vp, and wither? i when the East winde shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches, where it grewe.

i By this drie winde, he meaneth the Babylonians.

11 Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vn-
to me, saying,
12 Say now to this rebellious house, Know ye not, what these things meane? tell them, Behold, the King of Babel is come to Ierusalem, and hath taken k the king thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel,

k That is, Ieconiah, 2.King 24.15.

13 And hath taken one of the Kings seede, and made a couenant with him, & hath taken l an othe of him: he hath also taken the princes of the land,

l For his subiection and obedience.

14 That the kingdome might be in subiection, and not lift it selfe vp, but keepe their couenant,
and stand to it.
15 But he rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadours into Egypt, that they might giue him horses, and much people: shall hee prosper?
shall he escape, that doeth such things? or shall he breake the couenant, and be deliuered?
16 As I liue, sayth the Lord God, he shall die in the middes of Babel, in the place of the King, that had made him King, whose othe he despised,
and whose couenant made with him, he brake.
17 Neither shall Pharaoh with his mightie hoste, and great multitude of people, mainteine him in the warre, when they haue cast vp mounts, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons.
18 For he hath despised the othe, and broken ẏ couenant (yet lo, he had giuen m his hand) because he hath done all these things, he shall not escape.

m Because hee tooke the Name of God in vaine, and brake his othe which he had confirmed by giuing his hand, therefore the Prophet declareth that God would not suffer such periurie and infidelitie to escape punishmēt.

19 Therefore, thus sayth the Lord God, As I liue, I wil surely bring mine othe that he hath despised, and my couenant that he hath broken vp-on his owne head.
20 * And I wil spread my net vpon him, & he shalbe taken in my net, & I will bring him to Babel, and will enter into iudgement with him there for his trespas that he hath committed against me.

* Chap.12.13.and 32.3.

21 And all that flee from him with all his hoste, shal fall by the sword, & they that remaine, shalbe scattered towarde all the windes: and ye shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it.
22 Thus sayth the Lorde God, I will also take off the top n of this hie cedar, and will set it, and cut off the o top of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it vpon an hie mountaine and great.

n This promes is made to ẏ Church which shalbe as a small remnant, & as the toppe of a tree.
o I will trimme it and dresse it.

23 Euen in the hie mountaine of Israel will I plant it: and it shal bring forth boughes & beare fruite, and be an excellent cedar, and vnder it shall remaine all birds, and euery p foule shall dwell in the shadow of the branches thereof.

p Both the Iewes & Gentiles shalbe gathered into it.

24 And all the q trees of the fielde shall knowe that I the Lord haue brought downe the hie tree, and exalted the lowe tree: that I haue dried vp the greene tree, and made the drie tree to florish: I the Lord haue spoken it, and haue done it.

q All the worlde shall know that I haue pluckt downe the proude enemies & set vp my Church which was lowe and contemned.

CHAP. XVIII.

He sheweth that euery man shall beare his owne sinne. 21 To him that amendeth, is saluation promised. 24 Death is prophecied to the righteous, which turneth backe frō the right way.

THe worde of the Lord came vnto me againe,
saying,
2 What meane ye that ye speake this pro-uerbe, concerning the land of Israel, saying, a The fathers haue eaten sowre grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge?

a The people murmured at the chastisings of the Lord, & therefore vsed this prouerbe meaning that their fathers had sinned and their children were punished for their transgressions, reade Iere. 31.29.

3 As I liue, sayth the Lord God, ye shall vse this prouerbe no more in Israel.
4 Beholde, all soules are mine, both the soule of the father, and also the soule of the sonne are mine: the soule that sinneth, it shall die.
5 But if a man be iust, and doe that which is lawfull, and right,
6 And hath not eaten b vpon the moun-taines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, neither hath * defiled his neigh-

10 ¶ If he beget a sonne, that is ‖ a thiefe, or a sheader of blood, if he do any one of these things,

‖ Or, a cruel man.

11 Though he doe not all these thinges, but either hath eaten vpon the mountaines, or defiled his neighbours wife, 12 Or hath oppressed the poore and needy, or hath spoyled by violence, or hath not restored the pledge, or hath lift vp his eyes vnto the idoles, or hath committed abomination, 13 Or hath giuen forth vpon vsurie, or hath taken increase, shal he liue? he shal not liue: seeing he hath done all these abominations, c he shal die the death, and his blood shall be vpon him.

c Hee sheweth how the sonne is punished for his fathers fault: that is, If he be wicked as his father was, and doeth not repent, he shalbe punished as his father was, or els not.

14 ¶ But if he beget a sonne, that seeth all his fathers sinnes, which he hath done, and feareth, neither doeth such like, 15 That hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idols of ẏ house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife, 16 Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath with-holden the pledge, neither hath spoyled by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment, 17 Neither hath withdrawen his hand from the afflicted, nor receiued vsurie nor increase, but hath executed my iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, he shall not die in the iniquitie of his father, but he shall surely liue.
18 His father, because he cruelly oppressed and spoyled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, loe, euen he dyeth
in his iniquitie.
19 Yet say ye, Wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father? because ẏ sonne hath executed iudgement & iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shal surely liue.

sonne shall not beare the iniquitie of the father, sonne, but the righteousnes of the righteous shall

f He speaketh this to commend Gods mercie to poore sinners, who rather is ready to pardon, then to punish, as his long suffring declareth, Chap. 33. 11. Albeit God in his eternall counsell appointed the death and damnation of the reprobate, yet the end of his counsel was not their death onely, but chiefly his owne glory. And also because he doeth not approoue sinne, therefore it is here sayd that he would haue them to turne away from it that they might liue.

shall be vpon him selfe.

sinnes that he hath committed, and keepe all my
d statutes, and doe that which is lawfull & right, he shall surely liue, and shall not die.
22 All his transgressions that he hath committed, they shal not be ‖ mentioned vnto him, but in his e righteousnes that he hath done, he shall liue.
23 f Haue I any desire that the wicked should die, sayth the Lord God? ‖ or shall he not liue, if he returne from his wayes?
24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousnes, & commit iniquitie, and doe according to all the abominations, that the wicked man doeth, shall he liue? all his g righteousnes that he hath done, shall not be mentioned: but in his transgression that he hath committed, and in his sinne that he hath sinned, in them shall he die.
25 Yet ye say, The way of the Lorde is not h equall: heare now, O house of Israel. Is not my way equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?
26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousnes, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die for the same, he shal euen die for his iniquitie, that he hath done.
27 Againe when the wicked turneth away from his wickednes that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, he shal saue his soule aliue.
28 Because he considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that hee hath committed, he shall surely liue and not die.
29 Yet saith ẏ house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equall. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?
30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, euery one according to his wayes, sayth the Lord God: returne therefore and cause others to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquitie shall not be your destruction.
31 Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye haue transgressed, and make i you a newe heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel?
32 For I desire not the death of him that dyeth, sayth the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue ye.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The captiuitie of the Kings of Iudah signified by the lyons whelpes, and by the lyon. 10 The prosperitie of the citie of Ierusalem that is past, and the miserie thereof that is present.

a That is, Iehohaz and Iehoiakim, Iosiahs sonnes, who for their pride and crueltie are compared vnto lyons.
b To wit, Iehohaz mother, or Ierusalem.
c By Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt, 2. King. 23. 33.
d Which was Iehoiakim.
e He slew of the Prophets, & them that feared God, and rauished their wiues.

THou also, take vp a lamentation for the a princes of Israel,
2 And say, Wherefore lay thy b mother as a lyonesse among the lyons? she nourished her yong ones among the lyons whelps, 3 And shee brought vp one of her whelps, and it became a lyon, and it learned to catch the praye, and it deuoured men.
4 The c nations also heard of him, and he was taken in their nets, and they brought him in chaines vnto the land of Egypt.
5 Nowe when she sawe, that shee had waited and her hope was lost, she tooke another of her d whelps, and made him a lyon.
6 Which went among the lyons, and became a lyon, and learned to catch the praye, and he de-uoured e men.
7 And he knew their widowes, & he destroyed their cities, and the land was wasted, and all that was therein by the noyse of his roaring.
8 Then the f nations set against him on euery side of the countreys, and layde their nets for him:
so he was taken in their pit.
9 And they put him in prison and in chaines, and brought him to the King of Babel, and they put him in holdes, that his voyce should no more be heard vpon the mountaines of Israel.
10 Thy g mother is like a vine in thy blood, planted by the waters: she brought foorth fruite and branches by the abundant waters, 11 And she had strong rods for the scepters of them that beare rule, and her stature was exalted among the branches, and she appeared in her height with the multitude of her branches.
12 But she was plucked vp in wrath: she was cast downe to the ground, & the h East winde dried vp her fruite: her branches were broken, & withered:
as for the rod of her strength, the fire consumed it.
13 And now she is planted in the wildernes in a drie and thirstie ground.
14 And fire is gone out i of a rod of her branches, which hath deuoured her fruite, so that she hath no strong rod to be a scepter to rule: this is a lamentation and shalbe for a lamentation.

f Nebuchad-nezzar with his great armie which was gathered of diuers nations.
g Hee speaketh this in the reproch of this wicked King, in whose blood, that is, in the race of his predecessours, Ierusalem should haue bene blessed, according to Gods promes, and florished as a fruitfull vine.
h Meaning, that the Caldeans should destroy them as the East winde doeth the fruite of the vine.
i Destruction is come by Zedekiah who was the occasion of this rebellion.

CHAP. XX.

3 The Lord denieth that he will answere them when they pray, because of their vnkindnes. 33 He promiseth that his people shall returne from captiuitie. 46 By the forest that should be burnt, is signified the burning of Ierusalem.

a Of the captiuitie of Ieconiah.
b This declareth the great lenitie and patience of God which calleth sinners to repentance before hee condemne them.
c I sware that I would be their God, which maner of othe was obserued from all antiquitie, where they vsed to lift vp their hands toward the heauen, acknowledging God to be the authour of trueth, & the defender thereof, also the iudge of the heart, wishing that he should take vengeance, if they concealed any thing which they knew to be trueth.
d God had forbidden them to make mention of the idols, Exod 23. 13. Psal. 16. 4.
e Which thing declareth the wickednes of mans heart which iudge Gods seruice by their eyes and outward senses.
f God had euer this respect to his glory, ẏ he would not haue his Name euill spoken of among the Gentiles for the punishment that his people deserued, in confidence whereof the godly euer prayed, as Exod. 32. 12. Nom. 14. 13.

AND in the a seuenth yeere, in the fift moneth,
the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the elders of Israel to enquire of the Lorde, and sate before me.
2 Then came the worde of the Lorde vnto
me, saying,
3 Sonne of man, speake vnto the Elders of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of me? as I liue, saith the Lord God, when I am asked, I wil not answer you.
4 Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man? wilt thou iudge them? cause b them to vnderstand the abominations of their fathers,
5 And say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lorde
God, In the day when I chose Israel, and c lift vp mine hand vnto the seede of the house of Iaakob, and made my selfe knowen vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and sayd, I am the Lord your God, 6 In the day ẏ I lift vp mine hand vnto them, to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had prouided for them, flowing with milke & hony, which is pleasant among all lands, 7 Then sayd I vnto them, Let euery man cast away the abominations of his eyes, d and defile not your selues with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.
8 But they rebelled against me, & would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of e their eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, & to accomplish my wrath against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.
9 But I had respect to my f Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whome they were, & in whose sight I made my selfe knowen vnto them in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt.

10 Nowe I caried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wildernes.
11 And I gaue them my statutes,and declared my iudgements vnto them, * which if a man doe, he shall liue in them.
12 Moreouer I gaue them also my * Sabbaths to be a signe betwene me & them,that they might knowe that I am the Lord,that sanctifie them.
13 But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wildernes: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements,which if a man doe, he shall liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted : then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them * in the wildernes to consume them, 14 But I had respect to my Name, that it shoulde not bee polluted before the g heathen in whose sight I brought them out.
15 Yet neuerthelesse, I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wildernes that I would not bring them into the lande , which I had giuen them, flowing with milke and honie,which was pleasant aboue all landes, 16 Because they cast away my iudgements,and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my h Sabbaths : for their heart went after their idoles.
17 Neuerthelesse, mine eye spared them,that I would not destroy them , neither would I consume them in the wildernes.
18 But I said vnto their children in the wildernes, Walke ye not in the ordinances of your i fathers,neither obserue their maners, nor defile your selues with their idoles.
19 I am the Lord your God : walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements and doe them, 20 And sanctifie my Sabbaths , and they shall bee a signe betweene mee and you , that ye may knowe that I am the Lord your God.
21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against mee : they walked not in my statutes , nor kept my iudgements to doe them , which if a man doe,hee shall liue in them , but they polluted my Sabbaths : then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpō them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wildernes.
22 Neuerthelesse I withdrew mine hand & had respect to my Name that it should not be polluted before the heathen , in whose sight I brought them foorth.
23 Yet I lift vp mine hande vnto them in the wildernes , that I would scatter them among the heathen, & disperse them through the countreys, 24 Because they had not executed my iudge-ments,but had cast away my statutes and had polluted my Sabbaths , and their eyes were after k their fathers idoles.
25 Wherefore I l gaue them also statutes that were not good , and iudgements , wherein they should not liue.
26 And I polluted them in their owne m giftes in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first openeth ẏ wombe,that I might destroy them, to the ende, that they might know that I am ẏ Lord.
27 Therefore, sonne of man , speake vnto the house of Israel,and say vnto them , Thus saith the Lorde God,Yet in this your fathers haue blasphe-med me,though they had before grieuously transgressed against me.
28 n For when I had brought them into the land , for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue

g Who might therby take an occasiō to blaspheme my Name and to accuse me of lacke of abilitie,or else that I had fought a meanes to destroy them more commodiously.
h That is, my true religion, which I had commaunded them, and gaue themselues to serue me according to their owne fantasies.
i Whereby the holy Ghost confuteth them that say that they wil followe the religion and example of their fathers,and not measure their doings by Gods worde,whether they be approueable thereby or no, k Meaning, that they set their delite vpon them.
l Because they would not obey my lawes, I gaue them vp to themselues, that they should obey their owne fantasies,as verse 39. Rom.1. 21,24.
m I condemned those things,and counted them as abominable which they thought had bene excellent,and to haue declared most zeale, Luke 16.15. for that which God requited as most excellent,that gaue they to their idoles.
n Not onely in the wildernes,whē I brought them out of Egypt,but since I placed them in this land: which declareth how prompt mans heart is to idolatry,seeing that by no admonitions he can be drawen backe.

it to them,then they saw euery hie hill, and all the thicke trees,and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offering of prouo-cation : there also they made their sweete sauour, and powred out there their drinke offerings.
29 Then I sayde vnto them , What is the hie place whereunto ye goe ? And the name thereof was called o Bamah vnto this day.
30 Wherefore , say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God,Are ye not polluted † after the maner of your fathers ? and commit ye not whoredome after their abominations?
31 For when you offer your giftes, and make your sonnes to passe through the fire, you pollute your selues with all your idoles vnto this day:shall I answere you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I liue, saith the Lord God, p I wil not an-swere you when I am asked.
32 Neither shall that be done that commeth into your minde : for ye say, We wil be as the heathen , and as the families of the countreys, and serue wood,and q stone.
33 As I liue,saith the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mightie hand,and with a stretched out arme,and in my wrath powred out, 34 And will bring you from the people , and wil gather you out of the countreys , wherein yee are scattered,with a mightie hand,and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out, 35 And I wil bring you into the r wildernesse of the people,and there wil I pleade with you face to face.
36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wildernesse of the land of Egypt , so will I pleade with you, saith the Lord God.
37 And I wil cause you to passe vnder the rod, and wil bring you into the bond of the couenant.
38 And I wil s chuse out from among you the rebels, and them that transgresse against mee : I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they shal not enter into the land of Israel,and you shall knowe that I am the Lord.
39 As for you, O house of Israel, thus saith the Lorde God , t Goe you, and serue euery one his idole,seeing that ye will not obey me , and pollute mine holy Name no more with your giftes and with your idoles.
40 For in mine holy mountaine , euen in the hie mountaine of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel , and all in the lande, serue me: there wil I accept them, and there will I require your offrings and the first fruites of your oblations,with all your holy things.
41 I will accept your sweete sauour , when I bring you from the people,and gather you out of the countreys , wherein yee haue bene scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before ẏ heathen.
42 And ye shall knowe , that I am the Lorde, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel,into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to your fathers.
43 And there shall yee remember your wayes, and all your workes, wherein ye haue bene defiled, and ye u shal iudge your selues worthy to be cut off,for all your euils,that ye haue committed.
44 And ye shall knowe, that I am the Lorde,
when I haue respect vnto you for my Names sake, and not after your wicked wayes , nor according to your corrupt workes, O ye house of Israel, saith
the Lord God.

† Ebr. in the way.
p He sheweth, that the ingratitude of the people deserueth , that God should cut them off,and that they shoulde not haue the comfort of his worde.
q Hee declareth that man of nature is wholy enemie vnto God and to his owne saluation,and therefore God calleth him to the right way, partly by chastising, but chiefly by his mercie in forgiuing his rebelliō, and wickednes.
r I wil bring you among strange nations as into a wildernes, and there will visite you,and so call you to repentance,and then bring the godly home againe, Isa. 65.9.
s Signifying that he wil not burne the corne with the chaffe, but chuse out the wicked to punish them when he wil spare his.
t This is spoken to the hypocrites.
u Your owne consciences shall conuict you after that you haue felt my mercies.

45 ¶ Moreouer, the worde of the Lorde came
vnto me, saying,
46 Sonne of man, set thy face toward the way of Teman, and drop thy word toward ˣ the South, and prophecie towarde the forest of the fielde of the South,
47 And say to the forest of the South, Heare
the worde of the Lorde: thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it shall deuoure all the ʸ greene wood in thee, and all the drie wood: the continuall flame shall not be quenched, and euery face from the South to the North shall be burnt therein.
48 And all flesh shall see, that I the Lord haue kindled it, and it shall not bee quenched. Then saide I, Ah Lorde God, they say of me, Doeth not he speake ᶻ parables?

CHAP. XXI.

3 He threatneth the sworde, and destruction to Ierusalem. 25 He sheweth the fall of King Zedekiah. 28 He is commaunded to prophecie the destruction of the children of Ammon. 30 The Lord threatneth to destroy Nebuchad-nezzar.

THE word of ẏ Lord came to me againe, saying,
2 Sonne of man, set thy face toward Ie-rusalem, ᵃ and drop thy word toward the holy places, and prophecie against the land of Israel, 3 And say to the land of Israel, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I come against thee, and will drawe my sworde out of his sheath, and cut off from thee both the ᵇ righteous and the wicked.
4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therefore shall my sworde goe out of his sheath against all flesh from the South to the ᶜ North, 5 That all flesh may knowe that I the Lorde haue drawen my sworde out of his sheath, and it shall not returne any more.
6 Mourne therefore, thou sonne of man, as in the paine of thy ᵈ reines, and mourne bitterly before them.
7 And if they say vnto thee, Wherefore mour-nest thou? then answere, Because ᵉ of the bruite:
for it commeth, and euery heart shall melt, and all handes shall be weake, and all mindes shall faint, and all knees shall fall away as water: beholde, it commeth, and shall be done, saith the Lord God.
8 ¶ Againe, the word of the Lord came vnto
me, saying,
9 Sonne of man, prophecie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, say, A sworde, a sworde both sharpe and fourbished:
10 It is sharpened to make a sore slaughter, and it is fourbished that it may ᶠ glitter: how shall we reioyce? for it contemneth the ᵍ rod of my sonne, as ʰ all other trees.
11 And he hath giuen it to be fourbished, that he may handle it: this sword is sharpe, & is fourbished, that he may giue it into ẏ hand of the ⁱ slayer.
12 Cry, and houle, sonne of man: for this shall come to my people, and it shall come vnto all the princes of Israel: the terrours of the sword shall be vpon my people: ᵏ smite therefore vpõ thy thigh.
13 For it is a triall, ˡ and what shall this be, if the sworde contemne euen the rodde? It shall be no more, saith the Lord God.
14 Thou therefore, sonne of man, prophecie, and smite ᵐ hand to hand, and let the sworde be doubled: let the sworde that hath killed, returne
the third time: it is the sword of the great slaughter entring into their priuie chambers.

x For Iudah stood South from Babylon.
y Both strong and weake in Ierusalem.
z The people said that the Prophet spake darkely: therefore he desireth the Lord to giue them a plaine declaratiõ hereof.
a Speake sensibly, that all may vnderstand.
b That is, such which seeme to haue an outwarde shewe of righteousnes, by obseruation of the ceremonies of the Lawe.
c Meaning, thorowe all the land.
d As though thou were in extreme anguish.
e Because of the great noyse of the armie of the Caldeans.
f And so cause a feare.
g Meaning, the scepter: shewing, that it will not spare the king who should be as the sonne of God, and in his place.
h That is, the rest of the people.
i To wit, vnto the armie of the Caldeans.
k Reade Ier 31.19.
l Ezekiel moued with compassion, thus complaineth fearing the destruction of the kingdome which God had confirmed to Dauid, and his posteritie by promes: which promes God performed, although here it seemed to mans eye that it should vtterly perish.
m That is, encourage the sword.

15 I haue brought the feare of the sword into all their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiplie their ruines. Ah it is made bright, and it is dressed for the slaughter.
16 Get thee ⁿ alone: goe to the right hand, or get thy selfe to the left hand, whithersoeuer thy face turneth.
17 I wil also smite mine hands together, & wil cause my wrath to cease. I the Lord haue said it.
18 ¶ The worde of the Lorde came vnto mee againe, saying,
19 Also thou sonne of man, appoint thee ᵒ two wayes, that the sworde of the King of Babel may come: both twaine shall come out of one lande, and chuse a place, and chuse it in the corner of the way of the citie.
20 Appoint a way, that the sworde may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and ᵖ to Iudah in Ierusalem the strong citie.
21 And the King of Babel stoode at the ᑫ parting of the way, at the head of the two wayes, consulting by diuination, and made his arrowes bright: hee consulted with idoles, and looked in ʳ the liuer.
22 At his right hand was the diuination for Ie-rusalem to appoint captaines, to open their mouth in the slaughter, and to lift vp their voyce with shouting, to lay engins of warre against the gates, to cast a mount, and to builde a fortresse.
23 And it shalbe vnto them ſ as a false diuination in their sight for the othes made vnto them:
ᵗ but he will call to remembrance their iniquitie,
to the intent they should be taken.
24 Therefore thus saieth the Lorde God, Because ye haue made your iniquitie to bee remem-bred, in discouering your rebellion, that in all your workes your sinnes might appeare: because, I say, that ye are come to remembrance, ye shall be taken with the hand.
25 And thou ᵘ prince of Israel polluted, and wicked, whose day is come, when iniquitie shall haue an ende,
26 Thus saith the Lorde God, I wil take away the ˣ diademe, and take off the crowne: this shall be no more the same: I wil exalt the humble, and wil abase him that is hie.
27 I wil ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, and it shall be no more, vntill he ʸ come, whose right it is, and I wil giue it him.
28 ¶ And thou, sonne of man, prophecie, and say, Thus saith the Lorde God to the children of Ammon, and to their blasphemie: say thou, I say,
The sword, the sword is drawen foorth, and four-bished to the slaughter, to consume, because of the glittering:
29 Whiles they see ᶻ vanitie vnto thee, & pro-phecied a lie vnto thee to bring thee vpon the neckes of the wicked that are slaine, whose day is come when their iniquitie shall haue an ende.
30 Shall I cause it to returne into his sheath?
I will iudge thee in the place where thou wast created, euen in the land of thine habitation.
31 And I wil powre out mine indignation vp-on thee, and will blowe against thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliuer thee into the hand of beastly men, and skilfull to destroy.
32 Thou shalt bee in the fire to be deuoured: thy blood shall be in the middes of the lande, and thou shalt be no more remembred: for I the Lord haue spoken it.

n Prouide for thy selfe: for thou shalt see Gods plague of all partes on this countrey.
o This was spoken, because that when Nebuchadnezzar came against Iudah, his purpose was also to goe against the Ammonites: but doubting in the way, which enterprise to vndertake first, he consulted with his southsayers, and so went against Iudah.
p That is, to the tribe of Iudah that kept themselues in Ierusalem.
q To know whether he should goe against the Ammonites or them of Ierusalem.
r He vsed coniuring and sorcerie.
ſ Because there was a league betweene the Iewes, and the Babylonians, they of Ierusalem shal thinke nothing lesse thẽ that this thing should come to passe.
t That is, Nebuchad nezzar will remẽber the rebellion of Zedekiah, and so come vpon them.
u Meaning, Zedekiah, who practised with the Egyptiãs to make him selfe hie, and able to resist the Babyloniãs.
x Some referre this to the Priests attire: for Iehosadek the Priest went into captiuitie with the King.
y That is, vnto the comming of Messiah: for though the Iewes had some signe of gouernement afterwarde vnder the Persiãs, Greekes and Romanes, yet this restitution was not till Christes comming, and at length should be accõplished, as was promised, Gen 49.10.
z Though the Iewes and Ammonites would not beleeue that thou, to wit, the sword, shouldest come vpon them, and saide that the Prophetes, which threatned, spake lyes, yet thou shalt as surely come, as thogh thou werest already vpon their neckes.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ierusalem is reprooued for crueltie. 25 Of the wicked doctrine of the false prophets and Priests, and of their unsatiable couetousnesse. 27 The tyrannie of rulers. 29 The wickednes of the people.

MOreouer, the worde of the Lorde came vnto
me, saying,
2 Now thou sonne of man, wilt thou [a] iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloody citie? wilt thou shewe her all her abominations?
3 Then say, Thus sayth the Lorde God, The citie sheddeth blood in the middes of it, that her [b] time may come, and maketh idoles [c] against her selfe to pollute her selfe.
4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, & hast polluted thy selfe in thine idols, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to draw neere, & art come vnto thy terme:
therefore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreys.
5 Those that be neere, and those that be farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which art vile in [d] name and sore in affliction.
6 Beholde, the princes of Israel euery one in thee was ready to his power, to shed blood.
7 In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the middes of thee [e] haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherlesse and the widowe.
8 Thou hast despised mine holy thinges, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.
9 In thee are men that cary tales to shed blood: in thee are they that eate vpon the moun-taines: in ye mids of thee they cōmit abomination.
10 * In thee haue they discouered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures.
11 And euery one * hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in lawe, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, euen
his fathers daughter.
12 In thee haue they taken giftes to shed blood: thou hast taken vsurie and the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, & hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God.
13 Beholde, therefore I haue [f] smitten mine hands vpon thy couetousnesse, that thou hast vsed, and vpon the blood, which hath bene in the middes of thee.
14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands [g] be strong, in the dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lorde haue spoken it, and will doe it.
15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreys, and will cause thy [h] filthines to cease from thee.
16 And thou shalt take thine [i] inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, & thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord.
17 ¶ And the worde of the Lorde came vnto
me, saying,
18 Sonne of man, the house of Israel is vnto me as [k] drosse: all they are brasse, and tinne, and yron, and leade in the mids of the fornace: they are euen the drosse of siluer.
19 Therefore, thus sayth the Lorde God, Because ye are all as drosse, behold, therefore I will gather you in the middes of Ierusalem.
20 As they gather siluer and brasse, and yron, and leade, and tinne into the middes of the fornace, to blowe the fire vpon it to melt it, so wil I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and will put you there [l] and melt you.
21 I will gather you, I say, and blowe the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shalbe melted in the mids thereof.
22 As siluer is melted in the midst of the fornace, so shall ye be melted in the mids thereof, and ye shall knowe, that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you.
23 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me,
saying,
24 Sonne of man, say vnto her, Thou art the land, that is vncleane, [m] and not rained vpon in the day of wrath.
25 There is a conspiracie [n] of her prophets in the mids thereof like a roaring lyon, rauening the praye: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches and precious thinges: they haue made her many widowes in the mids thereof.
26 Her Priests haue broken my Lawe, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betweene the holy and prophane, neither discerned betweene the vncleane, and the cleane, and haue hid their [o] eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.
27 Her princes in * the mids thereof are like wolues, rauening the praye to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre.
28 And her [p] prophets haue dawbed them with vntempered morter, seeing vanities, and di-uining lies vnto them, saying, Thus sayth the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken.
29 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoyling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needy: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.
30 And I sought for a man among them, that shoulde [q] make vp the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it, but I found none.
31 Therefore haue I powred out mine indignation vpon them, and consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their owne wayes haue I ren-dred vpon their heads, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIII.

Of the idolatrie of Samaria and Ierusalem, vnder the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

THe worde of the Lorde came againe vnto me,
saying,
2 Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one [a] mother.
3 And they committed fornication [b] in Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth:
there were their breasts pressed, and there they bruised the teates of their virginitie.
4 And the names of [c] them were Aholah the elder, & Aholibah her sister: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus were their names, Samaria is Aholah, and Ierusalem Aholibah.
5 And Aholah played the harlot † when [d] she was mine, and she was set on fire with her louers, to wit, with the Assyrians her neighbours.
6 Which were clothed with blewe silke, both captaines and princes: they were all pleasant yong men, and horsemen riding vpon horses.

a Art thou ready to execute thy charge, which I commit vnto thee against Ierusalem, that murdereth the Prophets, and them that are godly?
b That is, the time of her destruction.
c To her owne vndoing.
d Whose very name all men hate.
e He meaneth hereby that there was no kinde of wickednes which was not committed in Ierusalem, and therefore the plagues of God should speedily come vpon her.
* Leuit. 20. 11, 18.
* Ier. 5. 8.
f In token of my wrath and vengeance.
g That is, able to defende thy selfe.
h I will thus take away the occasion of thy wickednes.
i Thou shalt be no more the inheritance of the Lord, but forsaken.
k Which before was most precil Meaning hereby, that the godly should be tried and the wicked destroyed.
m Thou art like a baren land which the Lord plagueth with drought.
n The false prophets haue conspired together to make their doctrine more probable.
o They haue neglected my seruice.
* Mich. 3. 11. Zepha. 3. 3. p They which should haue reproued them, flattered them in their vices and couered their doings with lyes, Chap. 13. 10.
q Which would shew himselfe zealous in my cause by resisting vice, Isa. 59. 16 and 63. 5. and also pray vnto me to withholde my plagues, Psal. 106. 23.
a Meaning, Israel and Iudah, which came both out of one familie.
b They became idolaters after the maner of the Egyptians.
c Aholah signifieth a mansion or dwelling in her selfe, meaning Samaria which was the royall citie of Israel: and Aholibah signifieth my mansion in her, whereby is meant Ierusalem where Gods Temple was.

† Ebr. vnder me. d When the Israelites were named the people of God, they became idolaters, and forsooke God, and put their trust in the Assyrians.

7 Thus she committed her whoredome with them, euen with all them that were the chosen men of Asshur, and with all on whome she doted, and defiled her selfe with all their idoles.
8 Neither left she her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they [e] lay with her, and they bruised the breasts of her virginitie, and powred their whoredome vpon her.
9 Wherefore I deliuered her into the handes of her louers, euen into the hands of the Assyrians, vpon whome she doted.
10 These discouered her shame: they tooke away her sonnes and her daughters, and slewe her with the sworde, and she had an euill name among women: for [f] they had executed iudge-ment vpon her.
11 And when her sister Aholibah sawe this,
she marred her selfe with inordinate loue, more then she, and with her fornications more then her sister with her fornications.
12 She doted vpon the Assyrians her neighbours, both captaines and princes clothed with diuers sutes, horsemen riding vpon horses: they were all pleasant yong men.
13 Then I sawe that she was defiled, and that they were both after one sort, 14 And that she encreased her fornications: for when she sawe men [g] painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermillion, 15 And girded with girdles vpon their loynes, and with dyed attyre vpon their heads (looking all like princes after the maner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their natiuitie) 16 Assoone, I say, as she sawe them, she doted vpon them, and sent messengers vnto them, into Caldea.
17 Nowe when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and she was polluted with them, and her lust departed from them.
18 So she discouered her fornication, and disclosed her shame: then mine heart forsooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister.
19 Yet she encreased her whoredome more,
and called to remembrance y^e dayes of her youth, wherein she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.
20 For she doted vpon their seruants whose members are as the members of asses, and whose yssue is like the yssue of horses.
21 Thou calledst to remembrance the wickednes of thy youth, when thy teates were bruised by y^e Egyptians: therfore y^e paps of thy youth are thus.
22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will raise vp thy louers against thee, from whome thine heart is departed, and I will bring them against thee on euery side, 23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Cal-deans, [h] Peked, and Shoah, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant yong men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renoumed, riding vpon horses.
24 Euen these shal come against thee with charets, waggons, and wheeles, and with a multitude of people, which shall set against thee, buckler and shield, and helmet round about: and † I will leaue the punishment vnto them, and they shall iudge thee according to their ‖ iudgements.
25 And I will lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shall cut off thy [i] nose and thine eares, and thy remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall cary away thy sonnes and thy daughters, and thy residue shall be deuoured by the fire.
26 They shal also strip thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire iewels.
27 Thus will I make thy wickednes to cease from thee and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.
28 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I wil deliuer thee into the hand of them, whome thou hatest: euen into the hands of them from whome thine heart is departed.
29 And they shall handle thee despitefully, and shall take away all thy [k] labour, and shall leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications [l] shalbe discouered, both thy wickednesse, and thy whoredome.
30 I will doe these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idoles.
31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister:
therefore wil I giue her [m] cup into thine hand.
32 Thus saith y^e Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe and large: thou shalt be laughed to scorne and had in derision, because it containeth much.
33 Thou shalt be filled with [n] drunkennes and sorow, euen with the cup of destruction, and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.
34 Thou shalt euen drinke it, and wring it out to the dregges, and thou shalt breake the sheards thereof, and teare thine owne breastes: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God.
35 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Because thou hast forgotten me, and cast mee be-hinde thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednes and thy whoredome.
36 ¶ The Lord said moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah & Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?
37 For they haue played the whores, and blood is in their hands, and with their idoles haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whome they bare vnto me, to passe by the fire to be their [o] meate.
38 Moreouer, thus haue they done vnto me:
they haue defiled my Sanctuarie in the same day,
and haue prophaned my Sabbaths.
39 For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuarie to defile it: and loe, thus haue they done in the middes of mine house.
40 And howe much more is it that they sent for men to come from [p] farre vnto whom a messenger was sent, and loe, they came? for whome thou diddest wash thy selfe, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments, 41 And satest [q] vpon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle.
42 And a voyce of a multitude being at ease, was with her: and with the men to make the company great were brought men of [r] Saba from the wildernes, which put bracelets vpon their hands, and beautiful crownes vpon their heads.
43 Then I sayd vnto her, that was olde in adulteries, Now shall she and her fornications come to an end.

e The holy Ghost vseth these termes which seeme strange to chaste eares, to cause this wicked vice of idolatrie so to be abhorred that vnneth any should abide to heare the name thereof mentioned.

f Meaning, the Assyrians.

g This declareth that no wordes are able sufficiently to expresse the rage of idolaters, and therefore the holy Ghost here compareth them to those which in their raging loue and filthie lustes dote vpon the images and paintings of them after whome they lust.

h These were the names of certaine princes and captaines vnder Nebuchad-nezzar.

† Ebr. I will giue iudgement before them.

‖ Or, lawes.

i They shall destroy thy princes and Priests with the rest of thy people.

k All thy treasures and riches which thou hast gotten by labour.

l All the world shall see thy shamefull forsaking of God to serue idoles.

m I will execute the same iudgements and vengeance against thee, and that with greater seueritie.

n Meaning, that the afflictions shoulde be so great that they should cause them to lose their senses, and reason.

o That is, to be sacrifices to their idols, reade Chap. 16.20.

p They sent into other countreys to haue such as should teach the seruice of their idoles.

q Hee meaneth the altar, that was prepared for the idoles.

r Which should teach the maner of worshipping their gods.

44 And

44 And they went in vnto her as they goe to a common harlot: so went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women.

45 And the righteous men they shal iudge the͂, after the maner of f harlots, and after the maner of murtherers: for they are harlots, and blood is in their hands.

f That is, worthy death, reade Chap. 16,38.

46 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, I will bring a multitude vpon them, and will giue them vnto the tumult, and to the spoyle, 47 And the multitude shall stone them with stones, and cut them with their swordes: they shal slay their sonnes, and their daughters, and burne vp their houses with fire.

48 Thus wil I cause wickednesse to cease out of the land, that al t women may be taught not to do after your wickednesse.

t Meaning all other cities and countreys.

49 And they shal lay your wickednesse vpon you, and ye shall beare the sinnes of your idoles, and ye shal know that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIIII.

He sheweth the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of a seething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiels wife being dead.

Againe in the a ninth yeere, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the b moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, euen of this same day: for the King of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Prepare a c pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it.

4 Gather the d pieces thereof into it, euen euery good piece, as the thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

5 Take one of the best sheepe, and || burne also the e bones vnder it, and make it boyle wel, and seeth the bones of it therein,

6 Because the Lord God sayth thus, Woe to the bloody citie, euen to the pot, f whose skumme is therein, & whose skumme is not gone out of it: bring it out g piece by piece: let no h lot fal vpon it.

7 For her blood is in the middes of her: shee set it vpon an high i rocke, and powred it not vpon the ground to couer it with dust,

8 That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: euen I haue set her blood vpon an high rocke that it should not be couered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, *Woe to the bloody city, for I wil make || the burning great.

10 Heape on much wood: k kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

11 Then set it emptie vpon the coles thereof, that || the brasse of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the filthinesse of it may be molten in it, and that the skumme of it may be consumed.

12 l She hath wearied her selfe with lyes, and her great skumme went not out of her: therefore her skumme shalbe consumed with fire.

13 Thou remainest in thy filthinesse and wickednesse: because I woulde m haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not bee purged from thy filthinesse, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

14 I the Lord haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according to thy wayes, & according to thy workes shall n they iudge thee, saith the Lord God.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ierusalem. 8 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea, and the Philistims.

The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophecie against them,

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thou saydest, a Ha, ha, against my Sanctuarie, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuity,

4 Beholde, therefore I will deliuer thee to the b men of the East for a possession, and they shal set their c palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shal eate thy fruite, and they shal drinke thy mylke.

5 And I wil make d Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheepecote, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

6 For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the feete,

and

a Because ye reioyced when the enemie destroied my city and Temple.
b That is, to the Babylonians.
c They shal chase thee away and take thy gorgeous houses to dwell in. d Called also Philadelphia, which was the chiefe citie of the Ammonites, and full of conduites, 2. Sam. 12. 27.

and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel,
7 Beholde, therefore I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and wil deliuer thee to be spoyled of the heathen, and I will roote thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to be destroyed out of the countreys, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.
8 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Behold, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, 9 Therefore, beholde, I will open the side of Moab, euen of the cities [e] of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Beth-ieshimoth, Baal-meon, and Kariathaim.

e So that no power or strength should be able to resist the Babylonians.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembred among the nations,
11 And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shal know that I am the Lord.
12 ¶ Thus saith the Lorde God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, 13 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, I will also stretch out mine hande vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shal fall by the sword.
14 And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, & they shall doe in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.
15 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselues with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the olde hatred,
16 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Behold, I will stretch out mine hand vpon the Philistims, and I will cut off the [f] Cherubims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.
17 And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shal know that I am the Lord, when I shal lay my vengeance vpon them.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 He prophecieth that Tyrus shall be ouerthrowen because it reioyced at the destruction of Ierusalem. 15 The wondring and astonishment of the marchants for the destruction of Tyrus.

AND in the [a] eleuenth yeere, in the first day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto
me, saying,
2 Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath said against Ierusalem, Aha, the [b] gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing she is desolate, I shalbe [c] replenished, 3 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold,
I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vp many nations against thee, as the sea mounteth vp with his waues.
4 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus and breake down her towres: I will also scrape her dust from her, & make her like the top of a rocke.
5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nettes in the mids of the sea: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God, and it shalbe a spoile to the nations.
6 And her [d] daughters which are in the field, shall be slaine by the sworde, and they shall knowe
that I am the Lord.

a Either of the captiuitie of Iechoniah, or of the reigne of Zedekiah. b That is, the famous citie Ierusalem, whereunto all people resorted.
c My riches and fame shal increase: thus the wicked reioyce at their fall by whom they may haue any profite or aduantage.
d The townes that belonged vnto her.

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, a King of Kings from the North, with horses and with charets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.
8 He shal slay with the sworde thy daughters in the fielde, and he shal make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buck-ler against thee.
9 He shall set engins of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towres.
10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shal shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheeles, and of the charets, when he shal enter into thy gates as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe.
11 With the hooues of his horses shal he tread downe all thy streetes: he shal slay thy people by the sword, and the [e] pillars of thy strength shal fall downe to the ground.
12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoyle thy marchandise, and they shal breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shal cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the mids of the water.
13 * Thus wil I cause the sound of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harpes shall be no more heard.
14 I will lay thee like the top of a rocke: [f] thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God.

e For Tyrus was much built by art, & by labour of men was wonne out of the sea. Some referre this vnto the images of the noble men which they had erected vp for their glory and renoume.
* Ierem. 7.34.
f I will make thee so bare that thou shalt haue nothing to couer thee.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyrus, Shal not the yles tremble at the sound of thy fall? and at the crie of the wounded, when they shal be slaine and murthered in the mids of thee?
16 Then all the princes of the [g] sea shal come downe from their thrones: they shal lay away their robes, and put off their broydered garments, and shall clothe themselues with astonishment: they shal sit vpon the ground, and be astonied at euery moment, and be amased at thee.
17 And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, Howe art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited [h] of the sea men, the renou-med citie which was strong in the sea, both she and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to be on al that haunt therein!
18 Now shal the yles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.
19 For thus saith the Lord God, When I shal make thee a desolate city, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shal bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shal couer thee, 20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descende into the pitte, with the people [i] of olde time, and shal set thee in the low parts of the earth, like the olde ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shew my glory in the lande of the [k] liuing,
21 I wil ‖ bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou neuer be found againe, saith the Lord God.

g The gouernours and rulers of other countreys that dwell by the sea: whereby he signifieth that her destruction should be so horrible, that all the worlde should heare thereof and be afraid.

CHAP. XXVII.

The Prophet bewayleth the desolation of Tyrus, shewing what were the riches, power and authoritie thereof in time past.

The

THe worde of the Lord came againe vnto me,
saying,
2 Sonne of mã, take vp a lamẽtation for Tyrus, 3 And say vnto Tyrus, that is situate at the entrie of the sea, which is the marte [a] of the people for many yles. Thus sayeth the Lorde God, O Tyrus, thou hast said, I am of perfite beautie.
4 Thy borders are in the † middes of the sea,
and thy builders haue made thee of perfit beautie.
5 They haue made all thy shippe boardes of firre trees of [b] Shenir: they haue brought cedars from Lebanon, to make mastes for thee.
6 Of the okes of Bashan haue they made thine ores: the company of the Assyrians haue made thy banks of yuorie, brought out of ẏ yles of [c] Chittim.
7 Fine linen with broydred woorke, brought from Egypt, was spread ouer thee to be thy sayle, blue silke and purple, brought from the yles of E-lishah, was thy couering.
8 The inhabitants of Zidon, and Aruad were thy mariners, O Tyrus: thy wise men that were in thee, they were thy || pilots.
9 The ancients of Gebal, and the wise men thereof were in thee thy [d] calkers, all the shippes of the sea with their mariners were in thee to occupie thy marchandise.
10 They of Persia, and of Lud & of Phut were in thine armie: thy men of warre they hanged the shielde and helmet in thee: they set foorth thy beautie.
11 The men of Aruad with thine armie were vpon thy walles rounde about, and the [e] Gamma-dims were in thy towers: they hanged their shields vpon thy walles round about: they haue made thy beautie perfite.
12 They of Tarshish were thy marchants for the multitude of all riches, for siluer, yron, tynne, and leade, which they brought to thy faires.
13 They of [f] Iauan, Tubal and Meshech were thy marchants, [g] concerning the liues of men, and they brought vessels of brasse for thy marchãdise.
14 They of the house of [h] Togarmah brought to thy faires horses, and horsemen, and mules.
15 The men of Dedan were thy marchantes:
and the marchandise of many yles were in thine handes: they brought thee for a present [i] hornes, teeth, and peacockes.
16 They of Aram were thy marchants for the multitude of thy || wares: they occupied in thy faires with || emeraudes, purple, & broidred worke,
and || fine linen, and corall and pearle.
17 They of Iudah & of the land of Israel were thy marchants: they brought for thy marchandise wheat of [k] Minnith, and Pannag, and honie and oyle, and || balme.
18 They of Damascus were thy marchants in the multitude of thy wares, for ẏ multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon and white wooll.
19 They of Dan also and of Iauan, going to and fro, occupied in thy faires: yron worke, cassia and calamus were among thy marchandise.
20 They of Dedan were thy marchants in precious clothes for the charets.
21 They of Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar || occupied with thee, in lambes, and rammes
and goates: in these were they thy marchants.
22 The marchants of Sheba, and Raamah were thy marchantes: they occupied in thy faires with the chiefe of all spices, and with all precious stones and golde.

a Which serueth al the worlde with thy marchandise.

thy marchants.
24 These were thy marchantes in all sortes of things, in raiment of blewe silke, and of broydred woorke, and in coffers for the rich apparell, which were bound with cordes: chaines also were among thy marchandise.
25 The shippes of Tarshish || were thy chiefe in thy marchandise, and thou wast replenished and made very glorious in the middes of the sea.
26 Thy || robbers haue brought thee into great waters: the [l] East winde hath broken thee in the middes of the sea.
27 Thy riches and thy faires, thy marchandise, thy mariners and pilotes, thy calkers, and the occupiers of thy marchandise & all thy men of warre that are in thee, and all thy multitude which is in the middes of thee, shall fall in the middes of the sea in the day of thy ruine.
28 The [m] suburbes shall shake at the sound of the crie of thy pilotes.
29 And all that handle the ore, the mariners and all the pilots of the sea shal come downe from their shippes, and shall stand vpon the land, 30 And shall cause their voyce to be heard against thee, and shal crie bitterly, and shal cast dust vpon their heads, & wallow thẽselues in the ashes.
31 They shal plucke off their haire for thee and gird them with a sackecloth, and they shall weepe for thee with sorow of heart & bitter mourning.
32 And in their mourning, they shall take vp a lamẽtation for thee, saying, What citie is like Tyrus, so destroyed in the middes of the sea!
33 When thy wares went foorth of the seas, thou filledst many people, & thou diddest enrich the Kings of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy marchandise.
34 When thou shalt be broken by ẏ seas in the depths of the waters, thy marchandise and all thy multitude, which was in the mids of thee, shal fall.
35 All the inhabitantes of the yles shall be astonished at thee, and all their Kings shall be sore afraide and troubled in their countenance.
36 The marchants among the people shal hisse at thee: thou shalt be a terrour, and neuer shalt be

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The worde of God against the King of Tyrus for his pride. 21 The worde of the Lorde against Zidon. 25 The Lord promiseth that he will gather together the children of Israel.

THe worde of the Lorde came againe vnto me,
saying,
2 Sonne of mã, say vnto the prince of Tyrus, Thus saith the Lorde God, Because thine heart is exalted, & thou hast said, [a] I am a God, I sit in the seate of God in ẏ mids of the sea, yet thou art but a man & not God, and † though thou didest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God, 3 Behold, thou art wiser then [b] Daniel: there is no secrete, that they can hide from thee.
4 With thy wisedome and thine vnderstanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten golde and siluer into thy treasures.
5 By thy great wisedome and by thine occupying hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted vp because of thy riches.
6 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God, Because thou diddest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God,

a I am safe that none can come to hurt me, as God is in the heauen.
† Though thou set thine heart as the heart of God.
b Thus he speaketh by derision: for Daniel had declared notable signes of his wisedome in Babylon, when Ezekiel wrote this.

7 Behold, therefore I will bring strangers vp-on thee, euen the terrible nations: and they shall drawe their swordes against the beautie of thy wis-dome,and they shall defile thy brightnesse.
8 They shall cast thee downe to the pit, and thou shalt die the death of them, that are slaine in
the middes of the sea.
9 Wilt thou say then before him,that slayeth thee,I am a god? but thou shalt be a man, and no God,in the hands of him that slayeth thee.
10 Thou shalt die the death of the [c] vncircumcised by the hands of strãgers: for I haue spoken it,sayth the Lord God.
11 ¶ Moreouer the worde of the Lorde came
vnto me,saying,
12 Sonne of man,take vp a lamentation vpon the King of Tyrus,and say vnto him, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, Thou sealest vp the summe, and art full of [d] wisedome and perfite in beautie.
13 Thou hast bin in Eden the garden of God:
euery precious stone was in thy garment, the rubie,the topaze and the ‖ diamonde,the chrysolite, the onix,and the iasper,the saphir, ‖ emeraude,and the carbuncle and golde: the workemanshippe of thy timbrels, & of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.
14 Thou art [e] the anointed Cherub, that couereth,and I haue set thee [f] in honour: thou wast vpon the holy mountaine of God: thou hast walked in the middes of the [g] stones of fire.
15 Thou wast perfite in thy wayes from the day that thou wast [h] created, till iniquitie was found in thee.
16 By the multitude of thy marchandise,they haue filled the middes of thee with crueltie, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as pro-phane out of the [i] mountaine of God: and I will destroy thee, O couering Cherub from the mids
of the stones of fire.
17 Thine heart was lifted vp because of thy beautie,and thou hast corrupted thy wisedome by reason of thy brightnesse: I will cast thee to the ground: I wil lay thee before Kings that they may beholde thee.
18 Thou hast defiled thy [k] sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, & by the iniquitie of thy marchandise: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the mids of thee, which shall deuoure thee:and I wil bring thee to ashes vpon the earth, in the sight of all them that behold thee.
19 All they that knowe thee among the people,shalbe astonished at thee: thou shalt be ‖ a terrour,and neuer shalt thou be any more.
20 ¶ Againe,the worde of the Lord came vn-
to me,saying,
21 Sonne of man, set thy face against Zidon,
and prophecie against it, 22 And say,Thus saith the Lord God,Behold,
I come against thee,O Zidon, and I wil be [l] glorified in the mids of thee: and they shall know that I am the Lord,when I shall haue executed iudge-ments in her,and shalbe sanctified in her.
23 For I will send into her pestilence,& blood into her streetes, and the slaine shall fall in the middes of her: [m] the enemie shall come against her with the sword on euery side,and they shall know that I am the Lord.
24 And they shalbe no more a pricking thorne vnto the house of Israel, nor any grieuous thorne of all that are round about them,& despised them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord God.
25 Thus saith the Lord God,When I shal haue gathered the house of Israel frõ the people where they are scattered, and shalbe [n] sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen,then shal they dwell in the land,that I haue giuen to my seruant Iaakob.
26 And they shall dwell safely therein,& shall builde houses,and plant vineyards: yea,they shall dwell safely, when I haue executed iudgements vpon all round about them that despise them,and they shall knowe that I am the Lord their God.

CHAP. XXIX.

Hee prophecieth against Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lorde promiseth that he will restore Egypt after fourtie yeeres. 18 Egypt is the rewarde of King Nebuchad-nezzar for the labour, which he tooke against Tyrus.

IN the [a] tenth yeere, and in the tenth moneth in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me,saying,
2 Sonne of man,set thy face against Pharaoh the King of Egypt, and prophecie against him, and against all Egypt.
3 Speake,and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde,I come against thee,Pharaoh King of Egypt, the great [b] dragon, that lieth in the middes of his riuers, which hath saide, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it for my selfe.
4 But I will put [c] hookes in thy chawes, and I will cause the fish of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy scales,and I wil drawe thee out of the middes of thy riuers, and all the fish of thy riuers shall sticke vnto thy scales.
5 And I will leaue thee in the wildernes, both thee & al the fish of thy riuers: thou shalt fal vpon ẏ open field: thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giuẽ thee for meat to the beasts of the field,and to the foules of heauen.
6 And al the inhabitants of Egypt shal know that I am the Lord, because they haue ben a staffe of [d] reede to the house of Israel.
7 When they tooke holde of thee with their hand,thou diddest breake, & rent all their shoulder: & when they leaned vpon thee,thou brakest and madest all their loynes to ‖ stand [e] vpright.
8 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God, Be-holde,I will bring a sword vpon thee,and destroy man and beast out of thee, 9 And the land of Egypt shalbe desolate, and waste,& they shal know ẏ I am the Lord: because he hath said, [f] The riuer is mine,& I haue made it, 10 Behold,therefore I come vpon thee, & vp-on thy riuers, & I will make the land of Egypt vtterly waste and desolate from the towre of Seueneh,euen vnto the borders of the † blacke Mores.
11 No foote of man shall passe by it,nor foote of beast shall passe by it, neither shall it be inhabited fourtie yeeres.
12 And I will make the land of Egypt desolate in the middes of the countreyes, that are desolate, and her cities shall bee desolate among the cities that are desolate,for fourtie yeeres: and I wil scatter the Egyptians among the nations,and will disperse them through the countreis.
13 Yet thus saith the Lord God, * At the end of fourtie yeeres will I gather the Egyptians from the people,where they were scattered, 14 And I will bring againe the captiuitie of Egypt, and will cause them to returne into the land of Pathros, into the lande of their habitation,and they shalbe there a [g] small kingdome.

a To wit,of the captiuitie of Ieconiah,or of the reigne of Zedekiah. Of the order of these prophecies and how the former sometimes standeth after the latter reade Iere. 27.1.

b He compareth Pharaoh to a dragon which hideth himselfe in the riuer Nilus,as Isa. 51.9.

c I wil send enemies against thee, which shall plucke thee,and thy people which trust in thee,out of thy sure places.

d Read 2.King.18 21.Isa.36.6.

e When they felt their hurt,they would stay no more vpon thee, but stoode vpon their feete and put their trust in others.

f Thus God can not suffer that man should arrogate any thing to himselfe, or put his trust in any thing saue in him alone.

† Ebr. Cush,or Ethiopia.

15 It shalbe the smallest of the kingdomes, neither shall it exalt it selfe any more aboue the nations: for I wil diminish them, that they shal no more rule the nations.

16 And it shall be no more the confidence of the house of Israel, to bring their [h] iniquitie to remembrance by looking after them, so shall they know, that I am the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the [i] seuen and twentieth yeere also in the first moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel caused his armie to serue a great [k] seruice against Tyrus: euery head was made balde, & euery shoulder was made bare: yet had he no wages, [l] nor his armie for Tyrus, for the seruice that he serued against it.

19 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Beholde, I will giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel, and he shall take her multitude, and spoyle her spoyle, and take her pray, and it shalbe the wages for his armie.

20 I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, that hee serued ‖ against it, because they wrought ‖ for me, saith the Lord God.

21 In that day wil I cause the horne of the house of Israel to growe, and I will giue thee an open mouth in the mids of them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

h Lest I should by this meanes punish their sinnes.
i Counting from the captiuitie of Ieconiah.
k He tooke great paines at the siege of Tyrus and his armie was sore handled.
l Signifying, that Nebuchad-nezzar had more paines then profite, by the taking of Tyrus.

CHAP. XXX.

The destruction of Egypt and the cities thereof.

THe worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophecie, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Howle and cry, Wo be vnto this day.

3 For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudie day, and it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, and feare shall be in Ethiopia, when the slaine shal fal in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundations shall bee broken downe.

5 [a] Ethiopia and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, & Cub, and the men of the land, that is in league, shal fal with them by the sword.

6 Thus saith the Lord, They also that maintein Egypt, shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe: from the towre of [b] Seueneh shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

7 And they shalbe desolate in the mids of the countries that are desolate, and her cities shalbe in the mids of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shal knowe that I am the Lorde, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shalbe destroyed.

9 In that day shal there messengers go forth from me in ships, to make the carelesse Mores afraid, and feare shal come vpon them, as in the day of Egypt: for loe, it commeth.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I wil also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hande of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel.

11 For he and his people with him, euen the terrible nations shall bee brought to destroy the land: & they shal draw their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slaine.

12 And I will make the riuers drye, and sel the land into the hands of the wicked, and I wil make the land waste, and all that therein is by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, and I wil cause their idoles to cease out of ‖ Noph, and there shall be no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I wil send a feare in the land of Egypt.

14 And I will make Pathros desolate, and wil set fire in ‖ Zoan, and I wil execute iudgement in No.

15 And I wil powre my wrath vpon ‖ Sin, which is the strength of Egypt: and I wil destroy the multitude of ‖ No.

16 And I wil set fire in Egypt: Sin shall haue great sorowe, and No shalbe destroyed, and Noph shal haue sorowes dayly.

17 The yong men of ‖ Auen, and of ‖ Phibeseth shal fall by the sword: and these cities shall go into captiuity.

18 At Tehaphnehes the day [c] shal restraine his light, when I shal break there the [d] barres of Egypt: and when the pompe of her power shall cease in her, the cloude shal couer her, and her daughters shal goe into captiuitie.

19 Thus will I execute iudgements in Egypt, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

20 ¶ And in the [e] eleuenth yeere, in the first moneth, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, [f] I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh King of Egypt: & lo, it shall not be boũd vp to be healed, neither shall they put a roule to binde it, and so make it strong, to holde the sword.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh King of Egypt, and will breake [g] his arme, that was strong, but is broken, and I will cause the sworde to fall out of his hand.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countries.

24 And I will strengthen the arme of the King of Babel, and put my sworde in his hand, but I will breake Pharaohs armes, and he shall cast out sighings, as the sighings of him, that is wounded before him.

25 But I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord, [h] when I shall put my sworde into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt.

26 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among the countryes, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 A comparison of the prosperitie of Pharaoh with the prosperitie of the Assyrians. 10 He prophesieth a like destruction to them both.

AND in the [a] eleuenth yere, in the third moneth, and in the first day of the moneth the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh King of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou [b] like in thy greatnesse?

3 Beholde, Asshur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, & with thicke shadowing boughes, and shot vp very hie, and his toppe was among the thicke boughes.

4 The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted a Of Zedekiahs reigne or of Ieconiahs captiuitie.

b Meaning, that he was not like in strength to the King of the Assyrians, whom the Babylonians ouercame.

exalted him on hie with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her c litle riuers vnto all the trees of the ‖ fielde.

c Many other nations were vnder their dominion.
‖ Or, countrey.

5 Therefore his height was exalted aboue all the trees of the fielde, and his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the foules of the heauen made their nestes in his boughes, and vnder his branches did all the beastes of the fielde bring foorth their yong, and vnder his shadowe dwelt all mighty nations.

7 Thus was he faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his roote was neere great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden d of God coulde not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches, and the chessenut trees were not like his boughes: al the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie.

d Signifying, that there was no greater power in the worlde then his was.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that al the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, enuied him.

10 Therfore thus saith the Lord God, Because ‖ he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his toppe among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height,

‖ Or, thou wast lift vp.

11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the handes of the e mightest among the heathen: he shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse.

e That is, of Nebuchad-nezzar, who afterwarde was the monarche and onely ruler of the worlde.

12 And the strangers haue destroyed him, euen the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valleis his branches are fallen, and his boughes are f broken by all the riuers of the land: and al the people of the earth are departed from his shadowe, and haue forsaken him.

f Hereby is signified the destruction of the power of the Assyrians by the Babylonians.

13 Vpon his ruine shal al the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beasts of the fielde shalbe vpon his branches,

14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shalbe exalted by their height, neither shal shoote vp their toppe among the thicke boughes, neither shal their leaues stand vp in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are al deliuered vnto death in the nether parts of the earth in the mids of the children of men among them that go down to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, and I g couered the deepe for him, & I did restreine the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

g The deepe waters that caused him to mount so hie (meaning his great abundance and pompe) shall nowe lament as though they were couered with sackecloth.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hel, with them that descend into the pit, and al the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished with waters, shal h be comforted in the nether partes of the earth.

h To cause this destruction of the King of Assyria to seeme more horrible, he setteth forth other Kings & princes which are dead, as though they reioyced at the fall of such a tyrant.

17 They also went downe to hel with him vnto them that be slaine with the sword, & his arme, and they that dwelt vnder his shadow in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whom i art thou thus like in glory & in greatnes among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt be cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether partes of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the mids of the k vncircumcised, with them that be slayne by the sword: this is Pharaoh and al his multitude, saith the Lord God.

i Meaning, that Pharaohs power was nothing so great as his was.
k Reade Chap. 28.10.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh King of Egypt. 12 Hee prophesieth that destruction shall come vnto Egypt through the King of Babylon.

AND in the a twelfth yeere in the twelfth moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, a Which was the first yeere of the generall captiuitie vnder Zedekiah.

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh King of Egypt, and say vnto him, Thou art like a b lyon of the nations and art as a ‖ dragon in the sea: thou castedst out thy riuers c and troubledst the waters with thy feete, and stampedst in their riuers.

b Thus the scriptures compare tyrants to cruell and huge beasts which deuoure all that be weaker then they, and such as they may ouercome.
‖ Or, whale.
c Thou preparedst great armies.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, * I wil therefore spread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, and they shall make thee come vp into my net.

* Chap. 12.13. and 17.20.

4 Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I wil cast thee vpon the open field, and I wil cause al the foules of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I wil fill all the beasts of the field with thee.

5 And I wil lay thy flesh vpon the mountains, and fill the valleys d with thine height.

d With heapes of the carkases of thine armie.

6 I will also water with thy blood the lande wherein thou e swimmest, euen to the mountaines, and the riuers shalbe ful of thee.

e As Nilus ouerfloweth Egypt, so will I make the blood of thine hoste to ouerflowe it.

7 And when I shal f put thee out, I wil couer the heauen, and make the starres therof darke: *I wil couer the sunne with a cloude, and the moone shal not giue her light.

f The worde signifieth to be put out as a candle is put out.
* Isa. 13.10. ioel. 2.31 and 3.15. math. 24.29.

8 All the lightes of heauen wil I make darke for thee, and bring g darknes vpon thy lande, sayth the Lord God.

g By this maner of speech is ment the great sorow that shal be for the slaughter of the King and his people.

9 I wil also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shal bring thy destruction among the nations, and vpon the countries which thou hast not knowen.

10 Yea, I will make many people amased at thee, and their Kings shalbe astonished with feare for thee, when I shal make my sword to glitter against their faces, and they shalbe afraide at euery moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, The sword of the King of Babel shal come vpon thee.

12 By the swords of the mighty wil I cause thy multitude to fal: they all shalbe terrible nations, and they shal destroy the h pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shalbe consumed.

h This came to passe in lesse then foure yeeres after this prophecie.

13 I wil destroy also all the beasts therof from the great water sides, neither shal the foote of man trouble them any more, nor the hooues of beast trouble them.

14 Then wil I make i their waters deepe, and cause their riuers to runne like oyle, saith the Lord God.

i To wit, of the Caldeans thine enemies, which shal quietly enioy all thy commodities.

15 When I shal make the land of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, shall be laid waste: when I shal smite al the which dwell therein, then shal they know that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shal lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the twelfth yeere also in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lorde vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt,

Egypt, and [k] cast them downe, euen them and the daughters of the mightie nations vnto the nether partes of the earth, with them that goe downe into the pit.
19 Whome doest thou passe [l] in beautie? goe downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised.
20 They shall fall in the middes of them that are slaine by the sword: [m] shee is deliuered to the sword: draw her downe, and all her multitude.
21 The most mightie & strong shall speake to [n] him out of the mids of hel with them that helpe her: they are gone downe and sleepe with the vn-circumcised that be slaine by the sworde.
22 Asshur is there and all his companie: their graues are about him: all they are slaine and fallen by the sworde.
23 Whose graues are made in the side of the pit, and his multitude are round about his graue:
all they are slaine and fallen by the sworde, which caused feare to be in the land of the liuing.
24 There is [o] Elam and all his multitude round about his graue: al they are slaine and fallen by the sword which are gone downe with the vncircumcised into the nether parts of the earth, which caused themselues to be feared in the land of the [p] liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that are gone downe to the pit.
25 They haue made his bed in the mids of the slaine with al his multitude: their graues are round about him: all these vncircumcised are slaine by the sworde: though they haue caused their feare in the land of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that goe downe to the pitte: they are laide in the middes of them, that be slaine.
26 There is [q] Meshech, Tubal, & all their multitude, their graues are round about them: all these vncircumcised were slaine by the sworde, though they caused their feare to be in the land of ẏ liuing.
27 And they shal not lie ẇ the valiant [r] of the vncircumcised, ẏ are fallen, which are gone downe to the graue, with their weapons of warre, & haue laide their swordes vnder their heads, but their iniquitie shalbe vpon their bones: because they were the feare of the mighty in the land of the liuing.
28 Yea, thou shalt be broken in the middes of the vncircumcised, and lie with them that are slaine by the sworde.
29 There is Edom, his Kings, and all his princes, which with their strength are laied by them that were slaine by the sworde: they shall sleepe with the vncircumcised, and with them that goe downe to the pit.
30 There be al the princes of the [s] North, with all the Zidonians, which are gone downe with the slaine, with their feare: they are ashamed of their strength, and the vncircumcised sleepe with them that be slaine by the sword, and beare their shame with them that goe downe to the pit.
31 Pharaoh shall see them, and hee shall bee [t] comforted ouer all his multitude: Pharaoh, and all his armie shall be slaine by the sword, saith the Lord God.
32 For I haue caused my [u] feare to be in the lande of the liuing: and he shal be laid in the mids
of the vncircumcised with them, that are slaine by the sword, euen Pharaoh and all his multitude, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXIII.

2 The office of the gouernours and ministers. 14 He strengtheneth them that despaire, and holdeneth them with the promes of mercie. 30 The worde of the Lorde against the mockers of the Prophet.

Againe, the woorde of the Lorde came vnto
me, saying,
2 Sonne of man, speake to the children of thy people, and say vnto them, When I bring the sworde vpon a lande, if the people of the lande take a man ‖ from among them, and make him their [a] watchman,
3 If when he seeth the sworde come vpon
ẏ land, he blow the trumpet, & warne the people, 4 Then hee that heareth the sounde of the trumpet, and will not bee warned, if the sworde come, and take him away, his blood shall be vpon his owne head.
5 For he heard the sound of the trumpet, and would not bee admonished: therefore his blood shall be vpon him: but he that receiueth warning, shall saue his life.
6 But if the watchman see the sworde come,
and blowe not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the sworde come, and take any person from among them, he is taken away for his [b] iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watch-mans hande.
7 * So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the woorde at my [c] mouth, and admonish them from me.
8 When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie, but his blood will I [d] require at thine hand.
9 Neuerthelesse, If thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, he shall die for his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.
10 Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus yee speake and say, If our transgressions and our sinnes bee vpon vs,
and wee are consumed because of them, [e] howe should we then liue?
11 Say vnto them, As I liue, sayeth the Lorde God, [f] I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you, turne you from your euill wayes, for why will ye die, O ye house of Israel?
12 Therefore thou sonne of man, say vnto
the children of thy people, The [g] righteousnesse of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednesse of the wicked shall cause him to fall therein, in the day that hee returneth from his wickednesse, neither shall the righteous liue for his righteousnesse in the day that he sinneth.
13 When I shal say vnto the righteous, that he shall surely liue, if he trust to his owne righteousnes, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousnes shal be no more remembred, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed, he shall die for the same.
14 Againe when I shall say vnto the wicked, thou shalt die the death, if he turne from his sinne,
and doe that which is lawfull and [h] right, 15 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and giue againe that he had robbed, and walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely liue, and not die.
16 None of his sinnes that he hath cōmitted, shalbe mentioned vnto him: because he hath done
that,

‖ Or, of their coastes.
a He sheweth that the people ought to haue continually gouernours and teachers which may haue a care ouer them, and to warne them euer of the dangers which are at hand.
b Signifying that the wicked shall not escape punishment though the watchman be negligent: but if the watchman blowe the trumpet, and then he will not obey, he shall deserue double punishment.
* Chap. 3. 17.
c Which teacheth that he that receiueth not his charge at the Lords mouth, is a spie, and not a true watchman.
d The watchman must answere for the blood of all ẏ perish through his negligence.
e Thus the wicked when they heare Gods iudgements for their sinnes, despaire of his mercies & murmure.
f Reade Chap. 18. 23.
g Reade of this righteousnesse, Chap. 18. 22, 24.
h Hereby he condemneth all them of hypocrisie, which pretend to forsake wickednes, & yet declare not themselues such by their fruits, that is, in obeying Gods cōmandements and by godly life.

that, which is lawfull, and right, he shal surely liue.
17 Yet the children of thy people say, * The way of the Lord is not equall: but their owne way is vnequall.
18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousnesse, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die thereby.
19 But if the wicked returne from his wickednesse, and doe that which is lawfull and right, hee shall liue thereby.
20 Yet ye say, The way of the Lorde is not equall. O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euery one after his wayes.
21 Also in the twelfth yere of [i] our captiuitie, in the tenth moneth, and in the fift day of the mo-neth, one that had escaped out of Ierusalem, came vnto me, and said, The citie is smitten.
22 Now the [k] hand of the Lord had bene vpon me in ye euening afore hee that had escaped, came,
and had opened my mouth vntill he came to me in the morning: and when hee had opened my [l] mouth, I was no more dumme.
23 Againe the worde of the Lorde came vnto
me, and saide,
24 Sonne of man, these that dwel in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, [m] Abraham was but one, and hee possessed the land:
but we are many, therefore the lande shalbe giuen vs in possession.
25 Wherefore say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lorde God, Yee eate with the [n] blood, and lift vp your eyes towarde your idoles, and sheade blood:
should ye then possesse the land?
26 Ye leane vpon your [o] swordes: ye worke abomination, and yee defile euery one his neighbours wife: should ye then possesse the land?
27 Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lorde God, As I liue, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shall fall by the sword: and him that is in the open field, will I giue vnto the beastes to be deuoured: and they that be in the forts and in the caues, shall die of the pestilence.
28 For I wil lay the lande desolate and waste, and the * pompe of her strength shall cease: and the moûtaines of Israel shalbe desolate, and none shall passe through.
29 Then shall they know that I am the Lord, whẽ I haue laid the land desolate & waste, because of all their abominations, yt they haue committed.
30 Also thou sonne of man, the children of thy people that [p] talke of thee by the walles and in the dores of houses, and speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is the word that commeth from ye Lord.
31 For they come vnto thee, as the people v-seth to come: and my people sit before thee, and heare thy wordes, but they will not doe them: for with their mouthes they make [q] iestes, and their heart goeth after their couetousnesse.
32 And loe, thou art vnto them, as a ‖ iesting song of one that hath a pleasant voyce, and can sing well: for they heare thy woordes, but they doe them not.
33 And when this commeth to passe (for loe, it will come) then shall they know, that a Prophet hath bene among them.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 Against the shepheards that despise the flocke of Christ, and seeke their owne gaine. 7 The Lord sayth that he will visite his dispersed flocke, and gather them together. 23 Hee promiseth the true shepheard Christ, and with him peace.

And the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me,
saying,
2 Sonne of man, prophecie against the shepherds of Israel, prophecie & say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God vnto the shepheards, * Wo be vnto the [a] shepheards of Israel, that feede them selues: should not the shepherds feede the flockes?
3 Yee eate the [b] fat, and yee clothe you with the wooll: yee kill them that are fed, but ye feede not the sheepe.
4 The [c] weake haue ye not strengthened: the sicke haue yee not healed, neither haue ye bounde vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was driuen away, neither haue yee sought yt which was lost, but with crueltie, and with rigour haue yee ruled them.
5 And they were scattered without a shep-herde: and when they were dispersed, they were [d] deuoured of all the beastes of the fielde.
6 My sheepe wandred through all the moun-taines, and vpon euery hie hill: yea, my flocke was scattered through all the earth, and none did seeke or search after them.
7 Therefore ye shepherds, heare the worde of
the Lorde.
8 As I liue, saith the Lorde God, surely because my flocke was spoyled, and my sheepe were deuoured of all the beasts of the fielde, hauing no shepherde, neither did my shepherdes seeke my sheepe, but the shepherdes fedde them selues, and fedde not my sheepe,
9 Therefore, heare ye the worde of the Lord,
O ye shepheards.
10 Thus saith the Lorde God, Behold, I come against the shepheards, and will require my sheepe at their hands, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepheards feede them selues any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from [e] their mouthes, and they shall no more deuoure them.
11 For thus sayth the Lorde God, Beholde, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out.
12 As a shepherd searcheth out his flocke, when he hath bene among his sheepe that are scattered, so wil I seeke out my sheepe and will deliuer them out of all places, where they haue bene scattered in [f] the cloudie and darke day, 13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countreis, and will bring them to their owne lande, and feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the countrey.
14 I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the hie mountaines of Israel shall their folde be: there shall they lie in a good folde, and in fat pasture shall they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel.
15 I will feede my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, sayth the Lord God.
16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driuen away, and wil binde vp that which was broken, and will strengthen the weake: but I wil destroy the fat & the [g] strong, and I will feede them with [h] iudgement.
17 Also you my sheepe, Thus sayth the Lorde God, behold, I iudge betweene sheepe, & sheepe, betweene the rammes and the goates.
18 Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eaten vp the good [i] pasture, but yee must treade downe wt your feete the residue of your pasture?
and

* Iere. 23. 1.

a By the shepheards he meaneth the King, the magistrates, Priests, and Prophets.

b Ye seeke to enrich your selues by their commodities, and so spoyle their riches and substance.

c He describeth the office & duetie of a good pastor, who ought to loue and succour his flocke and not to be cruel toward them.

d For lacke of good gouernment and doctrine they perished.

e By destroying the couetous hirelings and restoring true shepherdes, whereof we haue a signe so oft as God sendeth true preachers who both by doctrine and life labour to feede his sheepe in the pleasant pastures of his worde.

f In the day of their affliction and miserie: and this promes is to comfort the Church in all dangers.

g Meaning, such as lift vp themselues aboue their brethren, & thinke they haue no neede to be gouerned by me.

h That is, by putting difference betweene the good and the bad, and so giue to either, as they deserue.

i By good pasture and deepe waters is meant the pure worde of God and the administration of iustice, which they did not distribute to the poore till they had corrupted it.

and to haue drunke of the deepe waters, but yee must trouble the residue with your feete?
19 And my sheepe eate that which yee haue troden with your feete, and drinke that which yee haue troubled with your feete.
20 Therefore thus saieth the Lorde God vnto them, Behold, I, euen I wil iudge betweene the fat sheepe and the leane sheepe.
21 Because ye haue thrust with side and with shoulder, & pusht all the weake with your hornes, till ye haue scattered them abroade, 22 Therefore wil I helpe my sheepe, and they shall no more be spoyled, & I wil iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe.
23 And I wil set vp a shepherd ouer them, and he shal feede them, euen my seruant [k] Dauid, hee shall feede them, and he shalbe their shepherd.

k Meaning, Christ, of whom Dauid was a figure, Iere. 30.9, hose. 3.5.

24 And I the Lord wil be their God, and my seruant Dauid shalbe the prince amōg them. I the Lord haue spoken it.
25 And I wil make with them a couenant of peace, and wil cause the euil beastes to cease out of the land: and they shal [l] dwell safely in the wil-dernes, and sleepe in the woods.

l This declareth, that vnder Christ the flocke should be truely deliuered from sinne, and hell, & so be safely preserued in the church where they should neuer perish.

26 And I wil set them, as a blessing, euen roūd about my mountaine: and I will cause raine to come downe in due season, and there shalbe raine of blessing.
27 And the [m] tree of the fielde shal yeelde her fruite, and the earth shall giue her fruite, and they shalbe safe in their land, and shal know that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the cordes of their yoke, & deliuered them out of the handes of those that serued themselues of them.

m The fruites of Gods grace shall appeare in great aboundance in his Church.

28 And they shal no more be spoyled of the heathen, neither shall the beastes of the land deuoure them, but they shal dwell safely and none shall make them afrayd.
29 And I will raise vp for them a [n] plant of renoume, and they shall be no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproche of the heathen any more.

n That is, the rod that shal come out of the roote of Ishai. Isa. 11.1.

30 Thus shall they vnderstande, that I the Lorde their God am with them, and that they, euen the house of Israel, are my people, sayth the Lord God.
31 And yee my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXV.

2 The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Lorde.

Moreouer the worde of the Lorde came vnto
me, saying,
2 Sonne of man, Set thy face against mount [a] Seir, and prophecie against it, a Where the Idumeans dwelt.

3 And say vnto it, Thus saith the Lorde God, Behold, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste.
4 I wil lay the cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, & thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord.
5 Because thou hast had a perpetuall hatred and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their [b] iniquitie had an ende,
6 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lorde God, I wil prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou [c] hate blood, euen blood shal pursue thee.

b When by their punishment I called them from their iniquitie.
c Except thou repent thy former crueltie.

7 Thus wil I make mount Seir desolate and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out and him that returneth.
8 And I will fill his mountaines with his slaine men: in thine hilles, and in thy valleys and in all thy riuers shal they fall, that are slaine with
the sworde.
9 I wil make thee perpetuall desolations, and thy cities shal not [d] returne, and yee shal knowe
that I am the Lord.
10 Because thou hast said, [e] These two nations, and these two countreys shalbe mine, and we will possesse them (seeing the Lord was [f] there) 11 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lorde God, I wil euen do according to thy [g] wrath, and according to thine indignation which thou hast vsed in thine hatred against them: and I wil make my selfe knowen among [h] them whē I haue iudged thee.
12 And thou shalt know, that I the Lord haue heard all thy blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They lye waste, they are giuen vs to be deuoured.
13 Thus with your mouthes ye haue boasted against me, & haue multiplied your wordes against me: I haue heard them.
14 Thus saith the Lorde God, So shal all the world reioyce when I shal make thee desolate.
15 As thou diddest reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I doe vnto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

d To wit, to their former estate.
e Meaning Israel and Iudah.
f And so by fighting against Gods people, they should goe about to put him out of his owne possessiō.
g As thou hast done cruelly, so shalt thou be cruelly handled.
h Shewing, that when God punisheth the enemies, the godly ought to consider that he hath a care ouer them, & so prayse his Name: and also that the wicked rage as though there were no God, till they feele his hand to their destruction.

CHAP. XXXVI.

2 Hee promiseth to deliuer Israel from the Gentiles. 22 The benefites done vnto the Iewes, are to be ascribed to the mercie of God, and not vnto their deseruings. 26 God renueth our hearts, that we may walke in his commaundements.

Also thou sonne of man, prophecie vnto the
* mountaines of Israel, & say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the worde of the Lord.

* Chap. 6.2.

2 Thus saith the Lord God, because the [a] ene-mie hath saide against you, Aha, euen the [b] hye places of the world are ours in possession, 3 Therefore prophecie, & say, Thus sayth the Lorde God, Because that they haue made you desolate, & swallowed you vp on euery side, that yee might be a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, & ye are come vnto the lippes and [c] tongues of men, and vnto the of the reproch people,

a That is, the Idumean.
b That is, Ierusalem, which for Gods promises was the chiefest of all the worlde.
c Ye are made a matter of talke & derision to all the worlde.

4 Therefore yee mountaines of Israel, heare the worde of the Lord God, Thus sayth the Lord God to the mountaines & to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleys, and to the waste, and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken:
which are spoyled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about.
5 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea, which [d] haue taken my lande for their possession, with the ioy of all their heart, and with despitefull mindes to cast it out for a praye.

d They appointed with themselues to haue it, & therefore came with Nebuchad-nezzar against Ierusalem for this purpose.

6 Prophecie therefore vpon the land of Israel, and say vnto the mountaines, and to the hilles, to the riuers, & to the valleys, Thus sayth the Lorde God, Beholde, I haue spoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, because yee haue suffered the [e] shame of the heathen,
7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I haue [f] lifted vp mine hand, surely the heathen that are about you shal beare their shame.

8 But you, O mountaines of Israel, yee shall g shoote foorth your branches, and bring foorth your fruite to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come.
9 For behold, I come vnto you, and I wil turne vnto you, and ye shalbe tilled and sowen.
10 And I wil multiply the men vpon you, euen all the house of Israel wholly, & the cities shall be inhabited, and the desolate places shalbe builded.
11 And I wil multiplie vpon you man and beast, and they shal encrease, and bring fruite, and I will cause you to dwell after your olde estate, & I will bestowe benefites vpon you more then h at the first, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.
12 Yea, I wil cause men to walke vpon i you, euen my people Israel, and they shall possesse ‖ you, and ye shalbe their inheritance, and ye shall no more henceforth depriue them of men.
13 Thus saith the Lord God, Because they say vnto you, Thou k land deuourest vp men, and hast bene a waster of thy people, 14 Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no more, neither waste thy people henceforth, saieth
the Lord God,
15 Neither wil I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou beare the reproche of the people any more, neither shalt cause thy folke to fall any more, saith
the Lord God.
16 ¶ Moreouer the worde of the Lorde came
vnto me, saying,
17 Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne land, they defiled it by their owne wayes, & by their deedes: their way was before me as the filthinesse of the menstruous.
18 Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles, wherewith they had polluted it.
19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed through the countries for according to their wayes, and according to their deedes, I iudged them.
20 * And when they entred vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy Name, when they sayde of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.
21 But I fauoured mine holy l Name which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.
22 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine m holy Names sake, which yee polluted among the heathen whither ye went.
23 And I wil sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whome you haue polluted it, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shalbe sanctified in you before ‖ their eyes.
24 For I wil take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countries, and will bring you into your owne land.
25 Then wil I powre cleane n water vpon you,
and ye shalbe cleane: yea, from all your filthines,
and from all your idoles wil I clense you.
26 * A newe heart also will I giue you, and a newe spirit wil I put within you, and I wil take away the stonie heart out of your body, and I will giue you an heart of flesh.

g God declareth his mercies and goodnes toward his Church, who stil preserueth his, euen when he destroyeth his enemies.

h Which was accomplished vnder Christ, to whom all these temporall deliuerances did direct them.

i That is, vpon the mountaines of Ierusalem.

‖ Or, thee.

k This the enemies imputed as the reproch of the land, which God did for the sinnes of the people according to his iust iudgements.

* Isa. 52.5. rom. 2.24.

l And therefore would not suffer my Name to be had in contempt, as the heathen would haue reproched me, if I had suffred my Church to perish.

m This excludeth from man al dignitie, & meane to deserue any thing by, seeing that God referreth ẏ whole to himselfe, & that onely for the glory of his holy Name.

‖ Or, your.

n That is his Spirit whereby he reformeth the heart and regenerateth his, Isa. 44.3.

* Iere. 32.39. chap. 11.19.

27 And I will put my spirite within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and yee shall keepe my iudgements and doe them.
28 And ye shall dwell in the land, that I gaue to your fathers, and ye shalbe my people, & I will be your God.
29 I will also deliuer you from all your filthinesse, and I wil call for o corne, and wil increase it, and lay no famine vpon you.
30 For I wil multiplie the fruite of the trees, and the increase of the fielde, that ye shal beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.
31 Then shal ye remember your owne wicked wayes, & your deedes that were not good, & shall iudge your selues worthie to haue bene p destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.
32 Be it knowen vnto you that I doe not this for your sakes, sayth the Lord God: therefore, O ye house of Israel, be ashamed, and confounded for your owne wayes.
33 Thus saith the Lord God, What time as I shall haue clensed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, & the desolate places shalbe builded.
34 And the desolate land shalbe tilled, whereas it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by.
35 For they sayd, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste and desolate and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.
36 Then the residue of the heathen that are left round about you, shal q know that I the Lord build the ruinous places, and plant the desolate places: I the Lord haue spoken it, and wil doe it.
37 Thus saith the Lord God, I wil yet for this be sought of ẏ house of Israel, to performe it vnto them: I wil encrease them with men like a flocke.
36 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ierusalem in their solemne feastes, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they shall
know, that I am the Lord.

o Vnder the abundance of temporall benefites hee concludeth the spirituall graces.

p Ye shal come to true repentance, & thinke your selues vnworthy to be of the nomber of Gods creatures for your ingratitude against him.

q Hee declareth that it ought not to be referred to the soyle or plentifulnes of the earth that any countrey is rich, & abundant, but onely to Gods mercies, as his plagues, and curses declare, when he maketh it barren.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 He prophecieth the bringing againe of the people, being in captiuitie. 16 He sheweth the vnion of the ten tribes with the two.

THe hand of the Lord was vpon me, & caryed me out in ẏ spirit of the Lord, & set me downe in ẏ mids of the ‖ fielde, which was full of a bones.
2 And he led me round about by them, and beholde, there were very many in the open fielde, and lo, they were very drie.
3 And he sayde vnto me, Sonne of man, can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lorde God, thou knowest.
4 Againe he sayde vnto me, Prophecie vpon these bones and say vnto them, O ye dry bones, heare the worde of the Lord.
5 Thus saith the Lord God vnto these bones, Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall liue.
6 And I will lay sinewes vpon you, and make flesh growe vpon you, & couer you with skinne, and put breath in you, that ye may liue, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.
7 So I prophecied, as I was commanded: and as I prophecied, there was a noyse, and beholde, there was a shaking, & the bones came together,
bone to his bone.
8 And when I beheld, loe, the sinewes, & the flesh grewe vpon them, and aboue, the skinne co-uered them, but there was no breath in them.
9 Then sayd he vnto me, Prophecie vnto the winde:

‖ Or, valley.

a He sheweth by a great miracle, that God hath power, & also will deliuer his people from their captiuitie, in as much as he is able to giue life to the dead bones, & bodies, and raise them vp againe.

winde: prophecie, sonne of man, and say to the winde, Thus sayth the Lord God, Come from the foure [b] windes, O breath, and breathe vpon these slaine, that they may liue.

b Signifying, all parts whereas the Israelites were scattered: that is, the faithfull shall be brought to y^e same vnitie of spirit, and doctrine, whereso-euer they are scattered through the world.

10 So I prophecied as hee had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and stood vp vpon their feete, an exceeding great armie.
11 Then he sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Behold, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off.
12 Therefore prophecie, and say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, my people, I will open your graues, and cause you to come vp out of your sepulchres, and bring you into the lande of Israel,
13 And yee shall knowe that I am the Lorde, [c] when I haue opened your graues, O my people,
and brought you vp out of your sepulchres,

c That is, when I haue brought you out of those places, and townes where you are captiues.

14 And shall put my Spirit in you, and ye shal liue, and I shall place you in your owne land: then yee shall knowe that I the Lorde haue spoken it, and performed it, sayth the Lord.
15 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto
me, saying,
16 Moreouer thou sonne of man, take thee a piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Iudah, and to the children of Israel his companions: then take [d] another piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Ioseph the tree of Ephraim, and to al the house of Israel his companions.

d Which signifieth the ioyning together of y^e two houses of Israel, and Iudah.

17 And thou shalt ioyne thē one to another into one tree, & they shalbe as one in thine hand.
18 And when the children of thy people shall speake vnto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shewe vs what thou meanest by these?
19 Thou shalt answere them, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will take the tree [e] of Ioseph, which is in the hande of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellowes, and will put them with him, euen with the tree of Iudah, and make them one tree, and they shall be one in mine hand.

e That is, y^e house of Israel.

20 And the pieces of wood, whereon thou writest, shalbe in thine hand, in their sight.
21 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen, whither they be gone, and will gather them on euery side, & bring them into their owne land.
22 And I will make them one people in the lande, vpon the mountaines of Israel, * and one king shalbe king to them all: and they shalbe no more two peoples, neither bee deuided any more henceforth into two kingdomes.

* Iohn 10.16.

23 Neither shall they bee polluted any more with their idols, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their transgressions: but I will saue them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they haue sinned, and will clense them: so shall they be my people, and I will be their God.
24 And Dauid my * seruant shal be king ouer them, and they all shall haue one shepheard: they shall also walke in my iudgements, and obserue my statutes, and doe them.

* Isa. 40. 11. Iere. 23. 5. chap. 34. 23. Dan. 9. 24.

25 And they shall dwell in the [f] lande, that I haue giuen vnto Iaakob my seruant, where your fathers haue dwelt, and they shal dwel therein, euen they, and their sonnes, and their sonnes sonnes for euer, and my seruant Dauid shall be their prince for euer.

f Meaning, that the elect by Christ shal dwell in y^e heauen. by Ierusalē, which is meant by the land of Canaan.

26 Moreouer, I will make * a couenant of peace with them: it shall be an euerlasting couenant with them, and I will place them, and multiply them, and will set my Sanctuary among them
for euermore.

* Psal. 109. 4. and 116. 2.

27 My tabernacle also shalbe with them: yea,
I will be their God, and they shall be my people.
28 Thus the heathen shall knowe, that I the Lord doe sanctifie Israel, when my Sanctuarie shal be among them for euermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

2 He prophecieth that Gog and Magog shall fight with great power against the people of God. 21 Their destruction.

AND the worde of the Lorde came vnto mee,
saying,
2 Sonne of man, set thy face against [a] Gog, and against the lande of Magog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophecie against him,

a Which was a people that came of Magog y^e sonne of Iaphet, Gen. 10. 2. Magog also here signifieth a certaine countrey, so that by these two countries, which had the gouernment of Grecia & Italie, he meaneth the principall enemies of y^e Church, Reue. 20. 8.

3 And say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold,
I come against thee, O Gog the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.
4 And I will destroy thee, & put hookes in thy chawes, and I will bring thee forth, and all thine host both horses, and horsemen, all clothed with al sorts of armour, euē a great multitude with bucklers, and shieldes, all [b] handling swordes.

b He sheweth that the enemies should bend themselues against the Church, but it should be to their destruction.

5 They of [c] Paras, of Cush, & Phut with them, euen all they that beare shielde and helmet.

c The Persians, Ethiopians, and men of Africa.

6 [d] Gomer and all his bands, and the house of Togarmah of the North quarters, & al his bands, and much people with thee.

d Gomer was Iaphets sonne and Togarmah y^e sonne of Gomer, & are thought to be they that inhabite Asia minor.

7 Prepare thy selfe, & [e] make thee ready, both thou, and all thy multitude, that are assembled vnto thee, and be thou their safegard.

e Signifying, that all the people of the world should assemble thē selues against the Church and Christ their head.

8 After many dayes thou shalt bee visited: for in the latter yeeres thou shalt come into the land, that hath bene destroyed with the sworde, and is gathered out of many people vpon the moun-taines of Israel, which haue long lien waste: yet ‖ they haue bene brought out of the people, and they shall dwell all safe.

‖ Or, it: meaning, the land of Israel.

9 Thou shalt ascende and come vp like a tempest, and shalt be like a cloude to couer the land, both thou, and all thy bandes, and many people
with thee.
10 Thus saith the Lorde God, Euen at y^e same time shall many things come into thy minde, and thou shalt thinke [f] euill thoughts.

f That is, to molest and destroy the Church.

11 And thou shalt say, I will goe vp to the land that hath no walled townes: [g] I wil goe to them that are at rest, and dwell in safetie, which dwell all without walles, and haue neither barres nor gates,

g Meaning, Israel which had nowe bene destroyed, & was not yet built againe: declaring hereby the simplicitie of the godly, who seeke not so much to fortifie themselues by outward force, as to depend on y^e prouidence and goodnesse of God.

12 Thinking to spoyle the pray, and to take a bootie, to turne thine hande vpon the desolate places that are nowe inhabited, and vpon the people, that are gathered out of the nations which haue gotten cattell and goods, and dwell in the middes of the land.
13 Sheba and Dedan, and the marchants of Tarshish with all the lyons thereof shall say vnto thee, [h] Art thou come to spoyle the praye? hast thou gathered thy multitude to take a booty? to cary away siluer and golde, to take away cattell and goods, and to spoyle a great pray?

h One enemie shal enuie another because euery one shall thinke to haue the spoyle of the Church.

14 Therefore, sonne of man, prophecie, and saye vnto Gog, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, In that day when my people of Israel [i] dwelleth safe, i Shalt not thou spye thine occasion to come against my Church, when they suspect nothing?

shalt thou not knowe it?
15 And come frō thy place out of the North partes, thou and much people with thee? all shall ride vpon horses, euen a great multitude and a mightie armie.
16 And thou shalt come vp against my people of Israel, as a cloude to couer the land: thou shalt be in the k latter dayes, and I will bring thee vp-on my lande, that the heathen may knowe mee, when I l shalbe sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.
17 Thus sayth the Lord God, Art not thou he,
of whom I haue spoken in olde time, m by ẏ hand of my seruants the Prophets of Israel which pro-phecied in those dayes and yeeres, that I woulde bring thee vpon them?
18 At the same time also whē Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.
19 For in mine indignation and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at ẏ time there shalbe a great shaking in the land of Israel, 20 So that the fishes of the sea, and the foules of the heauen, & the beastes of the field & al that moue & creepe vpon the earth, and al ẏ men ẏ are vpon the earth, shal tremble at my presence, & the mountaines shalbe ouerthrowen, and the n staires shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground.
21 For I will call for a sworde against him
o throughout all my mountaines, saith the Lorde
God: euery mans sword shalbe against his brother.
22 And I will pleade against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bands, and vpon the great people, that are with him, a sore raine, and haile-stones, fire, and brimstone.
23 Thus will I be * magnified, and sanctified, and knowen in the eyes of many nations, & they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

k Meaning, in the last age, and from the comming of Christ vnto the end of the world.
l Signifying, that God will be sanctified by mainteining his Church, and destroying his enemies, as Chap. 36.23. and 37.28.
m Hereby he declareth that none affliction can come to the Church, whereof they haue not bene aduertised aforetime, to teach them to indure all thinges with more patience when they knowe that God hath so ordeined.
n All meanes whereby man shoulde thinke to saue himselse shall fayle, the affliction in those dayes shall be so great, and the enemies destruction shalbe so terrible.
o Against the people of Gog and Magog.
* Chap. 36.23. and 37.28.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Hee sheweth the destruction of Gog, and Magog. 11 The graues of Gog and his hoste. 17 They shalbe deuoured of birds and beastes. 23 Wherefore the house of Israel is captiue, 24 Their bringing againe from captiuitie is promised.

THerefore, thou sonne of man, prophecie against Gog, and say, Thus sayth the Lorde God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog, ẏ chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.
2 And I will destroy thee a and leaue but the sixt part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North partes and will bring thee vpon
the mountaines of Israel:
3 And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.
4 Thou b shalt fal vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bands and the people, that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birdes and to e-uery feathered foule and beast of the fielde to be deuoured.
5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open fielde: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lorde God.
6 And I will send a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the c yles, and they shall knowe that I am the Lorde.
7 So will I make mine holy Name knowen in the middes of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall knowe that I am the Lorde,
the holy one of Israel.

a Or, destroy thee with sixe plagues, as Chap. 38.22.
b Meaning, that by the vertue of Gods worde the enemie shalbe destroyed wheresoeuer he assayleth his Church.
c That is, among all nations where the enemies of my people dwell, seeme they neuer so farre separate.

8 Beholde, d it is come, and it is done, sayeth the Lorde God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.
9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel, shall e goe forth, and shall burne & set fire vpon
the weapons, and on the shieldes, and bucklers, vpon the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, and vpon
the staues in their handes, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seuen yeeres.
10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the fielde, neither cut downe any out of the forestes: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shall robbe those that robbed them, and spoyle those that spoyled them, sayth the Lorde
God.
11 And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog f a place there for a burial in Israel, euen the valley whereby men go towarde the East part of the sea: and it shall cause them that passe by, to stoppe their g noses, and there shall they burie Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of ‖ Hamon-Gog.
12 h And seuen moneths long shall the house of Israel be burying of thē, that they may clense
the land.
13 Yea, all the people of the lande shall burie them, and they shall haue a name when I shall be glorified, saith the Lord God.
14 And they shall chase out men to goe continually through the i lande with them that trauaile, to bury those that remaine vpon ẏ grounde, and clense it: they shall search to the ende of seuen moneths.
15 And the trauailers that passe through the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set vp a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it, in the valley of Hamon-Gog.
16 And also the name of the citie shalbe ‖ Hamonah: thus shall they clense the land.
17 And thou sonne of man, thus sayeth the Lorde God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beastes of the fielde, Assemble your selues, and come: k gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice: for I do sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that ye may eate flesh, and drinke blood.
18 Ye shall eate the flesh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambes, and of the goates, and of bullockes, euen of all fat beastes of Bashan.
19 And ye shall eate fat till you be full, and drinke blood, till ye be drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you.
20 Thus you shalbe filled at my table ẇ horses and chariots, ẇ valiant men, and with all men of warre, saith the Lord God.
21 And I wil set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement, that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue layed vpon them.
22 So the house of Israel shall knowe, that I am the Lord their God frō that day and so forth.
23 And the heathen shall knowe, that ẏ house of Israel went into captiuitie for l their iniquitie, because they trespassed against me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into ẏ hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sword.
24 According to their vncleannes, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto thē, and hid my face from them.

25 There-

d That is, this plague is fully determined in my counsel & cannot be changed.
e After this destruction ẏ church shall haue great peace and tranquilitie, & burne all their weapons because they shall no more feare the enemie: and this is chiefly ment of the accomplishment of Christs kingdome, when by their head Christ all enemies shall be ouercome.
f Which declareth that the enemies shall haue an horrible fall.
g For the stinke of the carkeises.
‖ Or of the multitude of God.
h Meaning, a long time.
i Partly that the holy land should not be polluted, and partly for the compassion that the children of God haue, euen on their enemies.
‖ Or, multitude.
k Whereby he signifieth the horrible destruction that should come vpon the enemies of his Church.
l That the heathen shall knowe that they ouercame not my people by their strength, neither yet by the weaknes of mine arme, but that this was for my peoples sinnes.

25 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Nowe wil I bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakob, and haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and wil be ielous for mine holy Name, 26 After that they haue borne their shame, & all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against me, when they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies landes, and am * sanctified in them in the sight of many nations,

*Chap.36.23.

28 Then shall they know, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to be led into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne land, and haue left none of them any more there, 29 Neither wil I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The restoring of the citie and the Temple.

IN the fiue and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie, in the [a] beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hand of the Lorde was vpon mee, and brought me thither.

a The Iewes counted the beginning of the yeere after two sortes: for their feasts they began to count in March, and for their other affaires in September: so that this is to be vnderstand of September.

2 Into the land of Israel brought hee me by ‖ a diuine vision, & set me vpon a very hie mountaine, whereupon was as the building of a citie, toward the South.

‖Or, visions of God.

3 And he brought me thither, and beholde, there was a [b] man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasse, with a linnen thread in his hand, and a reede to measure with: and he stoode at the gate.

d Which was an Angel in forme of a man, that came to measure out this building.

4 And the man sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, and set thine heart vpon all that I shal shew thee: for to the intent, that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou seest, vnto the house of Israel.

5 And beholde, I sawe a wall on the outside of the house round about: and in the mans hand was a reede to measure with, of sixe cubites long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so hee measured the breadth of the building with one reede, and the height with one reede.

6 Then came hee vnto the gate, which looketh toward the East, and went vp the stayres thereof, and measured the ‖ poste of the gate, which was one reede broade, and ‖ the other poste of the gate, which was one reede broade.

‖Or, vpper post.

7 And euery chamber was one reede long, & one reede broad, & betweene the chambers were fiue cubites: and the post of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reede.

8 Hee measured also the porche of the gate within with one reede.

9 Then measured he the porch of the gate of eight cubites, and the ‖ postes thereof, of two cubites, and the porch of the gate was inward.

Verse 24. The South gate in the great figure d. The outwarde court e.
Vers. 27. The inner court gate. f An hundreth cubites d f which was the length of a court, and his chambers.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastwarde, were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the postes had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And he measured the breadth of the entrie of the gate ten cubites, and the height of the gate thirteene cubites.

12 The space also before the chambers was one cubite on this side, and the space was one cubite on that side, and the chambers were sixe cubites on this side and sixe cubites on that side.

13 He measured then the gate from the roufe of a chamber to the toppe of the gate: the breadth was fiue and twentie cubites, doore against doore.

14 He made also postes of threescore cubites, and the postes of the court, and of the gate had one measure round about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entry of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fiftie cubites.

16 And there were narrowe windowes in the chambers, & in their postes within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and the windowes went rounde about within: and vpon the postes were palmetrees.

17 ¶ Then brought hee me into the outwarde court, and loe, there were chambers, & a pauement made for the court round about, and thirtie chambers were vpon the pauement.

18 And the pauement was by the side of the gates ouer against the length of the gates, and the pauement was beneath.

19 Then hee measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundreth cubites Eastward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outwarde court, that looked toward the North, measured hee after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were, three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

22 And their windowes, and their arches with their palme trees, were after the measure of the gate that looketh toward the East, and the going vp vnto it had seuen steppes, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court stoode ouer against the gate towarde the North, and towarde the East, and hee measured from gate to gate an hundreth cubites.

24 After that, hee brought mee towarde the South, and loe, there was a gate towarde the South, and hee measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

26 And there were seuen steps to go vp to it, and the arches thereof were before them: and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the post thereof.

27 ¶ And there was a gate in the inner court towarde the South, and hee measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundreth cubites.

28 And he brought me into the inner court by the South gate, and hee measured the South gate according to these measures, 29 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof rounde about, it was fiftie cubites long and fiue and twentie cubites broade.

30 And the arches round about were fiue and twentie cubites long, and fiue cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, and the going vp to it had eight steppes.

32 ¶ Againe he brought me into ẏ inner court toward the East, and he measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, and in the arches thereof rounde about it was fiftie cubites long, and fiue and twentie cubites broade.

34 And the arches thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, on this side and on that side, & the going vp to it had eight steppes.

35 ¶ After hee brought mee to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures, 36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therin round about: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

37 And the postes thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, & the going vp to it had eight steps.

38 And euery chamber, and the entrie thereof was vnder the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stoode two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slew the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespas offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steppes, at the entry of the North gate stoode two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate were two tables.

41 Foure tables were on this side, and foure tables on that side by the side of the gate, euen eight tables whereupon they slew their sacrifice.

42 And the foure tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offering, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broade, and one cubite hie: whereupon also they layde the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offring and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hand broade, fastened round about, and vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offring.

44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the singers in the inner Court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was towarde the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect towarde the North.

Vers. 28. The inner court g. The eight steps are hid with the building, but they are like them of the East gate Q. for all the courts were of one measure, quantitie and facion.
Verse 32. The inner court on the East side N. And so in all hee maketh sixe courts, two on the East side, two on the North, and two on the South side. Looke in the great figure.
Verse 38. He speaketh of sixe chambers, which were in the porch of the inner court on the Northside i The entry of the chambers, that is, the doores, were vnder the vpper postes or pentises, which hanged ouer the chambers, as also did ouer the gate. Looke in the great figure.
Verse 39. In the porch of the inner court were foure tables K. & as many in the outwarde court S. a cubite & an halfe long, and as broad, and one cubite high.
Verse 44. The chambers in ẏ inner porche on the North side for the singers L. but the perspectiue hindereth ẏ sight, therefore beholde them which are in the East court for they are all alike: likewise on the South side. The Prophet was now in ẏ East court, where hee saw the altar measured, & describeth one rowe of chambers, which was for the Priests.

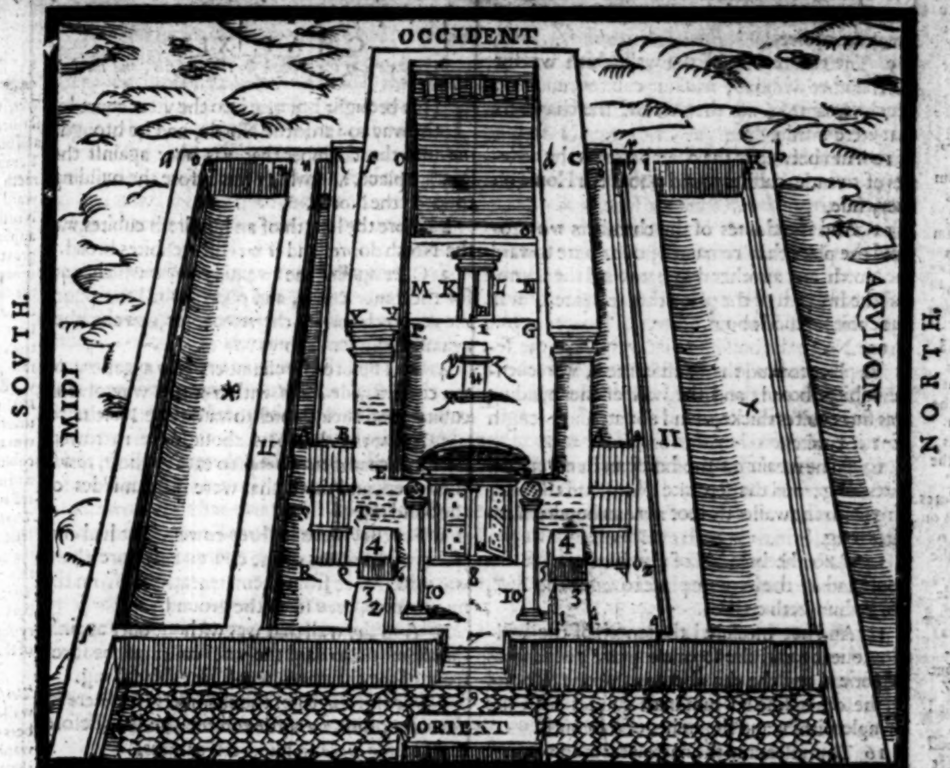
THE VISION OF THE TEMPLE.



45 And he said vnto me, This chamber whose prospect is towarde the South, is for the Priestes that haue charge to keepe the house.
46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, is for the Priestes that haue the charge to keepe the altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among the sonnes of Leui which may come neere to the Lord to minister vnto him.
47 So he measured the court, an hundreth cubites long, & an hundreth cubites broad, eue͂ foure square: likewise the altar that was before ẏ house.
48 And hee brought mee to the porch of the house, and measured the postes of the porch, fiue cubites on this side, and fiue cubites on that side:
and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.
49 The length of the porch was twentie cubites, and ẏ breadth eleuen cubites, & he brought me by the steps whereby they went vp to it, and there were pillars by the postes, one on this side, and another on that side.

Vers.45. He speaketh of the two rowes of chambers, which were in the inner court N. whereof they on the North side were for Priests that sacrificed O. and they on the South side for thē that kept the Temple N. which chambers were East and by South, as the other O were East and by North. CHAP XLI.

1 The disposition and order of the building of the Temple and the other thinges thereto belonging.

AFterwarde, hee brought mee to the Temple, and measured the postes, sixe cubites broade on the one side, and sixe cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.
2 And the breadth of the entrie was tenne cubites, and the sides of the entrie were fiue cubites on the one side, and fiue cubites on the other side, and hee measured the length thereof fourtie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites.
3 Then went hee in, and measured the postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie sixe cubites, and the breadth of the entrie seuen cubites.
4 So he measured the length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites before the Temple. And he sayde vnto mee, This is the most holy place.
5 After, he measured the wall of the house, sixe cubites, and the breadth of euery chamber foure cubites round about the house, on euery side.
6 And the chambers were chamber vpon chāber, three and thirtie foote high, and they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the postes might bee fastened therein, and not be fastened in the wall of the house.
7 And it was large and went rounde mounting vpwarde to the chambers: for the staire of the house was mounting vpwarde, rounde about the house: therefore the house was larger vpward: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to the hiest by the middes.

Verse 11. The dores of the chambers on the Northside, opened toward the North V and they on the Southside toward ỳ South R for there was an alley of fiue cubites round about the Temple V Z and was so closed with a wall 11.

Verse 12. The building, or the great place compassed with a wall of fiue cubites thicke and was farther off the Temple then the alley, or separate place,* and this is more plainely set forth in the great figure.

Verse 16. He declareth that whatsoeuer was of stone worke from the bottome to ỳ top, was couered with wood on the East, South, and North side.

Verse 22. The altar V, which was three cubites high Y X and two cubites long Y Z.

8 I sawe also the house hie rounde about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of sixe great cubites.

9 The thickenesse of the wall which was for the chamber without, was fiue cubites, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And betweene the chambers was the widenes of twentie cubites round about the House on euery side.

11 And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was fiue cubites round about.

12 Nowe the building that was before the separate place toward the West corner, was seuentie cubites broad, and the wall of the building was fiue cubites thicke, round about, and ỳ length ninetie cubites.

13 So he measured the house an hundreth cubites long, and the separate place and the building with the walles thereof were an hundreth cubites long.

14 Also the breadth of the forefront of the house and of the separate place towarde the East, was an hundreth cubites.

15 And hee measured the length of the building, ouer against the separate place, which was behinde it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundreth cubites with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The postes and the narrowe windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides ouer against the postes, sieled with cedar wood rounde about, and from the ground vp to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled.

17 And from aboue the doore vnto the inner house and without, and by all the wall rounde about within and without it was sieled according to the measure.

18 And it was made ẇ Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was betweene a Cherub and a Cherub: and euery Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was towarde the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lyon toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made through all the house round about.

20 From the grounde vnto aboue the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The postes of the Temple were squared, & thus to looke vnto was the similitude and forme of the Sanctuarie.

22 The altar of wood was three cubites hie, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof and the length thereof and the sides thereof were of wood. And he said vnto me, This is the table that shalbe before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuarie had two doores.

24 And the doores had two wickets, euen two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And vpon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palme trees, like as was made vpon the walles, and there were thicke plankes vpon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there were narow windowes & palme trees on the one side, and on the other side, by the sides of the porch, and vpon ỳ sides of the house, and thicke planckes.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priestes, and the holy things.

THen brought hee mee into the vtter court by the way towarde the North, and he brought me into the chamber that was ouer against the separate place, and which was before the building towarde the North.

2 Before the length of an hundreth cubites, was the North doore, and it was fiftie cubites broad.

3 Ouer against the twentie cubites which were for the inner court, and ouer against the pauement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

4 And before the chambers was a gallery of ten cubites wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores towarde the North.

5 Nowe the chambers aboue were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate vp these, to wit the lower, and those that were in the middes of the building.

6 For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, euen from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, toward the vtter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fiftie cubites long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fiftie cubites: and loe, before the Temple were an hundreth cubites.

9 And vnder these chambers was the entrie, on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thicknesse of the wall of the court towarde the East, ouer against the separate place, and ouer against the building.

11 And the way before them was after ỳ maner of the chambers, which were toward ỳ North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their facions, and according to their doores.

12 And according to ỳ doores of the chambers that were towarde the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, euen the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entreth.

13 Thē said he vnto me, The North chambers and ỳ South chambers which are before ỳ separate place, they be holy chambers, wherein the Priests that approch vnto the Lord, shal eat the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priestes enter therein, they shal not go out of the holy place into the vtter court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approch to those things, which are for the people.

15 Nowe when he had made an ende of measuring the inner house, hee brought mee forth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it round about.

16 He measured the East side with the measuring rod, fiue hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reede round about.

17 He measured also the Northside, fiue hundreth

19 He turned about also to the West side, and measured fiue hundreth reedes with the measuring

20 He measured it by the foure sides: it had a wall round about, fiue hundreth reeds long, with the fiue hundreth broad to make a separation betweene the Sanctuarie, and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIII.

2 He seeth the glorie of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7 He mentioneth the idolatrie of the children of Israel, for the which they were consumed and brought to nought. 9 He is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

Afterward he brought me to the gate, euen the gate that turneth toward the East.
2 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voyce was like a noise of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.
3 And the vision which I saw was * like the vision, euen as the vision that I saw a when I came to destroy the citie: and the visions were like the vision that I sawe by the riuer Chebar: and I fell vpon my face.
4 And the b glorie of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.
5 So the Spirite tooke me vp and brought me into the inner court, and beholde, the glory of the Lord filled the house.
6 And I heard one speaking vnto me out of the house: and there stoode a man by me,

Israel for euer, & the house of Israel shall no more

Kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeises of 8 Albeit they set their thresholds by my thresholdes, and their postes by my postes (for there was but a wall betweene me and them) yet haue they defiled mine holy Name with their abomina-consumed them in my wrath.

nication, and the carkeises of their Kings farre
from me, and I will dwell among them for euer.

paterne thereof, & the going out thereof, and the comming in thereof, & the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole fashion thereof, & all the ordinances thereof, and do them.

Vers. 1. The East gate D in the great figure.

THen he brought me towarde the gate of the outward Sanctuarie, which turneth towarde

2 Then saide the Lorde vnto me, This gate shalbe [a] shut, and shall not bee opened, and no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entred by it, and it shalbe shut.
3 It apperteineth to the Prince: the Prince himself shal sit in it to eate bread before the Lord:
he shal enter by the way of the porch of that gate,
and shall go out by the way of the same.
4 ¶ Then brought he me toward the North gate before the House: and when I looked, behold the glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, and I fell vpon my face.
5 And the Lord said vnto me, Sonne of man, † marke wel, & behold with thine eyes, & heare with thine eares, all that I say vnto thee, concerning all keepe the gates of the House, and minister in the House: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people: and they shall stand before them to serue them.

caused the house of Israel to fal into iniquity, ther-

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the land of promes are there separate foure portions, of which the first is giuen to the Priestes & to the Temple, the second to the Leuites, the third to the citie, the fourth to the prince. 9 An exhortation vnto the heads of Israel. 10 Of iust weights and measures. 13 Of the first fruits, &c.

MOreouer when yee shall deuide the lande for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation vnto the Lorde an a holy portion of the lande, fiue and twentie thousand reedes long, and ten thousande broad: this shalbe holy in all the borders thereof round about.

a Of all the land of Israel the Lord onely requireth this portion for the Temple and for the Priests, for the citie and for the prince.

2 Of this there shalbe for the Sanctuarie fiue hundreth in length, with fiue hundreth in breadth, all square round about, and fiftie cubites round about for the suburbes thereof.
3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of fiue and twentie thousande, and the breadth of tenne thousande: and in it shall be the Sanctuarie, and the most holy place.
4 The holy portion of the lande shall be the Priestes, which minister in the Sanctuarie, which came neere to serue the Lorde: and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuarie.
5 And in the fiue and twentie thousande of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall the Leuites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twentie chambers.
6 Also ye shall appoint the possession of the citie, fiue thousand broade, and fiue and twentie thousand long ouer against the oblation of ŷ holy portion: it shalbe for the whole house of Israel.
7 And a portion shalbe for the prince on ŷ one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, euen before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastwarde, and the length shalbe by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border.
8 In this lande shalbe his possession in Israel:
and my princes shall no more oppresse my people, and the rest of the land shal they giue to the house of Israel, according to their tribes.
9 Thus saith the Lorde God, Let it b suffice you, O princes of Israel: leaue off crueltie and oppression, and execute iudgement and iustice:
take away your exactions from my people, sayeth
the Lord God.
10 Ye shall haue iust balances, and a true c Ephah, and a true Bath.
11 The Ephah and the Bath shalbe equall: a Bath shall conteine the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitie thereof shalbe after the Homer.
12 * And the shekel shalbe twentie gerahs, and twentie shekels, and d fiue and twentie shekels and fifteene shekels shalbe your Maneh.

ye shall giue the sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of barley.

out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meat offring, and for a burnt offring and for peace offrings, to make reconciliation for them, sayeth the Lorde God.

offrings, and meate offrings, and drinke offrings in the solemne feastes & in the new moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the hie feastes of the house of Israel: he shall prepare the sinne offring, and the meate offring, and the burnt offring, and the peace offrings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.
18 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, In the first mo-neth, in the first day of e the moneth, thou shalt take a yong bullocke without blemish and clense
the Sanctuarie.

e Which was Nisan, conteining part of March and part of April.

19 And the Priest shall take of the blood of the sinne offring, and put it vpon the posts of the house, and vpon the foure ‖ corners of the frame of the altar, and vpon the postes of the gate of the inner court.

‖ Or, court.

20 And so shalt thou doe the seuenth day of the moneth, for euery one that hath erred and for him that is deceiued: so shall you reconcile the house.
21 * In the first moneth in the foureteenth day of the moneth, ye shall haue the Passeouer, a feast of seuen dayes, & ye shall eate vnleauened bread.

*Exod.12.18. leuit.23.5.

22 And vpon that day, shal the prince prepare for him selfe, and for all the people of the lande, a bullocke for a sinne offring.
23 And in the seuen dayes of the feast he shall make a burnt offring to the Lorde, euen of seuen bullockes, and seuen rammes without blemish dayly for seuen dayes, and an hee goate dayly for a sinne offring.
24 And hee shall prepare a meate offring of an Ephah for a bullocke, an Ephah for a ramme, and an f Hin of oyle for an Ephah.

f Reade Exod. 29.40.

25 In the seuenth moneth, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, shall he doe the like in the feast for seuen dayes, according to the sinne offring, according to the burnt offring, and according to the meate offring, and according to the oyle.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The sacrifices of the Sabbath and of the newe moones. 8 Thorowe which doores they must goe in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

THus sayth the Lorde God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shall be shut the sixe working dayes: but on the Sabbath it shalbe opened, and in the day of the newe moone it shalbe opened.

Vers.1. The inner court gate Q whereunto they went vp by eight steppes, as appeareth in the great figure.

2 And the prince shal enter by the way of the porche of that gate without, and shall stande by the post of the gate, and the Priests shall make his burnt offring, and his peace offrings, and hee shall

shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after, he shall goe foorth, but the gate shall not be shut till the euening.

3 Likewise the people of the lande shall worshippe at the entrie of this gate before the Lorde on the Sabbaths, and in the newe moones.

4 And the burnt offring that the prince shall offer vnto the Lorde on the Sabbath day, shalbe sixe lambes without blemish, and a ram without blemish.

5 And the meat offring shalbe an Ephah for a ram: and the meate offring for the lambes [a] a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

a That is, as much as he will.

6 And in the day of the newe moone it shall be a yong bullocke without blemish, and sixe lambes and a ram: they shalbe without blemish.

7 And he shal prepare a meat offring, euen an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ramme, and for the lambes [b] according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

b Meaning, as hee shall thinke good.

8 And when the prince shall enter, hee shall goe in by the way of the porche of that gate, and he shall goe foorth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shal come before the Lorde in the solemne feastes, hee that entreth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and he that entreth by the way of the South gate, shall goe foorth by the way of the North gate: he shal not returne by the way of the gate whereby hee came in, but they shall goe foorth ouer against it.

Vers. 9. He that entreth in by the North gate R. shal goe out by the South gate D. and contrary, and in going forwarde they worshipped in the middes M.

10 And the prince shall be in the middes of them: he shall goe in when they goe in, and when they goe forth, they shall goe forth together.

11 And in the feastes, and in the solemnities the meate offring shalbe an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ramme, and to the lambes, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Nowe when the prince shall make a free burnt offering or peace offrings freely vnto the Lorde, one shall then open him the gate, that turneth toward the East, and he shall make his burnt offering and his peace offrings, as hee did on the Sabbath day: after, hee shal goe foorth, and when he is gone forth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt dayly make a burnt offring vnto the Lord of a lambe of one yeere without blemish: thou shalt doe it euery morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meate offering for it euery morning, the sixt part of an Ephah, and the thirde part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine flowre: this meate offring shalbe continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lorde.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offring and the oyle euery morning, for a continuall burnt offring.

16 ¶ Thus saith the Lorde God, If the prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shalbe his sonnes, and it shall be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if hee giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruantes, then it shall bee his to the [c] yeere of libertie: after, it shal returne to ye prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for them.

c Which was at the Iubile, Leui. 25.9.

18 Moreouer the prince shal not [d] take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but he shall cause his sonnes to inherit of his owne possession, that my people bee not scattered euery man from his possession.

d But be content with that portion that God hath assigned him, as Chap. 45.8.

19 ¶ After, hee brought mee through the entrie, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priestes, which stoode towarde the North: and beholde, there was a place at the West side of them.

Vers. 19. He describeth the Priests chambers, which were at the side of the Temple towarde the North and so commeth to ye place, which was on the West side S which verse 21. is called the vtter court, in respect of the inner court, as also where the people were, was the vtter court in respect of this inner.

20 Then saide hee vnto me, This is the place where the Priestes shall seethe the trespasse offring and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meate offring, that they should not beare them into the vtter court, [e] to sanctifie the people.

e That the people should not haue to doe with those things which apperteine to the Lord, and thinke it lawfull for them to eate them.

21 Then he brought me foorth into the vtter court, and caused mee to goe by the foure corners of the court: and beholde, in euery corner of the court, there was a court.

22 In the foure corners of the court there were courts ioyned of fourty cubits long, & thirty broade: these foure corners were of one measure.

23 And there went a wall about them, euen about those foure, and kitchins were made vnder the walles round about.

24 Then saide he vnto me, This is the kitchin where the ministers of the house shall seethe the sacrifice of the people.

Vers. 21. The litle court in euery corner, was fortie cubites long. 7, 8. and thirtie broad 8, 9. & 7, 9. Vers. 23. About the walles of these litle courts, which were as kitchins, were litle chambers for the cookes 10.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The vision of the waters that came out of the Temple. 13 The coastes of the lande of promes, and the diuision thereof by tribes.

Afterward hee brought mee vnto the doore of the house: and beholde, [a] waters issued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house stoode towarde the East, and the waters ranne downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the southside of ye altar.

Vers. 1. The doore of the Temple K and from vnder the thresholde issued out waters, which came out of the Southside, and ran toward the East, Looke in the great figure it.

a Whereby are meant the spirituall graces that should be giuen to the Church vnder the kingdom of Christ.

2 Then brought he me out toward the North gate, and led mee about by the way without vnto the vtter gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: & behold, there came forth waters on ye right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went foorth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubites, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Againe hee measured a thousande, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe he measured a thousand, and brought me through: the waters were to ye loynes.

5 Afterward hee measured a thousand, and it was a [b] riuer, that I could not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flowe, as a riuer that could not be passed ouer.

b Signifying that the graces of God should neuer decrease but euer abound in his Church.

6 And he saide vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene this? Then he brought me, and caused me to returne to the brinke of the riuer.

7 Now when I returned, behold, at the brinke of the riuer were very many [c] trees on the one side, and on the other.

c Meaning, the multitude of them that shoulde bee refreshed by the spirituall waters.

8 Then sayde he vnto me, These waters issue out toward the East countrey, and runne downe into the plaine, and shall goe into one [d] sea: they shall runne into another sea, and the [e] waters shalbe wholesome.

d Shewing that the abundance of these graces should be so great, that all the world should be full thereof, which is here meant by the Persian Sea, or Genezareth, and the Sea called Mediterraneum, Zech. 14.8.

e The waters which of nature are salt and vnwholsome, shalbe made sweete and comfortable.

9 And euery thing that liueth, which mooueth, wheresoeuer the riuers shall come, shall liue, and there shalbe a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall be wholesome, and euery thing shall liue whither the riuer commeth.

10 And

10 And then the [f] fishers shall stand vpon it, and from En-gedi euen vnto [g] En-eglaim, they shal spread out their nets: for their fish shalbe according to their kindes, as the fish of [h] the maine sea, exceeding many.

11 But [i] the myrie places thereof, and the marises thereof shall not be wholesome: they shalbe made salt pits.

12 And by this riuer vpon the brinke thereof, on this side, and on that side shall growe all || fruitfull trees, whose leafe shal not fade, neither shal the fruit thereof faile: it shal bring forth new fruite according to his moneths, because their waters run out of the Sanctuary: and the fruite thereof shalbe meat, and the leafe thereof shalbe for || medicine.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, This shalbe the border, whereby ye shall inherite the land according to the twelue tribes * of Israel: Ioseph shall haue two portions.

14 And ye shal inherite it, one as well as another: * concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it vnto your fathers, and this land shall fall vnto you for inheritance.

15 And this shalbe the border [k] of the lande towarde the North side, from the mayne sea toward Hethlon as men goe to Zedadah:

16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is betweene the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, and Hazar, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the sea shalbe Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North, Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shalbe the North part.

18 But the East side shall yee measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the lande of Israel by Iorden, and from the border vnto the East sea: and so shalbe the East part.

19 And the Southside shalbe towarde Teman from Tamar to the waters of || Meriboth in Kadesh, and the riuer to the maine sea: so shalbe the South part toward Teman.

20 The West part also shalbe the great sea from the border, til a man come ouer against Hamath: this shalbe the West part.

21 So shal ye deuide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shall deuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwel among you, which shal beget children among you, and they shalbe vnto you, as borne in the countrey among the children of Israel, [l] they shall part inheritance with you in the middes of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shal ye giue him his inheritance, sayeth the Lord God.

[f] Signifying that when God bestoweth his mercies in such abundance, the ministers shall by their preaching winne many.
[g] Which were cities at the corners of the salt or dead sea.
[h] They shalbe here of all sorts, and in as great abundance as in the great Ocean where they are bred
[i] That is, the wicked and reprobate.
|| Or, tree for meate.
|| Or, for bruises and sores.
* Gene.48.22.
* Gen.12.7. and 13.15.& 15.18 and 26.4. deut.34.4.
[k] By the land of promes he signifieth the spirituall land whereof this was a figure.
|| Or, strife.
[l] Meaning, that in this spirituall kingdome there should be no difference betweene Iewe nor Gentile, but that all should be partakers of this inheritance in their head Christ.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The lottes of the tribes. 9 The partes of the possession of the Priests, of the Temple, of the Leuites, of the city and of the Prince are rehearsed.

NOwe these are the names of the [a] tribes. From the North side, to the coast towarde Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northward the coast of Hamath, euen from the East side to the West shall be a portion for Dan.

2 And by the border of Dan from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Asher.

[a] The tribes after that they entred into the lande vnder Iosua, deuided the lande somewhat otherwise then it here set forth by this vision.

3 And by the border of Asher from the East parte euen vnto the West parte a portion for Naphtali.

4 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the West side, a portion for Manasseh.

5 And by the border of Manasseh from the East side vnto the West side a portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter vnto the West quarter, a portion for Iudah.

8 And by the border of Iudah from the East part vnto the West part [b] shalbe the offring which they shall offer of fiue and twentie thousande reedes broade, and of length as one of the other parts, from the East side vnto the West side, & the Sanctuarie shalbe in the middes of it.

9 The oblation that yee shall offer vnto the Lord, shalbe of fiue and twentie thousande long, and of ten thousand the breadth.

10 And for them, euen for the Priestes shalbe this holy oblation, towarde the North fiue and twentie thousand long, and toward the West, ten thousand broad, and toward the East ten thousand broade, and towarde the South fiue and twentie thousand long, and the Sanctuarie of the Lorde shalbe in the mids thereof.

11 It shalbe for the Priestes that are sanctified of the sonnes of * Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray, as the Leuites went astray.

12 Therefore this oblation of the lande that is offered, shalbe theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Leuites.

13 And ouer against the border of the Priests the Leuites shall haue fiue and twentie thousande long, and ten thousand broad: all the length shalbe fiue and twentie thousand, and the breadth tenne thousand.

14 And they shal not sell of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first fruites of the lande: for it is holy vnto the Lord.

15 And the fiue thousande that are left in the breadth ouer against the fiue and twenty thousand, shalbe a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbes, and the citie shalbe in the mids thereof.

16 And these shall be the measures therof, the North part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the South part [c] fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the East part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the West part fiue hundreth and foure thousand.

17 And the suburbes of the citie shalbe toward the North two hundreth and fiftie, and toward the South two hundreth and fiftie, and towarde the East two hundreth and fiftie, and towarde the West two hundreth and fiftie.

18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shalbe ten thousande Eastward, and tenne thousand Westward: and it shalbe ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shal be for food vnto them that serue in the citie.

19 And they that serue in the citie, shalbe of all the tribes of Israel that shal serue therein.

[b] That is, the portion of the ground, which they shal separate & appoynt to the Lord, which shalbe deuided into three partes for the Priests, for the Prince, and for the citie.
* Chap.44.15.
[c] Meaning, that it should be square.

20 All the oblation shalbe fiue and twentie thousand with [d] fiue and twentie thousande: you shall offer this oblation foure square for the Sanctuarie, and for the possession of the citie.

d Euery way it shalbe fiue and twentie thousand.

21 And the residue shalbe for the prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuarie, and of the possession of the citie, ouer against the fiue and twenty thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward ouer against the fiue and twenty thousand towarde the West border, ouer against shalbe for the portion of the prince: this shalbe the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuarie shalbe in the middes thereof.

22 Moreouer, from the possession of the Leuites, and from the possession of the citie, that which is in the mids shall be the princes: betweene the border [e] of Iudah, and betweene the border of Beniamin shall be the princes.

e So that Iudah was on the Northside of the Princes and Leuites portions, and Beniamin on the Southside.

23 And the rest of the tribes shalbe thus: from the East part vnto the West part Beniamin shalbe a portion.

24 And by the border of Beniamin, from the East side vnto the West side Simeon a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon from the East part vnto the West part, Isshachar a portion.

26 And by the border of Isshachar, from the East side vnto the West, Zebulun a portion.

27 And by the border of Zebulun from the East part vnto the West part, Gad a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side, towarde [f] Temath, the border shall be euen from [g] Tamar, vnto the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, and to the [h] riuer, that runneth into the maine sea.

f Which is here taken for Idumea.
g Which was Iericho the citie of palme trees.
h Meaning, Nilus that runneth into the Sea, called Mediterranean.

29 This is the lande, which ye shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the boundes of the citie, on the North side fiue hundreth, and foure thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the citie shalbe after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Iudah, and one gate of Leui.

32 And at the East side fiue hundreth & foure thousand, and three gates, and one gate of Ioseph, one gate of Beniamin, and one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South side, fiue hundreth and foure thousand measures, and three portes, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Isshachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the West side, fiue hundreth and foure thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.

35 It was round about eighteene thousande measures, and the name of the citie from that day shalbe, † The Lord is there.

DANIEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

THE great prouidence of God, and his singular mercie towarde his Church are most liuely heere set foorth, who neuer leaueth his destitute, but nowe in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whome hee adorned with such graces of his holy spirite, that Daniel aboue all other had most speciall reuelations of such thinges as shoulde come to the Church, euen from the time that they were in captiuitie, to the last ende of the worlde, and to the generall resurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and Empires of all the worlde, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians, and Romanes. Also of the certaine nomber of the times euen vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because he shoulde be the accomplishment thereof: moreouer he sheweth Christs office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring euerlasting life. And as from the beginning God euer exercised his people vnder the crosse, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, he will still leaue this exercise to his Church vntill the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his into his kingdome in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captiuitie of Iehoiakim King of Iudah. 4 The King chuseth certaine yong men of the Iewes to learne his lawe. 5 They haue the Kings ordinarie appoynted, 8 They absteine from it.

IN the [a] thirde yeere of the reigne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto Ierusalem and besieged it.

a Reade 2. King. 24. 1. & Iere. 25. 1.

2 And the Lord gaue Iehoiakim king of Iudah into his hande, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which hee carried into the land of [b] Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasurie.

b Which was a plaine by Babylon, where was the Temple of their great god, and is here taken for Babylon.

3 And the King spake vnto [c] Ashpenaz the master of his [d] Eunuches, that he should bring certeine of the children of Israel, of the [e] Kings seede, and of the princes:

c Who was as master of the wardes.
d He calleth them Eunuches whome the King nourished and brought vp to be rulers of other countreis afterward.

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but wel [f] fauoured, and instruct in all wisedome, and well seene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, and such as were able to stand in the kings palace, and whom they might teach the [g] learning, and the tongue of the Caldeans.

5 And the king appointed them prouision euery day of a [h] portion of the Kings meate, and of the wine which hee dranke, so nourishing them [i] three yeere, that at the end thereof, they might stand [k] before the King.

6 Now among these were certeine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah.

f The King required three things, that they should be of noble birth, that they should be witte and learned, and that they should be of a strong and comely nature, that they might doe him better seruice: this he did for his owne commoditie, therefore it is not to prayse his liberalitie: yet in this he is worthie praise, that he esteemed learning, and knew that it was a necessary meane to gouerne by. g That they might forget their owne religion, and countrey facions, to serue him the better to his purpose: yet it is not to be thought ẏ Daniel did learne any knowledge that was not godly: in all points he refused the abuse of things & superstition, insomuch that he would not eate the meate which the King appoynted him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall things. h That by their good entertainment they might learne to forget the mediocritie of their owne people. i To the intent that in this time they might both learne the maners of the Caldeans and also their tongue. k Aswell to serue at the table, as in other offices.

e His purpose was to keepe them as hostages, and that he might shew himselfe victorious, and also by their good intreatie and learning of his religion, they might fauour rather him then the Iewes, & so to be able to serue him as gouernors in their land: moreouer by this meanes the Iewes might be better kept in subiection, fearing otherwise to procure hurt to these noble men.

7 ¶ Vnto whome the chiefe of the Eunuches l gaue other names: for hee called Daniel, Belte-shazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, & Mishael, Meshach, and Azariah, Abednego.
8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that hee woulde not m defile himselfe with the portion of the Kings meate, nor with the wine which he dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not defile himselfe.
9 (Nowe God had brought Daniel into fa-uour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eu-nuches)
10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches saide vnto Daniel, n I feare my lord the King, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if he see your faces worse liking then the other children, which are of your sort, then shall you make me lose mine head vnto the King.
11 Then saide Daniel to Melzar, whome the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hana-niah, Mishael, and Azariah, 12 Prooue thy seruants, I beseech thee, o ten dayes, and let them giue vs p pulse to eate, and water to drinke.
13 Then let our countenances bee looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of the Kings meate: and as thou seest, deale with thy seruantes.
14 So hee consented to them in this matter,
and proued them ten dayes.
15 And at the ende of ten dayes, their q countenances appeared fayrer, and in † better liking then all the childrens, which did eate the portion of the Kings meate.
16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meate, and the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them pulse.
17 As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderstanding in all learning r and wisedome: also hee gaue Daniel vnderstanding of all s visions and dreames.
18 Nowe when the time was t expired, that the King had appoynted to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.
19 And the King communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stoode they before the King.
20 And in all matters of wisedome, and vnderstanding that the King enquired of them, hee founde them tenne times better then all the inchanters and astrologians, that were in all his realme.
21 And Daniel was vnto u the first yeere of king Cyrus.

l That they might altogether forget their religion: for the Iewes gaue their children names, which might euer put them in remembrance of some point of religion: therefore this was a great tentation & a signe of seruitude which they were not able to resist.
m Not that he thought any religion to be in the meate or drinke (for afterwarde he did eate) but because the king should not entise him by this sweete poyson to forget his religion and accustomed sobrietie, and that in his meate & drinke he might dayly remember of what people he was: and Daniel bringeth this in to shew how God from the beginning assisted him with his Spirit, and at length called him to be a Prophet.
n He supposed they did this for their religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians and therefore here in he representeth them, which are of no religion: for neither hee would condemne theirs nor maintaine his owne.
o Meaning, that within this space hee might haue the tryall, and that no man shoulde be able to discerne it; and thus hee spake, beeing mooued by the Spirite of God.
p Not that it was a thing abominable to eate deintie meates, and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but if they shoulde haue hereby beene wonne to the King and haue reiolsed their owne religion, that meate and drinke had bene accursed.
q This bare feeding and that also of Moses when hee fledde from the court of Egypt, declareth that wee must liue in such sobrietie as God doeth call vs vnto, seeing hee will make it more profitable vnto vs, then all deinties: for his blessing onely sufficeth.

CHAP. II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar. 13 The King commaundeth all the wise men of Babylon to bee slayne because they could not interprete his dreame. 16 Daniel requireth time to solue the question. 24 Daniel is brought vnto the King and sheweth him his dreame & the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the euerlasting Kingdome of Christ.

AND in the a seconde yeere of the raigne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed b dreames wherewith his spirite was c troubled, and his d sleepe was vpon him.
2 Then the King commanded to call the inchanters, and the astrologians and the sorcerers, and the e Caldeans for to shewe the King his dreames: so they came and stoode before the King.
3 And the King sayd vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirite was troubled to knowe the dreame.
4 Then spake the Caldeans to the King in the f Aramites language, O King, liue for euer: shewe thy seruants thy dreame, and wee shall shewe the interpretation.
5 And the King answered & saide to the Cal-deans, The thing is gone from me. If yee will not make mee vnderstand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye g shall be drawen in pieces, and your houses shall be made a iakes.
6 But if ye declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receiue of me gifts and rewardes, and great honour: therefore shewe mee the dreame and the interpretation of it.
7 They answered againe, and sayde, Let the King shewe h his seruants the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.
8 Then the King answered, and sayd, I knowe certeinly that yee † would gaine the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.
9 But if yee will not declare me the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for yee haue prepared lying and corrupt wordes, to speake before me till the time bee changed: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may knowe, if yee can declare me the interpretation thereof.
10 Then the Caldeans answered before the King, and sayde, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the Kings matter: yea, there is neither King nor prince nor lorde that asked such thinges at an inchanter or astrologian or Caldean.
11 For it is a rare thing that the King requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the King, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.
12 For this cause the King was angrie and in great furie, and commaunded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.
13 ¶ And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slayne: and they i sought Daniel and his fellowes to be put to death.
14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wisedome to Arioch the Kings ‖ chiefe stewarde, which was gone foorth to put to death the wise men of Babel.
15 Yea, hee answered and sayde vnto Arioch the kings captaine, Why is the sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.
16 So Daniel went and desired the King that hee would giue him leasure, and that he woulde shewe the King the interpretation thereof.

a The father and the sonne were both called by this name: so that this is ment of ẏ sonne, when he reigned alone: for he reigned also after a sort w his father.
b Not that he had many dreames, but because many matters were conteined in this dreame.
c Because it was so rare & strange a dreame ẏ he had not had the like. d He was so heauy with sleepe that he began to sleepe againe. Some read, and his sleepe was broken from him.
e For all these Astrologers & sorcerers called themselues by this name of honor as though all the wisdome & knowledge of the countrey depended vpon them, and that all other countreis were voyd of the same.
f That is, in the Syrian tongue which differed not much from the Caldean, saue it seemed to be more eloquent, and therefore the learned vsed to speake it: as the Iewish writers doe to this day.
g This is a iust reward of their arrogancie (which vaunted of them selues that they had the knowledge of all things) that they should be prooued fooles, and that to their perpetuall shame and confusion.
h Herein appeared their ignorance, that notwithstanding their brags, yet were they not able to tell the dreame, except hee entred them into the matter, and therefore they would pretend knowledge where was but mere ignorance, and so as deluders of the people, they were worthie to die.
† Ebr. redeeme the time.
i Which declareth, that God would not haue his seruant ioyned in the companie of these sorcerers, and Astrologers, whose artes were wicked, and therefore iustly ought to dye, though the king did it vpon a rage, and no zeale.
‖ Or, the captaine of the garde.

17 ¶ Then

17 ¶ Thẽ Daniel went to his house & shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions, 18 That they should beseech the God of heauen for grace in this secrete, that Daniel and his fellowes shoulde not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19 Then was the secret reueiled vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praysed the God of heauen.

20 And Daniel answered and sayde, *The Name of God be praysed for euer and euer: for wisedome and strength are his,

21 And he changeth the times & seasons: hee taketh away kings: he setteth vp kings: he giueth wisdome vnto the wise, and vnderstanding to those that vnderstand.

22 Hee discouereth the deepe and secrete things: he knoweth what is in the darkenesse, and the [k] light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee and prayse thee, O thou God of my [l] fathers, that thou hast giuen me wisedome and [m] strength, and hast shewed mee now the thing that we desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the kings matter.

24 ¶ Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whome the King had ordeyned to destroy the wise men of Babel: hee went and sayde thus vnto him, Destroy not [n] the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the King, and I will declare vnto the King the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the King in all haste, and sayde thus vnto him, I haue founde a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare vnto the King the interpretation.

26 Then answered the King, and sayde vnto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to shewe me the dreame, which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the King, and sayde, The secret which the King hath demanded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the inchanters, nor the southsayers declare vnto the King.

28 But there is a God in * heauen that reueileth secrets, and sheweth the King Nebuchadnezzar what shall bee in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O King, when thou wast in thy bedde, thoughts came into thy minde, what should come to passe hereafter, and hee that reueileth secrets, telleth thee, what shall come.

30 As [p] for me, this secrete is not shewed mee for any wisedome that I haue, more then any other liuing, but onely to shewe the King the interpretation, and that thou mightest knowe the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O King, thou sawest, and beholde, there was a great image: this great image whose glorie was so excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine [q] golde, his breast and his armes of siluer, his bellie and his thighs of brasse, 33 His legges of yron, and his feete were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it till a stone was cut without hands, which smote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the siluer and the golde broken all together, and became like the chaffe of the sommer floures, and the winde caried them away, that no place was founde for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and we will declare before the King the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O King, thou art a king of Kings: for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdome, power, and strength, and glorie.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beastes of the fielde, and the foules of the heauen hath hee giuen into thine hande, and hath made thee ruler ouer them all: thou art [r] this head of golde.

39 And after thee shal rise another kingdome [s] inferiour to thee, of siluer, and another [t] third kingdome shalbe of brasse, which shall beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome shall be strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron bruiseth all these things, so shall it breake in [u] pieces, and bruise all.

41 Where as thou sawest the feete and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome shalbe [x] deuided, but there shalbe in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feete were parte of yron, and parte of clay, so shall the kingdome be partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And where as thou sawest yron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselues with [y] the seede of men: but they shall not ioyne one with another, as yron can not bee mixed with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these Kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which [z] shall neuer be destroyed: and this kingdome shall not be giuen to another people, but it shall breake, and destroy all these kingdomes, and it shall stand for euer.

45 Where as thou sawest, that the [a] stone was cut of the mountaine without handes, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the siluer, and the golde: so the great God hath shewed the King, what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar fell vpon his face, and [b] bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, and commaunded that they should offer meate offrings, and sweete odours vnto him.

47 Also the King answered vnto Daniel, and

* Psal. 113.2, and 115.18.

k He sheweth that man hath neither wisdome nor knowledge, but very darke blindnes and ignorance of himselfe: for it commeth onely of God, that man vnderstandeth any thing.

l To whom thou madest thy promes, and who liued in thy feare: whereby he excludeth all other gods.

m Meaning, power to interprete it.

n Whereby appeareth that many were slaine, as vers. 13, and the rest at Daniels suite were preserued on condition: not that Daniel fauoured their wicked profession, but that he had respect to equitie because the King proceeded according to his wicked affection, & not considering if their science were lawful or no.

o Hee affirmeth that man by reason & arte is not able to atteine to the cause of Gods secrets, but the vnderstanding onely thereof must come of God: whereby he smiteth ẏ king with a certaine feare & reuerence of God, that he might be the more apt to receiue the hie misteries, that should be reueiled.

p Because he had said that God onely must reueale the signification of this dreame, the King might haue asked, why Daniel did enterprise to interprete it, and therefore he sheweth, that he was but Gods minister, and had no giftes, but such as God had giuen him to set forth his glory.

q By golde, siluer, brasse, and yron, are ment the Caldean, Persian, Macedonian, and Romane kingdome, which shoulde successiuely rule all the worlde till Christ (which is here called the stone) come himselfe, and destroy the last: and this was to assure the Iewes, that their afflictions should not ende with the empire of the Caldeans, but that they shoulde paciently abide the comming of Messiah, which shoulde bee at the ende of this fourth monarchie.

r Daniel leaueth out the kingdome of the Assyrians, which was before the Babylonian, both because it was not a monarchie and generall empire, and also because he would declare the things, ẏ were to come, to the comming of Christ, for ẏ comfort of the elect among these wonderful alterations: and he calleth the Babylonian kingdome the golden head, because in respect of the other three, it was the best, and yet was of it selfe wicked and cruell.

s Meaning, ẏ Persians, which were not inferiour in dignitie, power, & riches, but were worse touching ambition, crueltie, and all kinde of vice: shewing that the worlde should grow worse and worse, til it was restored by Christ.

t That is, of the Macedonians shalbe of brasse, not alluding to the hardnesse thereof, but to the vilenes in respect of siluer.

u That is, the Romane empire shall subdue all these other aforenamed, which after Alexander were deuided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians and Egyptians.

x They shall haue ciuil warres & continual discordes among themselues.

y They shall by marriages, and affinities thinke to make themselues strong: yet shall they neuer be ioyned in hearts.

z His purpose is to shewe, that all the kingdomes of the worlde are transitorie, & that the kingdome of Christ shall onely remayne for euer.

a Meaning Christ, who was sent of God, and not set vp by man, whose kingdome at the beginning should bee small and without beautie to mans iudgement, but should at length growe and fill the whole earth, which he calleth a great mountaine, as verse 35. And this kingdome, which is not onely referred to the person of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, and to euery member thereof, shalbe eternall: for the spirit that is in them, is life eternall, Rom. 8.10. b Though this humbling of the King seemed to deserue commendation, yet because hee ioyned Gods honour with the Prophets, it is to bee reprooued, and Daniel herein erred, if hee suffered it: but it is credible that Daniel admonished him of his fault, and did not suffer it.

saide,

c This confession was but a sodden motion, as it was also in Pharaoh, Exod. 9.28. but his heart was not touched, as appeared soone afterward.
d Not that the Prophet was desirous of gifts or honour, but because by this meanes he might relieue his poore brethren said, I know of a trueth, that your c God is a God of gods, and the Lord of Kings, and the reueiler of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the King made Daniel a great man, and gaue him many and great d giftes. He made him gouernour ouer the whole prouince of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and aboue all the wise men of Babel.
49 Then Daniel e made request to the King, and hee set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: but Daniel sate in the f gate of the King.

which were grieuously oppressed in this their captiuitie, & also he receiued them, lest he should offend this cruell King, which willingly gaue them. e He did not this for their priuate profite, but that the whole Church which was then there in affliction, might haue some release and ease, by this benefite. f Meaning, that either he was a iudge, or that he had the whole authoritie, so that none could be admitted to the Kings presence, but by him.

CHAP. III.

1 The King setteth vp a golden image. 8 Certaine are accused because they despised the Kings commandements, and are put into a burning ouen. 25 By beliefe in God they are deliuered from the fire. 26 Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

NEbuchad-nezzar the King made a an image of gold, whose height was three score cubits, and the breadth thereof sixe cubites: hee set it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the prouince of Babel.
2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar ỹ King sent foorth to gather together the nobles, the princes and the dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouin-ces, that they should come to the b dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the c King had set vp.
3 So the nobles, princes & dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchadnezzar the King had set vp: and they stood before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp.
4 Then an herald cried aloude, Be it knowen to you, O people, d nations, and languages, 5 That when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, yee fall downe and worship the golden image that Nebuchad-nezzar the King hath set vp,
6 And whosoeuer falleth not downe & worshippeth, shall the same houre bee cast into the middes of an hote fierie fornace.
7 Therefore assoone as all the people heard
the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and all instruments of musike, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchadnezzar the King had set vp.
8 ¶ By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grieuously accused the Iewes.
9 For they spake and said to the King Nebuchad-nezzar, O King, liue for euer.
10 Thou, O King, hast made a decree, that eue-rie man that shall heare the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, shall fall downe
and worship the golden image, 11 And whosoeuer falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that he should bee cast into the mids
of an hote fierie fornace.
12 There are certeine Iewes whom thou hast set ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel, e Sha-drach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O King, haue not regarded thy commaundement, neither wil they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, that thou hast set vp.
13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commaunded that they should bring Sha-drach, Meshach, and Abednego: so these men were brought before the King.
14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worship the golden image, that I haue set vp?
15 f Now therefore are ye readie when ye heare
the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, to fall downe, and worship the image, which I haue made? for if ye worship it not, yee shall be cast immediatly into the middes of an hote fierie fornace: for who is that God, that can deliuer you out of mine handes?
16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and said to the King, O Nebuchad-nezzar, we g are not carefull to answere thee in this matter.
17 Beholde, our God whom we serue, is h able to deliuer vs from the hote fierie fornace, and hee will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O King.
18 But if not, bee it knowen to thee, O King, that we will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, which thou hast set vp.
19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore hee charged and commaunded that they should heate the fornace at once seuen i times more then it was wont to be heat.
20 And hee charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his armie, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hote fierie fornace.
21 So these men were bounde in their coates, their hosen, and their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the middes of the hote fierie fornace.
22 Therefore, because the Kings commaunde-ment was straite, that the fornace should bee exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slew those men that brought foorth Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego.
23 And these three men Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego fell downe bound into the middes of the hote fierie fornace.
24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King was astonied and rose vp in haste, and spake, and saide vnto his counsellers, Did not we cast three men bound into the middes of the fire? Who answered and said vnto the King, It is true, O King.
25 And he answered, and said, Loe, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the k sonne of God.
26 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fierie fornace, and spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, a Vnder pretence of religion, and holinesse in making this image to his idole Bel, he sought his owne ambition and vaine glorie: and this declareth, that he was not touched with the true feare of God before, but that he confessed him on a sodden motion, as the wicked when they are ouercome with the greatnes of his workes. The Greeke interpreters write, that this was done eighteene yeeres after the dreame, and as may appeare, the King feared lest the Iewes by their religion should haue altered the state of his common wealth, and therefore he meant to bring all to one kinde of religion, and so rather sought his owne quietnesse, then Gods glory.

b Shewing, that the idole is not knowen for an idole so long as he is with the workeman, but when the ceremonies and customes are added and vsed, and the consent of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they haue made a god.
c This was sufficient with the wicked, at all times to approue their religion, if the Kings authoritie were alleged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the meane season what Gods word did permit.
d These are the two dangerous weapons wherewith Satan vseth to fight against the children of God, the consent of the multitude and the crueltie of the punishment: for though some feared God, yet the multitude which consented to the wickednesse, astonied them: and here the King required not an inward consent, but an outward gesture, that the Iewes might by litle and litle learne to forget their true religion.

e It seemeth, that they named not Daniel because he was greatly in the Kings fauour, thinking if these three had bin destroyed, they might haue had better occasion to accuse Daniel: and this declareth that this policie of erecting this image was inuented by the malicious flatterers, which sought nothing but the destruction of the Iewes, whom they accused of rebellion and ingratitude.
f Signifying, that he would receiue them to grace, if they would now at the length obey his decree.
g For they should haue done iniurie to God, if they should haue doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say, that they are resolued to die for Gods cause.
h They ground on two points, first on the power and prouidence of God ouer them, and secondly on their cause, which was Gods glory, and the testifying of his true religion with their blood, and so make open confession, that they will not so much as outwardly consent to idolatrie.
i This declareth that the more that tyrants rage, and the more witte they shew themselues in inuenting strange and cruell punishments, the more is God glorified by his seruants, whom he giueth constancie to abide their threatnings [illegible] of their punishments, [illegible] he either deliuereth them from death, or else for this life giueth them a better.
k For the Angels were called the sonnes of God, because of their excellencie: therefore the King called this Angel, whom God sent to comfort his in their great torments, the sonne of God.

the seruants of the hie God, goe foorth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach & Abednego [l] came foorth of the middes of the fire.
27 Then the nobles, princes and dukes, and the Kings counsellers came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coates changed, nor any smell of fire came vpon them.
28 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar spake & said, [m] Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliue-red his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the Kings commaundement, and yeelded their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any god, saue their owne God.
29 Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation, and language, which speake any [n] blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, shalbe drawen in pieces, and their houses shall be made a iakes, because there is no god that can deliuer after this sort.
30 Then the King promoted Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego in the prouince of Babel.
31 Nebuchad-nezzar King vnto all people, nations & languages, that dwell in all the [o] world,
Peace be multiplied vnto you: 32 I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, that the hie God hath wrought toward me.
33 How great are his signes, and how mightie are his wonders! [p] his kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

l This commendeth their obedience vnto God that they would not for any feare depart out of this fornace, till the time was appointed, as Noah remained in the Arke til the Lord called him forth.

m He was moued by the greatnes of the miracle to praise God, but his heart was not touched. And here we see that miracles are not sufficient to conuert men to God, but that doctrine must chiefly be adioyned, without the which there can be no faith.

n If this heathen King mooued by Gods Spirit would not see blasphemie vnpunished, but made a lawe and set a punishment to such transgressours, much more ought all they that professe religion, take order that such impietie reigne not, lest according as their knowledge and charge is greater, so they suffer double punishment.

o Meaning, so farre as his dominion extended.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Another dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar, which Daniel declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth howe of a proude King hee should become as a beast. 31 After, he confesseth the power of God and is restored to his former dignitie.

I Nebuchad-nezzar being at [a] rest in mine house,
and flourishing in my palace, 2 Saw a [b] dreame, which made me afraid, and the thoughtes vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.
3 Therfore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before mee, that they might declare vnto me the interpretation of the dreame.
4 So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans & the soothsayers, to whom I tolde the dreame, but [c] they could not shew me the interpretation thereof,
5 Till at the last Daniel came before mee, (whose name was [d] Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirite of the holy gods in him) and before him I tolde the dreame, saying,
6 O Belteshazzar, [e] chiefe of the inchanters, because I know, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell mee the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.
7 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed. And beholde, I sawe a [f] tree in the middes of the earth and the height thereof was great: 8 A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth.
9 The boughes thereof were faire & the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadow vnder it for the beastes of the fielde, and the foules of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fed of it.
10 I sawe in the visions of mine head vpon my bed, and beholde, a [g] watchman and an holy one came downe from heauen, 11 And cried aloud, and said thus, Hew downe the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruite, that the beastes may flee from vnder it, and the foules from his branches.
12 Neuerthelesse leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the fielde, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes among the grasse of the field.
13 [h] Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart be giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him.
14 [i] The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demande was answered, to the intent that liuing men may knowe, that the most High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer he will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiect among men.
15 This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchadnezzar haue seene; therefore thou, O Beltesshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wisemen of my kingdome are not able to shewe mee the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee.
16 ¶ Then Daniel (whose name was Belte-shazzar) held his [k] peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, & the King spake and said, Belteshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered and saide, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.
17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mightie, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof through all the world, 18 Whose leaues were faire & the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the
which the beastes of the fielde dwelt, and vpon whose branches the foules of the heauen did sit, 19 It is thou, O King, that art great and mightie: for thy greatnesse is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the endes of the earth.
20 Where as the King sawe a watchman, and an holy one, that came downe from heauen, and said, Hew downe the tree and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a bande of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the fielde, and let it be wette with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes of the fielde, [l] till seuen times passe ouer him,
21 This is the interpretation, O King, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the King,

22 That

a There was no trouble that might cause mee to dreame, and therefore it came onely of God.

b This was another dreame besides that which he sawe of the foure empires: for Daniel both declared what that dreame was and what it ment: and here he onely expoundeth the dreame.

c In that that he sent abroad to others whose ignorance in times past he had experimented, and left Daniel which was euer ready at hand, it declareth the nature of the vngodly, which neuer seeke to the seruants of God, but for very necessity, and then they spare no flatterings.

d This no doubt was a great griefe to Daniel not onely to haue his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchad-nezzar did to make him forget the true religion of God.

e Which also was a great griefe to the Prophet to bee numbred among the sorcerers and men whose practises were wicked and contrary to Gods word.

f By the tree, is signified the dignitie of a King, whome God ordeineth to be a defence for all kinde of men, and whose state is profitable for mankinde.

g Meaning the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor sleepeth, but is euer readie to do Gods will, and is not infect with mans corruption, but is euer holy: and in that that he commandeth to cut downe this tree, he knew that it should not be cut downe by man but by God.

h Hereby he meaneth that Nebuchad-nezzar should not onely for a time lose his kingdome, but be like a beast.

i God hath decreed this iudgement and the whole armie of heauen haue as it were subscribed vnto it, like as also they desire the execution of his decree against al them that lift vp themselues against God.

k He was troubled for the great iudgement of God which he sawe ordeined against the King: and so the Prophets vsed on the one part to denounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glory, and on the other part to haue compassion vpon man, and also to consider that they should be subiect to Gods iudgements, if he did not regard them with pitie.

l Whereby hee meaneth a long space, as seuen yeres. Some interpret seuen moneths, and others seuen weekes: but it seemeth he ment of yeeres.

21 That they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shalbe with the beasts of the fielde:
they shall make thee to eate grasse as the [m] oxen,
and they shall wet thee with the dewe of heauen:
and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou knowe, that [n] the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whome so euer he will.
23 Where as they sayd, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdome shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt knowe, that the heauens haue the rule.
24 Wherefore, O King, let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee: and [o] breake off thy sinnes by righteousnes, and thine iniquities by mercie toward the poore: lo, let there be a [p] healing of thine errour.
25 All these things shall come vpon the King Nebuchad-nezzar.
26 ¶ At the end of twelue [q] moneths, he walked in the royall palace of Babel.
27 And the King spake and sayde, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiestie?
28 While the word was in the Kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O King Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee, 29 And they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shalbe with the beastes of the fielde:
they shall make thee to eate grasse, as the oxen, and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, vntill thou knowest, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it vnto whomsoeuer he will.
30 The very same houre was the thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and hee was driuen from men, and did eate grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till his haires were growen as egles feathers, & his nailes like birds clawes.
31 And at the end of these [r] dayes I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, and I gaue thankes vnto the most High, and I praysed and honoured him, that liueth for euer, * whose power is an euerlasting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation.
32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his [s] will he worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What doest thou?
33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto me, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glory and my beautie was restored vnto me, and my counsellours [t] and my princes sought vnto me, and I was established in my kingdome, and my glory was augmented toward me.
34 Now therefore I Nebuch-nezzar [u] prayse, and extoll & magnifie the King of heauen, whose workes are all trueth, & his wayes judgement, and those that walke in pride, he is able to abase.

m Not that his shape or forme was changed into a beast, but that he was either stri-ken mad, and so a-uoyded mans com-pany, or was cast out for his tyranny and so wandred a-mong the beasts and ate herbes and grasse.

n Daniel sheweth the cause, why God thus puni-shed him.

o Cease from pro-uoking God to an-ger any longer by thy sinnes, that he may mittigate his punishment, if thou shewe by thine vpright life that thou hast true faith and repen-tance.

p Suffer the errors of thy former life to be redressed.

q After that Da-niel had declared this vision: and this his pride de-clareth that it is not in man to conuert to God except his Spirit moue him, seeing that these terrible threatnings could not moue him to repent.

r When the terme of these seuen yeeres was accom-plished.

* Chap. 7.14. mich. 4.17. luke 1.33.

s He confesseth Gods will to be the rule of all iustice and a most perfite law where-by he gouerneth both man and An-gels & deuils, so ỹ none ought to murmure, or aske a reason of his do-ings, but onely to stand content therewith & giue him the glory.

t By whom it see-meth that he had bene put from his kingdome before.

u He doeth not onely prayse God for his deliuerāce, but also confesseth his fault that God may onely haue the glory, and man the shame, and that he may be exalted and man cast downe.

CHAP. V.

5 Belshazzar King of Babylon seeth an hand writing on the wall. 8 The soothsayers called of the King, cannot expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The King is slaine. 31 Darius enioyeth the kingdome.

King [a] Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine [b] before the thousand.
2 And Belshazzar ‖ whiles he tasted the wine, commanded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his [c] father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the King and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines might drinke therein.
3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords house at Ierusalem, and the King and his princes, his wiues and his concubines dranke in them.
4 They drunke wine and praysed the [d] gods of golde, and of siluer, of brasse, of yron, of wood and of stone.
5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer [e] against the can-dlesticke vpon the plaister of the wall of ỹ Kings palace, and the King sawe the palme of the hand that wrote.
6 Then the Kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioynts of his loynes were loosed, and his [f] knees smote one against the other.
7 Wherefore the King cryed loude, that they should bring [g] the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers. And the King spake, and sayd to the wise men of Babel, Whosoeuer can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shalbe clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of golde about his necke, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdome.
8 Then came all the Kings wise men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shewe the King the interpretation.
9 Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonied.
10 Now the [h] Queene by reason of the talke of the King, and his princes came into the banket house, and the Queene spake, and sayd, O King, liue for euer: let not thy thoughtes trouble thee,
nor let thy countenance be changed.
11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whome is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderstanding and wisdome like the wisdome of the gods, was found in him:
whom the King Nebuchad-nezzar thy father, the King, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the [i] enchanters, astrologians, Caldeans, and soothsayers, 12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for hee did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubtes) were founde in him, euen in Daniel, whome the King named Belteshazzar: nowe let Daniel be called, and hee will declare the interpretation.
13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the King, and the King spake and sayde vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the King brought out of Iewrie?
14 Now I haue heard of thee, that [k] the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and a Daniel reciteth this historie of king Belshazzar Euilmerodachs sonne, to shewe Gods iudgements against the wic-ked for the deliue-rāce of his Church and how the pro-phecie of Ieremiah was true, that they should be deliue-red after seuentie yeeres.

b The Kings of the East parts then vsed to sit alone commonly, & dis-dained that any should sit in their company: and now to shew his power, and how litle he set by his enemies, which then besie-ged Babylon, he made a solemne banket, & vsed ex-cesse in their com-pany which is meant here by drinking wine: thus the wicked are most dissolute, and negligent whē their destruction is at hand.

‖ Or, ouercome with wine.

c Meaning, his grandfather.

d In contempt of the true God the ỹ praysed their idols, not that they thought, that the gold or siluer were gods, but that there was a cer-taine vertue, and power in them to doe them good, which is also the opinion of all ido-laters.

e That it might the better be seene.

f So hee that be-fore contemned God, was moued by this sight to tremble for feare of Gods iudgments.

g Thus the wic-ked in their trou-bles seeke many meanes, who drawe them from God, because they seeke not to him who is the onely comfort in all [illegible].

h To wit, [illegible] grandmother, [Ne]buchad-nezz[ars] wife, which fo[r] age was not be-fore at the feast, but came thither when she heard of these strange newes.

i Reade Chap. 4.6. and this declareth, that both this name was odi-ous vnto him, and also that hee did not vse these vile practises, because he was not among them when all were called.

k For the idolaters thought that the Angels had power as God, and therefore had them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the spirit of prophecie, and vnderstanding came of them.

15 Now therefore, wisemen and astrologians haue bene brought before me, that they should reade this writing, and shewe me the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shewe interpretations, and dissolue doutes: nowe if thou canst reade the writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of gold about thy necke, & shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, and sayd before the King, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy giftes to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the King, and shew him the interpretation.

18 O King, heare thou, The most high God gaue vnto [l] Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiestie, and honour, and glory.

19 And for the maiestie that he gaue him, all people, nations, and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whom he would: he smote whome he would: whome he woulde he set vp, and whome he would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puft vp, and his minde hardened in pride, hee was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And hee was driuen from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beastes, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fed him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of the heauen, till he knewe, that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that he appointeth ouer it, whomsoeuer he pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Beshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things, 23 But hast lift thy selfe vp against the Lorde of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his House before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wiues and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast praysed the gods of siluer and golde, of brasse, yron, wood and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified.

24 [m] Then was the palme of the hand sent from him, and hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that he hath written, [n] MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath nombred thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weyed in the balance, and art found ‖ too light.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is deuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commaundement of Belshazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of golde about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him, that he should be the third ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the king of the Caldeans slaine.

31 And Darius [o] of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threescore and two yeere olde.

l Before he reade the writing, hee declareth to the King his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be moued to giue him the glory, considering his wonderfull worke toward his grandfather, & so sheweth, that he doeth not sinne of ignorance, but of malice.

m After that God had so long time deferred his anger, and patiently waited for thine amendement.

n This worde is twise written for the certaintie of the thing: shewing that God had most surely conmed: signifying also that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdoms, and that a miserable ende shall come on all that raise themselues against him.

‖ Or, wanting.

o Cyrus his sonne in lawe gaue him this title of honour, although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made ruler ouer the gouernours. 5 An act against Daniel. 16 He is put into a denne of lyons by the commandement of the King. 23 He is deliuered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accusers are put vnto the lyons. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

IT pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome [a] an hundreth and twentie gouernours, which should be ouer the whole kingdome.

2 And ouer these, three rulers (of whome Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accompts vnto them, and the King should ‖ haue no domage.

3 Now this Daniel [b] was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole realme.

4 ¶ Wherefore the rulers and the gouernours [c] sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could finde none occasion nor fault: for he was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then sayd these men, We shall not finde an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it against him concerning the Lawe of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and sayde thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellers, and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the King and to establish a statute, that whosoeuer shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie dayes saue of thee, O King, he shalbe cast into the denne of lyons.

8 Nowe, O King, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore King Darius [d] sealed the writing and the decree.

10 ¶ Nowe when Daniel vnderstood that he had sealed the writing, hee went into his house, and his [e] window being open in his chamber toward Ierusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed and praysed his God, as he did aforetime.

11 Then these men assembled, and founde Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came, & spake vnto the King concerning the Kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree that euery man that shall make a request to any God or man within thirtie dayes, saue to thee, O King, shall be cast into the denne of lyons? The King answered, and sayde, The thing is true, according to the Lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and sayde vnto the King, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree, that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the King heard these wordes, hee was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel, to deliuer him: and he laboured til the sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the King, and sayde vnto the King, Vnderstand, O King, that the lawe of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the King confirmeth, a Reade Ester, Chap. 1. 1.

‖ Or, not be troubled.

b This heathen King preferred Daniel a stranger to all his nobles and familiars, because the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others.

c Thus the wicked can not abide the graces of God in others, but seeke by all occasions to deface them: therefore against such assaults there is no better remedie then to walke vprightly in the feare of God, and to haue a good conscience.

d Herein is condemned the wickednesse of the King, who would be set vp as a god, and passed not what wicked lawes he approued for the maintenance of the same.

e Because hee would not by his silence shew that he consented to this wicked decree, he set open his windowes toward Ierusalem, when he prayed: both to stirre vp himselfe with the remembrance of Gods promises to his people when they should pray toward the Temple, and also that others might see, that he would neither consent in heart nor deede for these fewe dayes to any thing that was contrary to Gods glory.

meth, may be [f] altered.
16 ¶ Then the King commaunded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lyons: now the King spake, and said vnto Daniel, Thy God, whome thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee.
17 And a stone was brought, and layed vpon the mouth of the denne, and the King sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniel.
18 Then the King went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musike brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.
19 ¶ Then the King arose early in the morning, & went in all haste vnto the denne of lions.
20 And when he came to the denne, he cried with a lamentable voyce vnto Daniel: and the King spake, and saide to Daniel, O Daniel, the seruant of ẏ liuing God, is not thy God (whom thou alway seruest) [g] able to deliuer thee frō the lions?
21 Then saide Daniel vnto the King, O King, liue for euer.
22 My God hath sent his Angel and hath shut
the lions mouthes, that they haue not hurt mee:
for [h] my iustice was founde out before him: and vnto thee, O King, I haue done [i] no hurt.
23 Then was the King exceeding glad for him, and commaunded that they shoulde take Daniel out of the denne: so Daniel was brought out of the denne, and no maner of hurt was found vpon him, because he [k] beleeued in his God.
24 And by the commaundement of the King these mē which had accused Daniel, were brought,
and were [l] cast into the denne of lions, euen they,
their children, and their wiues: and the lions had the mastrie of them, & brake all their bones a pieces, or euer they came at the groūd of the denne.
25 ¶ Afterwarde King Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwel in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you.
26 I make a decree that in all the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble and feare [m] before the God of Daniel: for he is the [n] liuing God, and remayneth for euer: and his kingdome shall not perish, and his dominion shalbe euerlasting.
27 Hee rescueth and deliuereth, and hee worketh signes and wonders in heauen and in earth:
who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lions.
28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

f Thus the wicked mainteine euill lawes by constancie, and authoritie, which is oft times either lightnes, or stubbernes, when as the innocents thereby perish: and therefore gouernours neither ought to feare nor be ashamed to breake such.
g This declareth that Darius was not touched with the true knowledge of God, because he douted of his power.
h My iust cause and vprightnes in this thing, wherein I was charged, is approoued of God. i For he did disobey the Kings wicked commaundement to obey God, and so did no iniurie to the King, who ought to cōmaunde nothing whereby God should be dishonoured.
k Because he committed himselfe wholy vnto God whose cause he did defend, he was assured, that nothing but good could come vnto him: wherein we see the power of faith, as Ebrew.11.33.
l This is a terrible example against all the wicked, which doe against their conscience make cruel lawes to destroy the children of God, and also admonisheth Princes how to punish such, when their wickednes is come to light: though not in euery point or with like circumstances, yet to execute true iustice vpon them.
m This prooueth not that Darius did worship God aright, or else was conuerted: for then hee would haue destroyed all superstition and idolatrie, and not onely giuen God the chiefe place, but also haue set him vp, and caused him to be honoured according to his worde: but this was a certaine confession of Gods power, whereunto hee was compelled by this wonderfull miracle. n Which hath not onely life in himselfe, but is the onely fountaine of life, and quickeneth all things, so that without him there is no life.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of foure beastes is shewed vnto Daniel. 8 The tenne hornes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the euerlasting kingdome of Christ.

IN the first yeere of Belshazzar King of Babel, Daniel sawe a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpō his bed: [a] then he wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter.
2 Daniel spake and saide, I sawe in my vision by night, and behold, the foure windes of the heauen stroue vpon [b] the great sea: 3 And foure great beastes came vp from the sea one diuers from another.
4 The first was as a [c] lion, & had egles wings:
I beheld, til the wings thereof were pluckt off, and it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.
5 And beholde, another beast which was the second, was like a [d] beare & stood vpon the [e] one side: and hee had three ribbes in his [f] mouth betweene his teeth, [g] and they saide thus vnto him, Arise and deuoure much flesh.
6 After this I behelde, and loe, there was an other like a [h] leopard, which had vpon his backe [i] foure wings of a fowle: the beast had also foure heads, and [k] dominion was giuen him.
7 After this I saw in the visions by night, and beholde, the [l] fourth beast was fearefull and terrible and very strong. It had [m] great yron teeth: it deuoured and brake in pieces and stamped [n] the residue vnder his feete: and it was vnlike to the beasts that were before it: for it had [o] ten hornes.
8 As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came vp among them another litle [p] horne, before whome there were [q] three of the first hornes pluckt away: & beholde, in this horne were [r] eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.
9 I beheld, till the [s] thrones were set vp, and the [t] Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snowe, and the haire of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the firie flame, and his wheeles as burning fire.
10 A firie streame issued, and came foorth from before him: thousand thousandes ministred vnto him, and tenne thousand [u] thousands stoode before him: the iudgement was set, and the [x] books opened.

a Whereas the people of Israel looked for a continuall quietnesse after these seuentie yeres, as Ieremiah had declared, he sheweth that this rest shall not be a deliuerance from all troubles, but a beginning, and therefore incouraged them to looke for a continuall affliction till the Messiah be vttered & reueiled, by whom they should haue a spirituall deliuerance, & all the promises fulfilled: whereof they should haue a certaine token in the destruction of the Babylonicall kingdome.

b Which signified that there should be horrible troubles and afflictions in the world in all corners of the world and at sundrie times.
c Meaning the Assyrian and Caldean empire, which was most strong and fierce in power, and most soone come to their authoritie as though they had had wings to flie: yet their wings were pulled by the Persians, and they went on their feete, and were made like other men, which is here ment by mans heart.
d Meaning the Persians, which were barbarous and cruell.
e They were small in the beginning and were shut vp in their mountaines and had no bruite.
f That is, destroyed many kingdomes, and was insatiable.
g To wit, the Angels by Gods commandement, who by this meanes punished the ingratitude of the world.
h Meaning Alexander the King of Macedonie.
i That is, his foure chiefe captaines, which had the empire among them after his death. Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus the lesse, Cassander, and after him Antipater was King of Macedonie, and Ptolemeus had Egypt. k It was not of himselfe nor of his owne power that hee gate all these countries: for his armie conteined but thirtie thousande men, and hee ouercame in one battell Darius, which had tenne hundreth thousande, when hee was so heauie with sleepe that his eyes were scarse open, as the stories report: therefore this power was giuen him of God. l That is, the Romane empire which was as a monster and could not be compared to any beast, because the nature of none was able to expresse it. m Signifying the tyrannie and greedinesse of the Romanes. n That which the Romanes coulde not quietly inioy in other countries, they would giue it to other Kinges and rulers, that at all times when they woulde, they might take it againe: which liberalitie is heere called the stamping of the rest vnder the feete. o That is, sundrie and diuers prouinces which were gouerned by the deputies and proconsuls, whereof euery one might be compared to a King. p Which is meant of Iulius Caesar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, &c. who were as Kings in effect, but because they coulde not rule, but by the consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a litle horne. For Mahomet came not of the Romane empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernement: therefore this cannot be applied vnto them, and also in this prophesie the Prophets purpose is chiefly to comfort the Iewes vnto the reuelation of Christ. Some take it for the whole bodie of Antichrist. q Meaning, a certaine portion of the tenne hornes: that is, a part from the whole estate was pluckt away. For Augustus tooke from the Senate the libertie of choosing the deputies to send into the prouinces, and tooke the gouernement of certaine countries to himselfe. r These Romane Emperours at the first vsed a certaine humanitie and gentlenesse, and were content that others, as the Consuls and Senate, should beare the name of dignitie, so that they might haue the profite, and therefore in elections and councels would behaue themselues according as did other Senatours: yet against their enemies and those that would resist them, they were fierce and cruell, which is heere meant by the proud mouth. s Meaning the places where God and his Angels should come to iudge these Monarchies, which iudgement should beginne at the first comming of Christ. t That is, God which was before all times, and is heere described as mans nature is able to comprehend some portion of his glorie. u That is, an infinite number of Angels, which were readie to execute his commandements. x This is meant of the first comming of Christ, when as the will of God was plainely reueiled by his Gospel.

11 Then I behelde, y because of the voyce of the presumptuous wordes, which the horne spake:
I behelde, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire.
12 As z concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.
13 ¶ As I behelde in visions by night, behold, a one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and b approched vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him.
14 And he gaue him c dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and languages should serue him: his dominion is an euerlasting dominion, which shall neuer bee taken away: and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed.
15 ¶ I Daniel was d troubled in my spirit, in the middes of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraid.
16 Therefore I came vnto e one of them that stoode by, and asked him the trueth of all this: so he tolde me, and shewed me the interpretation of these things.
17 These great beastes which are foure, are foure Kings, which shall arise out of the earth, 18 And they shall take the f kingdome of the Saintes of the g most High, and possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.
19 ¶ After this, I woulde knowe the trueth of the fourth beast, which was so h vnlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasse: which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the i residue vnder his feete.
20 Also to know of the tenne hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whome three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous thinges, whose k looke was more stoute then his fellowes.
21 I beheld, and the same l horne made battel against the Saintes, yea, & preuailed against them, 22 Vntill m the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saintes of the most High: and the time approched, that the Saintes possessed the kingdome.
23 Then he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shall be vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, and shall treade it downe and breake it in pieces.
24 And the ten hornes out of this kingdome are tenne Kings that shall rise: and an other shall rise after them, and he shall be vnlike to the first, and he shall subdue n three Kings, 25 And shall speake words against o the most High, and shall consume the Saintes of the most High, and thinke that he may p change times and lawes, and they shal be giuen into his hand, vntill a q time, and times and the diuiding of time.
26 But the r iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the end.
27 And the s kingdome, and dominion, and the greatnesse of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shalbe giuē to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome and all t powers shall serue and obey him.
28 Euen this is the ende of the matter, I Daniel had many u cogitations which troubled mee, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

y Meaning, that he was astonied, when he saw these Emperours in such dignitie, and pride, and so suddenly destroyed at the coming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchie was subiect to men of other nations.
z As the three former Monarchies had an ende at the time that God appointed, although they flourished for a time, so shall this fourth haue, and they that paciently abide Gods appointment, shal enioy the promises.
a Which is ment of Christ, who had not yet taken vpon him mans nature, neither was the sonne of Dauid according to the flesh, as he was afterward: but appeared then in a figure, and that in the cloudes: that is, being separate from the common sort of men by manifest signes of his diuinitie.
b To wit, when he ascended into the heauens, and his diuine maiestie appeared, and all power was giuen vnto him in respect of that that he was our Mediatour.
c This is ment of the beginning of Christs kingdome when God the Father gaue vnto him all dominion, as to the Mediatour, to the intent that he should gouerne here his Church in earth continually till the time that he brought them to eternall life.
d Through the strangenesse of the vision.
e Meaning, of the Angels, as verse 10.
f Because Abraham was appointed heire of all the worlde, Rom. 4. 13. and in him all the faithfull, therefore the kingdome thereof is theirs by right, which these foure beasts or tyrants should inuade, & vsurpe vntill the world were restored by Christ: and this was to confirme them that were in troubles, that their afflictions should haue an end at length. g That is, of the most high things, because God hath chosen them out of this world, that they should looke vp to the heauens, whereon all their hope dependeth. h For the other three Monarchies were gouerned by a King, & the Romane empire by Consuls: the Romanes changed their gouernours yerely, & the other Monarchies reteined them for terme of life: also the Romanes were the strongest of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themselues. i Reade vers. 7. k This is ment of the fourth beast, which was more terrible then the other. l Meaning the Romane Emperours, who were most cruel against the Church of God both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles. m Till God shewed his power in the person of Christ, and by the preaching of the Gospel gaue vnto his some rest, and so obteined a famous name in the world, & were called the Church of God, or the kingdome of God. n Reade the exposition hereof vers. 8. o That is, shall make wicked decrees and proclamations against Gods word, and send throughout all their dominion, to destroy all that did professe it.
p These Emperours shal not consider that they haue their power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods lawes and mans, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Octauius, Tyberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitianus, &c.
q God shall suffer them thus to rage against his Saintes for a long time, which is meant by the time and times, but at length he will asswage these troubles and shorten the times for his elects sake, Matthew 24. 22. which is heere meant by the diuiding of time. r God by his power shall restore thinges that were out of order, and so destroy this litle horne, that it shall neuer rise vp againe. s Hee sheweth wherefore the beast should be destroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnesse, which though they doe not fully enioy heere, yet they haue it in hope and by the preaching of the Gospell enioy the beginning thereof, which is meant by these wordes, Vnder the heauen: and therefore he heere speketh of the beginning of Christes kingdome in this world, which kingdome the faithfull haue by the participation that they haue with Christ their head. t That is, some of euery sort that beare rule. u Though hee had many motions in his heart which mooued him to and fro to seeke out this matter curiously: yet he was content with that which God reueiled, and kept it in memorie, and wrote it for the vse of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a battell betweene a ramme and a goate. 20 The vnderstanding of the vision.

IN the thirde yeere of the reigne of King Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto mee, euen vnto me Daniel, a after that which appeared vnto mee at the first.
2 And I sawe in a vision, and when I sawe it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince b of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuer of Vlai.
3 Then I looked vp and sawe, and beholde, there stoode before the riuer a c ramme, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were hie:
but one was d hier then another, and the highest came vp last.
4 I saw the ramme pushing against ẏ West, and against the North, and against the South: so that no e beastes might stande before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great.
5 And as I considered, beholde, f a goate came from the West ouer the whole earth, and touched not the grounde: and this goate had an g horne that appeared betweene his eyes.
6 And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whome I had seene standing by the riuer, and ranne vnto him in his fierce rage.
7 And I saw him come vnto the ramme, and being moued against him, he h smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but he cast him downe to the grounde, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that coulde deliuer the ramme out of his power.
8 Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great i horne was broken; and for it came vp foure that a After the generall vision, he commeth to certaine particular visions: as touching the destruction of the Monarchie of the Persians, and Macedonians: for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and also he had sufficiently spoken thereof.

b That is, of Persia.
c Which represented the kingdome of the Persians and Medes, which were ioyned together.
d Meaning Cyrus, which after grew greater in power then Darius his vncle and father in law.
e That is, no kings or nations.
f Meaning Alexander that came from Grecia with great speed and expedition.
g Though he came in the name of all Grecia, yet hee bare the title and dignitie of the generall captaine, so that the strength was attributed to him, which is meant by this horne. h Alexander ouercame Darius in two sundrie battels, and so had the two kingdomes of the Medes and Persians. i Alexanders great power was broken: for when he had ouercome all the East, hee thought to returne toward Grecia to subdue them that there had rebelled, and so died by the way.

k appeared

k appeared toward the foure windes of ÿ heauen.
9 And out of one of them came foorth l a litle horne, which waxed very great toward the m South, and toward the n East, and towarde the o pleasant land.
10 Yea, it grewe vp vnto the p hoste of heauen, and it cast downe some of the hoste, & of the starres to the ground, and trode vpon them, 11 And extolled himselfe against the q prince of the hoste from whome the r dayly sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuarie was cast downe.
12 And s a time shall be giuen him ouer the dayly sacrifice for the iniquitie: and it shall t cast downe the trueth to the ground, and thus shall it doe, and prosper.
13 Then I heard one of the u Saints speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, Howe long shall endure the vision of the dayly sacrifice, and the iniquitie of the x desolation to treade both the Sanctuarie and the y armie vnder foote?
14 And z he answered me, Vnto the a euening and the morning, two thousand and three hun-dreth: then shall the Sanctuarie be clensed.
15 ¶ Nowe when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, beholde, there stoode before me b like the similitude of a man.
16 And I heard a mans voyce betweene the bankes of Vlai, which called, and sayde, Gabriel,
c make this man to vnderstand the vision.
17 So he came where I stood: and when hee came, I was afraide, and fell vpon my face: but he sayd vnto me, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for d in the last time shallbe the vision.
18 Nowe as he was speaking vnto me, I being a sleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me vp in my place.
19 And he saide, Beholde, I will shewe thee what shalbe in the last e wrath: for in the end of the time appoynted it shall come.
20 The ramme which thou sawest hauing two hornes, are the Kings of the Medes and Persians.
21 And the goate is the King of Grecia, and the great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the first King.
22 And that that is broken, and foure stoode vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which shall stand vp f of that nation, but not g in his strength.
23 And in the end of their kingdome, when the rebellious shalbe consumed, a King of h fierce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shall stand vp.
24 And his power shalbe mightie, but not i in his strength: and hee shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practise, and shall destroy the k mightie, and the holy people.

k That is, which were famous: for almost in the space of fifteene yeere there were fifteen diuers successours before this monarchie was deuided to these foure, whereof Cassander had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antigonus Asia the lesse, and Ptolemeus Egypt.
l Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a seruile and flattering nature, and also there were other betweene him and the kingdome, and therefore is here called the litle horne, because neither princely conditions, nor any other thing was in him, why he should obteine the kingdome.
m That is, toward Egypt.
n Whereby he meaneth Ptolemais.
o That is, Iudea.
p Antiochus raged against the elect of God, and trode his precious starres vnder feete, which are so called, because they are separated from the world.
q That is, God, who gouerneth and mainaineth his Church.
r He laboured to abolish all religion, and therefore cast Gods seruice out of his Temple, which God had chosen as a litle corner from all the rest of the world to haue his Name there truely called vpon.
s He sheweth that their sinnes are the cause of these horrible afflictions: & yet comforteth them, in that he appointeth this tyrant a time, whome he would not suffer vtterly to abolish his religion. t This horne shall abolish for a time the true doctrine and so corrupt Gods seruice. u Meaning, that he heard one of the Angels asking this question of Christ, whome he calleth a certaine one or a secrete one, or a marueilous one. x That is, the Iewes sinnes, which were cause of this destruction. y That is, which suppresseth Gods religion, and his people. z Christ answered me for the comfort of the Church. a That is, vntil so many naturall dayes be past, which make sixe yeres three moneths and an halfe: for so long vnder Antiochus was the Temple prophaned. b Which was Christ, who in this maner declared himselfe to the olde fathers howe hee woulde be God manifested in flesh. c This power to commaund the Angel, declared that hee was God. d The effect of this vision shall not appeare, but a long time after. e Meaning that great rage which Antiochus should shewe against the Church. f That is, out of Grecia. g They shal not haue like power as had Alexander. h Noting that this Antiochus was impudent and cruel, and also craftie that hee would not be deceiued. i That is, not like Alexanders strength. k Both the Gentiles that dwel about him, and also the Iewes.

25 And through his l policie also, hee shall cause craft to prosper in his hand, and he shall ex-toll himselfe in his heart, and by m peace shal destroy many: hee shall also stande vp against the n prince of princes, but he shalbe broken downe o without hand.
26 And the vision of the p euening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it shall be after many dayes.
27 And I Daniel was stricken and sicke q cer- taine dayes: but when I rose vp, I did the kings busines, and I was astonied at the vision, but none vnderstood it.

l Whatsoeuer he goeth about by his craft, he shal bring it to passe.
m That is, vnder pretence of peace, or as it were in sport.
n Meaning, against God.
o For God would destroy him with a notable plague, & so comfort his Church, 2. Mac. 9. 9. p Reade verse 14.
q For feare and astonishment.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel desireth to haue that performed of God, which hee had promised concerning the returne of the people from their banishment in Babylon. 5 A true confession. 20 Daniels prayer is heard. 21 Gabriel the Angel expoundeth vnto him the vision of the seuentie weekes. 24 The annointing of Christ. 25 The building againe of Ierusalem. 26 The death of Christ.

IN the first yeere of Darius the sonne of a Aha-shuerosh, of the seede of the Medes, which was made King ouer the b realme of the Caldeans, 2 Euen in the first yeere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderstoode by c bookes the nomber of the yeeres, whereof the Lorde had spoken vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, that he would accomplish seuentie yeeres in the desolation of Ierusalem.
3 And I turned my face vnto the Lorde God, and d sought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth and ashes.
4 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, Oh Lord God, which art e great and fearefull, & keepest couenant and mercy toward them which loue † thee, and toward them that keepe thy commandements, 5 We haue sinned, and haue committed iniquitie and haue done wickedly, yea, we haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.
6 For wee would not obey thy seruants the Prophets, which spake in thy Name to our Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.
7 O Lord, f righteousnes belongeth vnto thee, and vnto vs † open shame, as appeareth this day vnto euery man of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem: yea, vnto all Israel, both neere and farre off, through all the countreys, whither thou hast driuen them, because of their offence, that they haue committed against thee.
8 O Lorde, vnto vs appertineth open shame, to our g Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we haue sinned against thee.
9 Yet compassion and forgiuenesse is in the Lorde our God, albeit we haue rebelled against him.
10 For we haue not obeyed the h voyce of the Lorde our God, to walke in his lawes, which he had layde before vs by the ministerie of his ser-uants the Prophets.
11 Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy Lawe, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voyce: therefore the i curse is powred vpon vs, and the othe that is written in the Lawe of Moses a Who was also called Astiages.

b For Cyrus led with ambition, went about wars in other countreys, & therefore Darius had the title of the kingdom, though Cyrus was king in effect.
c For though he was an excellent Prophet, yet he dayly encreased in knowledge by reading of the Scriptures.
d He speaketh not of that ordinarie prayer which he vsed in [illegible] thrise a day, but of a rare and vehement prayer, least their sinnes should cause God to delay the time of their deliuerance prophecied by Ieremiah.
e That is, hast all power in thy selfe to execute thy terrible iudgements against obstinate sinners, as thou art riche in mercie to comfort them which obey thy worde and loue thee.
† Ebr. him.
f He sheweth that whensoeuer God punisheth, hee doeth it for iust cause: and thus the godly neuer accuse him of rigour as the wicked doe, but acknowledge that in them selues there is iust cause why he should [illegible] increase them.

† Ebr. confusion of face. g Hee doeth not excuse the Kings because of their authoritie, but prayeth chiefly for them as the chiefe occasions of these great plagues. h Hee sheweth that they rebell against God, which serue him not according to his commaundement and worde. i As Deut. 27. 15. or the curse confirmed by an othe.

the seruant of God, because wee haue sinned against him.

12 And he hath confirmed his wordes, which he spake against vs, and against our iudges that ‖iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not bene the like, as hath bene brought vpon Ierusalem.

13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the Lawe of Moses: yet made we not our prayer before the Lorde our God, that we might turne from our iniquities and vnderstand thy trueth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord † made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his works which he doeth: for we would not heare his voyce.

15 * And nowe, O Lorde our God, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mightie hand, and hast gotten thee renoume, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.

16 O Lorde, according to all thy k righteousnes, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath be turned away from thy citie Ierusalem thine holy Mountaine: for because of our sinnes, & for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem and thy people are a reproche to all that are about vs.

17 Nowe therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to l shine vpon thy Sanctuarie, that lyeth waste for the m Lords sake.

18 O my God, encline thine eare and heare: open thine eyes, and beholde our desolations, and the citie whereupon thy Name is called: for we doe not present our supplications before thee for our owne n righteousnes, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lorde, heare, O Lorde forgiue, O Lorde o consider, and doe it: deferre not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy citie, and vpon thy people.

20 ¶ And whiles I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, and did present my supplication before the Lord my God, for the holy Mountaine of my God, 21 Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, euen the man * Gabriel, whome I had seene before in the vision, came flying, and touched mee about the time of the euening oblation.

22 And he informed me, and talked with me, and sayd, O Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commaundement came foorth, and I am come to shewe thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstande the matter and consider the vision.

24 Seuentie p weekes are determined vpon q thy people, and vpon thine holy citie, to finish the wickednes, and to seale vp the r sinnes, and to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in euerlasting righteousnesse, and to seale vp the vision and prophecie, and to anoynt the most Holy.

25 Knowe therefore and vnderstande, that from s the going foorth of the commaundement to bring againe the people, and to builde Ierusalem, vnto Messiah the prince, shal be seuen t weekes, and u threescore and two weekes, and the streete shalbe built againe, and the wall euen in a † troublous time.

26 And after threescore and two x weekes, shal Messiah be slaine, and shal y haue nothing, and the people of z the prince that shal come, shal destroy the citie and the Sanctuarie, and the ende thereof shalbe with a flood: and vnto the ende of the battell it shalbe destroyed by desolations.

27 And he a shall confirme the couenant with many for one weeke: and in the middes of the weeke he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to b cease, c and for the ouerspreading of the abominations, he shall make it desolate, euen vntill the consummation determined shalbe powred vpon the desolate.

‖ Or, gouerned vs.
† Ebr. watched vpon the euil.
* Exod. 14. 28. baruc. 2, 11.
k That is, according to all thy mercifull promises and the performance thereof.
l Shew thy selfe fauourable.
m That is, for thy Christes sake in whome thou wilt accept all our prayers.
n Declaring, that the godly flee only vnto Gods mercies and renounce their owne works when they seeke for remission of their sinnes.
o Thus he could not content himselfe with any vehemencie of wordes: for hee was so led with a feruent zeale considering Gods promes made to the citie in respect of his Church, and for the aduancemēt of Gods glory.
* Chap 8. 16.
p He alludeth to Ieremiahs prophecie, who prophecied that their captiuitie should be seuentie yeeres: but nowe Gods mercie should seuen folde exceede his iudgement, which should be foure hundred and nine se yeeres, euen to the comming of Christ, and so then it should continue for euer.
q Meaning, Daniels nation, ouer whome he was carefull.
r To shew mercy & to put sinne out of remembrance.
s That is, from the time that Cyrus gaue them leaue to depart.
t These weekes make fourtie nine yeere, whereof 46 are referred to the time of the building of the Temple, and three to the laying of the foundation.
u Counting from the first yeere of Darius who gaue the second commandement for the building of the Temple, are 62. weekes, which make 434 yeeres, which comprehende the time from the building of the Temple vnto the Baptisme of Christ.
† Ebr. in straights of time.
x In this last weeke of the seuentie shal Christ come and preach and suffer death.
y He shall seeme to haue no beautie, not to be of any estimation, as Isa. 53. 2.
z Meaning, Titus Vespasianus sonne, who should come and destroy both the Temple and the people without all hope of recouerie.
a By the preaching of the Gospel hee confirmed his promes, first, to the Iewes, and after to the Gentiles.
b Christ accomplished this by his death & resurrection.
c Meaning, that Ierusalem and the Sanctuarie should be vtterly destroyed for their rebellion against God and their idolatrie: or as some reade, that the plagues shall be so great, that they shall all be astonied at them.

CHAP. X.

There appeareth vnto Daniel a man clothed in linnen, 11 Which sheweth him wherefore he is sent.

1 IN the a third yeere of Cyrus King of Persia, a thing was reueiled vnto Daniel (whose name was called Belteshazzar) and the worde was true, but the time appoynted was b long, and he vnderstoode the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.

2 At the same time I Daniel was in heauines for three weekes of dayes.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh, nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint my selfe at all, till three weekes of dayes were fulfilled.

4 And in the foure and twentieth day of the c first moneth, as I d was by the side of that great riuer, euen Hiddekel,

5 And I lift vp mine eyes, and looked, and beholde, there was a man e clothed in linnen, whose loynes were girded with fine golde of * Vphaz.

6 His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightning, & his eyes as lamps of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to polished brasse, & the voyce of his wordes was like the voyce of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone sawe the vision: for the men that were with me, sawe not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselues.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and sawe this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for f my strength was turned in me into corruption, and I reteined no power.

9 Yet heard I the voyce of his wordes: and when I heard the voyce of his wordes, I slept on my face: and my face was toward the ground.

10 And behold, an hand g touched me, which set me vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of mine hands,

11 And he sayde vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the wordes that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I nowe sent. And when hee had saide this worde vnto me, I stood trembling.

12 Then sayd he vnto me, Feare not, Daniel: for from the first day that thou diddest set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy wordes were heard, and I am come for thy wordes.

a He noteth this third yere, because at this time the building of the Temple began to be hindred by Cambyses Cyrus sonne, when the father made warre in Asia minor against the Scythians, which was a discouraging to y godly and a great feare to Daniel.
b Which is to declare that the godly should not hastē too much but patiently to abide the yssue of Gods promes.
c Called Abib, which conteineth part of March and part of April.
d Being caryed by the Spirit of prophecie to haue the sight of the riuer Tygris.
e This was the Angel of God, which was sent to assure Daniel in this prophecie that followeth.
* Iere. 10. 9.
f The worde also signifieth comelines, or beautie, so that for feare he was like a dead man for deformitie.
g Which declareth that when we are stricken downe with the maiestie of God, we cannot rise except he also lift vs vp with his hand, which is his power.

13 But

13 But the h prince of the kingdome of Persia withstoode me one and twentie dayes : but loe, i Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to helpe me, and I remained there, by the Kings of Persia.
14 Nowe I am come to shewe thee what shal come to the people in the latter dayes: for yet the k vision is for many dayes.
15 And when he spake these wordes vnto me,
I set my face toward the grounde, and helde my tongue.
16 And beholde, l one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lippes: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and said vnto him that stoode before me, O my Lord, m by the vision my sorowes are returned vpon me, and I haue reteined no strength.
17 For howe can the seruant of this my Lord talke with my Lord being such one? for as for me, straight way there remained no strength in me, neither is there breath left in me.
18 Then there came againe, and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me, 19 And said, O man, greatly beloued, feare not:
n peace be vnto thee : be strong and of good courage. And when he had spoken vnto me, I o was strengthened, and saide, Let my Lord speake: for thou hast strengthened me.
20 Then saide he, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but nowe will I returne to fight with the prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe, the p prince of Grecia shall come.
21 But I will shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of trueth: q and there is none that holdeth with me in these things, but Michael your prince.

h Meaning, Cambyses who reigned in his fathers absence, and do not onely for this space hinder the building of the Temple, but would haue farther raged, if God had not sent me to resist him, and therefore haue I stayed for the profite of the Church.
i Though God coulde by one Angel destroy all the world, yet to assure his children of his loue, he sendeth foorth double power, euen Michael, that is, Christ Iesus the head of Angels.
k For though the Prophet Daniel should ende and cease, yet this doctrine should continue till the comming of Christ, for the comfort of his Church.
l This was the same Angel that spake with him before in the similitude of a man.
m I was ouercome with feare and sorowe, when I sawe the vision.
n He declareth hereby that God would be mercifull vnto the people of Israel. o Which declareth that when God smiteth downe his children, he doeth not immediatly lift them vp at once (for nowe the Angel had touched him twise) but by litle and litle. p Meaning that he would not onely himselfe bridle the rage of Cambyses, but also the other Kings of Persia by Alexander the King of Macedonia. q For this Angel was appointed for the defence of the Church vnder Christ, who is the head thereof.

CHAP. XI.

A prophesie of the kingdomes, which should be enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia, 2 Of Greece, 5 Of Egypt, 28 of Syria, 36 And of the Romanes.

Also I, in ye first yere of Darius of ye Medes, euen
I a stood to incourage & to strengthen him.
2 And nowe wil I shew thee ye trueth. Behold, there shall stand vp yet b three Kings in Persia, & the fourth shalbe farre richer then they all: and by his strength, and by his riches he shall stirre vp c all against the realme of Grecia.
3 But a d mightie King shall stande vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure.
4 And when he shal stand vp, e his kingdome shalbe broken, f and shall bee deuided towarde the g foure windes of heauen : and not to his h po-steritie, not according to i his dominion, which he ruled : for his kingdome shall be pluckt vp, euen to be for others besides k those.
5 And ye l King of ye South shalbe mighty, and one of m his princes, and shal preuaile against him, & beare rule: his dominiō shalbe a great dominion.
6 And in the ende of yeeres they shalbe ioyned together : for the Kings n daughter of ye South shall come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but she shall not receiue the power of the o arme, neither shall p he continue, nor his q arme : but she shall be deliuered to death, and they that brought her, and he r that begate her,
and he that comforted her in these times.
7 But out of the bud of her s rootes shall one stand vp in his stead, t which shall come with an armie, and shall enter into the fortresse of the King of the North, and doe with them as he list,
and shall preuaile,
8 And shall also carie captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of siluer and of golde, and he shall continue u mo yeres then the King of the North.
9 So the King of ye South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land.
10 Wherefore his x sonnes shall be stirred vp, and shall assemble a mightie great armie : and one
y shall come, and ouerflowe: & passe through, then shall he z returne, & be stirred vp at his fortresse.
11 And the King of the South shall be angrie, and shall come foorth, and fight with him, euen with the King of the North: for he shal set foorth a great a multitude, and the multitude shall be gi-uen into his hand.
12 Then the multitude shall be proude, and their heart shall be lifted vp : for hee shall cast downe thousands : but he shall not still preuaile.
13 For the King of the North b shall returne, and shall set foorth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come foorth (after certaine yeeres) with a mightie armie, and great riches.
14 And at the same time there shall c many stand vp against the King of the South : also the rebellious children of thy d people shal exalt them selues to establish the vision, but they shall fall.
15 So the King of the North shall come, and cast vp a mount, and take the strong citie: and the armes of the South shall e not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there be any strength to withstand.
16 But he that shall come, shall doe vnto him as he list, and none shall stand against him ; and he shal stand in the f pleasant land, which by his hand shalbe consumed.
17 Againe he shall g set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, and his confe-derates with him: thus shal he doe, and he shal giue him the h daughter of women, to destroy i her: but a The Angel assureth Daniel that God hath giuen him power to performe these things, seeing he appointed him to assist Darius, when he ouercame the Caldeans.

b Whereof Cambyses that nowe reigned, was the first, the seconde Smerdes, the third, Darius the sonne of Hystaspis, and the fourth Xerxes, which all were enemies to the people of God and stood against them.
c For he raysed vp all the East countreis to fight against the Grecians : and albeit he had in his armie nine hundred thousand men, yet in foure battels hee was discomfited and fled away with shame. d That is, Alexander the great. e For when his estate was most flourishing, he ouercame himselfe with drinke, and so fell into a disease : or as some write, was poysoned by Cassander. f For his twelue chiefe princes first deuided his kingdome among themselues. g After this his Monarchie was deuided into foure : for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Cassander the kingdome of Macedonia, & Ptolomeus Egypt. h Thus God reuenged Alexanders ambition and crueltie in causing his posteritie to be murthered, partly of the fathers chiefe friendes, and partly one of another. i None of these foure shall be able to be compared to the power of Alexander. k That is, his posteritie hauing no part thereof.

m That is, Antiochus the sonne of Seleucus, and one of Alexanders princes shall be more mightie: for he should haue both Asia & Syria. n That is, Berenice the daughter of Ptolomeus Philadelphus shall be giuen in mariage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this affinitie that Syria and Egypt should haue a continuall peace together.
o That force and strength shall not continue: for soone after Berenice and her yong sonne after her husbands death, was slaine of her stepsonne Seleucus Calinicus the sonne of Laodice, the lawful wife of Antiochus, but put away for this womans sake.
p Neither Ptolomeus nor Antiochus.
q Some reade, seede, meaning the childe begotten of Berenice.
r Some reade, she that begate her, and thereby vnderstand her nurse, which brought her vp: so that all they that were occasion of this mariage, were destroyed.
s Meaning, that Ptolomeus Euergetes after the death of his father Philadelphus should succeede in the kingdome being of the same stocke that Berenice was.
t To reuenge his sisters death against Antiochus Calinicus king of Syria.
u For this Ptolomeus reigned sixe and fourtie yeeres.
x Meaning, Seleucus and Antiochus the Great, the sonnes of Calinicus shall make warre against Ptolomeus Philopater the sonne of Philadelphus. y For his elder brother Seleucus died, or was slaine while the warres were preparing. z That is, Philopater when he shall see Antiochus to take great dominions from him in Syria, and also ready to inuade Egypt. a For Antiochus had sixe thousand horsemen and three score thousand footemen. b After the death of Ptolomeus Philopater, who left Ptolomeus Epiphanes his heire. c For not onely Antiochus came against him, but also Philip King of Macedonia, and these two brought great power with them. d For vnder Onias which falsely alleadged that place of Isa. 19. 19. certaine of the Iewes retyred with him into Egypt to fulfill this prophesie: also the Angell sheweth that all these troubles which are in the Church, are by the prouidence and counsell of God. e The Egyptians were not able to resist Scopas Antiochus captaine. f He sheweth that he shall not onely afflict the Egyptians but also the Iewes, and shall enter into their countrey, whereof he admonisheth them before, that they may know that all these things come by Gods prouidence. g This was the second battell that Antiochus fought against Ptolomeus Epiphanes. h To wit, a beautifull woman, which was Cleopatra Antiochus daughter. i For he regarded not the life of his daughter in respect of the kingdome of Egypt.

k she

k She shall not agree to his wicked counsell, but shall loue her husband, as her duetie requireth, and not seeke his destruction.
l That is, toward Asia, Grecia and those ysles which are in the Sea called Mediterraneum: for the Iewes called al countreis yles which were deuided frō them by Sea.
m For whereas Antiochus was wont to contemne the Romanes, and put their ambassadours to shame in all peaces, Attilius the Consull, or Lucius Scipio put him to flight and caused his shame to turne on his owne head.
n By his wicked life and obeying of foolish counsel.
o For feare of the Romanes he shall flee to his holdes.
p For when as vnder the pretence of pouertie he would haue robbed the Temple of Iupiter Dodoneus, the countrey men slewe him.
q That is, Seleucus shall succeede his father Antiochus.
r Not by forreine enemies, or battel, but by treason.
s Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought, was the occasion of Seleucus his brothers death and was of a vile, cruell and flattering nature, and defrauded his brothers sonne of the kingdome, and vsurped the kingdome without the consent of the people.

k she shall not stande on his side, neyther bee for him.
18 After this shall he turne his face vnto the [l]yles, and shall take many, but a prince [m]shal cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that he shall cause his owne shame to turne vpon [n]himselfe.
19 For he shal turne his face toward the fortes of [o]his owne land: but he shall be ouerthrowen and fall, and be no more [p]founde.
20 [q]Then shal stand vp in his place in the glorie of the kingdome, one that shal raise taxes: but after fewe dayes he shall be destroyed, neither in [r]wrath, nor in battell.
21 And in his place shall stand vp a [s]vile person, to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdome: but he shall come in peaceably, and obteyne the kingdome by flatteries.
22 And the [t]armes shalbe ouerthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of the [u]couenant.
23 And after [x]the league made with him, he shall worke deceitfully: for he shall come vp, and ouercome with a [y]small people.
24 He shall enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and he shall doe that which his fathers [z]haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: he shal deuide among them the pray and the spoyle, and the substance, yea, and he shall forecast his deuises against the strong holdes, euen for a [a]time.
25 Also he shal stirre vp his power and his courage against the King of the South with a great armie, and the King of the South shall be stirred vp to battel with a very great and mightie armie: but he shall not [b]stand: for they shall forecast and practise against him.
26 Yea, they that feede of the portion of [c]his meate, shall destroy him: & his armie [d]shall ouerflowe: and many shall fall, and be slaine.
27 And both these Kings hearts shalbe to doe [e]mischiefe, and they shall talke of deceite at one table: but it shall not auaile: for [f]yet the ende shall be at the time appointed.
28 Then shall hee returne into his land with great [g]substance: for his heart shall be against the holy couenant: so shall he doe and returne to his owne land.
29 At the time appointed he shall returne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first.
30 For the shippes [h]of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shalbe sorie and returne, and freat against the holy couenant: so shall he doe, he shall euen returne [i]and haue intelligence with them that forsake the holy couenant.
31 And armes [k]shall stand on his part, and they shal pollute the Sanctuarie [l]of strength, and shall take away the dayly sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abominable desolation.
32 And such as wickedly [m]breake ỹ couenant, shall he cause to sinne by flatterie: but the people that do know their God, shal preuaile & prosper.
33 And they ỹ vnderstand among [n]the people, shall instruct many: [o]yet they shall fall by sword, & by flame, by captiuitie & by spoile many dayes.
34 Nowe when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a [p]litle helpe: but many shal cleaue vnto them [q]fainedly.
35 And some of thē [r]of vnderstanding shal fal to trie them, & to purge, & to make them white, till the time be out: for there is a time appointed.
36 And the [s]king shall doe what him list: he shall exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe against all, that is God, & shall speake marueilous things against ỹ God of gods, & shall prosper, till ỹ wrath [t]be accomplished: for the determination is made.
37 Neither shal he regard the [u]God of his fathers, nor the desires [x]of women, nor care for any God: for he shall magnifie himselfe aboue all.
38 But in his place shall he honour the [y]god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knewe not, shall he honour with [z]golde and with siluer, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.
39 Thus shal he do in [a]the holes of Mauzzim with a strange god whom he shal acknowledge:
he shall increase his glory and shal cause them to rule ouer many, and shall deuide ỹ land for gaine.
40 And at ỹ end of time shall the King of the [b]South push at him, & the King of the North shal come against him like a whirlewind ẘ charets, & with horsemen, and ẘ many ships, & he shal enter into ỹ countreis, & shal ouerflow & passe through.
41 He shall enter also into the [c]pleasant land, and many countreis shalbe ouerthrowen: but these shal escape out of his hand, euen Edom and Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.
42 He shall stretch foorth his hands also vpon
the countreis, and ỹ land of Egypt shal not escape.
43 But he shall haue power ouer the treasures of golde and of siluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libyans, and of the blacke Mores where he shall passe.

i With the Iewes which shal forsake the couenant of the Lord: for first he was called against the Iewes by Iason the high priest, & this second time by Menelaus.
k A great faction of the wicked Iewes shal hold with Antiochus.
l So called, because the power of God was nothing diminished, although this tyrant set vp in the Temple the image of Iupiter Olympius, and so began to corrupt ỹ pure seruice of God.
m Meaning such as bare the name of Iewes but in deede were nothing lesse: for they solde their soules, and betrayed their brethren for gaine.
n They that remaine constant among the people shall teach others by their example and edifie many in the true religion.
o Whereby he exhorteth ỹ godly to cōstancie although they should perish a thousand times, and though their miseries endure neuer so long.
p As God wil not leaue his Church destitute, yet wil he not deliuer it all at once, but so helpe, as they may still seeme to fight vnder the crosse, as he did in the time of the Maccabees whereof he here prophecieth.
q That is, there shall be euen of this small number many hypocrites.

t He sheweth that great forreine powers shall come to helpe the young sonne Seleucus against his vncle Antiochus, and yet shall be ouerthrowen. u Meaning Ptolemeus Philometor Philopaters sonne, who was this childes cousin germaine, and is here called the prince of the couenant, because he was the chiefe, and all other followed his conduite. x For after the battell Philometor and his vncle Antiochus made a league. y For he came vpon him at vnwares, and when he suspected his vncle Antiochus nothing. z Meaning, in Egypt. a Hee will content himselfe with the small holdes for a time, but euer labour by craft to attaine to the chiefest. b He shall be ouercome with treason. c Signifying his princes and the chiefe about him. d Declaring that his souldiers shall brast out and venture their life to slaye and to be slaine for the sauegard of their prince. e The vncle and the nephewe shall take truce, and banket together, yet in their hearts they shall imagine mischiefe one against another. f Signifying that it [illegible] not in the counsell of men to bring thinges to passe, but in the prouidence of God, who ruleth the Kings by a secrete bridle, that they cannot doe what they list themselues. g Which he shall take of the Iewes in spoyling Ierusalem and the Temple, and this is tolde them before to mooue them to patience, knowing that all things are done by Gods prouidence. h That is, the Romane power shall come against him: for P. Popilius the Ambassadour appointed him to depart in the Romanes name, to which thing he obeyed, although with griefe, and to reuenge his rage he came against the people of God the second time.
r To wit, of them that feare God and will lose their life for the defence of true religion, signifying also that the Church must continually be tryed and purged, and ought to looke for one persecution after another: for God hath appointed the time: therefore we must obey. s Because the Angels purpose is to shewe the whole course of the persecutions of the Iewes vnto the comming of Christ, hee nowe speaketh of the Monarchie of the Romanes which he noteth by the name of a King, who were without all religion and contemned the true God. t So long the tyrants shall preuayle as God hath appointed to punish his people: but he sheweth that it is but for a time. u The Romanes shall obserue no certayne fourme of religion as other nations, but shal change their gods at their pleasures, yea, contemne them and preferre themselues to their gods. x Signifying that they should be without all humanitie: for the loue of women is taken for singular or great loue, as 2. Sam. 1. 26. y That is, the god of power and riches: they shall esteeme their owne power aboue all their gods and worship it. z Vnder pretence of worshipping the gods, they shal enrich their citie with the most precious jewels of all the world, because that hereby all men should haue them in admiration for their power and riches. a Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods, and worshipped them in their temples least they should haue bene despised as Atheistes: but this was to increase their fame and riches: and when they gate any countrey, they so made others the rulers therof, that the profite euer came to the Romanes. b That is, both the Egyptians and the Syrians shall at length fight against the Romanes, but they shall be ouercome. c The Angell forewarneth the Iewes that when they shoulde see the Romanes inuade them, and that the wicked shoulde escape their handes, that then they shoulde not thinke but that all this was done by Gods prouidence, for asmuch as he warned them of it so long afore, and therefore he would still preserue them

44 But the tidings out of the East & the North shall d trouble him: therefore he shall goe foorth e with great wrath to destroy & roote out many.
45 And he shall plant the tabernacles f of his palace betweene the seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet he shall come to his end, and none shall helpe him.

d Hearing that Crassus was slaine and Antonius discomfited.
e For Augustus ouercame the Parthians, and recouered that which Antonius had lost.
f The Romanes after this reigned quietly through all countreies and from sea to sea, and in [illegible]: but at length for their crueltie God shall destroy them.

CHAP. XII.

1 Of the deliuerance of the Church by Christ.

AND at ẏ a time shall Michael stand vp, ẏ great prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shal be a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to bee a nation vnto that same time: & at ẏ time thy people shalbe deli-uered, euery one ẏ shalbe foũd written in ẏ booke.
2 And many b of them that sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to euerlasting life,
and some to shame and perpetuall contempt.
3 And they ẏ be c wise, shal shine, as ẏ brightnes of the firmament: and they ẏ d turne many to righ-teousnes, shall shine as the starres, for euer & euer.
4 But thou, O Daniel, e shut vp the words, and seale the booke f til the end of the time: many shal run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased.
5 ¶ Then I Daniel loked, & behold, there stood other two, ẏ one on this side of ẏ brinke of ẏ g ri-uer, & the other on ẏ side of ẏ brinke of the riuer.
6 And one sayde vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, When shalbe the ende of these wonders?
7 And I heard ẏ man clothed in linẽ which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when he helde vp his h right hande, and his left hand vnto heauen, and sware by him that liueth for euer, that it shall tarie for a i time, two times & an halfe: and whẽ he shal haue accomplished k to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished.
8 Thẽ I heard it, but I vnderstood it not: thẽ said
I, O my Lord, what shalbe the end of these things?
9 And he said, Go thy way, Daniel: for ẏ words are closed vp, and sealed, till the ende of the time.
10 Many shalbe purified, made white, & tried:
but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand.
11 And frõ the time ẏ the l daily sacrifice shalbe takẽ away & the abominable desolatiõ set vp, there m shalbe a thousand, two hundreth & nintie daies.
12 Blessed is he that waiteth & commeth to the thousand, three hundreth & n fiue & thirtie dayes.
13 But go o thou thy way til ẏ end be: for thou shalt rest & stand vp in thy lot, at ẏ end of ẏ daies.

a The Angell here noteth two things: first that the Church shalbe in great affliction and trouble at Christes comming, and next that God will send his Angell to deliuer it, whom heere hee calleth Michael, meaning Christ, which is published by the preaching of the Gospel.
b Meaning, all shall rise at the generall resurrection, which thing he here nameth, because the faithfull should haue euer their respect to that: for in the earth there shalbe no sure cõfort.
c Who haue kept the true feare of God and his religion.
d Hee chiefly meaneth the ministers of Gods worde, and next, all the faithfull which instruct the ignorant, & bring them to the true knowledge of God.
e Though the most part despise this prophesie, yet keepe thou it sure and esteeme it as a treasure.
f Till the time that God hath appointed for the full reuelation of these things: and then many shall runne to and fro to search the knowledge of these mysteries, which things they obteine now by the light of the Gospel.
g Which was Tygris.
h Which was as it were a double oth and did the more cõfirme the thing.
i Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a short time: signifying that their troubles should haue an ende.
k When ẏ Church shalbe scattered & diminished in such sort as it shal seeme to haue no power.
l From the time that Christ by his sacrifice shall take away the sacrifice and ceremonies of the Lawe.
m Signifying that the time shall be long of Christes second comming, and yet the children of God ought not to be discouraged, though it be deferred.
n In this number he addeth a month and an halfe to the former number, signifying that it is not in man to appoynt the time of Christes comming, but that they are blessed that patiently abide his appearing.
o The Angell warneth the Prophet patiently to abide, til the time appointed come, signifying that he should depart this life, and rise againe with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

HOSEA.

THE ARGVMENT.

AFter that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked & subtile coũsel of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, & in stead of his true seruice cõmanded by his worde worshipped him according to their owne fantasies & traditions of mẽ, giuing thẽselues to most vile idolatry & superstitiõ, the Lord frõ time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grew euer worse & worse, and stil abused Gods benefits. Therefore now when their prosperitie was at the highest vnder Ieroboã the sonne of Ioash, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as he had at the same time Isaiah & Micah to them of Iudah) to condemne them of their ingratitude: and whereas they thought themselues to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards & children borne in adultery: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdom, & giue them to the Assyriãs to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of seuentie yeeres, though they remained still in their vices and wickednes, & derided the Prophets, & contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter themselues by the sweetenesse of Gods promises, he setteth before them the two principall parts of the Law, which are the promes of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part he directeth the faithful to Messiah, by whom only they should haue true deliuerance: and for the second, he vseth threatnings & menaces to bring them from their wicked maners & vices, and this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, eyther by Gods promises to allure them to bee godly, els by threatnings of his iudgements to feare them from vice: and albeit that the whole Law conteine these two points, yet the Prophets moreouer note peculiarly both the time of Gods iudgements and the maner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hosea prophesied. 2 The idolatrie of the people. 10 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 Christ is the head of all people.

THE worde of the Lorde that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the daies a of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah b Kings of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel.
2 At the beginning the Lorde spake by Hosea, and the Lord said vnto Hosea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife c of fornications, and childrẽ of for-nications: for the lande hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord.
3 So he went, & tooke d Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim, which conceiued & bare him a sonne.
4 And the Lord said vnto him, Call his name e Izreel: for yet a litle, and I will visite the blood of Izreel vpon the house f of Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel.
5 And at that g day will I also breake the bowe of Israel in the valley of Izreel.
6 She conceiued yet againe, & bare a daughter, and God saide vnto him, Call her name h Lo-a Called also Azariah, who being a leper was deposed from his kingdom.

b So that it may be gathered by the reigne of these foure kings, that he preached aboue three score yeere.
c That is, one that of long time hath accustomed to play the harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but hee sawe this in a vision, or els was commanded by God to set foorth vnder this parable or figure the idolatrie of the Synagogue, and of the people her children.
d Gomer [illegible] a consu[illegible] corruptio[illegible] blaim [illegible] figs, de[illegible] they were all corrupt like rotten figges.
e Meaning, ẏ they should be no more called Israelites, of the which name they boasted, because Israel did preuaile with God: but that they were as bastardes, and therefore should be called Izreelites, ẏ is, scattered people, alluding to Izreel, which was the chiefe citie of ẏ ten tribes vnder Ahab where Iehu shed so much blood, 2 Kin. 10. 8.
f I wil be reuenged vpon Iehu for the blood that he shed in Izreel: for albeit God stirred him vp to execute his iudgements, yet he did them for his owne ambition, and not for the glory of God, as the ende declared: for he built vp that idolatrie, which he had destroyed.
g When ẏ measure of their iniquitie is full, and I shall take vengeance and destroy all their policie and force.
h That is, not obteining mercy: whereby he signifieth, ẏ Gods fauour was departed frõ them.

ruhamah : for I will no more haue pitie vpon the house of Israel: but I wil vtterly [i] take them away.
7 Yet I will haue mercie vpon the house of Iudah, and wil [k] saue them by the Lord their God, and will not saue them by bow, nor by sword nor by battell, by horses, nor by horsemen.
8 Now when shee had wained Lo-ruhamah, shee conceiued, and bare a sonne.
9 Then saide God, Call his name [l] Lo-ammi: for yee are not my people: therefore will I not be yours.
10 Yet the nomber of the [m] children of Israel shall be as the sande of the sea, which can not be measured nor tolde: and in the place where it was saide vnto them, Yee are not my people, it shall be saide vnto them, Yee are the sonnes of the liuing God.
11 Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel be [n] gathered together, and appoint them selues one head, & they shall come vp out of the land: for great is the [o] day of Izreel.

i For the Israelites neuer returned, after that they were taken captiues by the Assyrians. k For after their captiuitie he restored them miraculously by the meanes of Cyrus, Ezra 1.1. l That is, not my people. m Because they thought that God could not haue bene true in his promes except he had preserued them, he declareth, that though they were destroied, yet the true Israelites, which are the sonnes of the promes, should bee without nomber, which stande both of the Iewes, and the Gentiles, Rom 9.26. n To wit, after the captiuitie of Babylon when the Iewes were restored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who shoulde bee the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles. o The calamitie and destruction of Izreel shall bee so great, that to restore them shall be as a miracle.

CHAP. II.

1 The people is called to repentance. 5 He sheweth their idolatrie and threatneth them except they repent.

SAy vnto your [a] brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah, 2 Pleade with your [b] mother: plead with her:
for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband:
but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, & her adulteries [c] from betweene her breasts, 3 [d] Lest I strippe her naked, and set her as in the day that shee was [e] borne, and make her as a wildernesse, and leaue her like a drie land, and slay her for thirst.
4 And I will haue no pitie vpon her children:
for they be the [f] children of fornications.
5 For their mother hath plaied the harlot: she that conceiued them, hath done shamefully: for she saide, I wil goe after my [g] louers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke.
6 Therefore beholde, I will stoppe [h] thy way with thornes, and make an hedge, that shee shall not finde her pathes:
7 Though shee followe after her louers, yet shall shee not come at them: though shee seeke them, yet shall she not finde them: then shall shee say, [i] I will goe and returne to my first husbande:
for at that time was I better then now.
8 Now shee did not knowe that I [k] gaue her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplyed her siluer and golde, which they bestowed vpon Baal.
9 Therefore wil I returne, and take away [l] my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wool and my flaxe lent, to couer her shame.
10 And now wil I discouer her [m] lewdnesse in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand.
11 I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast dayes, her newe moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her solemne feasts.
12 And I wil destroy her vines & her figtrees, whereof she hath said, These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen me: and I will make them as a forest, and the wilde beastes shall eate them.
13 And I wil visit vpon her the daies of [n] Baalim, wherein she burnt incense to them: and shee decked her selfe with her [o] earings and her iewels, and she followed her louers, and forgate me, saith
the Lorde.
14 Therefore beholde, I will [p] allure her, and bring her into the wildernesse, and speake friendly vnto her.
15 And I will giue her her vineyardes from thence, and the valley [q] of Achor for the doore of hope, and shee shall [r] sing there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the dayes when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.
16 And at that day, saith the Lorde, thou shalt call me [s] Ishi, and shalt call me no more [t] Baali.
17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall be no more re-membred by their [u] names.
18 And in that day will I make a couenant for them, with the [x] wilde beastes, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I will breake the bowe, and the sworde and the battell out of the earth, and will make them to sleepe safely.
19 And I wil marry thee vnto me for euer: yea, I will marry thee vnto me in righteousnes, and in iudgement, and in mercy and in compassion.
20 I will euen marry thee vnto me in [y] faith-fulnesse, and thou shalt knowe the Lord.
21 And in that day I wil heare, saith the Lord, I will euen heare [z] the heauens, and they shall heare the earth, 22 And the earth shall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare Izreel.
23 And I will sowe her vnto me in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, * Thou art my people. And they shall say, Thou art my God.

a Seeing y I haue promised you deliuerance, it remaineth that you incourage one another to embrace the same, considering that ye are my people on whome I will haue mercie. b God sheweth that the faute was not in him but in their Synagogue, & their idolatries, that he forsooke them, Isa 50 1 c Meaning, that their idolatrie was so great, that they were not ashamed, but boasted of it, Ezek. 16.25. d For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet hee had left them with their apparell and dowrie & certaine signes of his fauor, but if they stil continued, he would vtterly destroy them. e When I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16.4, 39. f That is, bastards and begotten in adulterie. g Meaning the idols which they serued & by whom they thought they had wealth and abundance. h I will punish thee that then thou maiest trie whether thine idoles can helpe thee, and bring thee into such streightnesse, that thou shalt haue no lust to play the wanton. i This he speaketh of the faithfull, which are truely conuerted, and also sheweth the vse and profite of Gods rods. k This declareth that idolaters defraude God of his honour when they attribute his benefites to their idoles. l Signifying that God will take away his benefits when man by his ingratitude doth abuse them m That is, all her seruice, ceremonies and inuentions whereby she worshipped her idoles.

n I wil punish her for her idolatrie. o By shewing how harlots trimme them selues to please others, he declareth how the superstitious idolaters [illegible] great part of their religion in decking them selues on their holy dayes. p By my benefites in offring her grace and mercie, euen in that place where she shall thinke her selfe destitute of all helpe and comfort. q Which was a plentifull valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wildernes, as Iosh 7.26. and is called the doore of hope, because it was a departing from death, and an entrie into life. r She shall then praise God as she did when she was deliuered out of Egypt. s That is, mine husband, knowing that I am ioyned to thee by an inuiolable couenant. t That is, my master: which name was applied to their idoles. u No idolatrie shall once come into their mouth, but they shal serue me purely according to my word. x Meaning, that hee will so blesse them that all creatures shall fauour them. y With a couenant that neuer shall bee broken. z Then shall the heauen desire raine for the earth which shall bring foorth for the vse of man. * Rom. 9.25. 1. pet. 2.10.

CHAP. III.

1 The Iewes shalbe cast off for their idolatrie. 5 Afterward they shall returne to the Lorde.

THen said the Lord to me, [a] Goe yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husbande, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lorde toward the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and [b] loued the wine bottels.
2 So [c] I bought her to me for fifteene pieces of siluer, and for an homer of barlie and an halfe homer of barlie.
3 And I saide vnto her, Thou shalt abide with [d] me many dayes: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt be to none other man, and I will be so vnto thee.
4 For the children of Israel shall [e] remaine

a Herein the Prophet representeth the person of God, which loued his Church before he called her, and did not withdrawe the same when shee gaue her selfe to idoles. b That is, gaue them selues wholy to pleasures, and coulde not take vp, as they that are giuen to drunkennesse. c Yet I loued her and payed a small portion for her, lest shee perceiuing the greatnesse of my loue, shoulde haue abused mee and not beene vnder duetie: for fifteene pieces of siluer were but halfe the price of a slaue, Exodus 21.32. d I will trie thee a long time as in thy widowhoode whether thou wilt bee mine or no. e Meaning, [illegible] all the time of their captiuitie, but also vnto Christ.

many dayes without a King & without a f prince, and without an offering, and without an image,
and without an Ephod and without Teraphim.
5 Afterward shall the children of Israel conuert, and seeke the Lorde their God, and g Dauid their King, and shall feare the Lord, and his goodnes in the latter dayes.

f That is, they should neither haue policie nor religion, and their idoles also wherein they put their confidence, should be destroyed.
g This is ment of Christes kingdom, which was promised vnto Dauid to be eternall, Psalm. 72.17.

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint against the people, and the Priestes of Israel.

HEare the word of the Lord, ye children of Israel: for the Lord a hath a controuersie with the inhabitants of the lande, because there is no trueth nor mercie nor knowledge of God in the lande.
2 By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring they breake out, and b blood toucheth blood.
3 Therefore shall the land mourne, and eue-ry one that dwelleth therein, shall be cut off, with the beasts of the fielde, and with the foules of the heauen, and also the fishes of the sea shal be taken away.
4 Yet c let none rebuke, nor reproue another:
for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.
5 Therefore shalt thou fall in the d day, and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy e mother.
6 My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because f thou hast refused knowledge, I wil also refuse thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to me: and seeing g thou hast forgotten the Law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.
7 As they were h increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I change their glorie into shame.
8 i They eate vp the sinnes of my people, and lift vp their mindes in their iniquitie.
9 And there shall be like people, like k Priest:
for I wil visite their wayes vpon them, and reward them their deedes.
10 For they shall eate, and not haue ynough:
they shall l commit adulterie, & shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heede to ỳ Lord.
11 m Whoredome, and wine, and newe wine take away their heart.
12 My n people aske counsell at their stockes, and their staffe teacheth them: for the o spirit of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God.
13 They sacrifice vpon the toppes of ỳ moun-taines, and burne incense vpon the hilles vnder the okes, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall be p harlots, and your spouses shall be whores.
14 I wil not q visite your daughters when they are harlots: nor your spouses, whē they are whores:
for they themselues are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doeth not vnderstand, shall fall.
15 Though thou, Israel, play the harlot, yet let not Iudah sinne: come not ye vnto s Gilgal, neither goe ye vp to t Beth auen, nor sweare, The Lord liueth.
16 For Israel is rebellious as an vnruly heyfer.
Nowe the Lorde will feede them as a u lambe in a large place.
17 Ephraim is ioyned to idoles: let him alone.
18 Their drunkennes stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say with shame, x Bring ye.
19 The winde hath y bounde them vp in her wings, and they shalbe ashamed of their sacrifices.

a Because the people would not obey the admonitions of the ỳ Prophet, he citeth them before the iudgement seat of God, against whō they chiefly offended, Isa. 7.13. Zecha. 11.10. mich. 6.1, 2. b In euery place appeareth a libertie to most hainous vices, so that one followeth in the necke of another. c As though he would say that it were in vaine to rebuke them: for no man can abide it: yea, they will speake against the Prophets & priests whose office it is chiefely to rebuke them.
d Ye shall perish altogether; the one, because he would not obey, and the other because he woulde not admonish.
e That is, the Synagogue wherein thou boastest.
f That is, the Priestes shall be cast off, because that for lacke of knowledge, they are not able to execute their charge, and instruct others, Deut. 33.3. Mal. 2.7.
g Meaning the whole body of the people, which were wearie with hearing the word of God.
h The more I was beneficiall vnto them.
i To wit, ỳ Priests seeke to eate the peoples offerings and flatter them in their sinnes.
k Signifying, that as they haue sinned together, so shall they be punished together.
l Shewing, that their wickednesse shall be punished on all sortes: for though they thinke by the multitude of wiues to haue many children, yet they shall be deceiued of their hope.
m In giuing themselues to pleasures, they become like brute beastes.
n Thus he speaketh by derision in calling them his people, which nowe for their sinnes they were not: for they sought helpe of stockes and stickes.
o They are caried away with a rage.
p Because they take away Gods honour, and giue it to idoles, therefore he will giue them vp to their lustes, that they shall dishonour their owne bodies, Rom. 1.28.
q I will not correct your shame to bring you to amendement, but let you runne headlong to your owne damnation.
r God complaineth that Iudah is infected, and willeth thē to learne by their example to returne in time. s For albeit the Lord had honoured this place in time past by his presence, yet because it was abused by their idolatrie, he would not that his people should resort thither.
t He calleth Bethel, that is, the house of God, Beth-auen, that is, the house of iniquitie, because of their abominations set vp there, signifying that no place is holy where God is not purely worshipped.
u God wil so disperse them that they shal not remaine in any certaine place.
x They are so impudent in receiuing bribes, that they will commaund men to bring them vnto them.
y To cary them suddenly away.

CHAP. V.

1 Against the Priestes and rulers of Israel. 13 The helpe of man is in vaine.

O Ye Priestes, heare this, and hearken ye, O house of Israel, and giue ye eare, O house of the King: for iudgement is towarde you, because you haue bene a a snare on Mizpah, and a net spred vpon Tabor.
2 Yet they were profounde, to decline to b slaughter, though I haue bene a c rebuker of them all.
3 I knowe d Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for nowe, O Ephraim thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.
4 They will not giue their mindes to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the middes of them, and they haue not knowen
the Lord.
5 And the e pride of Israel doth testifie to his face: therefore shal Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah also shall fall with them.
6 They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullockes to seeke the Lorde: but they shal not finde him: for he hath withdrawne himselfe from them.
7 They haue transgressed against the Lorde:
for they haue begottē f strange children: now shal
g a moneth deuoure them with their portions.
8 Blowe ye the trumpet of Gibeah, and the shaume in Rama: crie out at Beth-auen, after thee, O h Beniamin.
9 Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to
i know the trueth.
10 The princes of Iudah were like them that k remoue the bounde: therefore will I powre out my wrath vpon them like water.
11 Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in iudge-ment, because he willingly walked after the l commandement.
12 Therefore wil I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse.
13 When Ephraim sawe his sickenes, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto m Asshur, and sent vnto King n Iareb: yet coulde hee not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.
14 For I will be vnto Ephraim as a Lyon, and as a lyons whelpe to the house of Iudah: I, euen I will spoyle, and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it.
15 I will go, and returne to my place, till they acknowledge their fault, and seeke me: in their affliction they will seeke me diligently.

a The Priestes and princes catched the poore people in their snares as the foulers did the birds, in these two high mountaines.
b Notwithstanding they seemed to be giuen altogether to holynesse and to sacrifices, which here he calleth slaughter in contempt.
c Though I had admonished them continually by my Prophets.
d They boasted themselues not onely to be Israelites, but also Ephraimites, because their King Ieroboam came of that tribe.
e Meaning their contemning of all admonition.
f That is, their children are degenerate, so that there is no hope in them.
g Their destruction is not farre off.
h That is, all Israel comprehended vnder this parte, signifying that the Lords plagues should pursue the from place to place till they were destroyed.
i By the successe they shall knowe that I haue surely determined this.
k They haue turned vpside downe all political order, and all maner of religion.
l To wit, after King Ieroboams commandement and did not rather followe God.
m In steede of seeking for remedie at Gods hand.
n Who was king of the Assyrians.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction causeth a man to turne to God. 9 The wickednesse of the Priestes.

COme, and let vs [a] returne to the Lord: for he hath spoyled, and he will heale vs: he hath wounded vs, and he will binde vs vp.
2 After two dayes will [b] he reuiue vs, and in the third day he will raise vs vp, and we shall liue in his sight.
3 Then shall we haue knowledge, and inde-uour our selues to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth.
4 O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, howe shall I intreate thee? for [c] your goodnesse is as a morning cloude, and as the morning dewe it goeth away.
5 Therefore haue I [d] cut downe by the Prophets: I haue slaine them by the wordes of my mouth, and thy [e] iudgements were as the light that goeth forth.
6 For I desired [f] mercie, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offrings.
7 But they [g] like men haue transgressed the couenant: there haue they trespassed against me.
8 [h] Gilead is a citie of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.
9 And as theeues waite for a man, so the com-panie of Priestes murther in the way by consent:
for they worke mischiefe.
10 I haue seene vileny in the house of Israel:
there is ẏ whoredome of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.
11 Yea, Iudah hath set a [i] plant for thee, whiles I would returne ẏ captiuitie of my people.

a He sheweth the people howe they ought to turne to the Lord, that he might call backe his plagues.
b Though he correct vs from time to time, yet his helpe will not be farre off, if we returne to him.
c You seeme to haue a certaine holinesse and repentance, but it is vpon the sudden, and as a morning cloude. d I haue still laboured by my prophets, and as it were framed you to bring you to amendement, but all was in vaine: for my word was not meate to feede them, but a sworde to slay them. e My doctrine which I taught thee, was most euident.
f He sheweth to what scope his doctrine tended, that they should ioyne the obedience of God, and the loue of their neighbour with outward sacrifice.
g That is, like light and weake persons.
h Which was the place where the Priests dwelt, & which should haue bene best instructed in my word.
i That is, doeth imitate thine idolatrie, & hath taken graffes of thy trees.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonnesse of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

WHen I woulde haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discouered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsly: and [a] the theefe commeth in, and the robber spoyleth without.
2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednes: now their owne inuentions haue beset them about: they are in my sight.
3 They make the [b] King glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lies.
4 They are all adulterers, and as a very [c] ouen heated by ẏ baker, which ceaseth frō raysing vp,
and from kneading ẏ dough vntill it be leauened.
5 This is the [d] day of our King: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his hand to scorners.
6 For they haue made readie their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in waite: their baker sleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.
7 They are all hote as an ouen, and haue [e] de-uoured their iudges: all their Kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.
8 Ephraim hath [f] mixt himselfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.
9 Strangers haue deuoured his strength, and he knoweth it not: yea, [g] gray haires are here and there vpon him, yet he knoweth not.
10 And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lorde their God, nor seeke him for all this.
11 Ephraim also is like a doue deceiued, without [h] heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Asshur.
12 But when they shal go, I wil spred my net vpon them, and drawe them downe as the foules of the heauen: I will chastise them as their [i] congregation hath heard.
13 Wo vnto them: for they haue fled away from me: destruction shalbe vnto them, because they haue transgressed against me: though I haue [k] redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lyes against me.
14 And they haue not cryed vnto me with their hearts, [l] when they howled vpon their beds:
[m] they assemble themselues for corne, and wine, and they rebell against me.
15 Though I haue boūd & strengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine mischiefe against me.
16 They returne, but not to the most high: they are like a deceitfull bowe: their princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage [n] of their tongues: this shall be their derision in the land of Egypt.

a Meaning, that there was no one kinde of vice among them, but that they were subiect to all wickednesse, both secret and open.
b They esteeme their wicked king Ierobaam aboue God, and seeke but howe to flatter and please him.
c He compareth the rage of the people to a burning ouen which the baker heateth still till his dough be leauened and raysed.
d They vsed all ryot and excesse in their feastes and solemnities, whereby their King was ouercome with surfet, and brought into diseases, & delited in flatteries.
e By their occasion God hath depriued them of all good rulers.
f That is, he counterfaited the religion of the Gentiles, yet is but as a cake baked on ẏ one side, & rawe on the other, that is, neither through hot nor through cold, but partly a Iew, & partly a Gentile.
g Which are a token of his manifold afflictions.
h That is, without all iudgement, as they that can not tell whether it is better to cleaue onely to God, or to seeke the helpe of man.
i According to my curses made to the whole congregation of Israel.
k That is, diuers times redeemed them, and deliuered them from death.
l When they were in affliction and cryed out for paine, they sought not vnto me for helpe.
m They onely seeke their owne commoditie and wealth, and passe not for me their God.
n Because they boast of their owne strength, and passe not what they speake against me and my seruants, Psalm. 73. 9.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of Iudah & Israel, because of their idolatrie.

SEt the trumpet to thy [a] mouth: he shall come as an egle against the House of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my couenant, & trespassed against my Lawe.
2 Israel shall [b] crie vnto me, My God, wee knowe thee.
3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good:
the enemie shall pursue him.
4 They haue set vp a [c] King, but not by me:
they haue made princes, and I knew it not: of their siluer and their gold haue they made them idoles:
therefore shall they be destroyed.
5 Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off:
mine anger is kindled against them: howe long will they be without [d] innocencie?
6 [e] For it came euen from Israel: the worke-man made it, therefore is it not God: but the calfe of Samaria shall be broken in pieces.
7 For they haue [f] sowne the winde, and they shall reape the whirlewind: it hath no stalke: the budde shall bring foorth no meale: if so be it bring foorth, the strangers shall deuoure it.
8 Israel is deuoured, now shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessell wherein is no pleasure.
9 For they are gone vp to Asshur: they are as a [g] wilde asse alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired louers.
10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations, nowe will I gather them, and they shall so-rowe a litle, for the [h] burden of the King and the princes.
11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shalbe to sinne.
12 I haue written to them the great things of my Lawe: but they were counted as a [i] strange thing.
13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offerings, and eate it: but the [k] Lorde accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

a God encourageth the Prophet to signifie the speedie comming of the enemie against Israel, which was once the people of God.
b They shall crye like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as their deedes declare.
c That is, Ierobeam, by whom they sought their owne libertie, and not to obey my will.
d That is, vpright iudgement and godly life.
e Meaning, the calfe was inuented by themselues, and of their fathers in the wildernesse.
f Shewing ẏ their religion hath but a shewe, and in it selfe is but vanity.
g They neuer cease but run to & fro to seeke helpe.
h That is, for the tribute which the King and the princes shall lay vpon them: which meanes the Lord vseth to bring them to repētance.
i Thus the idolaters count the word of God as strange in respect of their owne inuentions.
k Saying that they offer it to ẏ Lord, but he accepteth no seruice, which he himselfe hath not appointed.

14 For

14 For Iſrael hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth Temples, & Iudah hath increaſed ſtrong cities: but I will ſende a fire vpon his cities, and it ſhall deuoure the palaces thereof.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Iſrael.

1 Reioyce not, O Iſrael for ioy [a] as other people:
for thou haſt gone a whoring from thy God:
thou haſt loued [b] a rewarde vpon euery corne floore.
2 [c] The floore, and the wine preſſe ſhall not feede them, and the new wine ſhall faile in her.
3 They will not dwell in the Lordes land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vncleane things in Aſſhur.
4 They ſhall not offer [d] wine to the Lorde, neither ſhall their ſacrifices be pleaſant vnto him:
but they ſhall be vnto them as the bread of mour-ners: al that eate thereof, ſhalbe polluted: for their bread [e] for their ſoules ſhall not come into the houſe of the Lord.
5 What will ye do [f] then in the ſolemne day,
and in the day of the feaſt of the Lord?
6 For loe, they are gone from [g] deſtruction but Egypt ſhal gather them vp, and Memphis ſhall burie them: the nettle ſhall poſſeſſe the pleaſant places of their ſiluer, and the throne ſhall be in their tabernacles.
7 The dayes of viſitation are come: the dayes of recompence are come: Iſrael ſhall knowe it: [h] the Prophet is a foole: the ſpirituall man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great.
8 The watchman of Ephraim [i] ſhoulde bee with my God: but the Prophet is the ſnare of a fouler in all his wayes, and hatred in the Houſe of his God.
9 They [k] are deepely ſet: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore he will remember their iniquitie, he will viſite their ſinnes.
10 I found Iſrael like [l] grapes in the wilderneſſe:
I ſaw your fathers as the firſt ripe in the figge tree at her firſt time: but they went to Baal-Peor, and ſeparated themſelues vnto that ſhame, and their abominations were according to [m] their louers.
11 Ephraim, their glorie ſhall flee away like a birde: from the birth [n] and from the wombe, and from the conception.
12 Though they bring vp their children, yet I will depriue them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.
13 Ephraim, as I ſawe, is as a tree [o] in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim ſhal bring forth his children to the murtherer.
14 O Lorde, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a [p] barren wombe and drie breaſts.
15 All their wickedneſſe is in [q] Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickedneſſe of their inuentions, I will caſt them out of mine Houſe: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels.
16 Ephraim is ſmitten, their roote is dried vp:
they can bring no fruite: yea, though they bring foorth, yet will I ſlay euen the deareſt of their bodie.
17 My God will caſt them away, becauſe they did not obey him: and they ſhall wander among the nations.

CHAP. X.

1 Againſt Iſrael and his idoles. 14 His deſtruction for the ſame.

1 Iſrael is an [a] emptie vine, yet hath it brought foorth fruite vnto it ſelfe, and according to the multitude of the fruite thereof he hath increaſed the altars: according to the [b] goodneſſe of their land they haue made faire images.
2 Their heart is [c] diuided: now ſhall they be found faultie: he ſhall breake downe their altars:
he ſhall deſtroy their images.
3 For now they ſhall ſay, We haue no [d] King becauſe we feared not the Lord: and what ſhould a King doe to vs?
4 They haue ſpoken woordes, ſwearing falſly in making [e] a couenant: thus [f] iudgement groweth as wormewoode in the furrowes of the fielde.
5 The inhabitants of Samaria ſhal [g] feare becauſe of the calfe of Beth-auen: for the people thereof ſhall mourne ouer it, and the [h] Chemarims thereof, that reioyced on it for the glorie thereof, becauſe it is departed from it.
6 It ſhall bee alſo brought to Aſſhur, for a preſent vnto King Iareb: Ephraim ſhall receiue ſhame, and Iſrael ſhall be aſhamed of his owne counſell.
7 Of Samaria, the King thereof is deſtroyed, as the fome vpon the water.
8 The high places alſo of [i] Auen ſhall be deſtroyed, euen the ſinne of Iſrael: the thorne and the thiſtle ſhall growe vpon their altars, and they ſhall ſay to the mountaines, * Couer vs, and to the hils, Fall vpon vs.
9 O Iſrael, thou haſt [k] ſinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there they [l] ſtoode: the battell in Gibeah againſt the children of iniquitie did not [m] touch them.
10 It is my deſire [n] that I ſhould chaſtice them,
and the people ſhall be gathered againſt them, when they ſhall gather themſelues in their two [o] furrowes.
11 And Ephraim is as an heifer vſed to delite in threſhing: but I will paſſe by her [q] faire necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah ſhall plow, and Iaakob ſhall breake his cloddes.
12 Sowe to your ſelues in righteouſneſſe: reape after the meaſure of mercy: [r] breake vp your fallow ground: for it is time to ſeeke the Lorde, till he come and raine righteouſneſſe vpon you.
13 But you haue plowed wickedneſſe: ye haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eaten the fruite of lies:
becauſe thou diddeſt truſt in thine owne wayes,
and in the multitude of thy ſtrong men, 14 Therefore ſhall a tumult ariſe among thy people, and all thy munitions ſhall be deſtroyed, as [ſ] Shalman deſtroyed Beth-arbel in the day a For though all other people ſhuld eſcape, yet thou ſhalt be puniſhed.

b Thou haſt committed idolatrie in hope of rewarde, and to haue thy barnes filled, Iere. 44.17 as an harlot that had rather liue by playing the whore then to be interteined of her owne husbād.
c Theſe outward things that thou ſeekeſt, ſhalbe taken from thee.
d All their doings both touching policie and religion, ſhall be reiected as things polluted.
e The meat offring which they offred for themſelues.
f When the Lord ſhall take away all the occaſions of ſeruing him, which ſhall be the moſt grieuous point of your captiuitie, when ye ſhall ſee your ſelues cut off from God.
g Though they thinke to eſcape by fleeing the deſtruction that is at hande, yet ſhall they be deſtroyed in the place whither they flee for ſuccour.
h Then they ſhall knowe that they were deluded by them who chalenged to themſelues to be their Prophets and ſpirituall men.
i The Prophets duetie is to bring men to God and not to be a ſnare to pull them from God.
k This people is ſo rooted in their wickedneſſe, that Gibeah which was like to Sodom, was neuer more corrupt, Iud. 19.22.
l Meaning, that hee ſo eſteemed them and delited in them.
m They were as abominable vnto mee, as their louers the idoles n Signifying, that God would deſtroy their children by theſe ſundry meanes, and ſo conſume them by litle and litle.
o As they kept tender plantes in their houſes in Tyrus to preſerue them from the colde ayre of the Sea, ſo was Ephraim at the firſt vnto me: but now I will giue him to the ſlaughter.
p The Prophet ſeeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren, rather then that this great ſlaughter ſhould come vpon their children.
q The chiefe cauſe of their deſtruction is that they commit idolatrie, and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

a Whereof though the grapes were gathered, yet euer as it gathered new ſtrength, it increaſed newe wickedneſſe, ſo that the correction which ſhoulde haue brought them to obedience, did but vtter their ſtubberneſſe.
b As they were rich and had abundance.
c To wit, from God.
d The day ſhall come that God ſhall take away their King, and then they ſhall feele the fruite of their ſinnes, and how they truſted in him in vaine, 2. King. 17.6,7.
e In promiſing to be faithfull toward God.
f Thus their integritie and fidelitie which they pretended, was nothing but bitternes and griefe.
g When the calfe ſhall be caried away.
h Chemarims were certaine idolatrous prieſtes, which did weare blacke apparell in their ſacrifices, and cried with a loude voyce: which ſuperſtition Eliah derided, 1. King. 18.27 reade 2. King. 23.5.
i This he ſpeaketh in contempt of Beth-el, reade Chap. 4.15.
* Iſa. 2.19. luk. 23.30. reuel. 6.16. & 9.6.
k In theſe dayes waſt thou as wicked as the Gibeonites, as God then partly declared: for thy zeale coulde not bee good in executing Gods iudgements, ſeeing mine owne deedes were as wicked as theirs.
l To wit, ſo ſight, or the Iſraelites remained in that ſtubburneſſe from that time.
m The Iſraelites were not mooued by their example to ceaſe from their ſinnes.
n Becauſe they are ſo deſperate, I will delight to deſtroy them.
o That is, when they haue gathered all their ſtrength together.
p Wherein is pleaſure, as in plowing is labour and paine.
q I will lay my yoke vpon her fatte necke.
r Reade Ieremie 4.3.
ſ That is, Shalmanazzar in the deſtruction of that citie ſpared neither kinde nor age.

of

of battell: the mother with the children was dashed in pieces.
15 So shall Beth-el doe vnto you, because of your malicious wickednes: in a morning shall the King of Israel be destroied.

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefites of the Lord toward Israel. 5 Their ingratitude against him.

WHen Israel [a] was a childe, then I loued him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.
2 They called them, but they [b] went thus from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images.
3 I ledde Ephraim also, as one should beare them in his armes: but they knew not that I healed them.
4 I led them with cordes [c] of a man, euen with bandes of loue, and I was to them, as hee that taketh off the yoke from their iawes, and I laide the meate vnto them.
5 He shall no more returne into the lande of Egypt: but Asshur shalbe his [d] King, because they refused to conuert.
6 And the sworde shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them, because of their owne counsels.
7 And my people are bent to rebellion against me: though [e] they called them to the most hie, yet none at all would exalt him.
8 [f] How shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? how shall I deliuer thee, Israel? how shall I make thee, as [g] Admah? how shall I set thee, as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within mee: [h] my repentings are rouled together.
9 I wil not execute ẏ fiercenesse of my wrath:
I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holy one in the middes of thee, and I will not [i] enter into the citie.
10 They shall walke after the Lorde: he shall roare like a lyon: when he shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare.
11 [k] They shall feare as a sparow out of Egypt, and as a doue of the lande of Asshur, and I will place them in their houses, sayth the Lord.
12 Ephraim copasseth me about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet ruleth with [l] God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

a Whiles the Israelites were in Egypt and did not prouoke my wrath by their malice and ingratitude.
b They rebelled and went a contrary way when the Prophets called them to repentance.
c That is, friendly: and not as beastes or slaues.
d Seeing they contemne al this kindnesse, they shall be led captiue into Assyria.
e To wit, the Prophets.
f God considereth with himselfe, and that with a certein griefe how to punish them.
g Which were two of the cities that were destroyed w Sodom, deu. 29.23.
h Meaning, that his loue wherwith he first loued them, made him betweene doubt and assurance what to doe: and herein appeareth his fatherly affection, that his mercy toward his shall ouercome his iudgement, as he declareth in the next verse.
i To cosume thee, but will cause thee to yelde and so receiue thee to mercie: and this is meant of the small nomber who shall walke after the Lorde.
k The Egyptians and Assytians shall bee afrayde when the Lorde mainteineth his people.
l Gouerneth their state according to Gods woorde, and doeth not degenerate.

CHAP. XII.

Hee admonisheth by Iaakobs example to trust in God, and not in man.

EPhraim is fed [a] with the winde, and followeth after the East winde: hee increaseth daily lies and destruction, & they doe make a couenant with Asshur, and [b] oyle is caried into Egypt.
2 The Lorde hath also a controuersie with [c] Iudah, and will visite Iaakob, according to his waies: according to his workes, wil he recompence him.
3 Hee tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength he had [d] power with God,
4 And had [e] power ouer the Angel, and preuailed: he wept and praied vnto him: [f] he founde him in Beth el, and there he spake with vs.

a That is, flattereth him selfe w vaine confidence.
b Meaning, presents to get friendship.
c Which in these pointes was like to Ephraim, but not in idolatries.
d Seeing that God did thus preferre Iaakob their father, Iudahs ingratitude was the more to be abhorred.
e Read Gen. 32.31.
f God found Iaakob as he lay sleeping in Bethel, Gene. 28.12. and so spake with him there, that the fruite of that speache apperteined to the whole bodie of the people, whereof we are.

5 Yea, the Lorde God of hostes, the Lorde is himselfe his memoriall.
6 Therefore turne thee to thy God: keepe mercy and iudgement, and hope still in thy God.
7 He is [g] Canaan: the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loueth to oppresse.
8 And Ephraim sayde, Notwithstanding I am rich, I haue found me out riches in all my labours:
they shall finde none iniquitie in me, [h] that were wickednesse.
9 Though I am the Lorde thy God, from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwel in the tabernacles, as in [i] the dayes of the solemne feast.
10 I haue also spoken by the Prophets, and I haue multiplied visions, and vsed similitudes by the ministerie of the Prophets.
11 Is there [k] iniquitie in Gilead? surely they are vanitie: they sacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, and their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.
12 [l] And Iaakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheepe.
13 And by a [m] Prophet the Lorde brought Israel out of Egypt, & by a Prophet was he reserued.
14 But Ephraim prouoked him with hie places: therefore shal his blood be powred vpon him, and his reproche shall his Lord reward him.

g As for Ephraim he is more like the wicked Canaanites then godly Abraham or Iaakob.
h Thus the wicked measure Gods fauour by outward prosperitie, & like hypocrites can not abide that any should reproue their doings.
i Seeing thou wilt not acknowledge my benefites, I will bring thee againe to dwell in tents as in the feast of the Tabernacles, which thou doest now contemne.
k The people thought that no man durst haue spoken against Gilead, that holy place, and yet the Prophet sayeth, that all their religion was but vanitie.
l If you boast of your riches and nobilitie, yee seeme to reproche your father who was a poore fugitiue and seruant.
m Meaning Moses, whereby appeareth, that whatsoeuer they haue, it commeth of Gods free goodnesse.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The abomination of Israel, 9 And the cause of their destruction.

WHen Ephraim spake, there was [a] trembling: hee [b] exalted him selfe in Israel, but he hath sinned in Baal, [c] and is dead.
2 And now they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their siluer, and idoles according to their owne vnderstanding:
they were all the woorke of the craftesmen: they say one to another whiles they sacrifice a [d] man, Let them kisse the calues.
3 Therefore they shall bee as the morning cloude, and as the morning dewe that passeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlewind out of the floore, and as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney.
4 Yet I am the Lord thy God [e] from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt knowe no God but me:
for there is no Sauiour beside me.
5 I did knowe thee in the wildernesse, in the land of drought.
6 As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me.
7 And I will be vnto them as a very lyon, and as a leopard in the way of Asshur.
8 I will meete them, as a beare that is robbed of her whelpes, and I will breake the kall of their heart, and there will I deuoure them like a lyon:
the wilde beast shall teare them.
9 O Israel, one [f] hath destroyed thee, but in me is thine helpe.
10 [g] I am: where is thy King, that should helpe thee in all thy cities? and thy iudges, of whome thou saidest, Giue me a King, and princes?
11 I gaue thee a King in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath.

a He sheweth the excellencie, and autoritie that this tribe had aboue all the rest.
b He made a king of his tribe.
c The Ephraimites are not farre from destruction, and haue lost their autoritie.
d The false prophets perswaded the idolaters to offer their children after the example of Abraham, and he sheweth how they would exhort one another to the same, and to kisse and worship their calues which were their idoles.
e He calleth them to repentance and reproueth their ingratitude.
f Thy destruction is certaine, and my benefites towarde thee declare that it commeth not of me: therefore thine owne malice, idolatrie and vaine confidence in others must needes bee the cause thereof.
g I am all one, Iames 1.17.

12 The

12 The iniquitie of Ephraim is bound vp: his sin is hid.

13 The sorrowes of a trauelling woman shall come vpon him: he is an vnwise sonne, els would he not stande still at the time, euen at the [i] breaking forth of the children.

14 I will redeeme them from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death: O [k] death, I wil be thy death: O graue, I will be thy destruction: [l] repentance is hid from mine eyes.

15 Though he grewe vp among his brethren, an East winde shall come, euen the winde of the Lord shall come vp from the wildernesse, and drie vp his veine, and his fountaine shalbe dried vp: he shall spoile the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

i It is fitely layd vpon he punished, as Iere.17.1.
i But would come out of the wombe, that is, out of this danger wherein he is, and not tary to be stifeled.
k Meaning, that no power shall resist God when he wil deliuer his, but euen in death wil he giue them life.
l Because they wil not turne to me, I will not change my purpose.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The destruction of Samaria. 2 He exhorteth Israel to returne to God, who requireth praise and thanks.

Samaria shalbe desolate: for shee hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sword: their infants shalbe dashed in pieces, & their women with childe shalbe ript.

2 O Israel, [a] returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie.

3 Take vnto you words, & turne to the Lord, and say vnto him, [b] Take away all iniquitie, and receiue vs graciously: so will we render the calues of our [c] lippes.

4 Asshur shal [d] not saue vs, neither will we ride vpon horses, neither will we say any more to the worke of our handes, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercie.

5 [e] I wil heale their rebellion: I wil loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

6 I will be as the dewe vnto Israel: he shall grow as the lilie and fasten his rootes, as the trees of Lebanon.

7 His branches shall spread, and his beautie shalbe as the oliue tree, and his smell as Lebanon.

8 They that dwell vnder his [f] shadow, shal returne: they shall reuiue as the corne, and florish as the vine: the sent thereof shalbe as the wine of Lebanon.

9 Ephraim shall say, What haue I to doe any more with idoles? I [g] haue heard him, and looked vpon him: I am like a greene firre tree: vpon me is thy fruit found.

10 Who is [h] wise, and hee shall vnderstande these things? and prudent, and hee shall knowe them? for the wayes of the Lorde are righteous, and the iust shall walke in them: but the wicked shall fall therein.

a He exhorteth them to repentance, to auoyd all these plagues, willing them to declare by wordes their obedience & repentance.
b He sheweth thẽ howe they ought to confesse their sinnes.
c Declaring, that this is the true sacrifice, that the faithful can offer, euen thanks and praise, Heb. 13.15.
d We will leaue off all vaine confidence and pride. e He declareth how ready God is to receiue them that do repent.
f Whosoeuer ioyne themselues to this people, shalbe blessed.
g God sheweth how prompt he is to heare his, when they repent, and to offer himselfe, as a protection, & safegard vnto them as a most sufficient fruite and profite.
h Signifying, that the true wisedome & knowledge consisteth in this, euen to rest vpon God.

IOEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

The Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine, remaine still obstinate. Secondly he threatneth greater plagues, because they grewe dayly to a more hardnesse of heart, and rebellion against God notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, & proceed from the heart because they had grieuously offended God. And so doing, he promiseth that God will be mercifull, and not forget his couenant that he made with their fathers: but will send his Christ who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life and libertie, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A prophecie against the Iewes. 2 He exhorteth the people to prayer, and fasting for the miserie that was at hand.

The word of the Lord that came to Ioel the sonne of Pethuel.

2 Heare ye this, O [a] Elders, and hearken ye all inhabitantes of the land, whether [b] such a thing hath beene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children shew to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of ẏ palmer worme, hath the grashopper eaten, & the residue of ẏ grashopper hath the canker worme eaten, and the residue of the canker worme hath the catterpiller eaten.

5 Awake ye [c] drunkards, and weepe, & howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the newe wine: for it shalbe pulled from your mouth.

6 Yea, [d] a nation commeth vpon my lande, mightie, & without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lion, and hee hath the iawes of a great lion.

7 He maketh my vine waste, & pilleth off the barke of my figge tree: he maketh it bare, and casteth it downe: ẏ branches thereof are made white.

8 Mourne like a virgine girded with sackcloth for the [e] husband of her youth.

9 The meate offring, & the drinke offring is [f] cut off from the House of the Lord: the Priests the Lords ministers mourne.

10 The fielde is wasted: the land mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: [g] the new wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed.

11 Be ye ashamed, O husband men: howle, O ye vine dressers for the wheate, and for the barley, because the haruest of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried vp, and the figge tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree & the palme tree, and the apple tree, euen all the trees of the fielde are withered: surely the ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men.

13 [h] Girde your selues and lament, ye Priests: howle ye ministers of the altar: come, and lie all night in sackcloth, ye ministers of my God: for the meate offring, and the drinke offring is taken away from the house of your God.

14 Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assemblie: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the lande into the House of the Lorde your God, and crie vnto the Lord, 15 Alas: for the day, for the [i] day of the Lord is at hand, and it commeth as a destruction from the Almightie.

16 Is not the meate cut off before our eyes? & ioy, and gladnesse from the house of our God?

17 The seed is rotten vnder their cloddes: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 How did the beasts mourne! the herdes of cattel pine away, because they haue no pasture, & the flocks of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I crie: for the fire hath deuoured a Signifying, the Princes, the priests, & the gouernours.

b He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of Gods iudgements, who had nowe plagued the fruites of the ground for ẏ space of foure yeere, which was for their sinnes, and to call them to repentance.
c Meaning, that ẏ occasion of their excesse & drũkennes was takẽ away.
d This was another plague wherewith God had punished them, when he stirred vp ẏ Assyrians against thẽ.
e Mourne grieuously as a woman, which hath lost her husband, to whom she hath bene maried in her youth.
f The tokens of Gods wrath did appeare in his Temple, insomuch as the sacrifice was laid off.
g All comfort & substance for nourishment is taken away.
h He sheweth that the onely meanes to auoyde Gods wrath, and to haue all things restored, is vnfeined repentance.
i We see by these great plagues that vtter destruction is at hand.

deuoured the pastures of the wildernesse, and the flame hath burnt vp all the trees of the field.
20 The beasts of the fielde cry also vnto thee:
for the riuers of waters are dried vp, and the k fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wildernesse.

k That is, drought.

CHAP. II.

He prophecieth of the comming and crueltie of their enemies. 13 An exhortation to moue them to conuert. 18 The loue of God toward his people.

Blowe a the trumpet in Zion, and shoute in mine holy mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the lande tremble: for the day of the Lorde is come: for it is at hand.
2 A b day of darkenesse, and of blacknesse, a day of clouds, and obscuritie, as the morning spred vpon the mountaines, so is there a c great people, and a mighty: there was none like it from the beginning, neither shalbe any more after it, vnto the yeeres of many generations.
3 A fire deuoureth before him, and behinde him a flame burneth vp: the land is as the garden of d Eden before him, and behinde him a desolate wildernesse, so that nothing shall escape him.
4 The beholding of him is like the sight of horses, and like the horsemen, so shall they runne.
5 Like the noyse of charrets in the toppes of the mountaines shall they leape, like the noise of a flame of fire that deuoureth the stubble, and as a mightie people prepared to the battell.
6 Before his face shal the people tremble: all faces e shall gather blackenesse.
7 They shall runne like strong men, and goe vp to the wall like men of warre, and euery man shall goe forward in his wayes, and they shall not stay in their paths.
8 Neither shal one f thrust another, but euery one shall walke in his path: and when they fall vpon the sword, they shall not be wounded.
9 They shal runne to & fro in the citie: they shal runne vpon the wall: they shal clime vp vpon the houses, & enter in at y^e windowes like y^e thiefe.
10 The earth shall tremble before him, y^e hea-uens shall shake, the g sunne & the moone shalbe darke, and the starres shal withdraw their shining.
11 And the Lord shall h vtter his voyce before his hoste: for his hoste is very great: for he is strong that doeth his word: * for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?
12 Therefore also now the Lord saith, Turne you vnto me with all your heart, & with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning, 13 And i rent your heart, & not your clothes:
and turne vnto the Lorde your God, for he is gracious, and mercifull, slowe to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repenteth him of the euill.
14 Who knoweth, if he wil k returne & repent & leaue a blessing behinde him, euen a meate offring, & a drinke offring vnto y^e Lord your God?
15 Blowe the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemne assemblie.
16 Gather the people: sanctifie the congregation, gather the elders: assemble the l children, & those that sucke the breastes: let the bridegrome goe forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber.
17 Let the Priestes, the ministers of the Lord weepe betweene the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lord, and giue not thine heritage into reproche that the heathen should rule ouer them: * Wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?
18 Then will the Lorde be m ielous ouer his land, and spare his people.
19 Yea, the Lord will answere and say vnto his people, Beholde, I will send you corne, and wine, and oyle, and you shalbe satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproch among the heathen, 20 But I will remooue farre off from you the n Northren armie, & I will driue him into a land, barren & desolate with his face toward the o East sea, and his end to the vtmost sea, and his stinke shall come vp, and his corruption shall ascend, because he hath exalted himselfe to doe this.
21 Feare not, O land, but be glad, and reioyce:
for the Lord will do great things.
22 Be not afraide, ye beastes of the fielde: for the pastures of the wildernesse are greene: for the tree beareth her fruite: the figge tree & the vine do giue their force.
23 Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and re-ioyce in the Lorde your God: for hee hath giuen you the raine of p righteousnes, * & he will cause to come downe for you the raine, euen the first raine, and the latter raine in the first moneth.
24 And the barnes shall be full of wheate, and the presses shall abound with wine and oile.
25 And I will render you the yeeres that the grashopper hath eaten, the canker worme and the caterpiller and the palmer worme, my great hoste which I sent among you.
26 So you shall eate and be satisfied and praise the Name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt maruellously with you: and my people shall neuer be ashamed.
27 Ye shall also know, that I am in the middes of Israel, and that I am the Lorde your God and none other, & my people shall neuer be ashamed.
28 And afterward will I powre q out my Spirit vpon all flesh: and your sonnes & your daughters shall prophecie: your olde men shall dreame r dreames, and your yong men shall see visions, 29 And also vpon the seruants, and vpon the maydes in those dayes will I powre my Spirit.
30 And I will shewe s wonders in the heauens & in the earth: blood & fire, & pillars of smoke.
31 The t sunne shalbe turned into darkenesse, and the moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.
32 But whosoeuer shall call u on the Name of the Lord, shalbe saued: for in mount Zion, and in Ierusalē shalbe deliuerance, as the Lord hath said, and in the x remnant, whom the Lord shall call.

CHAP. III.

Of the iudgement of God against the enemies of his people.

For beholde, in a those dayes and in that time, when I shall bring againe the captiuitie of Iudah and Ierusalem,
2 I will also gather all nations, and will bring them downe into b the valley of Iehoshaphat, & will pleade with them there for my people, & for mine heritage Israel, whom they haue scattered among the nations, and parted my land.
3 And they haue cast lottes for my people, a When I shal deliuer my Church, which standeth of the Iewes, and of the Gentiles.

b It appeareth that he alludeth to that great victorie of Iehoshaphat, whē as God without mans helpe destroyed y^e enemies, 2.Chron.20.26. also he hath respect to this worde Iehoshaphat, which signifieth pleading, or iudgement, because God would iudge the enemies of his Church as he did there.

and

and haue giuen the childe [c] for the harlot, & sold the girle for wine , that they might drinke.
4 Yea, and [d] what haue you to doe with me, O Tyrus and Zidon and all the coastes of Palestina?
will ye render me [e] a recompence? and if ye recompence mee , swiftly and speedily will I render your recompence vpon your head:
5 For ye haue taken my siluer and my golde, and haue caried into your temples my goodly and pleasant things.
6 The children also of Iudah and the children of Ierusalem haue you solde vnto the Grecians, that ye might send them farre from their border.
7 Beholde, I will raise them out of the place where ye haue sold them, and will render your reward vpon your owne head, 8 And I will sell your sonnes & your daughters into the hande of the children of Iudah, and they [f] shall sell them to the Sabeans , to a people farre off : for the Lorde hath spoken it.
9 Publish this among the Gentiles ; prepare warre , wake vp the mightie men : let all the men of warre drawe neere and come vp.
10 [g] Breake your plowshares into swords, and your sithes into speares : let the weake say , I am strong.
11 Assemble your selues , and come all yee heathen and gather your selues together round about : there shall the Lord cast downe the mightie men.
12 Let the heathen be wakened, and come vp to the valley of Iehoshaphat : for there will I sit to iudge all the heathen round about,

c That which the enemie gate for the sale of my people, he bestowed vpon harlots and drinke.
d He taketh the cause of his Church in hand against the enemie, as though the iniurie were done to himselfe.
e Haue I done you wrong, that ye will render me the like?
f For afterward God solde them by Nebuchad-nezzar, and Alexander the great, for the loue he bare to his people, and therby they were comforted as though the price had bene theirs.
g When I shall execute my iudgements against mine enemies, I will cause euery one to be ready, and to prepare their weapons to destroy one another, for my Churches sake.

13 Put in your [h] sithes, for the haruest is ripe:
come, get you downe , for the winepresse is full:
yea, the winepresses runne ouer , for their wickednesse is great.
14 O multitude , O multitude , come into the valley of threshing : for the day of the Lorde is neere in the valley of threshing.
15 The sunne and moone shalbe darkened, and the starres shall withdrawe their light.
16 The Lord also shall roare out of Zion , and vtter his voyce from Ierusalem , and the heauens and the earth shall shake, but the Lord will be the hope [i] of his people , and the strength of the children of Israel.
17 So shall ye know that I am the Lorde your God dwelling in Zion , mine holy Mountaine:
then shall Ierusalem bee holy , and there shall no strangers go [k] thorowe her any more.
18 And in that day shal the mountaines [l] drop downe newe wine, and the hilles shall flowe with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah shall runne with waters , and a fountaine shall come forth of the House of the Lorde, and shall water the valley of Shittim.
19 [m] Egypt shall be waste, and Edom shall be a desolate wildernesse, for the iniuries of the childrẽ of Iudah, because they haue shed innocent blood in their land.
20 But Iudah shal dwel for euer, and Ierusalem from generation to generation.
21 For I will [n] clense their blood , that I haue not clensed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

h Thus he shall incourage the enemies whẽ their wickednes is full ripe to destroy one another, which he calleth the valley of Gods iudgement.
i God assisteth his against all troubles, that when he destroyeth his enemies , his children shalbe deliuered.
k The strangers shall no more destroy his Church: which if they doe, it is the people which by their sinnes make the breach for the enemie.
l He promiseth to his Church abundance of graces, reade Ezek. 47, 1. which should water and comfort ÿ most barren places, Amos. 9. 13.
m The malicious enemies shall haue no part of this grace.
n He had suffered his Church hitherto to lie in their filthinesse, but nowe hee promiseth to clense them and to make them pure vnto him.

AMOS.

THE ARGVMENT.

AMong many other Prophets that God raised vp to admonish the Israelites of his plagues for their wickednes and idolatrie, he stirred vp Amos, who was an heardman or shepheard of a poore towne, and gaue him both knowledge and constancie to reproue all estates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements against them , except they did in time repent ; shewing them , that if God spare not the other nations about them , who had liued as it were in ignorance of God in respect of them , but for their sinnes wil punish them , that they could looke for nothing , but an horrible destruction, except they turned to the Lord by vnfained repentance. And finally , he comforteth the godly with hope of the cõming of the Messiah , by whome they should haue persite deliuerance and saluation.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophecie of Amos. 3 The worde of the Lord against Damascus , 6 The Philistims , Tyrus, Idumea and Ammon.

1 THe wordes of Amos , who was among the heardmen at [a] Tecoa, which he sawe vpon Israel , in the dayes of Vzziah king of Iudah, and in the dayes of [b] Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash King of Israel , two yeere before the [c] earthquake.
2 And he sayde, The Lord shall roare from Zion , and vtter his voyce from Ierusalem , and the dwelling places of the shepheards shall perish, and the top of [d] Carmel shall wither.
3 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For [e] three transgressions of Damascus, and for foure, I wil not turne to it, because they haue [f] threshed Gilead with threshing instruments of yron.
4 Therefore will I sende a fire into the house of Hazael , and it shall deuoure the [g] palaces of Ben-hadad.
5 I will breake also the barres of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-auen : and him that holdeth the scepter out of Beth-eden, and the people of Aram shall goe into captiuitie vnto [h] Kir , sayth the Lorde.
6 Thus sayth the Lorde, For three transgressions of Azzah , and for foure , I will not turne to it, because they [i] caried away prisoners the whole captiuitie to shut them vp in Edom, 7 Therefore will I sende a fire vpon the walles of Azzah , and it shall deuoure the palaces
thereof.
8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod , and him that holdeth the scepter from Ash-kelon , and turne mine hande to Ekron , and the remnant of the Philistims shall perish, sayth the Lord God.
9 ¶ Thus sayth the Lord, For three transgressions of Tyrus , and for foure , I will not turne to a Which was a towne sixe miles from Ierusalem in Iudea, but he prophecied in Israel.

b In his dayes the kingdome of Israel did most florish.
c Which as Iosephus writeth, was whẽ Vzziah would haue vsurped the Priestes office, and therfore was smitten wͭ the leprosie.
d Whatsoeuer is fruitfull and pleasant in Israel shall shortly perish.
e He sheweth first that all the people round about should be destroyed for their manifolde sinnes : which are meant by three and foure which make seuen, because the Israelites should the more deepely consider Gods iudgements towarde them.
f If the Syrians shall not be spared for committing this crueltie against one citie , it is not possible that Israel shoulde escape punishment which hath committed so many and grieuous sinnes against God and man.
g The antiquitie of their buildings shall not auoyde my iudgements, reade Iere 49 27.
h Tiglath Pileser led ÿ Syrians captiue, and brought them to Cyrene, which he calleth here Kir.
i They ioyned themselues with the Edomites their enemies, which caried them away captiues.

 it,

it, becauſe they ſhut the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembred the [k] brotherly couenant.
10 Therefore will I ſend a fire vpon ẏ walles of Tyrus, and it ſhall deuoure the palaces thereof.
11 ¶ Thus ſayth the Lorde, For three tranſ-greſſions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, becauſe hee did purſue his brother with the ſworde, and did † caſt off all pitie, and his anger ſpoyled him euermore, and his wrath watched him [l] alway.
12 Therefore will I ſend a fire vpon Teman, and it ſhall deuoure the palaces of Bozrah.
13 ¶ Thus ſayth ẏ Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, becauſe they [m] haue ript vp the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.
14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it ſhall deuoure the palaces thereof, with ſhouting in the day of battell, and with a tempeſt in the day of the whirlewinde.
15 And their King ſhall go into captiuitie, he and his princes together, ſaith the Lord.

k For Eſau (of whom came the Edomites) and Iaakob were brethren: therefore they ought to haue admoniſhed them of their brotherly friendſhip, and not to haue prouoked them to hatred.
† Ebr. corrupt his compaſſions.
l He was a continuall enemie vnto him.
m He noteth the great crueltie of the Ammonites that ſpared not the women, but moſt tyranouſly tormented them, and yet the Ammonites come of Lot who was of the houſhold of Abraham.

CHAP. II.

Againſt Moab, Iudah, and Iſrael.

THus ſayth the Lorde, For three tranſgreſſions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, becauſe it burnt the [a] bones of the King of Edom into lime.
2 Therefore will I ſend a fire vpon Moab, and it ſhall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab ſhall die with tumult, with ſhouting, and with the ſound of a trumpet.
3 And I will cut off the iudge out of the mids thereof, and will ſlay all the princes thereof with him, ſayth the Lord.
4 ¶ Thus ſayth the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Iudah, and for foure, [b] I will not turne to it, becauſe they haue caſt away the Lawe of the Lorde, and haue not kept his commandementes, and their lies cauſed them to erre after the which their fathers haue walked.
5 Therefore will I ſend a fire vpon Iudah, and it ſhall deuoure the palaces of Ieruſalem.
6 ¶ Thus ſayth the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of [c] Iſrael, and for foure, I will not turne to it, becauſe they ſolde the righteous for ſiluer and the poore for [d] ſhooes.
7 They gape ouer the head of the poore, in the [e] duſt of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the meeke: and a man and his father will goe in to a mayde to diſhonour mine holy Name.
8 And they lye downe vpon clothes layde to pledge [f] by euery altar: and they [g] drinke the wine of the condemned in the houſe of their God.
9 Yet deſtroyed I the [h] Amorite before them, whoſe height was like the height of the cedars, and he was ſtrong as the okes: notwithſtanding
I deſtroyed his fruite from aboue, and his roote from beneath.
10 Alſo I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and led you fourtie yeres thorowe the wilderneſſe, to poſſeſſe the land of the Amorite.
11 And I rayſed vp of your ſonnes for Prophets, and [i] of your young men for Nazarites. Is it not euen thus. O ye children of Iſrael, ſayth the Lorde?
12 But ye gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophets, ſaying, Prophecie not.
13 Behold, I am [k] preſſed vnder you as a cart is preſſed that is full of ſheaues.
14 Therefore the flight ſhall periſh from the [l] ſwift, and the ſtrong ſhall not ſtrengthen his force, neither ſhall the mightie ſaue his life.
15 Nor he that handleth the bowe, ſhal ſtand, and he that is ſwift of foote, ſhall not eſcape, neyther ſhall he that rideth the horſe, ſaue his life.
16 And he that is of a mightie courage among the ſtrong men, ſhall flee away naked in that day, ſayth the Lord.

a For the Moabites were ſo cruel againſt the King of Edom that they burnt his bones after that hee was dead: which declared their barbarous rage, ſeeing they would reuenge themſelues of the dead.
b Seeing ẏ Gentiles that had not ſo farre knowledge were thus puniſhed, Iudah which was ſo fully inſtructed of the Lords will, might not thinke to eſcape.
c If he ſpare not Iudah vnto whom his promiſes were made, much more he will not ſpare this degenerate kingdome.
d They eſteemed moſt vile bribes more then mens liues.
e When they haue ſpoyled him and throwen him to the grounde, they gape for his life.
f Thinking by theſe ceremonies, that is by ſacrifiſing, and being neere mine altar, they may excuſe all their other wickedneſſe.
g They ſpoyle others and offer thereof vnto God, thinking that hee will diſpence with them, when he is made partaker of their iniquitie.
h The deſtruction of their enemies and his mercy towarde them ſhoulde haue cauſed their heartes to melt for loue towarde him.
i Ye contemned my benefites, and abuſed my graces, and craftily went about to ſtoppe the mouthes of my Prophets.
k You haue wearied me with your ſinnes, Iſa.1.14.
l None ſhall be deliuered by any meanes.

CHAP. III.

Hee reprooueth the houſe of Iſrael of ingratitude. 11 For the which God will puniſh them.

HEare this worde that the Lord pronounceth againſt you, O children of Iſrael, euen a-gainſt the whole familie which I brought vp frō
the land of Egypt, ſaying, 2 You [a] onely haue I knowen of all the families of the earth: therefore I will viſite you for all your iniquities.
3 Can two walke together except they bee [b] agreed?
4 Will a [c] lion roare in the foreſt, when hee hath no pray? or will a lyons whelpe cry out of his den, if he haue taken nothing?
5 [d] Can a birde fall in a ſnare vpon the earth, where no fouler is? or will he take vp the [e] ſnare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?
6 Or [f] ſhall a trumpet be blowen in the citie, and the people be not afraide? or ſhall there [g] be euill in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it?
7 Surely the Lord God will doe nothing, but he [h] reueileth his ſecret vnto his ſeruantes the Prophets.
8 The lyon hath roared: who will not bee afraide? the Lord God hath ſpoken: who can but [i] prophecie?
9 Proclayme in the palaces at [k] Aſhdod, and in the palaces in the lande of Egypt, and ſaye, Aſſemble your ſelues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: ſo beholde the great tumultes in the middes thereof, and the oppreſſed in the middes
thereof.
10 For they knowe not to doe right, ſayth the Lorde: they ſtirre vp violence, and robbery [l] in their palaces.
11 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, An aduerſary ſhall come euen rounde about the countrey, and ſhall bring downe thy ſtrength frō thee, and thy palaces ſhalbe ſpoyled.
12 Thus ſayth the Lorde, As the ſhepheardе taketh [m] out of the mouth of the lyon two legges, or a piece of an eare: ſo ſhall the children of Iſrael bee taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bed, and in [n] Damaſcus as in a couche.
13 Heare, and teſtifie in the houſe of Iaakob, ſaith the Lord God, the God of hoſtes.

a I haue onely choſen you to be mine among all other people, and yet you haue forſaken me.
b Hereby the Prophet ſignifieth that he ſpeaketh not of himſelfe, but as God guideth and moueth him, which is called the agreement betweene God and his Prophets.
c Wil God threaten by his Prophets, except there be ſome great occaſion?
d Can any thing come without Gods prouidence?
e Shall his threatnings be in vaine?
f Shall the Prophets threaten Gods iudgements and the people not be afraide?
g Doeth any aduerſity come without Gods appoyntment? Iſa.45.7.
h God dealeth not with the Iſraelites as he doeth with other people: for he euer warneth them before of his plagues by his Prophets.
i Becauſe the people euer murmured againſt the Prophetes, he ſheweth that the Spirite mooued them ſo to ſpeake as they did.
k Hee calleth the ſtrangers, as the Philiſtims and Egyptians to be witneſſes of Gods iudgements againſt the Iſraelites for their crueltie and oppreſſion.
l The fruite of their crueltie and theft appeareth by their great riches, which they haue in their houſes.
m When the Lyon hath ſaciate his hunger, the ſhepheardе findeth a legge or a tippe of an eare to ſhewe that the ſheepe hath bene woried.
n When they thought to haue had a ſure holde, and to haue bene in ſafetie.

14 Surely in the day that I shal visite the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I will also visite the altars of Beth-el, and the hornes of the altar shall be broken off, and fall to the ground.
15 And I will smite the winter house with the summer house, and the houses of yuorie shall perish, and the great houses shalbe consumed, sayth
the Lord.

CHAP. IIII.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

HEare this worde, ye a kine of Bashan that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppresse the poore, and destroy the needie, and they say to their masters, b Bring, and let vs drinke.
2 The Lord God hath sworne by his holines, that loe, the dayes shall come vpon you, that hee will take you away with c thornes, & your poste-ritie with fish hookes.
3 And ye shall goe out at the breaches euery kowe forward: and ye shall cast your selues out of the palace, saith the Lord.
4 Come to d Beth-el, & transgresse: to Gilgal, & multiplie transgression, & bring your sacrifices in the morning, & your tithes after three e yeres.
5 And offer a thanksgiuing f of leauen, publish & proclame the free offrings: for this g liketh you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God.
6 And therefore haue I giuen you h cleannes of teeth in all your cities, and scarcenesse of bread in all your places, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
7 And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three i moneths to the haruest, and I caused it to raine vpon one citie, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another citie: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.
8 So two or three cities wandred vnto one ci-tie to drinke water, but they were k not satisfied:
yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
9 I haue smitten you with blasting, and mildewe: your great gardens and your vineyards, and your figtrees, and your oliue trees did the palmer worme deuoure: yet haue ye not returned vnto
me, saith the Lord.
10 Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the maner of l Egypt: your yoong men haue I slaine with the sword, and haue taken away your horses:
and I haue made the stinke of your tents to come vp euen into your nostrels: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
11 I haue ouerthrowe you, as God ouerthrew Sodom & Gomorah: and ye were as a m firebrand pluckt out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
12 Therefore, thus will I do vnto thee, O Israel: and because I will doe this vnto thee, prepare to n meete thy God, O Israel.
13 For lo, he that formeth the mountaines, & createth the winde, and declareth vnto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darke-nesse, & walketh vpon the hie places of the earth, the Lord God of hosts is his Name.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for the captiuitie of Israel.

HEare ye this worde, which I lift vp vpon you,
euen a lamentation of the house of Israel.
2 The a virgine Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise: shee is left vpon her lande, and there is none to raise her vp.
3 For thus saith ÿ Lord God, The citie which went out by a thousand, shall leaue an b hundreth:
and that which went forth by an hundreth, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel.
4 For thus saith the Lorde vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye me, and ye shall liue.
5 But seeke not Beth-el, nor enter into c Gilgal, and go not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall go into captiuitie, and Beth-el shall come to nought.
6 Seeke the Lorde, and yee shall liue, least he breake out like fire in the house of Ioseph and deuoure it, & there be none to quench it in Beth-el.
7 They turne d iudgement to wormewood, and leaue off righteousnesse in the earth.
8 He e maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and hee turneth the shadowe of death into the morning, and he maketh the day darke as night: he calleth
the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.
9 He strengtheneth the destroyer against the mightie: and the destroyer shal come against the fortresse.
10 They haue hated him, f that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that speaketh vprightly.
11 Forasmuch then as your treading is vpon
the poore, & g ye take from him burdens of wheat, ye haue built houses of hewen stone, but ye shall not dwell in them: ye haue planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drinke wine of them.
12 For I know your manifolde transgressions, and your mightie sinnes: they afflict the iust, they take rewards, & they oppresse ÿ poore in the gate.
13 Therefore h the prudent shall keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time.
14 Seeke good and not euill, that ye may liue:
and the Lorde God of hostes shall be with you, as you haue spoken.
15 Hate the euill, and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may bee that the Lorde God of hostes will be mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph.
16 Therefore the Lord God of hosts, the Lord saith thus, Mourning shalbe in all streets: and they shal say in all the hie wayes, Alas, alas: & they shal call the i husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourne, to mourning.
17 And in all the vines shalbe lamentation: for
I will passe through thee, saith the Lord.
18 Woe vnto you, that k desire the day of the Lord: what haue you to do with it? the day of the Lord is darkenesse and not light.
19 As if a man did flee from a lyon, & a beare met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.
20 Shall not the day of the Lord be darkenes, and not light? euen darkenes and no light in it?
21 I hate and abhorre your feast dayes, and I will not smell in your solemne assemblies.
22 Though ye offer me burnt offrings & meat offrings, l I will not accept them: neither wil I regard the peace offrings of your fat beasts.
23 Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs (for I will not heare the melodie of thy vyoles)
24 And let iudgement runne downe as m waters, and righteousnesse as a mightie riuer.
25 Haue ye offered vnto me sacrifices and of-frings in the wildernesse fourtie yeeres, O house of Israel?

a Thus he calleth the princes & gouernours, which being ouerwhelmed with the great abūdance of Gods benefites, forgate God; & therfore he calleth them by ÿ name of beasts and not of men.
b They incourage such as haue authoritie ouer the people, to powle them, so that they may haue profite by it.
c He alludeth to fishers which catch fish by hookes and thornes.
d He speaketh this in contempt of them which resorted to these places, thinking that their great deuotion and good intētion had bene sufficient to haue bound God vnto them. e Reade Deut.14.28.
f As Leuit.7.13.
g You only delite in these outward ceremonies and haue none other respect.
h That is, lacke of bread and meate.
i I stayed the raine till the fruites of the earth were destroyed w drought, and yet you would not consider it to returne to me by repentance.
k They could not find water enough where they had heard say it had rained.
l As I plagued the Egyptians, Exod. 9.10.
m You were almost all cōsumed, and a few of you wonderfully preserued, 2.kin.14.26.
n Turne to him by a repentance.

a He so calleth them because they so boasted of themselues, or because they were giuen to wantonnes and dainties.

b Meaning that ÿ tenth part should scarcely be saued.
c In these places they worshipped new idoles, which afore time serued for the true honor of God: therefore he saith that these shal not saue them.
d In steade of iudgement and equitie they execute crueltie and oppression.
e He describeth the power of God, Iob 9.9.
f They hate the Prophets, which reproue them in the open assemblies.
g Ye take both his money and also his foode wherewith he should liue.
h God will so plague them, that they shall not suffer the godly once to open their mouths to admonish them of their faults.
i So that all degrees shall haue matter of lamentation for the great plagues.
k Thus he speaketh because the wicked and hypocrites sayde they were content to abide Gods iudgements, whereas the godly tremble and feare, Iere.30.7. ioel 2.2,11. zeph.1.15.
l Because ye haue corrupt my true seruice & remaine obstinate in your vices, Isa 1.11. iere.6.20.
m Do your duetie to God & to your neighbour, & so ye shal feele his grace plentifully, if you shew your abundant affections according to Gods word.

26 But you haue borne ⁿ Siccuth your King, and Chiun your images, and the starre of your gods, which ye made to your selues.
27 Therefore wil I cause you to goe into cap-tiuitie beyond Damascus, saith the Lorde, whose Name is the God of hostes.

CHAP. VI.

Against the princes of Israel liuing in pleasures.

WOe to ᵃ them that are at ease in Zion and trust in the moûtaine of Samaria, ᵇ which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them.
2 Goe you vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence goe you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistims: be ᶜ they better then these kingdomes? or the border of their land greater then your border, 3 Ye that put farre away the ᵈ euill day, and approch to the seate of iniquitie?
4 They lie vpon beddes of yuorie, and stretch themselues vpon their beddes, and eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calues out of the stall.
5 They sing to the sounde of the viole: they inuent to themselues instrumentes of musike like ᵉ Dauid.
6 They drinke wine in bowles, and anoynt themselues with the chiefe ointments, but no man is ᶠ sorie for the affliction of Ioseph.
7 Therefore nowe shall they go captiue with the first that go captiue, and ᵍ the sorow of them that stretched themselues, is at hand.
8 ʰ The Lord God hath sworne by himselfe, saith the Lorde God of hostes, I abhorre ⁱ the ex-cellencie of Iaakob, & hate his palaces: therefore will I deliuer vp the citie with all that is therein.
9 And if there remaine ten men in one house,
they shall die.
10 And his vncle ᵏ shall take him vp & burne him to cary out the bones out of the house, and shall say vnto him, that is by ẏ ˡ sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And he shal say, None.
Then shal he say, ᵐ Holde thy tongue: for we may not remember the Name of the Lord.
11 For behold, the Lord commandeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the litle house with clefts.
12 Shall horses ⁿ runne vpon the rocke? or will one plowe there with oxen? for yee haue turned iudgement into gall, and the fruite of righteousnes into ᵒ wormewood.
13 Ye reioyce in a thing of nought: yee say, Haue not wee gotten vs ᵖ hornes by our owne strength?
14 But behold, I will raise vp against you a nation, O house of Israel, sayeth the Lorde God of hostes: and they shall afflict you, from the entring in of ᑫ Hamath vnto the riuer of the wildernesse.

n That idole which you esteemed as your king, & caried about, as you did Chiun, in the which images you thought that there was a certaine diuinitie.

a The Prophet threatneth the wealthie, which regarded not Gods plagues nor menaces by his Prophets.
b These two cities were famous by their first inhabitants the Canaanites: and seeing before time they did nothing auaile them that were there borne, why should you looke that they should saue you which were brought in to dwell in other mens possessions?
c If God haue destroyed these excellent cities in three diuers kingdomes, as in Babylon, Syria, and of the Philistims, and hath brought their wide borders into a greater streightnesse, then yours yet are, thinke you to be better or to escape? d Ye that continue still in your wickednes and thinke that Gods plagues are not at hand, but giue your selues to all idlenes, wantonnes and riot.
e As he caused diuers kindes of instruments to be made to serue Gods glorie, so these did contend to inuent as many to serue their wanton affections and lusts.
f They pitied not their brethren, whereof now many were slaine and caried away captiue.
g Some reade, the ioy of them that stretch themselues, shall depart. h Reade Iere. 51. 14. i That is, the riches and pompe. k The destruction shalbe so great, that none shall almost be left to burie the dead: and therefore they shall burne them at home, to cary out the burnt ashes with more ease. l That is, to some neighbour, that dwelleth round about. m They shall be so astonished at this destruction, that they shall boast no more of the Name of God, and that they are his people: but they shall be dumme when they heare Gods Name, and abhorre it, as they that are desperate or reprobate. n He compareth them to barren rockes whereupon it is in vayne to bestowe labour: shewing that Gods benefites can haue no place among them. o Reade Chap. 5. 7. p That is, power and glorie. q From one corner of the countrey to another.

CHAP. VII.

God sheweth certaine visions, whereby he signifieth the destruction of the people of Israel. 10 The false accusation of Amaziah. 12 His craftie counsell.

THus hath the Lorde God shewed vnto mee, and beholde, he formed ᵃ grashoppers in the beginning of ẏ shooting vp of the latter grouth:
and loe, it was in the latter grouth ᵇ after the Kings mowing.
2 And when they had made an end of eating the grasse of the land, then I said, O Lorde God, spare, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob?
for he is small.
3 So the Lord ᶜ repented for this. It shall not be, saith the Lord.
4 ¶ Thus also hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, the Lord God called to iudge-ment by fire, ᵈ and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eate vp a part.
5 Then said I, O Lorde God, cease, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for he is small.
6 So the Lord repented for this. This also shal not be, saith the Lord God.
7 ¶ Thus againe he shewed me, and behold, the Lord stoode vpon a wall made by line ᵉ with a line in his hand.
8 And the Lorde saide vnto me, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A line. Then said the Lord, Beholde, I will set a line in the middes of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.
9 And the hie places of Izhak shall be desolate, and the temples of Israel shall be destroyed:
and I will rise against the house of Ieroboam with
the sword.
10 ¶ ᶠ Then Amaziah the Priest of Beth-el sent to Ieroboam King of Israel, saying Amos hath conspired against thee in the middes of the house of Israel: the lande is not able to beare all his words.
11 For thus Amos saith, Ieroboam shall die by the sworde, and Israel shalbe led away captiue out of their owne land.
12 Also ᵍ Amaziah sayd vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe, flee thou away into the lande of Iudah, and there eate thy bread and prophecie there.
13 But prophecie no more at Beth-el: for it is the Kings chapel, and it is the Kings court.
14 Then answered Amos, & said to Amaziah,
I was no ʰ Prophet, neither was I a prophets sonne, but I was an herdman, & a gatherer of wilde figs.
15 And the Lord tooke me as I followed the flocke, and the Lord said vnto me, Go, prophecie vnto my people Israel.
16 Now therefore heare thou the word of the Lord. Thou sayest, Prophecie not against Israel, & speake nothing against the house of Izhak.
17 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, ⁱ Thy wife shall be an harlot in the citie, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be diuided by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shal surely go into capti-uitie forth of his land.

a To deuoure the land: & he alludeth to the inuading of the enemies.
b After the publike commandement for mowing was giuen: or as some reade, when the Kings sheepe were shorne.
c That is, stayed this plague at my prayer.
d Meaning, that Gods indignation was inflamed against the stubbernes of this people.
e Signifying, that this should be the last measuring of the people, & that he would deferre his iudgement no longer.
f That is, when Amos had prophecied that the King should be destroyed: for this wicked Priest more for hatred he bare to the Prophet then for loue toward the King, thought this accusation sufficient to condemne him, whereas none other could take place.
g When this instrument of Satan was not able to compasse his purpose by the King, he assayed by another practise: that was, to feare the Prophet, that he might depart, and not reproue their idolatrie there openly, & so hinder his profite.
h Thus he sheweth by his extraordinarie vocation, that God had giuen him a charge which he must needs execute.
i Thus God vsed to approue the authoritie of his Prophets by his plagues & iudgements against them, which were malicious enemies, Iere. 28. 12. and 29. 21, 25. as this day he doeth against them that persecute the ministers of his Gospel.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Against the rulers of Israel. 7 The Lord sweareth. 11 The famine of the word of God.

THus hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and beholde, a basket of summer fruite.
2 And he said, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayd, A basket of summer ᵃ fruite. Then sayd the Lorde vnto me, The ende is come vpon my people of Israel, I will passe by them no more.
3 And the songs of the Temple shalbe how-lings in that day, saith the Lord God: many dead bodies

a Which signified the ripenesse of their sinnes & the readines of Gods iudgements.

bodies shalbe in euery place: they shall cast them forth with [b] silence.
4 Heare this, O yee that [c] swallow vp the poore, that ye may make the needie of the lande to fayle,
5 Saying, When will the [d] newe moneth bee gone, that we may sell corne? and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheate, and make [e] the Ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifie the weights by deceit?
6 That we may buy the poore for siluer, and the needie for shooes: yea, and sell the refuse of
the wheate.
7 The Lorde hath sworne by the excellencie of Iaakob, Surely I will neuer forget any of their workes.
8 Shall not the lande tremble for this, and e-uery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise vp wholy as a flood, and it shall bee cast out, and [f] drowned as by the flood of Egypt.
9 And in that day, sayth the Lorde God, I will euen cause the [g] sunne to go downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.
10 And I will turne your feastes into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackcloth vpon all loynes, and baldnes vpon euery head: and I wil make it as the mourning of an onely sonne, and the ende thereof as a bitter day.
11 Beholde, the dayes come, sayth the Lorde God, that I will send a famine in the lande, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.
12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shal they run to and fro to seeke the [h] worde of the Lorde, and shall not finde it.
13 In that day shall the faire virgines and the yong men perish for thirst.
14 They that sweare by the sinne [i] of Samaria, and that say, Thy God, O Dan, liueth, and [k] the maner of Beer-sheba liueth, euen they shall fall, and neuer rise vp againe.

b There shall be none left to mourne for them.
c By staying the sale of foode and necessary things which you haue gotten into your owne hands, and so cause the poore to spende quickly that litle that they haue, and at length for necessitie to become your slaues.
d When ÿ dearth was once come, they were so greedie of gaine, that they thought the holy day to be an hinderance vnto them. e That is, the measure small, and the price great.
f That is, the inhabitants of ÿ lande shalbe drowned, as Nilus drowneth many when it ouerfloweth.
g In the middes of their prosperitie, I will sende great affliction.
h Whereby he sheweth that they shall not onely perish in body, but also in soule for lacke of Gods worde, which is the foode thereof.
i For the idolaters did vse to sweare by their idoles, which here he calleth their sinne, as the papistes yet doe by theirs.
k That is, the common manner of worshipping and the seruice or religion there vsed.

CHAP. IX.

1 Threatnings against the Temple, 2 And against Israel. 11 The restoring of the Church.

I Sawe the Lorde standing vpon the [*] [a] altar, and he sayde, Smite the lintel of the doore, that the postes may shake: and cut them in pieces, euen the [b] heads of them all, and I will slay the last of them with the sword: he that fleeth of them, shall not flee away: and he that escapeth of them, shal not be deliuered.
2 Though they digge into the hel, thence shal mine hande take them: though they clime vp to heauen, thence will I bring them downe.

a Which was at Ierusalem: for he appeared not in the idolatrous places of Israel.
b Both the chiefe of them and also the common people.

3 And though they hide them selues in the toppe of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my sight in the bottome of the sea, thence will I commande the [c] serpent, and he shall bite them.
4 And though they goe into captiuitie before their enemies, thence wil I commande the sword, and it shall slay them: and I will set mine eyes vp-on them for euill, and not for good.
5 And the Lord God of hostes shall touch the land, and it shall melt away, & all that dwell therein shall mourne, and it shall rise vp wholy like a flood, and shall bee drowned as by the flood of Egypt.
6 He buildeth his [d] spheres in the heauen, and hath layde the foundation of his globe of elementes in the earth: he calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth:
the Lord is his Name.
7 Are ye not as the Ethiopians [e] vnto mee, O children of Israel, sayeth the Lorde? haue not I brought vp Israel out of the land of Egypt? and the Philistims from [f] Caphtor, and Aram frō Kir?
8 Beholde, the eyes of the Lord God are vpon the sinfull kingdome, and I will destroy it cleane out of the earth. Neuerthelesse I will not vtterly [g] destroy the house of Iaakob, saith the Lord.
9 For loe, I will command and I will sift the house of Israel among all nations, like as corne is sifted in a sieue: yet shall not the [h] least stone fall vpon the earth.
10 But all the sinners of my people shall dye
by the sword, which say, The euil shall not come, nor hasten for vs.
11 In the day will I raise vp the [i] tabernacle of Dauid, that is fallen downe, and close vp the breaches thereof, and I will rayse vp his ruines, and I will builde it, as in the dayes of olde, 12 That they may possesse the remnant of [k] Edom, and of all the heathen, because my Name is called vpon them, sayth the Lorde, that doeth this.
13 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the plowman shall [l] touche the mower, and the treader of grapes him that soweth seede: and the mountaines shall [m] drop sweete wine, and all the hils shall melt.
14 [n] And I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people of Israel: and they shal build the waste cities, and inhabite thē, and they shall plant vine-yardes, and drinke the wine thereof: they shall also make gardens, and eate the fruites of them.
15 And I will plant them vpon their land, and they shall no more bee pulled vp againe out of their lande, which I haue giuen them, sayeth the Lorde thy God.

c He sheweth that God will declare himselfe enemie vnto them in all places, and that his elements and all creatures shalbe enemies to destroy them.
d He declareth by the wonderfull power of God by the making of the heauens and the elements that it is not possible for man to escape his iudgements when he punisheth.
e Am I more bound to you then to the Ethiopians or Blackmores? yet haue I bestowed vpon you greater benefites.
f Reade Iere. 47. 4.
g Though he destroy the rebellious multitude, yet he will euer reserue the remnant his Church to call vpon his Name.
h Meaning, that none of his should perish in his wrath.
i I will send the Messiah promised and restore by him the spirituall Israel, Act. 15. 16.
k Meaning, that the very enemies, as were the Edomites and others, shoulde be ioyned with the Iewes in one societie and bodie, whereof Christ should be the head.
l Signifying that there shall bee great plentie of all things, so that when one kinde of fruite is ripe, another shoulde followe and euery one in course, Leuit. 26. 5. m Reade Ioel 3. 18.
n The accomplishment hereof is vnder Christ, when they are planted in his Church, out of the which they can neuer be pulled, after they are once graffed therein.

OBADIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Idumeans which came of Esau, were mortall enemies alway to the Israelites, which came of Iaakob, and therefore did not onely vexe them continually with sundrie kindes of crueltie, but also stirred vp others to fight against them. Therefore when they were nowe in their greatest prosperitie, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and miserie, God raysed vp his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, for asmuch as God had nowe determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so sore vexe them, and to send them such as shoulde deliuer them, and set vp the kingdome of Messiah, which he had promised.

THe vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lorde God against Edom, a We haue heard a rumour frō the Lorde, and an ambassadour is sent among the heathen: arise, & b let vs rise vp against her to battel.
2 Beholde, I haue made thee smal among the heathen: thou art vtterly despised.
3 The c pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou ý dwellest in the clefts of the rockes, whose habitatiō is hie, that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me downe to the ground?
4 Though thou exalt thy selfe as the eagle, and make thy nest among the starres, thence wil I bring thee downe, sayth the Lord.
5 d Came theeues to thee or robbers by night?
howe wast thou brought to silence? would they not haue stolen, til they had ynough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, woulde they not leaue some grapes?
6 Howe are the things of Esau sought vp, and his treasures searched?
7 All the men of thy confederacie e haue driuen thee to ý borders: the men that were at peace ẇ thee, haue deceiued thee, and preuailed against thee: they that eate thy f bread, haue laid a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him.
8 Shall not I in that day, sayth the Lorde, euen destroy the wise men out of Edom, and vnder-standing from the mount of Esau?
9 And thy strong men, O Teman, shall be afraide, because euery one of the mount of Esau shalbe cut off by slaughter.
10 For thy crueltie against thy g brother Iaa-kob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer.
11 When thou stoodest h on the other side, in the day ý the strangers caried away his substance, and strangers entred into his gates, and cast lots vpon Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them.
12 But thou shouldest not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that he was made i a stranger, neither shouldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction.
13 Thou shouldest not haue entred into the gate of my people, in the day of their destruction, neither shouldest thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue layde hands on their substance in the day of their destruction.
14 Neyther shouldest thou haue stand in the crosse wayes to cut off them, that shoulde escape, neither shouldest thou haue shut vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.
15 For the day k of the Lorde is neere, vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall bee done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head.
16 For as yee haue l drunke vpon mine holy Mountaine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shall drinke and swallow vp, and they shall be m as though they had not bene.
17 But vpon mount Zion shalbe deliuerance, and it shalbe holy, and the house of Iaakob shall possesse their possessions, 18 And the house of Iaakob shalbe n a fire, & the house of Ioseph a flame, and the house of Esau as stubble, and they shall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there shall bee no remnant of the house of Esau: for the Lord hath spoken it.
19 And they shall possesse the South side of the o mount of Esau, and the plaine of the Philistims: and they shal possesse the fieldes of Ephraim, and the fieldes of Samaria, and Beniamin shall haue Gilead.
20 And the captiuitie of this host of the children of Israel, which were among the p Canaanites, shall possesse vnto Zarephath, and the cap-tiuitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall pos-sesse the cities of the South.
21 And they q that shall saue, shall come vp to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdome shalbe the Lords.

a God hath certainely reueiled to his Prophets that he will raise vp the heathen to destroy ý Edomites, whereof the rumour is now published, Iere.49.14.
b Thus the heathē encourage themselues to rise against Edom.
c Which despisest al others in respect of thy selfe, & yet are but an handfull in comparison of others, & are shut vp among ý hilles as separate frō the rest of the world.
d God will so destroy them that he will leaue none, though theeues when they come, take but till they haue inough, and they that gather grapes, euer leaue some behinde them, Iere.49.9
e They in whome thou diddest trust, for to haue helpe and friendship of them, shalbe thine enemies and destroy thee.
f That is, thy familiar friends and ghestes haue by secrete practises destroyed thee.
g He sheweth the cause why the Edomites were so sharpely punished: to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whome now he comforteth by punishing their enemies.
h When Nebuchad-nezzar came against Ierusalem, thou ioynedst with him, and hadst parte of the spoyle, & so didst reioyce when my people, that is, thy brother, were afflicted, whereas thou shouldest haue pitied & holpē thy brother.
i When the Lord depriued them of their former dignitie and gaue the to be caried into captiuitie.
k When he will summon all ý heathen, and send the to destroy thee.
l That is, reioyced and triumphed.
m The Edomites shalbe vtterly destroyed, and yet in despite of all the enemies I will reserue my Church and restore it.
n God attributeth this power, to consume his enemies, to his Church, which power is onely proper to him selfe, as Isa.10,17. deut.4.24 heb. 12.29.
o He describeth howe the Church shalbe enlarged & haue great possessions, but this chiefly is accōplished vnder Christ when as the faithful are made heires and lordes of all things by him which is their head.
p By the Canaanites the Iewes meane ý Dutchmē & by Zarephath, Fraunce, & by Sepharad, Spaine.
q Meaning, ý God will raise vp in his Church such as shall rule and gouerne for the defence of the same, and destruction of his enemies vnder Messiah, whome the Prophet calleth here the Lord and head of this kingdome.

IONAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

WHen Ionah had long prophecied in Israel and had litle profited, God gaue him expresse charge to goe, and denounce his iudgements against Nineueh the chiefe citie of the Assyrians, because he had appoynted, that they which were of the heathen, should conuert by the mightie power of his word, and that within three dayes preaching, that Israel might see how horribly they had prouoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeres, had not conuerted to the Lorde for so many Prophetes and so diligent preaching. He prophecied vnder Ioash, and Ieroboam, as 2. King.14.25.

CHAP. I.

3 Ionah fled when he was sent to preach. 4 A tempest ariseth and he is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

THe worde of the Lorde came a also vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying,
2 Arise, and goe to b Nineueh, that c great citie, and crye against it: for their wickednesse is come vp before mee.
3 But Ionah rose vp to d flee into Tarshish frō the presence of the Lord, and went downe to e Iapho: and he founde a ship going to Tarshish: so he payed the fare thereof, and went downe into it, that he might go with them vnto Tarshish, from the f presence of the Lord.
4 But the Lorde sent out a great winde into a After that he had preached a long time in Israel: and so Ezekiel, after that for a time he had prophecied in Iudea, hee had visions in Babylon, Ezek.1.1. b For seeing the great obstination of the Israelites, he sent his Prophet to the Gentiles that they might prouoke them to repentance, or at least make them inexcusable: for Nineueh was the chiefe citie of the Assyrians.

c For as authors write, it conteined in circuit about eight and fourtie mile, and had a thousand and fiue hundreth towers, and at this time there were an hundreth & twentie thousand children therein, Chap.4.11.
d Whereby he declared his weakenesse, that woulde not promptly followe the Lords calling, but gaue place to his owne reason, which perswaded him that hee shoulde nothing at all profite there, seeing hee had done so small good among his owne people, Chap.4.2. e Which was the hauen, and porte to take shipping thither, called also Ioppe.
f From that vocation whereunto God had called him, and wherein he would haue assisted him.

the sea,and there was a mightie tempest in the sea,so that the ship was like to be broken.
5 Then the mariners were afraide, and cryed euery man vnto his God, and cast the wares that were in the ship,into the sea to lighten it of thē: but Ionah was gone downe g into the sides of the ship,and lay downe,and was fast a sleepe.
6 So the shipmaster came to him, and sayde vnto him,What meanest thou,O sleeper ? Arise, call vpon thy h God,if so be that God wil thinke vpon vs,that we perish not.
7 And they sayde euery one to his fellowe, Come,and let vs cast i lottes,that we may knowe, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lottes,and the lot fell vpon Ionah.
8 Then said they vnto him,Tell vs for whose cause this euill is vpon vs ? what is thine occupation ? and whence commest thou ? which is thy countrey ? and of what people art thou?
9 And he sayde vnto them, I am an Ebrewe, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea,and the dry land.
10 Then were the men exceedingly afrayde, and sayd vnto him,Why hast thou done this?(for the men knewe, that he fled from the presence of the Lorde,because he had tolde them) 11 Then said they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs ? (for the sea wrought and was troublous) 12 And he said vnto them,Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea bee calme vnto you : for I knowe that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.
13 Neuerthelesse,the men rowed to bring it to the lande, but they coulde not : for the sea wrought,and was troublous against them.
14 Wherefore they cryed vnto the Lord, and said, k We beseech thee, O Lord,we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life , and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou,O Lord, hast done,as it pleased thee.
15 So they tooke vp Ionah,and cast him into the sea,and the sea ceased from her raging.
16 Then the men l feared the Lorde exceedingly,and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vowes.
17 Nowe the Lorde had prepared a great fish to swallowe vp Ionah : and Ionah was in the m belly of the fish three dayes,and three nights.

g As one that would haue cast of this care and sollicitude,by seeking rest and quietnesse.
h As they had called on their idoles,which declareth that idolaters haue no stay nor certeintie,but in their troubles seeke,they can not tell to whom.
i Which declareth that the matter was in great extremitie, and doubt, which thing was Gods motion in them for the triall of the cause: and this may not be done but in matters of great importance.
k This declareth that the very wicked in their necessities flee vnto God for succour,and also that they are touched with a certaine feare to shead mans blood whereas they knowe no manifest signe of wickednes.
l They were touched with a certaine repentance of their life past,and began to worship the true God, by whome they sawe themselues so wonderfully deliuered: but this was done for feare and not of a pure heart and affection, neither according to Gods worde.
m Thus the Lord would chastise his Prophet with a most terrible spectacle of death, and hereby also confirmed him of his fauour and support in this his charge which was inioyned him.

CHAP. II.

1 Ionah is in the fishes bellie. 2 His prayer. 10 He is deliuered.

THen Ionah prayed vnto the Lorde his God
a out of the fishes belly, 2 And said,I cryed in mine affliction vnto the Lorde, and he heard me: out of the bellie b of hell cryed I,and thou heardest my voyce.
3 For thou haddest cast me into the bot-tome in the middes of the sea,and the floods compassed me about : all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me.
4 Then I sayde,I am c cast away out of thy sight : yet will I looke againe towarde thine holy Temple.
5 The waters compassed me about vnto the soule : the depth closed me rounde about , and the weedes were wrapt about mine head.
6 I went downe to the bottome of the moūtaines : the earth with her barres was about me for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my d life from the pit, O Lorde my God.
7 When my soule fainted within me, I re-membred the Lorde : and my prayer came vnto thee,into thine holy Temple.
8 They that waite vpon lying e vanities, forsake their owne f mercie.
9 But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voice of thankesgiuing, and will pay that that I haue vowed : saluation is of the Lorde.
10 And the Lorde spake vnto the fish , and it cast out Ionah vpon the dry lande.

a Being nowe swallowed vp of death,and seeing no remedie to escape,his faith brast out vnto the Lorde, knowing that out of the very hell he was able to deliuer him.
b For he was nowe in the fishes bellie as in a graue or place of darknes c This declared what his prayer was,and how he laboured betweene hope and despaire,considering the neglect of his vocation and Gods iudgemants for the same: but yet in the ende faith gate the victorie.
d Thou hast deliuered me from the belly of the fish and all these dangers,as it were raising me from death to life.
e They that depende vpon any thing saue one God alone.
f They refuse their owne felicitie,and that goodnes which they should els receiue of God.

CHAP. III.

1 Ionah is sent againe to Nineueh. 5 The repentance of the King of Nineueh.

ANd the worde of the Lorde came vnto a Io-nah the second time,saying, 2 Arise:goe vnto Nineueh that great citie,& preach vnto it the preaching,which I bid thee.
3 So Ionah arose & went to Nineueh according to the word of ẏ Lord : now Nineueh was a b great & excellent citie of three dayes iourney.
4 And Ionah began to enter into the citie a dayes c iourney,and he cryed,and saide, Yet four-tie dayes,and Nineueh shalbe ouerthrowen.
5 So the people of Nineueh d beleeued God,and proclaimed a fast,and put on sackcloth from ẏ greatest of them euen to the least of them.
6 For worde came vnto the King of Nineueh,and he arose from his throne, and he layed his robe from him,and couered him with sacke-cloth,and sate in ashes.
7 And he proclaimed & said through Nineueh,(by the counsell of ẏ king & his nobles) saying,Let neither mā,nor e beast, bullock nor sheep taste any thing,neither feed nor drinke water.
8 But let man and beast put on sackecloth, and f crie mightily vnto God: yea, let euery man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednesse that is in their handes.
9 g Who can tell if God will turne, and repent and turne away from his fierce wrath , that we perish not?
10 And God sawe their h workes that they turned from their euill wayes : and i God repented of the euill that he had said that hee woulde doe vnto them,and did it not.

a This is a great declaration of Gods mercie,that he receiueth him againe and sendeth him forth as his Prophet,which had before shewed so great infirmitie.
b Reade Chap. 1.2.
c He went forwarde one day in the citie,and preached,and so he continued till the citie was conuerted.
d For he declared that he was a Prophet sent to them from God to denounce his iudgements against them. e Not that the dumbe beastes had sinned or could repent, but that by their example man might be astonished,considering that for his sinnes the anger of God hanged ouer all creatures.
f He willed that ẏ men should earnestly call vnto God for mercie.
g For partly by the threatning of the Prophet,and partly by the motion of his owne conscience he doubted whether God woulde shewe them mercie.
h That is,the fruites of their repentance,which did proceede of faith which God had planted by the ministerie of his Prophet.
i Reade Ierem.18,8.

CHAP. IIII.

The great goodnes of God toward his creatures.

THerefore it displeased a Ionah exceedingly,
and he was angrie.
2 And he prayed vnto the Lord,and saide, I pray thee,O Lord,was not this my saying, when I was yet in my countrey ? therefore I preuented it to flee vnto b Tarshish : for I knewe that thou art a gracious God,& merciful,slow to anger, and of great kindnes,and repentest thee of the euill.
3 Therefore nowe O Lorde , take I beseech thee,my life c from me: for it is better for me to die then to liue.
4 Then saide the Lorde,Doest thou well to a Because hereby he shoulde be taken as a false prophet, and so the Name of God,which he preached, should be blasphemed.

b Reade Chap. 1.3.
c Thus he prayed of griefe fearing least Gods Name by this forgiuenesse might be blasphemed as though he sent his Prophetes foorth to denounce his iudgements in vaine.

be d angry?
5 So Ionah went out of the citie and ſate on the Eaſt ſide of the citie, and there made him a boothe,and ſate vnder it in the ſhadowe e till he might ſee what ſhould be done in the citie.
6 And the Lorde God prepared a f gourde, and made it to come vp ouer Ionah, that it might be a ſhadowe ouer his head and deliuer him from his griefe. So Ionah was exceeding glad of the gourde.
7 But God prepared a worme when the morning roſe the next day,& it ſmote the gourd, that it withered.
8 And when the ſunne did ariſe, God prepared alſo a feruent Eaſt winde : and the ſunne beat vpon the head of Ionah,that he fainted,and wiſhed in his heart to die,and ſaid,It is better for me to dye,then to liue.
9 And God ſaid vnto Ionah, Doeſt thou well to be angrie for the gourde? And he ſaide, I doe well to be g angrie vnto the death.
10 Then ſaid the Lorde, Thou haſt had pitie on the gourde for the which thou haſt not laboured,neither madeſt it growe, which came vp in a night,and periſhed in a night.
11 And ſhoulde h not I ſpare Nineueh that great citie,wherein are ſixe ſcore thouſande per-ſons,that i cannot diſcerne betweene their right hand,and their left hand,and alſo much cattell?

d Wilt thou be Iudge when I doe things for my glorie,and when I doe not?
e For he douted as yet whether God would ſhew them mercie or no: and therefore after fourtie dayes he departed out of the citie,looking what iſſue God would ſende.
f Which was a further meanes, to couer him from the heate of the ſunne,as he remained in his boothe.
g This declareth the great inconueniences whereinto Gods ſeruants do fall when they giue place to their owne affections,and doe not in all things willingly ſubmit them ſelues to God.
h Thus God mercifully reproueth him,which would pitie him ſelfe,and this gourde,and yet would reſtraine God to ſhewe his compaſſion to ſo many thouſande people.
i Meaning,that they were children and infants.

MICAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

Micah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah ſerued in the worke of the Lorde, concerning Iudah and Iſrael at the leaſt thirtie yeeres : at what time Iſaiah prophecied. He declareth the deſtruction, firſt of the one kingdome,and then of the other, becauſe of their manifolde wickedneſſe, but chiefly for their idolatrie. And to this ende he noteth the wickedneſſe of the people,the crueltie of the princes and gouernours,and the permiſſion of falſe prophets, and the deliting in them, Then he ſetteth foorth the comming of Chriſt,his kingdome,and the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah, which reſiſted Ahab,and all his falſe prophets,as 1.King.22.8,but another of the ſame name.

CHAP. I.

1 The deſtruction of Iudah and Iſrael becauſe of their idolatrie.

THe worde of the Lorde, that came vnto Micah the a Moraſhite in the dayes of Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah, which he ſawe concerning Samaria, and Ieruſalem.
2 Heare,b al ye people:hearkē thou, O earth,
& all that therein is,& let the Lord God be witnes againſt you,euen ẏ Lord from his holy Tēple.
3 For beholde,the Lorde commeth out of his place,and will come c downe,and tread vpon
the hie places of the earth.
4 And the mountaines ſhall melt vnder him (ſo ſhall the valleys cleaue) as waxe before the fire,and as the waters ẏ are powred downewarde.
5 For the wickednes of Iaacob is all this, and for the ſinnes of the houſe of Iſrael : what is the wickednes of Iaakob? Is not d Samaria? & which are the hie e places of Iudah? Is not Ieruſalem?
6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the fielde, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cauſe the ſtones thereof to ſtumble downe into the valley, and I will diſcouer the foundations thereof.
7 And all the grauen images thereof ſhall be broken,and all the f giftes thereof ſhall be burnt with the fire,and all the idoles thereof will I deſtroy : for ſhe gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they ſhal returne g to the wages of an harlot.
8 Therefore I will mourne and howle : I wil goe without clothes,and naked : I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the oſtriches.
9 For her plagues are grieuous : for it is come into Iudah : the enemie is come vnto the gate of my people,vnto Ieruſalem.
10 Declare ye it not at h Gath, neither weepe ye: for the houſe of i Aphrah roule thy ſelfe in the duſt.
11 Thou ẏ dwelleſt at k Shaphir,goe together naked with ſhame : ſhe that dwelleth at Zaanan, ſhal not come forth in ẏ mourning of Beth-ezel:
the enemie ſhall l receiue of you for his ſtanding.
12 For the inhabitant of Maroth wayted for good, but euill came from the Lorde vnto the m gate of Ieruſalem.
13 O thou inhabitant of Lachiſh, binde the charet to the beaſtes n of price : ſhe o is the beginning of the ſinne of the daughter of Zion : for the tranſgreſsions of Iſrael were found in thee.
14 Therefore ſhalt thou giue preſents to Moreſheth p Gath : the houſes of Achzib ſhalbe as a lye to the Kings of Iſrael.
15 Yet will I bring an q heire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Mareſhah, he ſhall come vnto A-dullam, r the glorie of Iſrael.
16 Make thee balde : and ſhaue thee for thy delicate children : enlarge thy baldneſſe as the eagle,for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

a Borne in Mareſhah a citie of Iudah.
b Becauſe of the malice,and obſtinacie of the people whome he had ſo oftexhorted to repentance,he ſummoneth them to Gods iudgements, taking all creatures,and God himſelfe to witnes,that the preaching of his Prophets,which they haue abuſed, ſhalbe reuenged.
c Meaning hereby,that God will come to iudgement againſt the ſtrong cities and holdes.
d Samaria, which ſhould haue bene an example to all Iſrael of true religion and iuſtice, was the puddle, and ſtewes of all idolatrie and corruption,and boaſted them ſelues of their father Iaakob.
e That is,the idolatrie and infection.
f Which they gathered by euill practiſes,and thought that their idoles had enriched them therewith for their ſeruice done vnto them.
g The gaine that came by their idoles, ſhalbe conſumed as a thing of nought : for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten,ſo are they vilely and ſpeedily ſpent.
h Leſt the Philiſtims our enemies reioyce at our deſtruction.
i Which was a citie neere to Ieruſalem,Ioſhu.18,24,there called Ophrah,and ſignifieth duſt : therefore he willeth them to mourne, and roule them ſelues in the duſt, for their duſtie citie.
k Theſe were cities whereby the enemie ſhould paſſe as he came to Iudah.
l He ſhal not depart before he hath ouercome you,and ſo you ſhall pay for his tarying.
m For Rabſhakeh had ſhut vp Ieruſalem,that they could not ſend to ſuccour them.
n To flee away : for Sancherib laid ſiege firſt to that citie, and remained therein when he ſent his captaines and armie againſt Ieruſalem.
o Thou firſt receiuedſt the idolatrie of Ieroboam,and ſo diddeſt infect Ieruſalem.
p Thou ſhalt bribe the Philiſtims thy neighbours,but they ſhall deceiue thee, as well as they of Ieruſalem.
q He propheciesh againſt his owne citie, and becauſe it ſignified an heritage, he ſaith that God woulde ſend an heire to poſſeſſe it.
r For ſo they thought themſelues for the ſtrength of their citie.

CHAP. II.

1 Threatnings againſt the wanton and deintie people. 6 They woulde teach the Prophets to preach.

WO vnto them that imagine iniquitie, and worke wickedneſſe vpon their beddes:
a when the morning is light they practiſe it becauſe their hande † hath power.

a Aſſoone as they riſe,they executed their wicked deuiſes of the night,and according to their power hurt others.
† Ebr. Is in power.

2 And

b Thus the Iewes lament & say that there is no hope of restitution, seeing their possessions are deuided among y^e enemies.
c Ye shall haue no more lands to deuide, as you had in times past, and as you vsed to measure them in the Iubile.
d Thus the people warne the Prophets that they speake to them no more: for they cannot abide their threatnings.
e God saith that they shall not prophecie, nor receiue no more of their rebukes nor taũts.
f Are these your workes according to his Lawe?
g Do not the godly finde my words comfortable?
h That is, afore time.
i The poore can haue no commoditie by them, but they spoyle them, as though they were enemies.
k That is, their substance, and liuing, which is Gods blessing, and as it were, parte of his glorie.
l Ierusalem shall not be your safegarde: but y^e cause of your destructiõ.
m That is, shewe him selfe to be a Prophet.
n He sheweth what Prophets they delite in: that is, in flatterers, which tell them pleasant tales, and speake of their commodities.
o To destroy thee, them into Caldea.

2 And they couet fields, and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a man and his house, euen man and his heritage.
3 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, against this familie haue I deuised a plague, whereout yee shall not plucke your neckes, and ye shall not goe so proudly, for this time is euill.
4 In that day shall they take vp a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and say, b We bee vtterly wasted: he hath changed the portion of my people: how hath hee taken it away to restore it vnto me? hee hath deuided our fieldes.
5 Therefore thou shalt haue none that shall cast a corde by lot in c the congregation of the Lorde.
6 d They that prophecied, prophecie ye not.
e They shall not prophecie to them, neither shall they take shame.
7 O thou that art named of the house of Iaakob, is the Spirite of the Lorde shortened? f are these his workes? are not my wordes good vnto him g that walketh vprightly?
8 But hee that was h yesterday my people, is risen vp on the other side, as against an enemie:
they spoyle the i beautifull garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.
9 The women of my people haue ye cast out from their pleasant houses, and from their children haue ye taken away k my glorie continually.
10 Arise and depart, for this is not your l rest:
because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, euen with a sore destruction.
11 If a man m walke in the Spirit, and would lie falsely, saying, n I will prophecie vnto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, hee shall euen bee the prophet of this people.
12 I will surely gather o thee wholy, O Iaakob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, euen as the flocke in the mids of their folde: the cities shall be full of brute of the men.
13 The p breaker vp shall come vp before them: they shall breake out, & passe by the gate, and goe out by it, and their King shall goe before them, and the Lorde shalbe q vpon their heads.

p The enemie shall breake their gates and walles, and leade
q To driue them forward, and to helpe their enemies.

CHAP. III.

1 Against the tyrannie of princes and false prophets.

a That thing which is iust and lawfull, both to gouerne thy people aright, and also to discharge your owne conscience?
b The Prophet condemneth the wicked gouerners not onely of couetousnesse, theft and murther, but compareth them to wolues, lyons, and most cruell beastes.

AND I sayd, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Iaakob, and yee princes of the house of Israel:
should not ye knowe a iudgement?
2 But they hate the good, and loue the euill:
they plucke off their skinnes from them, & their flesh from their bones.
3 And they eate also the b flesh of my people, and flay off their skin from them, and they breake their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.
4 Then c shall they crye vnto the Lorde, but he will not heare them: he will euen hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their workes.
5 Thus saith the Lorde, Concerning the proc That is, when I shall visite their wickednesse: for though I heare the godly before they crie, Isa. 65.24. yet I will not heare these though they crye, Isai. 1.15. and Ezek. 8.18. iam. 2.12. 1.pet. 3.11,12.

phets that deceiue my people, and d bite them with their teeth, and cry peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre against him, 6 Therefore e night shalbe vnto you for a vision, and darkenesse shalbe vnto you for a diuination, and the sunne shall goe downe ouer the prophets, and the day shalbe darke ouer them.
7 Then shall the Seers be ashamed, and the southsayers confounded: yea, they shall all couer f their lippes, for they haue none answere of God.
8 Yet notwithstanding I am full g of power by the Spirite of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of strength to declare vnto Iaakob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.
9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heads of the house of Iaakob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie.
10 They build vp Zion with h blood, and Ierusalem with iniquitie.
11 The heads thereof iudge for rewardes, and the Priestes thereof teache for hyre, and the prophets thereof prophecie for money: yet will they i leane vpon the Lorde, and say, Is not the Lorde among vs? no euill can come vpon vs.
12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake bee k plowed as a field, & Ierusalem shalbe an heape, and the mountaine of the house, as the hie places of the forest.

d They deuoure all their substance, and then flatter them, promising that all shall goe well: but if one restraine from their bellies, then they inuent all wayes to mischiefe.
e As you haue loued to walke in darkenesse, and to prophecie lies, so God shall rewarde you with grosse blindnesse, and ignorance, so that when all others shall see the bright beames of Gods graces, ye shall as blinde men grope as in the night.
f When God shall discouer them to the worlde, they shalbe afraide to speake: for all shall knowe that they were but false prophets, and did belye the worde of God.
g The Prophet being assured of his vocation by the Spirit of God, setteth himselfe alone against all the wicked, shewing how God both gaue him giftes, habilitie and knowledge, to discerne betweene good and euill, and also constancie to reproue the sinnes of the people, and not to flatter them. h They builde them houses by briberie, which he calleth blood & iniquitie. i They wil say, that they are the people of God, and abuse his Name as a pretence to cloke their hypocrisie. k Reade Ierem. 26.18.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Of the kingdome of Christ, and felicitie of his Church.

BVt in the a last dayes it shall come to passe, that the mountaine of the House of the Lord shall be prepared in the toppe of the mountaines, and it shall bee exalted aboue the b hilles, and people shall flowe vnto it.
2 Yea, many nations shal come & say, Come, and let vs goe vp to the Mountaine of the Lorde, and to the House of the God of Iaakob, and hee will c teache vs his wayes, and we wil walke in his pathes: for the Lawe shall goe forth of Zion, and the worde of the Lord from Ierusalem.
3 And he shal iudge among many people, and d rebuke mightie nations a farre off, & they shall breake their swordes into mattockes, and their speares into e sithes: nation shal not lift vp a sword against nation, neither shall they f learne to fight any more.
4 But they shall sit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his figge tree, and none shall make them afraide: for the mouth of the Lord of hostes hath spoken it.
5 For all people wil walke g euery one in the name of his God, and we will walke in the Name of the Lord our God, for euer and euer.
6 At the same day, saith the Lorde, will I gather her that halteth, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that is afflicted.
7 And I will make her that halted, h a remnant, and her that was cast farre off, a mightie nation: and the Lorde shall reigne ouer them in a When Christ shall come, and the Temple shalbe destroyed.

b Reade Isa. 2.2.
c He sheweth that there is no true Church but where as the people are taught by Gods pure worde.
d By his corrections and threatnings hee will bring the people into subiection which are in the vtmost corners of the worlde.
e They shall absteine from all euill doing, and exercise themselues in godlinesse and in well doing to others.
f Reade Isa. 2.4.
g He sheweth that the people of God ought to remaine constant in their religion, albeit all the worlde should giue themselues to their superstition and idolatrie.
h I will cause that Israel, which is now as one lame and halting, and so almost destroyed, shall liue againe and growe into a great people.

Mount

Mount Zion,from hence forth euen for euer.
8 And thou,O [l] towre of the flock,the strong holde of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shall it come, euen [k] the first dominion, and kingdome shall come to the daughter Ierusalem.
9 Now why doest thou crie out with lamentation? is [l] there no King in thee? is thy counseller perished? for sorowe hath taken thee,as a woman in trauaile.
10 Sorow and mourne, O daughter Zion,like a woman in trauaile: for now shalt thou goe forth of the citie,and dwell in the field,and shalt goe into Babel, but there shalt thou be deliuered: there the Lorde shall redeeme thee from the hande of thine enemies.
11 Nowe also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shalbe condemned and our eye shall looke vpon Zion.
12 But they [m] knowe not the thoughtes of the Lord: they vnderstand not his counsell,for he shall gather them as the sheaues in the barne.
13 Arise, and thresh, [n] O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horne yron, and I will make thine hooues brasse, and thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I wil consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole worlde.

l Meaning Ierusalem,where the Lords flocke was gathered.
k The florishing state of the kingdome,as it was vnder Dauid and Salomon, which thing was accomplished to the Church by the comming of Christ.
l In the meane season he sheweth that they should endure great troubles and tentations when they sawe themselues neither to haue king nor counsel.
m Hee sheweth that the faithfull ought not to measure Gods iudgements by ẏ brags and threatnings of the wicked,but thereby are admonished to lift vp their hearts to God to call for deliuerance.
n God giueth his Church this victorie, so oft as hee ouercommeth their enemies: but the accomplishment hereof shalbe at the last comming of Christ.

CHAP. V.

1 The destructiō of Ierusalem. 2 The excellencie of Beth-leem.

NOwe assemble thy garisons, O daughter [a] of garisons: he hath layde siege against vs: they shall smite the iudge of Israel with a rod vpon the cheeke.
2 And thou Beth-leem Ephrathah art [b] litle to bee among the thousands of Iudah, yet out of thee shall he come forth vnto me,that shall be the ruler in Israel: whose [c] goings forth haue bene from the beginning and from euerlasting.
3 Therefore will he giue them vp, vntill the time that [d] shee which shall beare, shall trauaile:
then the remnant of their brethren shall returne vnto the children of Israel.
4 And he shal [e] stand,& feede in the strength of the Lorde, and in the maiestie of the Name of the Lord his God,& they shal dwell still: for now shall he be magnified vnto the endes of the world.
5 And hee [f] shall be our peace when Asshur shall come into our lande: when he shall treade in our palaces, then shall wee raise against him seuen shepheards,and eight principall men.
6 And they shall destroy [g] Asshur with the sword, & the land of Nimrod with their swordes:
thus shall he [h] deliuer vs from Asshur, when hee commeth into our lande, and when he shall tread within our borders.
7 And the [i] remnant of Iaakob shalbe among many people,as a dewe from the Lord, and as the showres vpon the grasse, that waiteth not for mā, a He forewarneth them of the dangers that shal come before they enioy these comforts, shewing that forasmuch as Ierusalem was accustomed with her garisons to trouble others,the Lorde would now cause other garisons to vexe her,and that her Rulers should be smitten on the face most contemptuously.

b For so the Iewes deuided their countrey, that for euery thousand there was a chiefe captaine: and because Beth-leem was not able to make a thousand,he calleth it litle,but yet God will raise vp his captaine & gouernour therein: and thus it is not the least by reason of this benefite,as Matth.2.6.
c He sheweth that the comming of Christ and all his wayes were appointed of God from all eternitie. d He compareth the Iewes to women with child,who for a time should haue great sorowes, but at length they shoulde haue a comfortable deliuerance, Ioh.16.21. e That is,Christs kingdome shalbe stable and euerlasting, & his people,aswel the Gentiles as the Iewes shal dwell in safetie. f This Messiah shalbe a sufficient sauegard for vs,and though the enemie inuade vs for a time,yet shall God stirre vp many which shalbe able to deliuer vs. g These whom God shall raise vp for the deliuerance of his Church, shall destroy all the enemies thereof, which are meant here by the Assyrians & Babylonians which were the chiefe at that time. h By these gouernours will God deliuer vs when the enemie commeth into our land. i This remnant or Church which God shall deliuer,shall onely depend on Gods power & defence,as doth the grasse of the field, and not on the hope of man, nor hopeth in the sonnes of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Iaakob shalbe among the Gentiles in the middes of many people, as the lyon among the beastes of the forest, and as the lyons whelpe among the flockes of sheepe, who when he goeth thorow, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces,and none can deliuer.
9 Thine hand shall bee lift vp vpon thine ad-uersaries,and all thine enemies shalbe cut off.
10 And it shall come to passe in that day,sayth the Lorde, that I will cut off thine [k] horses out of the middes of thee, and I will destroy thy charets.
11 And I wil cut off the cities of thy land,and ouerthrowe all thy strong holdes.
12 And I will cut off thine enchanters out of thine hand: and thou shalt haue no more southsayers.
13 Thine idoles also will I cut off, and thine images out of the middes of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the worke of thine hands.
14 And I will plucke vp thy groues out of the middes of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies.
15 And I wil execute a vengeance in my wrath and indignation vpon the heathen, [l] which they haue not heard.

k I wil destroy all things wherein thou puttest thy confidence,as thy vaine confidence and idolatrie,and so will helpe thee.
l It shalbe so terrible that the like hath not bene heard of.

CHAP. VI.

An exhortation to the dumme creatures to heare the iudgement against Israel being vnkinde. 6 What maner of sacrifices doe please God.

HEarken yee now what the Lorde saith, Arise thou, and contende before the [a] mountaines, and let the hilles heare thy voyce.
2 Heare ye, O mountaines, the Lordes quarell, and ye mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarell against his people, and he will pleade with Israel.
3 O my people,what haue I done vnto thee?
or wherin haue I grieued thee? testifie against me.
4 Surely I [b] brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of seruants, & I haue sent before thee, Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.
5 O my people, remember now what Balak King of Moab had deuised, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from [c] Shittim vnto Gilgal, that ye may knowe the [d] righteousnesse of
the Lorde.
6 Wherewith [e] shall I come before the Lord, and bowe my selfe before the hie God? Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, and with calues of a yeere olde?
7 Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rams,or with ten thousand riuers of oyle? shall I giue my [f] first borne for my transgression, euen
the fruite of my body,for the sinne of my soule?
8 He hath shewed thee, O man,what is good, and what the Lorde requireth of thee: [g] surely to doe iustly,and to loue mercie, and to humble thy selfe,to walke with thy God.
9 The Lordes voyce cryeth vnto the [h] citie,
and the man of wisedome shall see thy name:
Heare the rodde,and who hath appoynted it.
10 Are yet the treasures of wickednesse in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure, that is abominable?

a He taketh the hie mountaines and hard rocks to witnesse against the obstinacie of his people.
b I haue not hurt thee,but bestowed infinite benefites vpon thee.
c That is,remember my benefites from the beginning how I deliuered you from Balaams curse, and also spared you from Shittim, which was in the plaine of Moab, til I brought you into the land promised.
d That is, the trueth of his promes and his manifolde benefites towarde you.
e Thus the people by hypocrisie aske how to please God,and are content to offer sacrifices,but will not change their liues.
f There is nothing so deare to man, but the hypocrites will offer it vnto God,if they thinke thereby to auoyde his anger: but they will neuer bee brought to mortifie their owne affections & to giue themselues willingly to serue God as he commandeth. g The Prophet in fewe wordes calleth them to the obseruation of the second table, to knowe if they wil obey God aright or no, saying that God hath prescribed them to doe this. h Meaning that when God speaketh to any citie or nation, the godly will acknowledge his maiestie, and consider not the mortall man that bringeth the threatning, but God that sendeth it.

11 Shall

11 Shal I iustifie the wicked balances, and the bag of deceitfull weightes?
12 For the rich men ithereof are full of cru-eltie, and the inhabitants thereof haue spoken lies,
and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.
13 Therefore also will I make thee sicke in smiting thee, and in making thee desolate, because of thy sinnes.
14 Thou shalt eate and not be satisfied, and k thy casting downe shall be in the mids of thee, and thou l shalt take holde, but shalt not deliuer:
and that which thou deliuerest, will I giue vp to
the sworde.
15 Thou shalt sowe, but not reape: thou shalt treade the oliues, but thou shalt not anoint thee with oyle, and make sweete wine, but shalt not drinke wine.
16 For the m statutes of Omri are kept, & all the maner of the house of Ahab, and ye walke in their counsels, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore ye shall beare the reproche of my people.

i That is, of Ierusalem.
k Thou shalt be consumed with inwarde griefe and euils.
l Meaning, that the citie should goe about to saue her men, as they that lay holde on that which they would preserue.
m You haue receiued all the corruption and idolatrie, wherewith the ten tribes were infected vnder Omri and Ahab his sonne: and to excuse your doings, you alledge the Kings authority by his statutes, & also wisedome and policy in so doing, but you shall not escape ponishment, but as I haue shewed you great fauour, and taken you for my people, so shall your plagues be accordingly, Luke 12.47.

CHAP. VII.

1 A complaint for the small nomber of the righteous. 4 The wickednesse of those times. 14 The prosperitie of the Church.

WO is mee, for I am as a the sommer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eate: my soule desired the first ripe fruites.
2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: b they all lye in wayte for blood: euery man hunteth his brother with a net.
3 To make good for the euil of their hands, the prince asked, and the iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the c great man he speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so d they wrap it vp.
4 The best of them is as e a brier, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of f thy watchmen and thy visitation commeth: then shalbe their confusion.
5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counseller: keepe the doore of thy mouth from her that lyeth in thy bosome.
6 For the sonne reuileth the father: ẏ daughter riseth vp against her mother: the daughter in lawe against her mother in lawe, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house.
7 Therefore g I will looke vnto the Lorde:
I will waite for God my Sauiour: my God will heare me.
8 Reioyce not against me, h O mine enemie: though I fall, I shall rise: when I shall sit in darkenesse, the Lord shalbe a light vnto me.
9 I will beare the wrath of the Lord because I haue sinned against him, vntill he pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for me: then will he bring me foorth to the light, and I shall see his righteousnesse.
10 Then she that is mine enemie, shall looke vpon it, and shame shall couer her, which said vnto me, Where is the Lorde thy God? Mine eyes shall behold her, now shall she be troden downe as the myre of the streetes.
11 This is i ẏ day, that thy walles shalbe built:
this day shall driue farre away k the decree.
12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from l Asshur, and from the strong cities, and from the strong holdes euen vnto the riuer, and from Sea to Sea, and from mountaine to mountaine.
13 Notwithstanding, the lande shall be desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruites of m their inuentions.
14 n Feed thy people with thy rod, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitarie in the wood) as in the middes of Carmel: let them feede in Bashan and Gilead, as in old time.
15 o According to the dayes of thy comming out of the lande of Egypt, will I shewe vnto him marueilous things.
16 The nations shall see, and bee confounded for all their power: they shall p lay their hande vpon their mouth: q their eares shall be deafe.
17 They shall r licke the dust like a serpent:
they shall mooue out of their holes like wormes:
they shalbe afraide of the Lord our God, & shall feare because of thee.
18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and s passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage! He retei-neth not his wrath for euer, because mercie plea-seth him.
19 He will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: he will subdue our iniquities, and cast all t their sinnes vnto the bottome of the sea.
20 Thou wilt perfourme thy u trueth to Iaa-kob, and mercie to Abraham, as thou hast sworne vnto our fathers in olde time.

a The Prophet taketh vpon him the person of the earth which complaineth that all her fruites are gone, so that none is left: that is, that there is no godly man remaining: for all are giuen to crueltie and deceite, so that none spareth his owne brother.
b He sheweth that the prince, the iudge and the rich man are linked together, all to doe euill and to cloke ẏ doings one of another.
c That is the rich man that is able to giue money, abstaineth from no wickednesse nor iniurie.
d These men agree among themselues and conspire with one consent to doe euill.
e They that are of most estimation, and are counted most honest among them, are but thornes and briers to pricke.
f Meaning, of the Prophets and gouernours.
g The Prophet sheweth ẏ the onely remedy for ẏ godly in desperate euils is to flee vnto God for succour.
h This is spoken in the person of the Church, which calleth the malignant Church her enemie.
i To wit, when God shall shewe himselfe a deliuerer of his Church and a destroyer of his enemies.
k Meaning, the cruel empire of the Babylonians.
l When the Church shall be restored, they that were enemies afore, shall come out of all the corners of the worlde vnto her, so that neither holdes, riuers, seas nor mountaines shalbe able to let them.
m Afore this grace appeare, he sheweth how grieuously the hypocrites themselues shall be punished, seeing that the earth it selfe, which can not sinne, shalbe made waste because of their wickednesse.
n The Prophet prayeth to God to be mercifull vnto his Church, when they should be scattered abroade as in solitarie places in Babylon, and to be beneficiall vnto them as in time past.
o God promiseth to be fauourable to his people as he had bene in former time.
p They shalbe as dumme men and dare brag no more.
q They shalbe astonished & afraid to heare men speake, least they should heare of their destruction.
r They shall fall flat on the grounde for feare.
s As though he would not see it, but winke at it.
t Meaning, of his elect.
u The Church is assured, that God will declare in effect the trueth of his mercifull promes, which he had made of olde to Abraham, and to all that should apprehende the promise by faith.

NAHVM.

THE ARGVMENT.

AS they of Nineueh shewed them selues prompt and readie to receiue the word of God at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certaine time rather giuing themselues to wordly meanes to encrease their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, & trade wherin they had begun, they cast off the care of religion, and so returned to their vomite, and prouoked Gods iust iudgement against them, in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was destroyed, and Meroch-baladan King of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad nezzar) enioyed the empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath a continuall care of his Church, he stirreth vp his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should be for their consolation. And as it seemeth, he prophecied about the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time of Manasseh his sonne, as the Iewes write.

CHAP. I.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliuerance of Israel.

THe a burden of Nineueh. b The booke of the vision of Nahum the c Elkeshite.
2 God is d ielous, & the Lord reuengeth: the Lord reuengeth:
euen the Lorde e of anger, the Lorde will take vengeance on his aduersaries, & he reserueth wrath for his enemies.
3 The f Lord is slow to anger, but he is great in power, and will not surely cleare the wicked:
the Lord hath his way in ẏ whirlewind, & in the storme, and the cloudes are the dust of his feete.
4 He rebuketh the sea, and dryeth it, and he dryeth vp all the riuers: Bashan is wasted and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is wasted.
5 The mountaines tremble for him, and the hilles melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the worlde, and all that dwell therein.
6 g Who can stande before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenesse of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rockes are broken by him.
7 The Lord is good h and as a strong holde in the day of trouble, and he knoweth them that trust in him.
8 But passing ouer as with a flood, he will vtterly destroy the i place thereof, and darknesse shall pursue his enemies.
9 What doe ye k imagine against the Lord?
he will make an vtter destruction: affliction shall not rise vp the seconde time.
10 For he shall come as vnto l thornes folden one in another, and as vnto drunkardes in their drunkennesse: they shall be deuoured as stubble fully dryed.
11 There m commeth one out of thee that imagineth euill against the Lorde, euen a wicked counsellour.
12 Thus saith the Lorde, Though they bee n quiet, and so many, yet thus shall they be put off when he shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.
13 For nowe I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burst thy bondes in sunder.
14 And the Lorde hath giuen a commandement concerning thee, that no more of thy name be o sowen: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the grauen, and the molten image: I will make it thy graue for thee, for thou art vile.
15 * Beholde vpon the mountaines the feete of him that declareth, and publisheth p peace: O Iudah, keepe thy solemne feastes, perfourme thy vowes: for the wicked shall no more passe tho-rowe thee: he is vtterly cut off.

a Reade Isa. 13.1. b The vision or reuelation, which God commanded Nahum to write concerning the Nineuites. c That is, borne in a poore village in the tribe of Simeon. d Meaning, of his glorie. e With his he is but angrie for a time, but his anger neuer asswageth towarde the reprobate, though for a time he deferre it. f Thus the wicked would make Gods mercy an occasion to sinne, but the prophet willeth them to consider his force and iustice. g If all creatures be at Gods commandement and none is able to resist his wrath, shall man flatter himselfe, and thinke by any meanes to escape when he prouoketh his God to anger? h Lest the faithfull should be discouraged by hearing the power of God, he sheweth them that his mercies appertaine vnto them, and that he hath care ouer them. i Signifying, that God will suddenly destroy Nineueh, and the Assyrians, in such sort as they shall lie in perpetuall darkenesse, and neuer recouer their strength againe. k He sheweth that the enterprises of the Assyrians against Iudah and the Church, were against God, and therefore he would so destroy them at once, that hee should not neede to returne the second time. l Though the Assyrians thinke them selues like thornes that pricke on all sides, yet the Lord will set fire on them, and as drunken men are not able to stande against any force, so they shall be nothing able to resist him. m Which may be vnderstande either of Saneherib or of the whole body of the people of Nineueh. n Though they thinke them selues in most safetie, and of greatest strength, yet when God shall passe by, he will destroy them: notwithstanding he comforteth his Church, and promiseth to make an ende of punishing them by the Assyrians. o Meaning Saneherib, who should haue no more children, but be slaine in the house of his gods. 2. King. 19.36.37. * Isa 52.7. romanes 10.15. p Which peace the Iewes should enioy by the death of Saneherib.

CHAP. II.

He describeth the victories of the Caldeans against the Assyrians.

THe a destroyer is come before thy face: keepe the munition: looke to the way: make thy loynes strong: increase thy strength mightily.
2 For the Lord hath b turned away the glorie of Iaakob, as the glorie of Israel: for the emptiers haue emptied them out, and c marred their vine branches.
3 The shield of his mightie men is made red:
d the valiant men are in skarlet: the charets shall be as in the fire and flames in the day of his preparation, and e the firre trees shall tremble.
4 The charets shall rage in the streetes: they shall runne to and fro in the hie wayes: they shall seeme like lampes: they shall shoote like the lightning.
5 f He shall remember his strong men: they shall stumble as they goe: they shall make haste to the walles thereof, and the defence shall bee prepared.
6 The gates of the riuers shalbe opened, and the place shall melt.
7 And Huzzab the Queene shal be led away captiue, and her maides shall leade her as with the voyce of doues, smiting vpon their breastes.
8 But Nineueh is g of olde like a poole of water: yet they shall flee away. Stande, stande, shall they crie: but none shall looke backe.
9 h Spoyle ye the siluer, spoyle the gold: for there is none ende of the store, and glorie of all the pleasant vessels.
10 i She is emptie and voyde and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorowe is in all loynes, and the faces k of them all gather blackenesse.
11 Where is the l dwelling of the lyons, and the pasture of the lyons whelpes? where the lyon, and the lionesse walked, and the lyons whelpe, &
none made them afrayde.
12 The lyon did teare in pieces ynough for his whelpes, and woryed for his lyonesse, and filled his holes with praye, and his dennes with spoyle.
13 Beholde, I come vnto thee, sayeth the Lorde of hostes, and I will burne her charets in the m smoke, and the sworde shall deuoure thy yong lyons, and I will cut off thy spoyle from the earth, and the voyce of thy n messengers shall no more be heard.

a That is, Nebuchad-nezzar is in a readinesse to destroy the Assyrians: and the Prophet derideth the enterprises of the Assyrians which prepared to resist him. b Seeing God hath punished his owne people Iudah and Israel, he will nowe punish the enemies by whome he scourgeth them, reade Isa 10.12. c Signifying that the Israelites were vtterly destroyed. d Both to feare the enemie, and also that they them selues shoulde not so soone espie blood one of another to discourage them. e Meaning, their speares shoulde shake and crashe together. f Then the Assyrians shall seeke by all meanes to gather their power, but all things shall faile them. g The Assyrians will scatter them selues and say, that Nineueh is so ancient that it can neuer perish, and is as a fishpoole, whose waters they that walke on the bankes can not touch, but they shalbe scattered, & shall not looke backe though men would call them. h God commandeth the enemies to spoyle Nineueh, and promiseth them infinite riches and treasures. i That is, Nineueh, and the men thereof shalbe after this sort. k Reade Ioel. 2.6. l Meaning Nineueh, whose inhabitants are cruell like the Lions, and giuen to all oppression, and spared no violence or tyrannie to prouide for their wiues and children. m That is assoone as my wrath beginneth to kindle. n Signifying the heraldes, which were accustomed to proclaime warre. Some reade of thy gumme teeth wherewith Nineueh was wont to bruise the bones of the poore.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the fall of Nineueh. 8 No power can escape the hande of God.

O Bloodie citie, it is all full of lyes, and robbe-rie: a the pray departeth not:
2 The noyse of a whippe, b and the noyse of the mouing of the wheeles, and the beating of the horses, and the leaping of the charets.
3 The horseman lifteth vp both the bright sword, and the glittering speare, and a multitude is slaine, and the dead bodies are many: there is none ende of their corpses: they stumble vpon their corpses,
4 Because of the multitude of the fornicati-ons of the c harlot that is beautifull, and is a mistresse of witchcraft, & selleth the people thorow

a It neuer ceaseth to spoyle and robbe. b He sheweth howe the Caldeans shall haste, and how couragious their horses shall be in beating the grounde when they come against the Assyrians. c He compareth Nineueh to an harlot, which by her beautie and subtiltie entiseth yong men, and bringeth them to destruction.

her whoredome, and the nations through her witchcrafts.

5 Beholde, I come vpon thee, saith the Lorde of hostes, and will discouer thy skirtes vpon thy face, and will shew the nations thy filthinesse, and the kingdomes thy shame.

6 And I will cast filth vpon thee, and make thee vile, and will set thee as a gasing stocke.

7 And it shal come to passe, that all they that looke vpon thee, shall flee from thee, and say, Nineueh is destroyed, who will haue pitie vpon her? where shall I seeke comforters for thee?

8 Art thou better then [d] No, which was full of people? that lay in the riuers, and had the waters round about it? whose ditche was the sea, and her wall was from the sea?

9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength, and there was none ende: Put and Lubim were || her helpers.

10 Yet was shee caryed away, and went into captiuitie: her young children also were dashed in pieces at the head of all the streetes: and they cast lottes for her noble men, and all her mightie men were bound in chaines.

11 Also thou shalt bee drunken: thou shalt hide thy selfe, and shalt seeke helpe because of the enemie.

12 All thy strong cities shall be like figge trees with the first ripe figs: for if they be shaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater.

13 Beholde, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy lande shalbe opened vnto thine enemies, & the fire shal deuoure thy barres.

14 Drawe thee waters for the siege: fortifie thy strong holdes: goe into the clay, and temper the morter: make strong bricke.

15 There shal the fire deuoure thee: the sword shall cut thee off: it shall eate thee vp like the [e] locustes, though thou bee multiplyed like the locustes, and multiplied like the grashopper.

16 Thou hast multiplyed thy marchantes aboue the starres of heauen: the locust spoyleth and flyeth away.

17 Thy princes are as the grashoppers, and thy captaines as the great grashoppers which remaine in the hedges in the colde day: but when the sunne ariseth, they flee away and their place is not knowen where they are.

18 Thy [f] shepheardes doe sleepe, O King of Asshur: thy strong men lie downe: thy people is scattered vpon the mountaines, and no man gathereth them.

19 There is no healing of thy wounde: thy plague is grieuous: all that heare the brute of thee, shall clap the handes ouer thee: for vpon [g] whome hath not thy malice passed continually?

d Meaning, Alexandria, which was in league with so many nations, and yet was now destroyed.

e Signifying, that Gods iudgements should suddenly destroy the Assyrians, as these vermine are with raine or change of weather.

f Thy princes and counsellers.

g Meaning, that there was no people, to whom the Assyrians had not done hurt.

HABAKKVK.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet complayneth vnto God, considering the great felicitie of the wicked, and the miserable oppression of the godly, which indure all kinde of affliction and crueltie, and yet can see none ende. Therefore hee had this reuelation shewed him of God, that the Caldeans should come and take them away captiues, so that they could looke for none ende of their troubles as yet, because of their stubbernesse and rebellion against the Lorde. And lest the godly should despaire, seeing this horrible confusion, hee comforteth them by this that God will punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and crueltie shall bee at height: wherefore he exhorteth the faithfull to pacience by his owne example, and sheweth them a forme of prayer, wherewith they should comfort themselues.

CHAP. I.

2 A complaint against the wicked that persecute the iust.

THE burden, which Habakkuk the Prophet did see.

2 O Lorde, how long shall I crie, and thou wilt not heare! euen crye out vnto thee [a] for violence, and thou wilt not helpe!

3 Why doest thou shewe mee iniquitie, and cause me to beholde sorowe? for spoyling, and violence are before me: and there are that rayse vp strife and contention.

4 Therefore the Lawe is dissolued, and iudgement doeth neuer goe forth: for the wicked doth [b] compasse about the righteous: therefore [c] wrong iudgement proceedeth.

5 Beholde among the heathen, and regarde, and wonder, and maruaile: for I will woorke a woorke in your dayes: [d] yee will not beleeue it, though it be tolde you.

6 For lo, I raise vp the Caldeans, that bitter & furious nation, which shall goe vpon the breadth of the lande to possesse the dwelling places, that are not theirs.

7 They are terrible & fearefull: [e] their iudgement & their dignitie shall proceede of theselues.

8 Their horses also are swifter then the Leopardes, and are more fierce then the wolues in the * euening: and their horsemen are many: & their horsemen shall come from farre: they shall flie as the eagle hasting to meate.

9 They come all to spoyle: before their faces shalbe an [f] Eastwinde, and they shall gather the captiuitie, [g] as the sand.

10 And they shall mocke the Kings, and the princes shalbe a skorne vnto them: they shall deride euery strong holde: for they shall gather [h] dust, and take it.

11 Then shall they [i] take a courage, and transgresse and doe wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their god.

12 Art thou not of olde, O Lorde my God, mine holy one? we shall [k] not die: O Lord, thou hast ordeined them for iudgement, and O God, thou hast established them for correction.

13 Thou art of pure eyes, and canst not see euill: thou canst not beholde wickednesse: wherefore doest thou looke vpon the transgressors, and holdest thy tongue when the wicked deuoureth the man, that is more righteous then he?

14 And makest men as the [l] fishes of the sea, and as the creeping things, that haue no ruler ouer them.

a The Prophet complaineth vnto God and bewayleth that among the Iewes is left none equitie nor brotherly loue: but in stead hereof reigneth crueltie, theft, contention and strife.
b To suppresse him if any should shew him selfe zealous of Gods cause.
c Because the iudges which should redresse this excesse, are as euill as the rest.
d As in times past you would not beleeue Gods word, so shall ye not now beleeue ŷ strange plagues which are at hand.
e They themselues shalbe your iudges in this cause, and none shall haue authoritie ouer them to controlle them.

* Zeph. 3.3.
f For the Iewes most feared this winde, because it destroyed their fruites.
g They shall be so many in nomber.
h They shall cast vp mounts against it.
i The Prophet comforteth the faithfull that God will also destroy the Babylonians, because they shall abuse this victorie and become proude and insolent, attributing the prayse hereof to their idoles.
k He assureth the godly of Gods protection, shewing that the enemie can doe no more then God hath appointed, and also that their sinnes required such a sharpe rod.
l So that the great deuoureth the small, and the Caldeans destroy all the world.

15 They

15 They take vp all with the angle: they catch it in their net, and gather it in their yarne, whereof they reioyce and are glad.

16 Therefore they sacrifice vnto their m net, and burne incense vnto their yarne, because by them their portion is fat & their meat plenteous.

17 Shall they therefore stretch out their net and not spare continually to slay n the nations?

m Meaning, that the enemies flatter themselues, and glorie in their owne force, power, and wit.
n Meaning, that they should not.

CHAP. II.

2 A vision, 5 Against pride, couetousnesse, drunkennesse, and idolatrie.

I Will stand vpon my a watch, and set me vpon the towre, and wil looke and see what he would say vnto mee, and what I shall answere to him that rebuketh me.

2 And the Lorde answered me, and sayde, Write the vision, and make it plaine vpon tables, that he may runne b that readeth it.

3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the c last it shall speake, and not lie: though it tarie, waite: for it shall surely come, and shall not stay.

4 Beholde, d he that lifteth vp himselfe, his minde is not vpright in him, but the iust shall liue by his faith,

5 Yea, in deede the proude man is as e hee that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall he not endure, because he hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and can not be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapeth vnto him all people.

6 Shall not all these take vp a parable against him, and a tanting prouerbe against him, and say, Ho, he that increaseth that which is not his? f howe long? and hee that ladeth himselfe with thicke clay?

7 Shall g they not rise vp suddenly, that shall bite thee? and awake, that shall stirre thee? and thou shalt be their pray?

8 Because thou hast spoyled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoyle thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

9 Ho, he that coueteth an euill couetousnesse to his house, that he may set his nest on hie, to escape from the power of euill.

10 Thou h hast consulted shame to thine owne house, by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine owne soule.

11 For the i stone shall crie out of the wall, and the beame out of the timber shall answere it.

12 Wo vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a citie by iniquitie, 13 Beholde, is it not of the k Lorde of hostes that the people shal labour in ye very fire? the people shall euen weary themselues for very vanitie.

14 For the earth shall l be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lorde, as the waters couer the sea.

15 Wo vnto him that giueth his neighbour m drinke: thou ioynest thine heate, & makest him drunken also, that thou mayest see their priuities.

16 Thou art filled with shame n for glorie: drinke thou also, and be made naked: the cup of the Lords right hande shall be turned vnto thee, and shamefull spuing shalbe for thy glory.

17 For the o crueltie of Lebanon shall couer thee: so shall the spoile of the beastes, which made them afraide, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

18 What profiteth the p image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though he that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumme idoles.

19 Wo vnto him that sayth to the wood, Awake, and to the dumme stone, Rise vp, it shall teach thee: q beholde, it is layde ouer with golde and siluer, and there is no breath in it.

20 But the Lorde is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keepe silence before him.

a I will renounce mine owne iudgement, and onely depend on God to be instructed what I shall answere them that abuse my preaching, & to be armed against all tentations.
b Write it in great letters, that he that runneth, may reade it.
c Which conteined the destruction of the enemie, and the comfort of the Church: which thing though God execute not according to mans hastie affections, yet the yssue of both is certaine at his time appointed.
d To trust in him selfe, or in any worldly thing, is neuer to be quiet: for the onely rest is to stay vpon God by fayth, Rom. 1.17. gala. 3.11. hebr. 10.38.
e He compareth the proude, and couetous man to a drunkard that is without reason and sense, whom God will punish, and make him a laughing stocke to all the world: and this he speaketh for the comfort of the godly, and against the Caldeans.
f Signifying, that all the world shall wish the destruction of tyrants, and that by their oppression and couetousnesse, they heape but vpon themselues more heauie burdens: for the more they get, the more are they troubled.
g That is, the Medes and Persians, that should destroy the Babylonians? h Signifying that the couetous man is the ruine of his owne house, when as hee thinketh to enriche it by crueltie and oppression. i The stones of the house shall crie, and say that they are built of blood, and the wood shall answere and say the same of it selfe. k Meaning, that God will not deferre his vengeance long, but will come and destroy all their labours, as though they were consumed with fire. l In the destruction of the Babylonians his glorie shall appeare through all the worlde. m Hee reprocheth thus the King of Babylon, who as he was drunken with couetousnesse and crueltie, so he prouoked others to the same, and inflamed them by his rage, and so in the ende brought them to shame.
n Whereas thou thoughtest to haue glory of these thy doings, they shall turne to thy shame: for thou shalt drinke of the same cup with others in thy turne.
o Because the Babylonians were cruell not onely against other nations, but also against the people of God, which is meant by Lebanon, and the beasts therein, he sheweth that the like crueltie shalbe executed against them.
p He sheweth that the Babylonians gods could nothing auaile them: for they were but blocks or stones, reade Iere. 10.8. q If thou wilt consider what it is, and how that it hath neither breath nor life, but is a dead thing.

CHAP. III.

2 A prayer for the faithfull.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the a ignorances:

2 b O Lorde, I haue heard thy voyce, and was afraide: O Lorde, reuiue thy c worke in the mids of the people, in the mids of the yeeres make it knowen: in wrath remember mercie.

3 God commeth from d Teman, & the holy one from mount Paran, Selah. His glorie couereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his prayse,

4 And his brightnesse was as the light: e he had hornes comming out of his handes, and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coales went forth before his feete.

6 He stoode and measured the earth: he behelde and dissolued the nations and the euerlasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hilles did bowe: his f wayes are euerlasting.

7 g For his iniquitie I sawe the tentes of Cushan, and the curtaines of the lande of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the Lorde angry against the h riuers? or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou diddest ride i vpon thine horses? thy charets brought saluation.

9 Thy k bowe was manifestly reueiled, and the l othes of the tribes were a sure worde, Selah. thou m diddest cleaue the earth with riuers.

10 The mountaines sawe thee, & they trembled: the streame of the water n passed by: the deepe made a noyse, and lift vp his hand on hie.

11 The o sunne and moone stood still in their habitation: p at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares.

12 Thou trodest downe the lande in anger, a The Prophet instructeth his people to pray vnto God not onely for their great sinnes, but also for such as they had committed of ignorance.

b Thus the people were afraide when they heard Gods threatnings, and prayed.
c That is, the state of thy Church which is now readie to perish, before it come to halfe a perfect age, which should be vnder Christ.
d Teman and Paran were neere Sinai where the Law was giuen: whereby is signified that his deliuerance was as present now as it was then.
e Whereby is meant a power, that was ioyned with his brightnes, which was hid to the rest of the world, but was reueiled in mount Sinai to his people, Psal. 31.16.
f Signifying that God hath wonderfull meanes, and euer had a marueilous power when he would deliuer his Church. g The iniquitie of this King of Syria in vexing thy people was made manifest by thy iudgement, to the comfort of thy Church, Iudg. 3.10. and also of the Midianites, which destroyed themselues, Iudg. 7.22. h Meaning, that God was not angry with the waters, but that by these meanes he would destroy his enemies and deliuer his Church. i And so [illegible] vse all the elements as instruments for the destruction of thine enemies. k That is, thy power. l For he had not onely made a couenant with Abraham, but renewed it with his posteritie. m Reade Nomb. 20.11. n He alludeth to the red sea & Iorden, which gaue passage to Gods people, and shewed signes of their obedience, as it were by lifting vp of their hands. o As appeareth, Iosh. 10.12. p According to thy commandement the sunne was directed by the weapons of thy people, that fought in thy cause, as though it durst not goe forward.

and diddest thresh the heathen in displeasure.
13 Thou wentest foorth for the saluation of thy people, euen for saluation with thine q Anointed: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discoueredst the foundations vnto the r necke, Selah.
14 Thou diddest s strike thorow with his owne staues the heades of his villages: they came out as a whirle winde to scatter me: their reioycing was
as to deuour the poore secretly.
15 Thou diddest walke in the sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters.
16 When I t heard, my bellie trembled: my lippes shooke at the voyce: rottennesse entred into my bones, and I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in u the day of trouble: for when he cōmeth vp x vnto the people, he shall destroy them.
17 For the fig tree shall not flourish, neither shall fruite be in the vines: the labour of the oliue shall faile, and the fieldes shall yeelde no meate:
the sheepe shalbe cut off from the folde, and there shalbe no bullocke in the stalles.
18 But I will reioyce in the Lorde: I will ioy y in the God of my saluation.
19 The Lorde God is my strength: hee will make my feete like hindes feete, and he will make me to walke vpon mine hie places. z To the chiefe singer on Neginothai.

q Signifying that there is no saluation, but by Christ.
r From the toppe to the toe thou hast destroyed the enemies.
s God destroyed his enemies both great and small with their owne weapons, though they were neuer so fierce against his Church.
t He returneth to ȳ which he spake in the second verse, and sheweth how he was afraid of Gods iudgements.
u He sheweth that the faithfull can neuer haue true rest, except they feele before the weight of Gods iudgements.
x That is, the enemie: but the godly shall be quiet, knowing that all things shall turne to good vnto them.
y He declareth wherein standeth the comfort and ioy of the faithfull, though they see neuer so great afflictions prepared.
z The chiefe singer vpon the instruments of musike shall haue occasion to praise God for this great deliuerance of his Church.

ZEPHANIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

SEeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was nowe no hope of amendment, hee denounceth the great iudgement of God, which was at hand, shewing that their country should be vtterly destroyed, and they caried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull he prophecied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistims, Moabites, Assyrians, and others, to assure them that God had a continuall care ouer them. And as the wicked should be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so hee exhorteth the godly to patience, and to trust to finde mercie by reason of the free promes of God made vnto Abraham: And therefore quietly to abide till God shew them the effect of that grace, whereby in the end they should be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

4 Threatnings against Iudah and Ierusalem, because of their Idolatrie.

THe word of the Lord, which came vnto Zephaniah ȳ sonne of Cushi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of * Iosiah, the sonne of * Amon King of Iudah.
2 I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord.
3 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the a foules of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shalbe to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord.
4 I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, &
I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the b Chemarims with ȳ Priestes, 5 And them that worship the hoste of heauen vpon the house tops, and them that worship and sweare by the Lord, and sweare by c Malcham, 6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lorde, nor inquired for him.
7 Be stil at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his ghests.
8 And it shalbe in the day of the Lords sacrifice, that I will visite the princes and the Kinges children, and all such as are clothed with d strange apparell.
9 In the same day also will I visite all those that e dance vpon the threshold so proudly, which fill their masters houses by crueltie and deceit.
10 And in that day, saith the Lord, there shall be a noise, and cry from the f fishgate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hilles.
11 Howle ye inhabitants of g the lowe place;
for the companie of the merchants is destroyed:
all they that beare siluer, are cut off.
12 And at that time will I searche Ierusalem with h lightes, and visite the men that are frosen i in their dregges, & say in their heartes, The Lord will neither do good nor doe euill.
13 Therefore their goods shall be spoyled, and their houses waste: * they shall also build houses, but not inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyards, but not drinke the wine thereof.
14 The great day of the Lorde is neere: it is neere, and hasteth greatly, euen the voyce of the day of the Lord: k the strong man shall crie there bitterly.
15 * That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauinesse, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obscuritie and darkenesse, a day of cloudes and blackenesse, 16 A day of the trumpet and alarme against the strong cities, and against the hie towres.
17 And I will bring distresse vpon men, that they shall walke like blind men, because they haue sinned against the Lorde, and their blood shall be powred out as dust, and their flesh as the doung.
18 * Neither their siluer nor their golde shalbe able to deliuer them in ȳ day of the Lords wrath, but the * whole lande shalbe deuoured by the fire of his ielousie: for hee shall make euen a speedie riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

chaffe that passeth in a day, and before the fierce wrath of the Lord come vpon you, and before the day of the Lords anger come vpon you.
3 Seeke yee the Lorde all the meeke of the earth, which b haue wrought his iudgement: seeke righteousnesse, seeke lowlinesse, if so be that yee may be hid in the day of the Lords wrath.
4 For c Azzah shall be forsaken, and Ashkelon desolate: they shall driue out Ashdod at the noone day, and Ekron shalbe rooted vp.
5 Wo vnto the inhabitants of the sea d coast:
the nation of the Cherethims, the worde of the Lorde is against you: O Canaan, the lande of the Philistims, I will euen destroy thee without an inhabitant.
6 And the sea coast shal be dwellings and co-tages for shepheards and sheepefoldes.
7 And that coast shall be for the e remnant of the house of Iudah, to feede thereupon: in the houses of Ashkelon shal they lodge toward night:
for the Lorde their God shall visite them, and turne away their captiuitie.
8 I haue heard the reproch of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they vpbraided my people, and f magnified themselues against their borders.
9 Therefore, as I liue, saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Surely Moab shall bee as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorah, euen the breeding of nettles and salt pittes, and a perpetuall desolation: the residue of my folke shall spoyle them, and the remnant of my people shall possesse them.
10 This shall they haue for their pride, because they haue reproched, and magnified themselues against the Lord of hostes people.
11 The Lord will be terrible vnto them: g for he wil consume all the gods of the earth, and eue-ry man shall worship him from his place, euen all the yles of the heathen.
12 Ye Morians also shalbe slaine by my sword with them.
13 And he will stretch out his hand against the North, and destroy Asshur, and will make Nineueh desolate, and waste like a wildernesse.
14 And flockes shall lie in the middes of her, and all the beastes of the nations, and the h pelicane, and the ‖ owle shall abide in the vpper postes of it: the voyce of birdes shall sing in the windowes, and desolations shalbe vpon the postes: for the cedars are vncouered.
15 This is the i reioycing citie that dwelt care-lesse, that said in her heart, I am, and there is none besides me: how is she made waste, and the lodging of the beasts! euery one that passeth by her, shall hisse and wagge his hand.

b That is, which haue liued vprightly and godly according as hee prescribeth by his word.
c He comforteth the faithful in that, that God would change his punishments from them vnto the Philistims their enemies and other nations.
d That is, Galilea: by these nations he meaneth the people that dwelt neere to the Iewes and in stead of friendship were their enemies: therefore he calleth them Canaanites whome the Lord appointed to be slaine.
e Hee sheweth why God would destroy their enemies, because their countrey might be a resting place for his Church.
f These nations presumed to take from the Iewes that coūtrey which the Lord had giuen them.
g When he shall deliuer his people and destroy their enemies and idols, his glorie shall shine throughout all the world.
h Reade Isa 34.11.

wrested the Law.

will doe none iniquitie: euery morning doeth he bring his iudgement to light, he faileth not: but the wicked will not learne to be ashamed.
6 I haue d cut off the nations: their towres are desolate: I haue made their streets waste, that none shal passe by: their cities are destroyed without man and without inhabitant.
7 I said, Surely thou wilt feare me: thou wilt receiue instruction: so their dwelling shoulde not be destroyed howsoeuer I visited them, but e they rose earely and corrupted all their works.
8 Therefore f wait ye vpon me, saith the Lord, vntill the day that I rise vp to the praye: for I am determined to gather the nations, and that I will assemble the kingdomes to powre vpon them mine indignation, euen all my fierce wrath: for all the earth shall be deuoured with the fire of my ielousie.

gainst mee: for then I will take away out of the middes of thee them that reioyce of thy pride, and thou shalt no more be proude of mine holy Mountaine.

humble and poore people: and they shall trust in the Name of the Lord.

tie, nor speake lies: neither shal a deceitful tongue be found in their mouth: for they shalbe fed, and lie downe, and none shall make them afraid.

O Israel: be glad and reioyce with all thine heart, O daughter Ierusalem.

ments: he hath cast out thine l enemie: the King of Israel, euen the Lord is in the middes of m thee:

thou not, O Zion: let not thine hands be faint.

mightie: hee will saue, hee will reioyce ouer thee with ioy: he will quiet himselfe in n his loue: he will reioyce ouer thee with ioy.
18 After a certaine time will I gather the afflicted that were of thee, and them that bare the reproch for o it.
19 Beholde, at that time I will bruise all that afflict thee, and I will p saue her that halteth, and gather her that was cast out, and I will get them praise and fame in all the q landes of their shame.
20 At ẏ time wil I bring you againe, & then wil
I gather you: for I wil giue you a name & a praise among all people of the earth, when I turne backe your captiuitie before your eyes, saith the Lord.

d By the destruction of other nations he sheweth that the Iewes should haue learned to feare God.
e They were most earnest and readie to do wickedly.

HAGGAI.

HAGGAI.

THE ARGVMENT.

WHen the time of the seuentie yeeres captiuitie prophecied by Ieremiah, was expired, God raised vp Haggai, Zechariah, & Malachi to comfort the Iewes and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spiritual Temple & Church of God, whose perfection & excellēcie stood in Christ. And because that all were giuen to their owne pleasures and commodities, he declareth that that plague of famine, which God sent them among them, was a iust reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet he comforteth them, if they wil returne to the Lorde, with the promes of greater felicitie, forasmuch as the Lord wil finish the worke that he hath begun, and send Christ whome he had promised, and by whome they should atteine to perfite ioy & glory.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophecie of Haggai. 8 An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

IN the second yeere of King [a] Darius, in the sixt moneth, the first day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lorde (by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai) vnto [b] Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, saying,
2 Thus speaketh the Lorde of hostes, saying,
This people say, The time is not yet come, [c] that the Lords House should be builded.
3 Then came the worde of the Lorde by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying, 4 Is it time for your selues to dwell in your [d] sieled houses, and this House lie waste?
5 Now therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.
6 [e] Ye haue sowen much, and bring in litle: ye eate, but ye haue not ynough: ye drinke, but ye are not filled: ye clothe you, but ye be not warme: and he that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bagge.
7 Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.
8 Goe [f] vp to the mountaine, & bring wood, and build this House, and [g] I will be fauourable in it, and I will [h] be glorified, sayth the Lorde.
9 Ye looked for much, and lo, it came to litle: and when ye brought it home, I did blowe [i] vpon it. And why, sayth the Lord of hostes? Because of mine House that is waste, and ye runne euery man vnto his owne house, 10 Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed it selfe from dewe, and the earth stayed her fruite.
11 And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, & vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oyle, vpon all that the ground bringeth foorth: both vpon men and vpon cattel, and vpon all the labour of the hands.
12 When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest with all the remnant of the people, heard the [k] voyce of the Lorde their God, & the words of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lorde their God had sent him) then the people did feare before
the Lorde.
13 Then spake Haggai the Lords messenger in the Lords message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, sayth the Lord.
14 And the Lord stirred vp [l] the spirite of Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and the spirite of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the House of the Lorde of hostes their God,

CHAP. II.

Hee sheweth that the glory of the seconde Temple shall exceede the first.

IN the foure and twentieth day of the sixt moneth, in the second yeere of King Darius, 2 In the seuenth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lorde by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai,
saying,
3 Speake nowe to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying, 4 Who is left among you, that sawe this [a] House in her first glory, and howe doe you see it nowe? is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it as nothing?
5 Yet nowe be of good courage, O Zerub-babel, sayth the Lord, and be of good comfort, O Iehoshua, sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest: and be strong, all ye people of the land, sayth the Lorde, and [b] doe it: for I am with you, sayth the Lorde of hostes,
6 According to the worde that I couenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: so my Spi-rite shall remaine among you, feare ye not.
7 For thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, [c] Yet a litle while, and I will shake the heauens and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land: 8 And I will moue all nations, and [d] the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this House with glory, sayth the Lord of hostes.
9 The [e] siluer is mine, and the golde is mine, sayth the Lorde of hostes.
10 The glory of this last House shall be greater then the first, sayth the Lord of hostes: and in this place will I giue [f] peace, sayth the Lorde of hostes.
11 ¶ In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the second yeere of Darius, came the worde of the Lorde vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying,
12 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Aske nowe
the Priestes concerning the Law, and say, 13 If one beare [g] holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, & with his skirt doe touch the bread, or the potage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meate, shal it be holy? And the Priests answered and sayd, No.
14 Then sayde Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shal it be vncleane? And the

[a] Who was the sonne of Hystaspis and the third King of the Persians, as some thinke.
[b] Because the building of the Temple began to cease by reason that the people were discouraged by their enemies: and if these two notable men had neede to be stirred vp & admonished of their duetie, what shall we thinke of other gouernours, whose doings are either against God, or very colde in his cause?
[c] Not that they condemned the building thereof, but they preferred policie and priuate profite to religion, being content with small beginnings.
[d] Shewing that they sought not onely their necessities, but their very pleasures before Gods honour.
[e] Consider the plagues of God vpon you for preferring your policies to religion, and because ye seeke not him first of all.
[f] Meaning, that they should leaue off their owne commodities, and go forward in the building of Gods Temple, and in the setting forth of his religion.
[g] That is, I will heare your prayers according to my promes, 1. King 8.21,29.
[h] That is, my glory shall be set forth by you.
[i] And so bring it to nothing.
[k] This declared that God was the authour of the doctrine, and that he was but the minister, as Exod.14.31. iudg.7.20. act.15.28.
[l] Which declareth that men are vnapt and dull to serue the Lorde, neither can they obey his words or his messengers before God reforme their heartes and giue them newe spirits, Iohn 6.44.

[a] For the people, according as Isa.60.13. and Ezek.41. had prophecied, thought this Temple should haue bene more excellent then Salomons Temple, which was destroyed by the Babylonians, but the Prophets meant the spiritual Temple, the Church of Christ.
[b] That is, go forward in building the Temple.
[c] Hee exhorteth them to patience though they see not as yet this Tēple so glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this should be accomplished in Christ by whom al things should be renued.
[d] Meaning, Christ whome all ought to looke for and desire: or by desire, he may signifie all precious things, as riches & such like.
[e] Therefore when his time commeth, he can make al the treasures of the world to serue his purpose: but the glory of this second Tēple doeth not stand in material things, neither can be built.
[f] Meaning all spiritual blessings and felicitie purchased by Christ, Phil.4.7.
[g] That is, the flesh of the sacrifices: whereby he signifieth that that thing which of it selfe is good, cannot make an other thing so, and therefore they ought not to iustifie themselues by their sacrifices & ceremonies: but contrary he that is vncleane and not pure of heart, doeth corrupt those things and make them detestable vnto God which els are good and godly.

Priestes answered, and sayd, It shall be vncleane.
15 Then answered Haggai, and sayde, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, sayth the Lord: and so are all the workes of their hands, and that which they offer here, is vncleane.
16 And nowe, I pray you, consider in your mindes: from this h day, and afore, euen afore a stone was layde vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lorde:
17 i Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but ten: when one came to the wine presse for to drawe out fiftie vessels out of the presse, there were but twentie.
18 I smote you with blasting, and with mildewe, and with haile, in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to me, saith the Lorde.
19 Consider, I pray you, in your mindes, from k this day, and afore from the foure & twentieth day of the ninth moneth, euen from the day that the foundation of the Lordes Temple was laide:
consider it in your mindes.
20 Is the l seede yet in the barne? as yet the vine, and the figtree, and the pomegranate, and the oliuetree hath not brought forth: from this day will I blesse you.
21 And againe the worde of the Lorde came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying,
22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I m will shake the heauens and the earth, 23 And I will ouerthrowe the throne of king-domes, & I will destroy the strength of the n king-domes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrowe the charets, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shal come downe, euery one by the sword of his brother.
24 In that day, sayth the Lord of hostes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant, the sonne of Shealtiel, sayth the Lorde, and will make thee as a o signet: for I haue chosen thee, sayth the Lorde of hostes.

h Consider howe God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple.
i That is, before the building was begun.
k From the time they began to build the Temple, he promiseth that God would blesse them: and albeit as yet the fruite was not come forth, yet in the gathering they should haue plentie.
l He exhorteth them to patience and to abide till the haruest came, & thē they should see Gods blessings.
m I will make a change and renew al things in Christ, of whom Zerubbabel here is a figure.
n Hereby hee sheweth that there shalbe no let or hinderance when God wil make this wonderfull restitution of his Church.
o Signifying that his dignitie should be most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ.

ZECHARIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

Two moneths after that Haggai had begunne to prophecie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lorde to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore hee putteth them in remembrance, for what cause God had so sore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they wil repent vnfainedly, and not abuse this great benefite of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull should haue from death and sinne by Christ. But because they still remained in their wickednes, and coldnes to set foorth Gods glory, and were not yet made better by their long banishment, he rebuketh them most sharpely: yet for the comfort of the repentant, hee euer mixeth the promes of grace, that they might by this meanes be prepared to receiue Christ, in whome all should be sanctified to the Lorde.

CHAP. I.

2 Hee exhorteth the people to returne to the Lorde, and to eschewe the wickednes of their fathers. 16 Hee signifieth the restitution of Ierusalem and the Temple.

IN the eight moneth of the second yeere of a Darius, came the worde of the Lorde vnto b Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo, the Prophet, saying, 2 The Lorde hath bene c sore displeased with
your fathers.
3 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, d Turne ye vnto me, sayth the Lord of hostes, and I will turne vnto you, saith
the Lord of hostes.
4 Be ye not as your fathers, vnto whome the former * prophets haue cryed, saying, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Turne you nowe from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare, nor hearken vnto me, saith
the Lorde.
5 Your fathers, where e are they? and doe the Prophets liue for euer?
6 But did not my wordes and my statutes, which I commanded by my seruants ye Prophets, take holde of f your fathers? and g they returned,
and sayd, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe vnto vs, according to our owne wayes, and according to our workes, so hath hee dealt with vs.
7 Vpon the foure and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth h Shebat, in the second yeere of Darius, came the worde of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying, 8 I i saw by night, and behold k a man riding vpon a red horse, and hee stood among the mirre trees, that were in a bottome, and behinde him were there l red horses speckled and white.
9 Then sayd I, O my Lorde, what are these?
And the Angel that talked with me, sayde vnto me, I will shew thee what these be.
10 And the man that stood among the mirre trees, answered, and sayde, These are they whome
the Lord hath sent to go through the world.
11 And they answered the Angel of the Lorde, that stood among the mirre trees, and sayd, We haue gone thorowe the world: and beholde, all the world sitteth still, and is at rest.
12 Then the m Angel of the Lorde answered and sayde, O Lord of hostes, how long wilt thou be vnmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast bene displeased now these threescore and ten yeeres?
13 And the Lorde answered the Angell that talked with me, with good wordes and comfortable wordes.
14 So the Angel that communed with me, said vnto me, Crie thou, and speake, Thus saith the

a Who was the sonne of Histaspis.
b This was not that Zechariah, whereof is mentioned 2.Chro.24.20. but had the same name, and is called the sonne of Berechiah, as he was, because he came of those progenitours, as of Iolada or Berechiah and Iddo.
c He speaketh this to feare them with Gods iudgements that they should not prouoke him as their fathers had done, whom he so grieuously punished.
d Let your fruites declare that you are Gods people, and that he hath wrought in you by his spirite and mortified you: for els man hath no power to returne to God, but God must conuert him, as Ierem. 31.18. lamen. 5.21. Isa 21.8, and 31.6. and 45.21. * Iere.3.12. ezek.18.30. hose.14.2. ioel.2.12. e Though your fathers be dead, yet Gods iudgements in punishing them ought still to be before your eyes: and though the Prophets be dead, yet their doctrine remaineth for euer, 1.Pet.1.15. f Seeing ye sawe the force of my doctrine in punishing your fathers, why doe not ye feare the threatnings conteined in the same and declared by my Prophets? g As men astonished with my iudgements, and not that they were touched with true repentance.

h Which conteineth part of Ianuarie and part of Februarie.
i This vision signifieth the restauration of the Church, but as yet it should not appeare to man: which is here ment by the night, by the bottome, and by the mirre trees which are blacke, and giue a darke shadowe: yet he compareth God to a King, who hath his postes and messengers abroad by whome he still worketh his purpose, and bringeth his matters to passe.
k Who was the chiefe among the rest of ye horsemen.
l These signified the diuers offices of Gods Angels by whom God sometime punisheth, & sometime comforteth and bringeth forth his workes in diuers sortes.
m That is, Christ the Mediatour prayed for the saluation of his Church, which was now troubled whē all the countreys about them were at rest.

Lorde of hostes, I am [n] ielous ouer Ierusalem and Zion with a great zeale, 15 And am greatly angrie against the carelesse heathen : for I was angrie but [o] a litle, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercie : mine house shall be builded in it, saith the Lord of hostes, and a line [p] shall be stretched vpon Ierusalem.

17 Cry yet, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, My cities shall yet [q] be broken with plentie : the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Ierusalem.

18 Then lift I vp mine eyes and sawe, and beholde, [r] foure hornes.

19 And I said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be these ? And he answered me, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel, and Ierusalem.

20 And the Lord shewed me foure [f] carpenters.

21 Then said I, What come these to doe ? And he answered, and said, These are the hornes, which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man durst not lift vp his head : but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Iudah, to scatter it.

n Though for a time God deferre his helpe and comfort from his Church, yet this declareth that he loueth them still most dearely, as a most mercifull father his children, or an husband his wife, and when it is expedient for them, his helpe is euer readie.
o In destroying the reprobate I shewed my selfe but a litle angry toward my Church, but the enemie would haue destroyed them also, and considered not the ende of my chastisements.
p To measure out the buildings.
q The abundance shalbe so great that the places of store shall not be able to conteine these blessings that God will send, but shal euen breake for fulnesse. r Which signified all the enemies of the Church, East, West, North, South. f These Carpenters or Smithes are Gods instruments, which with their mallets and hammers breake these hard and strong hornes, which would ouerthrow the Church, and declare that none enemies horne is so strong, but God hath an hammer to breake it in pieces.

CHAP. II.

The restoring of Ierusalem and Iudah.

I Lift vp mine eyes againe & looked, and behold, a [a] man with a measuring line in his hand.

2 Then saide I, Whither goest thou ? And he saide vnto me, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And beholde, the Angel that talked with me, went foorth : and another Angel went out to meete him,

4 And saide vnto him, Runne, speake to this [b] yong man, and say, [c] Ierusalem shalbe inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattell therein.

5 For I, saith the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of [d] fire round about, and wil [e] be the glory in the middes of her.

6 Ho, ho, come [f] forth, & flee from the land of the North, saith the Lord: for I haue scattered you into the foure [g] winds of the heauen, saith ẏ Lord.

7 [h] Saue thy selfe, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babel.

8 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, After this [i] glory hath hee sent me vnto the nations, which spoyled you : for he that toucheth you, toucheth the [k] apple of his eye.

9 For beholde, I will lift vp mine hand [l] vpon them : and [m] they shalbe a spoyle to those that serued them, and ye shall knowe, that the Lord of hostes hath [n] sent me.

10 Reioyce, and be glad, O daughter Zion: for loe, I come, and will dwell in the middes of thee, saith the Lord.

11 And many nations shall be ioyned to the Lord in that day, and shalbe my people: and I will dwell in the middes of thee, and thou shalt knowe that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto thee.

12 And the Lord shall inherite Iudah his portion in the holy lande, and shall chuse Ierusalem againe.

13 Let all flesh be still before the Lord: for he is raised vp out of his holy place.

a That is, the Angel who was Christ : for in respect of his office he is oft times called an Angel, but in respect of his eternall essence, is God and so called.
b Meaning himselfe Zechariah.
c Signifying the spirituall Ierusalem and Church vnder Christ, which should be extended by the Gospel through all the world and should neede no materiall walles, but trust in any worldly strength, but should be safely preserued, and dwell in peace among all their enemies.
d To defend my Church, to feare the enemies, and to destroy them if they approch nere.
e In me they shall haue their full felicitie and glory.
f Hee calleth to them which partly for feare, and partly for their owne ease, remayned still in captiuitie, and so preferred their owne priuate commodities to the benefites of God promised in his Church. g As it was I that scattered you, so haue I power to restore you. h By flying from Babylon and comming to the Church. i Seeing that God hath begunne to shewe his grace among you by deliuering you, he continueth the same still towarde you, and therefore sendeth mee his Angell, and his Christ to defende you from your enemies, that they shall not hurt you, neither by the way nor at home. k Yee are so deare vnto God, that he can no more suffer your enemies to hurt you, then a man can abide to be thrust in the eye, Psalme 17.8. l Vpon the heathen your enemies. m They shall be your seruants as you haue bene theirs.

n This must necessarily be vnderstande of Christ, who being God equall with his Father, was sent as he was Mediatour to dwel in his church, and to gouerne them.

CHAP. III.

A prophesie of Christ and of his kingdome.

AND hee shewed mee Iehoshua the hie Priest, [a] standing before the Angel of the Lord, and [b] Satan stood at his right hand to resist him.

2 And the [c] Lord said vnto Satan, The Lord reprooue thee, O Satan : euen the Lord that hath chosen Ierusalem, reprooue thee. Is not this a [d] brand taken out of the fire?

3 Nowe Iehoshua was clothed with filthie garments, and stood before the Angel.

4 And he answered and spake vnto those that stoode before him, saying, Take away the [e] filthie garments from him. And vnto him hee saide, Behold, I haue [f] caused thine iniquitie to depart from thee, & I will clothe thee with change of raiment.

5 And I saide, Let them [g] set a faire diademe vpon his head. So they set a faire diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stood by.

6 And the Angel of the Lorde testified vnto Iehoshua, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also [h] iudge mine House, and shalt also keepe my [i] courtes, and I will giue thee place among [k] these that stand by.

8 Heare now, O Iehoshua the hie Priest, thou and thy felowes that sit before thee: for they [l] are monstrous persons : but behold, I will bring forth the [m] Branch my seruant.

9 For loe, the [n] stone that I haue laid before Iehoshua : vpon one stone shalbe seuen eyes : beholde, I will [o] cut out the grauing thereof, sayth the Lord of hostes, and I will take [p] away the iniquitie of this land in one day.

10 In that day, saith the Lorde of hostes, shall ye call euery man his neighbour vnder the [q] vine, and vnder the figge tree.

a Hee prayed to Christ the Mediatour for the state of the Church.
b Which declareth that the faithfull haue not onely warre with flesh and blood, but with Satan himselfe and spirituall wickednesses, Ephes.6.12. c That is, Christ speaketh to God as the Mediatour of his Church that he would rebuke Satan : and here he sheweth himselfe to be the continuall preseruer of his Church.
d Meaning that Iehoshua was woonderfully preserued in the captiuitie, and nowe Satan sought to afflict and trouble him when he was doing his office.
e In respect of the glorious garments, & precious stones that the Priestes did weare before the captiuitie : and by this contemptible state the Prophet signifieth that these small beginnings should be made excellent when Christ shall make the full restitution of his Church. f Hee sheweth of what apparell hee speaketh, which is when our filthie sinnes are taken away and we are clad with Gods mercies, which is meant of the spirituall restitution. g The Prophet prayeth that besides the rayment, the Priest might also haue tire for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignitie of the Priesthood might be perfect; and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest and King : and here all such are condemned that can content them selues with any meane reformation in religion seeing the Prophet desireth the perfection, and obteineth it. h That is, haue rule and gouernment in my Church, as thy predecessours haue had. i Whereby he meaneth to haue the whole charge and ministerie of the Church. k That is, the Angels who represented the whole number of the faithfull : signifying that all the godly shoulde willingly receiue him. l Because they followe my worde, they are contemned in the worlde, and esteemed as monsters, Isa.8.18. m That is, Christ, who did so humble himselfe, that not onely hee became the seruant of God, but also the seruant of men: and therefore in him they should haue comfort, although in the world they were contemned, Isa.11.1. iere.23.5. and 33.14,15. n He sheweth that the ministers can not build, before God lay the first stone, which is Christ, who is full of eyes, both because hee giueth light vnto all others, and that all ought to seeke light at him, Chap 4.10. o That is, I will make it perfect in all pointes, as a thing wrought by the hand of God. p Though I haue punished this land for a time, yet I will euen now be pacified, and visite their sinnes no more. q Ye shall then liue in peace and quietnesse, that is, in the kingdome of Christ, Isa.2.2. micah.4.4. haggai 2.10.

CHAP. IIII.

The vision of the golden candlesticke, and the exposition thereof.

AND the Angel that talked with mee, came againe and waked me, as a man that is raysed out of his sleepe,

2 And saide vnto me, What seest thou? And I said, I haue looked, and beholde, a [a] candlesticke all of gold with a bowle vpon the toppe of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen [b] pipes to the lampes, which were vpon the toppe thereof.

3 And two oliue trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.

4 So I answered, and spake to the Angel that talked with me, saying, What are these, my Lord?

5 Then the Angel that talked with mee, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

6 Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto [c] Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by [d] an armie nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts.

7 Who art thou, O [e] great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou shalt be a plaine, and [f] he shall bring foorth the head stone thereof, with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

8 Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 The handes of Zerubbabel haue layed the foundation of this house: his handes shall also finish it, and [g] thou shalt knowe that the Lorde of hosts hath sent me vnto you.

10 For who hath despised the day of the [h] small thinges? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of [i] tinne in the hand of Zerubbabel: [k] these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which goe thorow the whole world.

11 Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two oliue trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

12 And I spake moreouer, and said vnto him, What bee these two oliue branches, which thorowe the two golden pipes emptie themselues into the golde?

13 And hee answered me, and saide, Knowest thou not what these bee? And I sayde, No, my Lord.

14 Then said he, These are the two [l] oliue branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

a Which was euer in the mids of the Temple, signifying that the graces of Gods Spirit should shine there in most abundance, and in all perfection.
b Which conueyed the oyle that dropped from the trees into the lampes, so that the light neuer failed: and this vision was to confirme the faithfull that God had sufficient power in himselfe to continue his graces, and to bring his promes to passe, though he had no helpe of man.
c Who was a figure of Christ, and therefore this doctrine was directed to all the Church who are his body and members.
d He sheweth that Gods power onely is sufficient to preserue his Church, though he vse not mans helpe thereunto.
e He compareth the power of the aduersaries to a great mountaine, who thought the Iewes nothing in respect of them, and would haue hindered Zerubbabel, who represented Christ who the enemies dayly labour to let, in the building of his spirituall Temple, but all in vaine.
f Though the enemies thinke to stay this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay the highest stone thereof, and bring it to perfection, so that all the godly shall reioyce, and pray vnto God that hee woulde continue his grace and fauour towarde the Temple.
g Meaning, the Prophet, that I am Christ sent of my Father for the building, and preseruation of my spirituall Temple.
h Signifying that all were discouraged at the small & poore beginnings of the Temple. i Whereby he signifieth the plummet and line, that is, that Zerubbabel which represented Christ, shoulde goe forward with his building to the ioy and comfort of the godly, though the world be against him, and though his for a while be discouraged, because they see not things pleasant to the eye.
k That is, God hath seuen eyes: meaning, a continuall prouidence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world can goe about or bring any thing to passe to hinder his worke, Chap. 3. 9.
l Which were euer greene and full of oyle, so that still they powred foorth oyle into the lampes: signifying, that God will continually mainteine and preserue his Church, and indue it still with abundance and perfection of graces.

CHAP. V.

1 The vision of the flying booke, signifying the curse of thieues, and such as abuse the Name of God. 6 By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

THen I turned me, and lifted vp mine eyes and looked, and beholde, a flying booke.

2 And he said vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying [a] booke: the length thereof is twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof ten cubites.

3 Then said he vnto me, This is the curse that goeth foorth ouer the whole earth: for euery one that [b] stealeth, shalbe cut off aswell on this [c] side, as on that: and euery one that [d] sweareth, shall be cut off aswell on this side as on that.

4 I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hosts, and it shall enter into the house of the thiefe, and into the house of him, that falsely sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the middes of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, went foorth, and said vnto me, Lift vp now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth foorth.

6 And I saide, What is it? And hee sayde, This is an [e] Ephah that goeth foorth. Hee sayde moreouer, This is the [f] sight of them through all the earth.

7 And beholde, there was lift vp a [g] talent of lead: and this is a [h] woman that sitteth in the middes of the Ephah.

8 And he said, This is [i] wickednes, and he cast it into the middes of the Ephah, and hee cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

9 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came out two [k] women, and the winde was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a storke) and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen.

10 Then saide I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither doe these beare the Ephah?

11 And hee saide vnto mee, [l] To builde it an house in the lande of Shinar, and it shall be established and set there vpon her owne place.

a Because the Iewes had prouoked Gods plagues by contemning his word, and casting off all iudgement and equitie, hee sheweth that Gods curses written in this booke had iustly light both on them, and their fathers: but now if they would repent, God would sende the same among the Caldeans their former enemies.
b That is, vseth any iniurie toward his neighbour.
c Meaning, wheresoeuer he be in the world.
d He that transgresseth the first table, and serueth not God aright, but abuseth Gods Name.
e Which was a measure in drie things conteining about tenne pottles.
f That is, all the wickednesse of the vngodly is in Gods sight, which hee keepeth in a measure and can shut it or open it at his pleasure.
g To couer the measure.
h Which representeth iniquitie, as in the next verse.
i Signifying, that Satan should not haue such power against the Iewes to tempt them, as he had in time past, but that God would shut vp iniquitie in a measure as in a prison.
k Which declared that God would execute his iudgements by the meanes of weake & infirme meanes.
l To remooue the iniquitie and afflictions that came for the same from Iudah, to place it for euer in Babylon.

CHAP. VI.

By the foure charets he describeth the foure monarchies.

AGaine, I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came foure [a] charets out from betweene [b] two mountaines, and the mountaines were mountaines of brasse.

2 In the first charet were [c] red horses, and in the second charet [d] blacke horses,

3 And in the thirde charet [e] white horses, and in the fourth charet, horses of [f] diuers colours, and reddish.

4 Then I answered, and saide vnto the Angell that talked with mee, What are these, my Lord?

5 And the Angell answered, and sayde vnto mee, These are the [g] foure spirites of the heauen, which goe foorth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

6 That with the blacke horse went foorth ina By charets here, as by horses afore, he meaneth the swift messengers of God to execute and declare his will.

b By the brasen mountaines hee meaneth the eternall counsell and prouidence of God, whereby he hath from before all eternitie decreed what shall come to passe, and that which neither Satan nor all the world can alter.
c Which signified the great crueltie and persecutions that the Church had endured vnder diuers enemies.
d Signifying that they had endured great afflictions vnder the Babylonians.
e These represented their state vnder the Persians which restored them to libertie.
f Which signified that God woulde sometime giue his Church rest, & powre his plagues vpon their enemies, as he did in destroying Nineueh & Babylon, and other their enemies.
g Meaning, all the actions and motions of Gods Spirit, which according to his inchangeable counsell he causeth to appeare through all the world.

to the

to the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went forth toward the [h] South countrey.
7 And the [i] reddish went out, and required to go, and passe through the world, and he sayde, Goe passe through the world. So they went thorowout the world.
8 Then cryed hee vpon me, and spake vnto me, saying, Beholde, these that goe towarde the North countrey, haue pacified my [k] spirit in the North countrey.
9 And the worde of the Lorde came vnto me,
saying,
10 Take of them of the captiuitie, euen of Hildai, and of Tobijah, and Iedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and goe vnto the house [l] of Iosiah, the sonne of Zephaniah,
11 Take euen siluer, and golde, and make crownes, and set them vpon the [m] head of Iehoshua, the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, 12 And speake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, & sayth, Behold the man whose name is the [n] Branch, and he shall growe [o] vp out of his place, and he shal [p] build the Temple of the Lord.
13 Euen hee shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the [q] glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and he shalbe a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shall be betweene [r] them both.
14 And the crownes shall be to [s] Helem, and to Tobijah, & to Iedaiah, and to [t] Hen the sonne of Zephaniah, for a [u] memoriall in the Temple of
the Lord.
15 And they that are [x] farre off, shal come and build in the Temple of the Lord, & ye shal know, that the Lorde of hostes hath sent me vnto you.
And this shal come to passe, if ye will [y] obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

h That is, toward Egypt, and other countreys thereabout.
i That is, they of diuers colours, which aske leaue, to signifie that Satan hath no power to hurt or afflict til God giue it him, Iob.1.12.
k By punishing the Caldeans mine anger ceased, and you were deliuered.
l To receiue of him and the other three, money to make the two crownes: which were men of great authoritie among the Iewes, and douted of the restitution of the kingdome and of the Priesthood, & hurt others by their example.
m Because this could not be attributed to any one according to the Lawe, therefore it followeth that Iehoshua must represent the Messiah who was both Priest and King.
n Meaning Christ of whome Iehoshua was the figure: for in Greeke they were both called Iesus.
o That is, of him selfe without the helpe of man.
p Which declareth that none could build this Temple, whereof Haggai speaketh, but only Christ: and therefore it was spirituall, & not material, Hag.2.10.
q Whereof Iehoshua had but a shadowe.
r The two offices of the kingdome, and Priesthood shal be so ioyned together, that they shalbe no more dissenered.
s Who was also called Heldai.
t He was also called Iosiah.
u That they may acknowledge their infirmitie, which looked that all thinges should haue bin restored incontinently: and of this their infidelitie these two crownes shall remaine as tokens, Act 16.
x That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Gospel shal helpe toward the building of this spiritual Temple.
y If ye will beleeue & remaine in the obedience of faith.

CHAP. VII.

5 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people is the cause of their affliction.

AND in the fourth yeere of King Darius, the worde of the Lorde came vnto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth moneth, euen in [a] Chisleu,
2 For [b] they had sent vnto the House of God Sharezer, and Regem-melech and their men to pray before the Lord, 3 And to speake vnto the Priests, which were in the house of the Lorde of hostes, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I [c] weepe in the fift mo-neth, and [d] separate my selfe as I haue done these so many [e] yeeres?
4 Then came the worde of the Lord of hostes
vnto me, saying,
5 Speake vnto all the people of the land, and to the Priestes, and say, When ye fasted, & mourned in the fift & seueth moneth, euen these seuen-tie yeeres, did ye fast vnto me? [g] doe I approoue it?
6 And when ye did eate, and when ye did drinke, did ye not eate [h] for your selues, and drinke for your selues?
7 Should ye not heare the wordes, which the Lord [i] hath cryed by the ministerie of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, & the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited?
8 And the worde of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying,
9 Thus speaketh the Lorde of hostes, saying, [k] Execute true iudgement, and shewe mercy and compassion, euery man to his brother, 10 And oppresse not the widowe, nor the fa-therles, the stranger nor the poore, & let none of you imagine euil against his brother in your heart.
11 But they refused to hearken, and [l] pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare.
12 Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, least they should heare the Lawe and the wordes which the Lord of hostes sent in his [m] spirit by the ministerie of ẏ former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hostes.
13 Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cried, and they would not heare, so they cried, and I would not heare, sayth the Lord of hostes.
14 But I scattered them among all the nations, whom they knew not: thus the land was desolate [n] after them, that no man passed through nor returned: for they layde the pleasant land [o] waste.

a Which conteined part of Nouember, and part of December.
b That is, the rest of the people that remained yet in Caldea, sent to the Church at Ierusalem, for the resolution of these questions, because these feastes were consented vpon by the agreement of the whole Church the one in the moneth that the Temple was destroyed, and the other when Gedaliah was slaine, Iere.41.2. c By weeping and mourning appeare what exercises they vsed in their fasting.
d That is, prepare my selfe with all deuotion to this fast.
e Which was nowe since the time the Temple was destroyed.
f For there were both of the people, and of the Priests, which doubted as touching his controuersie, besides them which as yet remained in Caldea, and reasoned of it, as of one of the chiefe pointes of their religion.
g For they thought they had deserued towards God because of this fast, which they inuented of themselues: and though fasting of it selfe be good, yet because they thought it a seruice toward God, and trusted therein, it is here reprooued.
h Did ye not eate, & drinke for your owne commoditie and necessitie? and so likewise ye did absteine according to your owne fantasies, and not after the prescript of my Lawe.
i Hereby he condemneth their hypocrisie, which thought by their fasting to please God and by such things as they inuented, & in the meane season would not serue him as he had commanded.
k He sheweth, that they did not fast with a syncere heart, but for an hypocrisie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, because that they lacked these offices of charitie, which should haue declared that they were godly, Mat.23.23.
l And would not cary the Lordes burden, which was secrete & easie, but would beare their owne, which was heauie and grieuous to the flesh, thinking to merite thereby: which similitude is taken of oxen, which shrinke at the yoke, Nehe.9.29.
m Which declareth that they rebelled not only against ẏ Prophets, but against ẏ Spirit of God ẏ spake in them.
n That is, after they were caried captiue.
o By their sinnes whereby they prouoked Gods anger.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalem, and of the mercy of God toward them. 16 Of good workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

AGaine the worde of the Lord of hostes came
to me, saying,
2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I was [a] ielous for Zion with great ielousie, and I was ielous for her with great wrath.
3 Thus sayth the Lord, I will returne vnto Zion, & wil dwel in the mids of Ierusalem: & Ierusalem shalbe called a [b] citie of trueth, & the Moun-taine of the Lord of hostes, the holy Mountaine.
4 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, There shall yet olde [c] men and olde women dwell in the streetes of Ierusalem, & euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age.
5 And the streetes of the citie shalbe full of boyes and girles, playing in the streetes thereof.
6 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Though it be [d] vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be vn-possible in my sight, sayth the Lord of hostes?
7 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will deliuer my people from the East countrey, and from the West countrey.

a I loued my citie with a singular loue, so that I could not abide that any should doe her any iniurie.
b Because she shall be faithfull, and loyall toward me her husband.
c Though their enemies did greatly molest & trouble them, yet God would come and dwel amõg them, and so preserue them so long as nature would suffer them to liue, and encrease their children in great abundance.
d He sheweth wherein our faith standeth, that is, to beleeue that God can performe that which he hath promised though it seeme neuer so vnpossible to man, Rom.4.20. Gen.18.14.

8 And I wil bring them, & they shall [e] dwel in the mids of Ierusalem, & they shall be my people, & I wil be their God in trueth, & in righteousnes.

9 Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, Let your [f] hands be strong, ye that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the House of the Lorde of hostes was laide, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for [g] man nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euery one against his neighbour.

11 But nowe, I wil not intreate the residue of this people as aforetime, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 For the seede shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruite, and the ground shal giue her increase, and the heauens shall giue their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, O house of Iudah, and house of Israel, so wil I deliuer you, & ye shalbe a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, As I thought to punish [h] you, when your fathers prouoked me vnto wrath, sayth the Lord of hostes, and repented not,

15 So againe haue I determined in these dayes [i] to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 These are þe things that ye shal doe. Speake ye euery man the trueth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truely & vprightly in your gates, 17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false othe: for all these are the things that I hate, sayth the Lorde.

18 And the worde of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the fift, and the fast of the seuenth, & the fast of the [k] tenth, shall be to the house of Iudah ioy & gladnes, & prosperous hie feasts: therefore loue the trueth & peace.

20 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come [l] people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shal go to another, saying, * Vp, let vs go & pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I will go also.

22 Yea, great people and mightie nations shall come to seeke the Lorde of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lorde.

23 Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, In those dayes shall ten men take holde out of all languages of the nations, euen take holde of the skirt of him that is a Iewe, and say, We will go with you: for we haue heard, that God is with you.

CHAP. IX.

1 The threatning of the Gentiles. 9 The comming of Christ.

THe burden of the worde of the Lorde in the land of [a] Hadrach: and Damascus shalbe his [b] rest: when the [c] eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shalbe toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shall border [d] thereby: Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be [e] very wise.

3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong holde, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and golde as the myre of the streetes.

4 Beholde, the Lord wil spoyle her, and he wil smite her [f] power in the Sea, and she shall be deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shalbe very sorowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shalbe ashamed, & the King shal perish frō Azzah, & Ashkelon shal not be inhabited.

6 And the [g] stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistims.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from betweene his [h] teeth: but he that remaineth, euen he shabe for our God, and he shalbe as a prince in Iudah, but [i] Ekron shalbe as a Iebusite.

8 And I will campe about [k] mine House against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for now [l] haue I seene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shoute for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: beholde, thy King commeth vnto thee: [m] he is iust and saued himselfe, poore and riding vpon an [n] asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I wil cut off the [o] charets from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battel shalbe broken, & he shal speake peace vnto the heathen, & his dominion shalbe from [p] sea vnto sea, & from the [q] Riuer to the end of the land.

11 [r] Thou also shalt be saued through the blood of thy couenant. I haue loosed thy [s] prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turne you to the [t] strong holde, ye [u] prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the [x] double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I [y] bent as a bowe for me: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants sword.

14 And the Lord shall be seene ouer them, and his arrowe shal go forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shal blowe the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirlewindes of the South.

15 The Lorde of hostes shall defend them, and they shal deuoure them, [z] and subdue them with sling stones, and they shall drinke, and make a noyse as thorowe wine, and they shalbe filled like bowles, and the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God shal deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they

e So that their returne shall not be in vaine: for God will accomplish his promise, and their prosperitie shalbe sure and stable.
f Let neither respect of your priuate commodities, neither counsel of others, nor feare of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the building of the Temple, but be constant and obey the Prophets, which incourage you thereunto.
g For God cursed your worke, so that neither man nor beast had profite of their labours.
h Reade Ezek. 18.20.
i Which declareth, that man can not turne to God til he change mans heart by his Spirit, and so begin to doe well, which is to pardon his sinnes and to giue him his graces.
k Which fast was appointed when the citie was besieged, and was the first fast of these foure: and here the Prophet sheweth, that if the Iewes wil repent, and turne wholy to God, they shall haue no more occasion to fast, or to shew signes of heauines: for God wil send them ioy and gladnes.
l He declareth the great zeale that God should giue the Gentiles to come to his Church and to ioyne with the Iewes in his true religion which should be in the kingdome of Christ.
* Isa. 2.2. mich. 4.1.

a Whereby hee meaneth Syria.
b Gods anger shal abide vpon their chiefe citie, & not spare so much as that. c When the Iewes shall conuert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies. d That is, by Damascus: meaning that Hamath or Antiochia should be vnder the same rod or plague.

e Hee secretly sheweth the cause of their destructiō, because they deceiued all other by their craft and subtiltie, which they cloked with this name of wisdome.
f Though they of Tyrus thinke them selues inuincible by reason of the sea, þe compasseth them round about, yet they shall not escape Gods iudgements.
g Meaning, that all should be destroyed saue a very few, that should remaine as strangers.
h He promiseth to deliuer the Iewes when he shall take vengeāce on their enemies, for their crueltie, & wrongs done to them.
i As the Iebusites had bin destroyed, so should Ekron & all the Philistims.
k He sheweth that Gods power onely shalbe sufficient to defend his Church against all aduersaries be they neuer so cruell, or assemble their power neuer so often.
l That is, God hath nowe seene the great iniuries and afflictions where with they haue bene afflicted by their enemies.
m That is, he hath righteousnes, and saluation in him selfe for the vse & commoditie of his Church.
n Which declareth that they should not looke for such a King as should be glorious in the eyes of man, but shoulde be poore, and yet in himselfe haue all power to deliuer his: and this is meant of Christ, as Mat. 21.5.

o No power of man or creature shalbe able to let this kingdome of Christ, & he shal peaceably gouerne them by his worde. p That is, from the red sea, to the sea called Syriacum: and by these places which the Iewes knewe, he meant an infinite space and compasse ouer the whole world. q That is, from Euphrates. r Meaning, Ierusalem or the Church, which is saued by the blood of Christ, whereof the blood of the sacrifices was a figure, and is here called the couenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church, and left it with them for the loue that he bare vnto them. s God sheweth that he wil deliuer his Church out of all dangers, seeme they neuer so great. t That is, into the holy lande where the citie and the Temple are, where God will defend you u Meaning, the faithfull which seemed to be in danger of their enemies on euery side, & yet liued in hope that God would restore them to libertie. x That is, double benefites, and prosperitie in respect of that which your fathers enioyed from Dauids time to the captiuitie. y I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which he here meaneth by the Grecians. z He promiseth that the Iewes shall destroy their enemies and haue abundance, and excesse of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offered: Which things are not to moue them to intemperancie, but to sobrietie, and a thankefull remembrance of Gods great liberalitie.

shall be as the [a] stones of his crowne lifted vp vp-on his land.
17 For how great is his goodnesse ! and howe great is his beautie ! corne shall make the yong men cheerefull, and newe wine the maides.

a The faithfull shalbe preserued, and reuerenced of all that the very enemies shall be compelled to esteeme them: for Gods glorie shall shine in them, as Iosephus declareth of Alexander the great when he met Iadi the high Priest.

CHAP. X.

2 The vanitie of idolatrie. 3 The Lorde promiseth to visite and comfort the house of Israel.

Aske you of the [a] Lord raine in the time of the latter raine : so shall the Lorde make white cloudes, and giue you showres of raine, and to e-uery one grasse in the field.
2 Surely [b] the idols haue spoken vanitie, and the southsayers haue seene a lye, and the dreamers haue told a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine:
therefore [c] they went away as sheepe : they were troubled, because there was no shepheard.
3 My wrath was kindled against the shepherdes, and I did visite the [d] goates: but the Lord of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as [e] his beautifull horse in the battell.
4 Out [f] of him shall the corner come forth:
out of him the nayle, out of him ŷ bowe of battel, and out of him euery [g] appointer of tribute also.
5 And they shalbe as the mightie men, which treade downe their enemies in the mire of the streetes in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lorde is with them, and the riders on horses shall be confounded.
6 And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preserue the house [h] of Ioseph, and I wil bring them againe, for I pitie them: and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them.
7 And they of Ephraim shall be as a gyant:
and their heart shall reioyce as thorowe wine: yea, their children shall see it, and be glad : and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord.
8 I will [i] hisse for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shall encrease, as they haue encreased.
9 And I will [k] sowe them among the people, and they shall remember mee in farre countreys:
and they shall liue with their children and [l] turne againe.
10 I will bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Asshur: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them.
11 And he [m] shall goe into the sea with affliction, and shall smite the waues in the sea, and all the depthes of the riuer shall dry vp : and the pride of Asshur shall be cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.
12 And I will strengthen him in the Lorde, and they shall walke in his Name, sayth the Lorde.

a The prophet reproueth the Iewes because by their owne infidelitie they put backe Gods graces promised, and so famine came by Gods iust iudgement: therefore to auoyde this plague he willeth them turne to God, and to pray in faith to him, and so he will giue them abundance.
b He calleth to remembrance Gods punishments in times past because they trusted not in him, but in their idoles and sorcerers who euer deceiued them.
c That is, the Iewes went into captiuitie.
d Meaning, the cruell gouernours which did oppresse the poore sheepe, Ezek. 34. 16, 17.
e He will be mercifull to his Church and cherish them as a King or Prince doeth his best horse which shalbe for his owne vse in the warre.
f Out of Iudah shall the cheife gouernour proceede, who shall be as a corner to vpholde the building, & as a naile to fasten it together.
g Ouer their enemies.
h That is, the ten tribes, which should be gathered vnder Christ to the rest of the Church.
i Whereby he declareth the power of God who needeth no great preparation when he will deliuer his: for with a becke or hisse he can call them from al places suddenly.
k Though they shall yet be scattered and seeme to be lost, yet it shall be profitable vnto them: for there they shall come to the knowledge of my Name, which was accomplished vnder the Gospell, among whom it was first preached.
l Not that they shoulde returne into their countrey, but be gathered and ioyned in one faith by the doctrine of the Gospel.
m He alludeth to the deliuerance of the people out of Egypt, where as the Angell smote the floodes and riuers.

CHAP. XI.

1 The destruction of the temple. 4 The care of the faithfull is committed to Christ. 7 A grieuous vision against Ierusalem and Iudah.

Open thy doores, O [a] Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars.
2 Houle, [b] firre trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mightie are destroyed: houle ye, O okes of Bashan, for ŷ [c] defensed forest is cut downe.
3 There is the voyce of the houling of the shepheardes : for their [d] glory is destroyed : the voyce of ŷ roaring of lyons whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.
4 Thus sayeth the Lorde my God, Feede the sheepe of the [e] slaughter.
5 They that possesse them, slay them [f] and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, [g] Blessed be the Lord : for I am riche, and their owne shepherdes spare them not.
6 Surely I wil no more spare those that dwell in the land, sayth the Lord: but loe, [h] I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his [i] King: and they shal smite the land, & out of their hands I will not deliuer them.
7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the [k] poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto me [l] two staues : the one I called Beautie, and the other I called Bandes, and I fed the sheepe.
8 [m] Three shepherds also I cut off in one mo-neth, and my soule lothed [n] them, and their soule abhorred me.
9 Then said I, I will not feede you : that that dyeth, let it dye : and that that perisheth, let it perish : and let the remnant eate, euery one the flesh of his neighbour.
10 And I tooke my staffe, euen Beautie, and brake it, that I might disanull my couenant, which I had made with all people.
11 And it was broken in that day : and so the [o] poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.
12 And I said vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue me my [p] wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of siluer.
13 And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the [q] potter : a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of siluer, and cast them to the potter in the house of the Lord.
14 Then brake I mine other staffe, euen the Bandes, that I might dissolue the brotherhood betweene Iudah and Israel.
14 And the Lord said vnto me, Take to thee yet [r] the instruments of a foolish shepheard.
16 For loe, I will rayse vp a shepheard in the land, which shall not looke for the thing, that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambes, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feede that that [s] standeth vp : but he shall eate the flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pieces
17 O idole shepheard that leaueth the flocke:
the sword shalbe vpon his [t] arme, & vpon his right eye.

a Because the Iewes thought themselues so strong by reason of this mountaine, that no enemie could come to hurt them, the Prophet sheweth, that when God sendeth the enemies, it shall shew it selfe ready to receiue them.
b Shewing that if the strong men were destroyed, the weaker were not able to resist.
c Seeing that Lebanon was destroied, which was the strōgest munition, the weaker places could not thinke to hold out.
d That is, the renoume of Iudah and Israel should perish.
e Which being nowe destinate to be slaine, were deliuered as out of the lions mouth.
f Their gouernours destroy them without any remorse of conscience, or yet thinking that they doe euill.
g He noteth the hypocrites, which euer haue the Name of God in their mouthes, though in their life and doings they denie God, attributing their gaine to Gods blessing, which commeth of the spoyle of their brethren.
h I will cause one to destroy another.
i Their gouernours shal execute crueltie ouer them.
k That is, the small remnant, whom he thought worthie to shewe mercie vnto.
l God sheweth his great benefites toward his people to conuince them of greater ingratitude, which would neither be ruled by his most beautifull order of gouernement, neither continue in the bandes of brotherly vnitie, and therefore he breaketh both the one and the other. Some reade for Bandes Destroyers, but in the 14. verse the first reading is confirmed.
m Whereby he sheweth his care and diligence that he would suffer them to haue no euill rulers, because they should consider his great loue.
n Meaning the people, because they would not acknowledge these great benefites of God.
o He sheweth that the least part euer profite by Gods iudgements.
p Besides their ingratitude God accuseth them of malice and wickednesse, which did not onely forget his benefites but esteemed them as things of nought.
q Shewing that it was too litle to pay his wages, which could scarse suffice to make a fewe tyles for to couer the Temple.
r Signifying, that they should haue a certayne kinde of regiment, and outward shewe of gouernement : but in effect it should bee nothing : for they should be wolues and deuouring beastes in steade of shepheardes.
s And is in health and sounde.
t By the arme he signifieth strength, as he doth wisedome and iudgement by the eye : that is, the plague of God shall take away both thy strength and iudgement.

eye. His arme shall be cleane dryed vp, and his right eye shall be vtterly darkened.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

THe burden of the worde of the Lorde vpon [a] Israel, sayth the Lorde, which spred the hea-uens, and layed the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirite of man within him.
2 Beholde, I wil make Ierusalem a [b] cuppe of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will he be, in ẏ siege against Ierusalem.
3 And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp, shall be torne, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.
4 In that day, sayeth the Lorde, I will smite euery horse with stonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will smite euery horse of the people with blindnesse.
5 And the princes of Iudah shall say in their heartes, The [c] inhabitants of Ierusalem shalbe my strength in the Lord of hostes their God.
6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coles of fire among the wood, and like a fire brand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people round about on the right hand, and on the left: and Ierusalem shall be inhabited againe in her owne place, euen in Ierusalem.
7 The Lord also shall preserue the [d] tents of Iudah, as afore time: therefore the glorie of the house of Dauid shall not boast, nor the glorie of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.
8 In that day shall the Lord defende the inhabitants of Ierusalem, & he that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shall be as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lord before them.
9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.
10 And I will powre vpon the house of Dauid, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem the Spirit of [e] grace and of compassion, and they shal looke vpon me, whom they haue [f] pearced, and they shall lament for [g] him, as one mourneth for his onely sonne, and be sorie for him as one is sorie for his first borne.
11 In that day shall there be a great mourning in Ierusalem, as the [h] mourning of [i] Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.
12 And the [k] land shall bewayle euery familie [l] apart, the familie of the [m] house of Dauid apart, and their wiues apart: and familie of the house of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart: 13 The familie of the house of Leui apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of [n] Shemei apart, and their wiues apart:
14 All the families that [o] remaine, euery fami-
lie apart, and their wiues apart.

a That is, the ten tribes, which neglected Gods benefite in deliuering their brethren, and had rather remaine in captiuitie, then to returne home, when God called them.
b Ierusalem shall be defēded against all her enemies: so shall God defend Iudah also, and shall destroy the enemies.
c Euery captaine, that had many vnder him afore, shall nowe thinke that the small power of Ierusalem shall be sufficient to defend them against all enemies, because the Lord is among them. d The people which are nowe as it were dispersed by the fieldes, and lye open to their enemies, shall be no lesse preserued by my power, then if they were vnder their Kings, (which is ment by the house of Dauid) or in their defensed cities.
e They shall haue the feeling of my grace by faith, and knowe that I haue compassion on them.
f That is, whom they haue continually vexed with their obstinacie, and grieued my Spirit, Iohn 19.37. wherein it is referred to Christs body, which here is referred to the Spirit of God.
g They shall turne to God by true repentance, whom before they had so grieuously offended by their ingratitude.
h They shall lament and repent exceedingly for their offences against God. i Which was the name of a towne and place neere to Megiddo where Iosiah was slaine, 2.Chro 35.22. k That is, in all places where the Iewes shall remaine. l Signifying that this mourning or repentance shoulde not be a vaine ceremonie: but euery one touched with his owne griefe shall lament. m Vnder these certaine families he conteineth all the tribes, and sheweth that both the Kings and the Priests had by their sinnes perced Christ. n Called also Simeon. o To wit, which were elect by grace, and preserued from the common destruction.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the cleane riddance of idolatrie. 3 The zeale of the godly against false prophets.

IN that day there [a] shall be a fountaine opened to the house of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, for sinne and for vncleannesse.
2 And in that day, sayth the Lord of hostes, I will cut off the [b] names of the idoles out of the land: and they shall no more be remembred: and I will cause the [c] prophets, and the vncleane spirit to depart out of the land.
3 And when any shall yet [d] prophecie, his father and his mother that begate him, shall say vnto him, Thou shalt not liue: for thou speakest lies in the name of the Lorde: and his father and his mother that begat him, [e] shal thrust him through,
when he prophecieth.
4 And in that day shall the prophetes [f] be ashamed euery one of his vision, when he hath prophesied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to deceiue.
5 But he shall say, I am no [g] Prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught mee to be an heardman from my youth vp.
6 And one shall say vnto him, What are these [h] woundes in thine hands? Then shal he answere, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friendes.
7 ¶ Arise, O sword, vpon my [i] shepheard, and vpon the man, that is my fellow, saith the Lord of hostes: smite the shepheard, and the sheepe shall be scattered: and I will turne mine hand vpon the litle ones.
8 And in all the land, sayeth the Lord, [k] two partes therein shall be cut off, and die: but the third shall be left therein.
9 And I will bring that third part thorowe the fire, and will fine them as the siluer is fined, and will trie them as golde is tryed: they shall cal
on my Name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lorde is my God.

a He sheweth what shall be the fruite of their repentance, to wit, remissiō of sinnes, by the blood of Christ, which shall be a continual running fountaine, and purge them from all vncleannesse.
b He promiseth that God will also purge them from all superstition, and that their religion shall be pure.
c Meaning, the false prophets and teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth vncleane spirits.
d That is, when they shall prophesie lies, and make God, who is the authour of trueth, a cloake therunto.
e He sheweth what zeale the godly shall haue vnder the kingdome of Christ, Deut.13.6.9.
f God shall make them ashamed of their errours and lies, and bring them to repentance, and they shall no more weare Prophets apparell to make their doctrine seeme more holy. g They shall confesse their former ignorance, and be content to labour for their liuing. h Hereby he sheweth that though their parentes and friendes dealt more gently with them, and put them not to death, yet they would so punish their children, that became false prophetes, that the markes and signes shoulde remaine for euer. i The Prophet warneth the Iewes, that before this great comfort should come vnder Christ, there shoulde be an horrible dissipation among the people: for their gouernours and pastours shoulde be destroyed, and the people shoulde be as scattered sheepe: and the Euangelist applieth this to Christ, because he was the head of all Pastours, Matth.26.31. k The greatest part shall haue no portion of these blessings, and yet they that shall enioy them, shall be tryed with great afflictions, so that it shall be knowen that onely Gods power and his mercies doe preserue them.

CHAP. XIIII.

8 Of the doctrine that shall proceede out of the Church, and of the restauration thereof.

BEholde, the day of the Lorde commeth, and thy spoyle shall be [a] deuided in the middes of
thee.
2 For I will gather all nations against Ierusalem to battell, and the citie shall be taken, and the houses spoyled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the citie shall goe into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from ẏ city.
3 Then shall the Lord goe foorth, and fight against those nations, as when [b] he fought in the day of battell.
4 And his feete shall stand in that day vpon
the [c] mount of oliues, which is before Ierusalem on the Eastside, & the mount of oliues shal cleaue in the middes thereof: toward the East & toward the West there shalbe a very great [d] valley, & halfe

a He armeth the godly against the great tentations that should come, before they enioyed this prosperous estate promised vnder Christ, that when these dangers should come, they might knowe that they were warned of them afore.
b As your fathers, and you haue had experience both at the red Sea and at all other times.
c By this maner of speach the Prophet sheweth Gods power and care ouer his Church, and how he will as it were by myracle saue it. d So that out of all the parts of the world, they shall see Ierusalem, which was before hid with this mountaine: & this he meaneth of the spirituall Ierusalē ẏ Church,

of

of the mountaine shal remoue toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.
5 And yee shall flee vnto the e valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines shal reache vnto Azal: yea, yee shall flee like as ye fled from the f earthquake in the daies of Vzziah King of Iudah: and the Lord g my God shal come, and all the Saints with thee.
6 And in that day shall there bee no cleare light, but darke.
7 And there shall bee a day (it is knowen to the Lorde) h neither day nor night, but about the euening time it shall be light.
8 And in that day shall there i waters of life goe out from Ierusalem, halfe of them towarde the East sea, and halfe of them towarde the vttermost sea, and shall bee, both in sommer and winter.
9 And the Lord shall bee King ouer all the earth: in that day shall there bee one k Lord, and his Name shalbe one.
10 All the lande shall bee turned l as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, towarde the South of Ie-rusalem, and it shall be lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the first gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the towre of Hananiel, vnto the Kings wine presses.
11 And men shall dwell in it, and there shall bee no more destruction, but Ierusalem shall bee safely inhabited.
12 And this shall bee the plague, wherewith the Lorde will smite all people, that haue fought against Ierusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand vpon their feete, and their eyes shall consume in their holes, and their tongue shal consume in their mouth.
13 But in that day m a great tumult of the Lorde shall bee among them, and euery one shall take n the hande of his neighbour, and his hande shall rise vp against the hand of his neighbour.
14 And Iudah shall fight also against Ierusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shall be gathered rounde about, with o golde and siluer, and great abundance of apparell.
15 Yet this shall be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camell and of the asse and of all the beasts that be in these tents as this p plague.
16 But it shall come to passe that euery one that is left of all the nations, which came against Ierusalem, shall goe vp from yere to yeere to worship the King the Lord of hostes, and to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.
17 And who so will not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ierusalem to worship the King the Lorde of hostes, euen vpon them shall come no raine.
18 And if the familie of q Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it shall not raine vpon them. This shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all the heathen, that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.
19 This shall be the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.
20 In that day shall there be written vpon the r bridles of the horses, The holinesse vnto the Lord, and the s pottes in the Lords house shall be like the bowles before the altar.
21 Yea, euery potte in Ierusalem and Iudah shall bee holy vnto the Lorde of hostes, and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them, and seethe therein: and in that day there shall be no more the t Canaanite in the House of the Lord
of hostes.

e He speaketh of the hypocrites, which could not abide Gods presence, but should flee into all places, where they might hide them among the mountaines.
f Read Amos 1.1.
g Because they did not credit the Prophets wordes, he turneth to God, and comforteth himselfe in that that he knew that these things should come, and sayeth, Thou, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to performe this great thing.
h Signifying, that there should be great troubles in the Church, & that the time hereof is in the Lords hands, yet at length (which is here meant by the euening) God would send comfort.
i That is, the spirituall graces of God, which should euer continue in most abundance.
k All idolatry and superstition shall be abolished, and there shalbe one God, one faith, and one religion.
l This newe Ierusalem shall be seene through all the worlde, and shall excell the first in excellencie, wealth and greatnesse.
m God will not onely rayse vp warre without, but sedition at home to trie them.
n To hurt, and oppresse him.
o The enemies are rich, and therefore shall not come for a praye, but to destroy and shed blood.
p As the men should be destroyed, verse 12.
q By the Egyptians, which were greatest enemies to true religion, he meaneth all the Gentiles.
r Signifying that to what seruice they were put now (whether to labour, or to serue in warre) they were holy, because the Lord had sanctified them.
s As precious the one as the other, because they shall be hallowed.
t But all shall be pure and cleane, and there shall be neither hypocrite, or any that shall corrupt the true seruice of God.

MALACHI.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis Prophet was one of the three, which God raised vp for the comfort of his Church after the captiuitie, and after him there was no more vntill Iohn Baptist was sent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they should with more feruent desires looke for the comming of Messiah. He confirmeth the same doctrine, that the two former doe, but chiefly he reprooueth the Priests for their couetousnesse, and for that they serued God after their owne fantasies, and not according to the prescript of his worde. He also noteth certaine peculiar sinnes, which were then among them, as marrying of idolatrous and many wiues, murmurings against God, impacienceie, and such like. Notwithstanding, for the comfort of the godly, he declareth that God woulde not forget his promise made vnto their fathers, but would sende Christ his messenger, in whom the couenant should be accomplished, whose comming should be terrible to the wicked, and bring all consolation and ioy vnto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against Israel and chiefly the Priests.

THe a burden of the woorde of the Lorde to Israel by the ministerie of Malachi.
2 I haue loued you, sayth the Lord: yet yee say, b Wherein hast thou loued vs? Was not Esau Iaa-kobs brother, saith the Lord? yet I loued Iaakob, 3 And I c hated Esau, and made his mountains waste, & his heritage a wildernes for dragons.
4 Though Edom say, Wee are impouerished, but we will returne and build the desolate places,
yet sayth the Lord of hostes, They shall buylde, but I will destroy it, and they shall call them, The border of wickednes, and the people, with whome
the Lorde is angry for euer.
5 And your eyes shall see it, and yee shall say,
The Lorde will be magnified vpon the border of Israel.
6 A sonne honoureth his father, and a seruant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? and if I be a master, where is my feare, sayth the Lorde of hostes vnto you, d O Priestes, that despise my Name? and yee say, e Wherein haue we despised thy Name?

a Reade Isa. 13.1.
b Which declareth their great ingratitude that did not acknowledge this loue, which was so euident, in that he chose Abraham fro out of all the world, & next chose Iaakob the yonger brother of whom they came, and left Esau the elder.
c For besides that the signes of mine hatred appeared euen when hee was made seruant vnto his yonger brother, being yet in his mothers bellie, and also afterwarde in that hee was put from his birthright, yet euen nowe before your eyes the signes hereof are euident, in that that his countrey lieth waste, and he shall neuer returne to inhabite it, whereas ye my people, whom the enemie hated more then them, are by my grace and loue toward you deliuered, reade Rom. 9.13.
d Besides the rest of the people he condemneth the Priests chiefly, because they should haue reprooued others for their hypocrisie and obstinacie against God, and not haue hardened them by their example to greater sinne.
e Hee noteth their grosse hypocrisie, which would not see their faults, but most impudently couered them, and so were blinde guides.

7 Ye offer [f] vncleane bread vpon mine altar, and you say, Wherein haue we polluted thee? In that ye say the table of the Lord is not [g] to be regarded.

8 And if yee offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is [h] not euill: and if ye offer the lame and sicke, it is not euill: offer it now vnto thy prince: will he be content with thee, or accept thy person, sayth the Lord of hostes?

9 And now, I pray you, [i] pray before God, that hee may haue mercie vpon vs: this hath bene by your meanes: will hee regard [k] your persons, saith the Lord of hostes?

10 Who is there euen among you, [l] that would shut the doores, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleasure in you, sayeth the Lorde of hostes, neither will I accept an offering at your hande.

11 For from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is [m] great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense shalbe offred vnto my Name, and a pure offring: for my Name is great among the heathen, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

12 But ye haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lord is [n] polluted and the fruit thereof, euen his meate is not to be regarded.

13 Ye said also, Behold, it is a [o] wearinesse, and ye haue snuffed at it, saith the Lord of hostes, and ye offred that which was torne, and the lame and the sicke: thus yee offred an offring: should I accept this of your hand, saith the Lord?

14 But cursed bee the deceiuer, which hath in his flocke [p] a male, & voweth, and sacrificeth vnto the Lorde a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, sayth the Lord of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

f Ye receiue all maner offrings for your owne gredines, and doe not examine whether they be according to my Law or no.
g Not that they said thus, but by their doings they declared no lesse.
h You make it no fault: whereby he condemneth them, that thinke it sufficient to serue God partly as hee hath commanded, and partly after mans fantasie, & so come not to that purenesse of religion, which he requireth, and therefore in reproch he sheweth them that a mortall mā would not be content to be so serued.
i He derideth the Priestes who bare the people in hande, that they prayed for them, and sheweth that they were the occasion, that these euils came vpon the people.
k Will God consider your office and state, seeing you are so couetous, and wicked?
l Because the Leuites, who kept the doores, did not trie whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Lawe, God wisheth that they would rather shut the doores then to receiue such as were not perfite.
m God sheweth that their ingratitude, and neglect of his true seruice shall be the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: and heere the Prophet that was vnder the Lawe framed his woordes to the capacitie of the people, and by the altar and sacrifice hee meaneth the spirituall seruice of God, which shoulde bee vnder the Gospell, when an ende shoulde be made to all these legall ceremonies by Christes onely sacrifice.
n Both the Priestes and the people were infected with this errour, that they passed not what was offred: for they thought that God was as well content with the leane as with the fatte: but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God, which he required, and so committed both impietie, and also shewed their contempt of God, and couetousnesse.
o The Priestes and people were both wearie with seruing God, and passed not what maner of sacrifice and seruice they gaue to God, for that which was least profitable, was thought good enough for the Lord.
p That is, hath habilitie to serue the Lord according to his worde, and yet will serue him according to his couetous minde.

CHAP. II.

Threatnings against the Priests being seducers of the people.

AND now, O ye [a] Priests, this commandement is for you.

2 If yee will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glory [b] vnto my Name, sayth the Lorde of hostes, I will euen sende a curse vpon you, and will curse your [c] blessings: yea, I haue cursed them alreadie, because ye doe not consider it in your heart.

3 Behold, I wil corrupt [d] your seede, and cast dongue vpon your faces, euen the [e] dongue of your solemne feastes, and you shall be like vnto it.

4 And yee shall knowe, that I haue [f] sent this commaundement vnto you, that my couenant, which I made with Leui, might stand, sayth the Lorde of hostes.

5 My [g] couenant was with him of life and peace, and I [h] gaue him feare, and he feared mee, and was afraid before [i] my Name.

6 The lawe of [k] trueth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie founde in his lippes: hee walked with me in peace and equitie, & did turne many away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priestes [l] lippes shoulde preserue knowledge, and they shoulde seeke the Lawe at his mouth: for he is the [m] messenger of the Lorde of hostes.

8 But yee are gone out of the way: yee haue caused many to fall by the Lawe: yee haue broken the couenant of Leui, sayth the Lord of hostes.

9 Therefore haue I also made you to be despised, and vile before all the people, because yee kept not my wayes, but haue bene partiall in the Lawe.

10 Haue we not all one [n] father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the couenant of [o] our fathers?

11 Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Ierusalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holinesse of the Lorde, which hee loued, and hath married the [p] daughter of a strange god.

12 The Lorde will cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the seruant out of the Tabernacle of Iaakob, and him that [q] offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hostes.

13 And this haue ye done againe, and [r] couered the altar of the Lorde with teares, with weeping and with mourning: because the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your handes.

14 Yet ye say, [ſ] Wherein? Because the Lorde hath beene witnesse betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whome thou hast transgressed: yet is shee thy [t] companion, and the wife of thy [u] couenant.

15 And did not [x] hee make one? yet had hee [y] abundance of spirit: and wherefore one? because hee sought a godly [z] seede: therefore keepe your selues in your [a] spirit, and let none trespasse against the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hatest her, [b] put her away, sayeth the Lorde God of Israel, yet he couereth [c] the iniurie vnder his garment, sayth the Lord of hostes: therefore keepe your selues in your spirite, and transgresse not.

17 Yee haue [d] wearied the Lorde with your wordes: yet ye say, Wherein haue wee wearied him? When ye say, Euery one that [e] doeth euill, is good in the sight of the Lorde, and he deliteth in them. Or where is the God of [f] iudgement?

a He speaketh vnto them chiefly, but vnder them he conteineth the people also.
b To serue me according to my worde.
c That is, the abundance of Gods benefites.
d Your seede sowen shall come to no profite.
e You boast of your holinesse, sacrifices and feasts, but they shal turne to your shame, and be as vile as dongue.
f The Priestes obiected against the Prophet that he could not reproue them, but he must speake against the Priesthoode, and the office established of God by promise, but hee sheweth that the office is nothing slaundered when these vilaines and dongue are called by their owne names.

g He sheweth what were ye two conditions of the couenant made with the tribe of Leui, on Gods part, that hee would giue them long life and felicitie, and on their part, that they should faithfully serue him according to his worde.
h I prescribed Leui a certaine lawe to serue me.
i He serued me and set foorth my glorie with all humilitie and submission.
k Hee sheweth yt the Priest ought to haue knowledge to instruct other in the word of the Lord.
l He is as the treasure house of Gods worde and ought to giue to euery one according to their necessitie, and not to reserue it for himselfe.
m Shewing, that whosoeuer doeth not declare Gods wil, is not his messenger, and Priest.
n The Prophet accuseth the ingratitude of the Iewes towarde God and man: for seeing they were all borne of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holy people, they ought neither to offende God nor their brethren.
o Whereby they had bound themselues to God to be an holy people.
p They haue ioyned themselues in marriage with them that are of another religion.
q That is, the Priestes.
r Yee cause the people to lament, because that God doeth not regarde their sacrifices, so that they seeme to sacrifice in vaine.
ſ This is another fault, whereof hee accuseth them, that is, that they brake the lawes of marriage.
t As the one halfe of thy selfe.
u Shee that was ioyned to thee by a solemne couenant, and by the inuocation of Gods name.
x Did not God make man and woman as one flesh and not many?
y By his power and vertue hee coulde haue made many women for one man.
z Such as should bee borne in lawfull and moderate marriage wherein is no excesse of lustes.
a Conteine your selues within your boundes, and bee sober in minde, and bridle your affections.
b Not that hee doeth allowe diuorcement, but of the two faultes hee sheweth, which is the lesse.
c Hee thinketh it sufficient to keepe his wife still, albeit hee take others, and so as it were couereth his fault.
d Yee murmured against God, because hee heard not you assoone as yee called.
e In thinking that God fauoured the wicked, and hath no respect to them that serue him.
f Thus they blasphemed God in condemning his power and iustice, because hee iudged not according to their fantasies.

CHAP.

C H A P. III.

1 Of the messenger of the Lord, Iohn Baptist, and of Christes office.

BEhold, I will send my a messenger, and he shal prepare the way before me: and b the Lorde whom ye seeke, shall speedely come to his Tēple: euen the c messenger of the couenant whom ye desire: beholde, he shall come, sayth the Lord
of hostes.
2 But who d may abide the day of his com-ming? and who shall endure, when he appeareth?
for he is like a purging fire, and like Fullers sope.
3 And he shall sit downe to trie and fine the siluer: he shall euen fine the sonnes of e Leui and purifie them as golde and siluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteousnesse.
4 Then shall the offerings of Iudah and Ieru-salem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in old time and in the yeeres afore.
5 And I will come neere to you to iudge-ment, and I will be a swift witnesse against the southsayers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and vexe the widowe, and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not me, sayth the Lord of hostes.
6 For I am the Lord: I change not, and ye sonnes of Iaakob f are not consumed.
7 From the dayes of your fathers, ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: g returne vnto me, and I will returne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes: but ye said, Wherein shall we returne?
8 Will a h man spoyle his gods? yet haue ye spoyled me: but ye say, Wherein haue we spoyled thee? In i tithes, and offerings.
9 Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye haue spoy-led me, euen this whole nation.
10 Bring ye all the tythes into the storehouse that there may be meate in mine House, & proue me nowe herewith, sayeth the Lord of hostes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you,
and powre you out a blessing without measure.
11 And I will rebuke the l deuourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruite of your grounde, neither shall your vine be barren in the fielde, sayeth the Lord of hostes.
12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be a pleasant lande, sayeth the Lorde of hostes.
13 Your wordes haue bene stout against me, sayeth the Lorde: yet ye say, What haue we spoken against thee?
14 Ye haue saide, It is in vaine to serue God:
and what profite is it that we haue kept his commandement, and that we walked humbly before
the Lord of hostes?
15 Therefore wee count the proude blessed:
euen they that worke wickednesse, are set vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are n deliuered.
16 o Then spake they that feared the Lorde, euery one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened & heard it, and a p booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name.
17 And they shal be to me, sayeth the Lord of hostes, in that day q that I shal do this, for a flocke, and I will r spare them, as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him.
18 Then shall you returne, and discerne betweene the righteous and wicked, betweene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

a This is ment of Iohn Baptist, as Christ expoundeth it, Luke 7.27.
b Meaning Messiah, as Psal. 40.1, 7. dan. 9.17, 25. c That is, Christ by whom the couenant was made and ratified, who is called the Angel or messenger of the couenant because he reconcileth vs to his Father: and is Lord or King, because he hath the gouernement of his Church.
d He sheweth that the hypocrites which wish so much for the Lords comming, will not abide when he draweth neere: for he will consume them, and purge his and make them cleane.
e He beginneth at the Priests that they might be lighters and shine vnto others.
f They murmured against God because they saw not his helpe euer present to defende them: and therefore he accuseth them of ingratitude, and sheweth that in that they are not dayly consumed, it is a token, that he doth still defend them: and so his mercie toward them neuer changeth.
g Read Zech. 1.3.
h There are none of the heathen so barbarous, that wil defraude their gods of their honour, or deale deceitfully with them.
i Whereby the seruice of God should haue bene mainteined, and the Priestes and the poore relieued. k Not hauing respect how much ye neede, but I will giue you in all abundance: so that ye shall lacke place to put my blessings in. l Meaning, the caterpiller, and whatsoeuer destroyeth corne and fruites. m The prophet condemneth them of double blasphemie against God: first in that they said that God had no respect to them that serued him, and next that the wicked were more in his fauour then the godly.

n They are not onely preferred to honour, but also deliuered from dangers.
o After these admonitions of the Prophet some were liuely touched, and incouraged others to feare God.
p Both because the thing was strange that some turned to God in that great and vniuersall corruption, and also that this might be an example of Gods mercies to all penitent sinners. q When I shall restore my Church according to my promise, they shall be as mine owne proper goodes. r That is, forgiue their sinnes and gouerne them with my Spirite.

C H A P. IIII.

The day of the Lord, before the which Eliiah should come.

FOr behold, the day commeth that shal a burne as an ouen, and all the proude, yea, and all that doe wickedly, shall be stubble, and the day that commeth, shall burne them vp, sayeth the Lorde of hostes, and shall leaue them neyther roote nor branche.
2 But vnto you that feare my Name, shal the b sunne of righteousnesse arise, and health shall be vnder his wings, and ye shall c go foorth, & grow vp as fat calues.
3 And ye shall tread downe the wicked: for they shall be dust vnder the soles of your feete in the day that I shall doe this, sayeth the Lorde
of hostes.
4 d Remember the lawe of Moses my seruant, which I commanded vnto him in Horeb for all Israel with the statutes and iudgements 5 Beholde, I will sende you e Eliiah the Prophet before the comming of the great and f fearefull day of the Lord.
6 And he shall g turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to the fathers, lest I come h and smite the earth with cursing.

a He prophesieth of Gods iudgements against the wicked, who would not receiue Christ, when as God should send him for the restauration of his Church.
b Meaning Christ, who with his wings or beames of his grace should lighten and comfort his Church, Ephes. 5.14 and he is called the sunne of righteousnesse because in himselfe he hath all perfection, and also the iustice of the Father dwelleth in him whereby he regenerateth vs into righteousnes, clenseth vs from the filth of this world, and reformeth vs to the image of God. c Ye shall bee set at libertie and increase in the ioy of the Spirit, 2. Cor. 3.17. d Because the time was come that the Iewes should be destitute of Prophetes vntill the time of Christ, because they shoulde with more feruent mindes desire his comming, the Prophet exhorteth them to exercise themselues diligently in studying the Lawe of Moses in the meane season, whereby they might continue in the true religion and also bee armed against all tentations. e This Christ expoundeth of Iohn Baptist, Matth. 11.13, 14. who both for his zeale, and restoring of religion is aptly compared to Eliiah. f Which as it is true for the wicked, so doeth it waken the godly and call them to repentance. g He sheweth wherein Iohns office shoulde stand: in the turning of men to God and ioyning the father and children in one vnitie of faith: so that the father shall turne to the religion of his sonne which is conuerted vnto Christ, and the sonne shal imbrace the faith of the true fathers Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob. h The seconde point of his office was to denounce Gods iudgements against them that would not receiue Christ.

¶ The ende of the Prophets.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGVMENT.

These bookes that followe in order after the Prophets vnto the Newe Testament, are called Apocrypha, that is, bookes, which were not receiued by a common consent to be read and expounded publikely in the Church, neither yet serued to prooue any poynt of Christian religion, saue in asmuch as they had consent with the other Scriptures called Canonicall to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were receiued to bee read for the aduauncement and furtherance of the knowledge of the historie, and for the instruction of godly maners: which bookes declare that at all times God had an especiall care of his Church, and left them not vtterly destitute of teachers and meanes to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witnesse that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his prouidence, who had both so threatned by his Prophets, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the triall of his children.

I. ESDRAS.

CHAP. I.

1 Iosias appoynteth Priests, and keepeth the Passeouer. 7 Offrings for the Priests and the people. 11 The order of the Leuites. 23 The vpright life of Iosias. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Ioachaz appoynted King. 53 The destruction of Ierusalem.

* 2.King.23.21. 2.chro.35.1.
AND Iosias kept the * Passeuer to his Lorde in Ierusalem, and offred the Passeouer in the foureteenth day of the first moneth,
2 And appointed the Priests according to their dayly courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.
3 And he spake to the Leuites the holy Ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselues to the Lord, to set the holy Arke of the Lord in the House, which Salomon the sonne of King Dauid had buylt,
4 And sayde, Ye shall no more beare the Arke vpon your shoulders: now therefore serue the Lord your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, & prepare according to your families & tribes, 5 After the writing of Dauid King of Israel, and according to the Maiestie of Salomon his sonne, and stande in the Temple (according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Leuites) which were appoynted before your brethren the children
of Israel.
6 Offer in order the Passeouer, and make readie the sacrifices for your brethren, and keepe the Passeouer after the Lordes commaundement giuen to Moyses.
7 And Iosias gaue to the people that was present, thirtie thousand lambes and kiddes with three thousand calues.
8 These were giuen of the Kings possessions according to the promes, to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Leuites. Then gaue Helkias and Zacharias and || Syelus the gouernours of the Tem- || Or, Iehiel.
ple, to the Priestes for the Passeouer two thousand sixe hundreth sheepe, and three hundreth calues.
9 Furthermore, Iechonias, and Samaias, & Nathanael his brother, and || Sabias and || Chielus, and || Or, Hasabias. || Or, Iehiel.
|| Ioram captaines gaue to the Leuites for the Passe- || Or, Chorabas.
ouer fiue thousande sheepe, and seuen hundreth calues,
10 And when these things were done, the Priests and the Leuites stoode in order, hauing vnleauened bread according to the tribes, 11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers, before the people to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the bookes of Moyses: and thus they did in the morning.
12 And they rosted the Passeouer with fire as * Exod.12.8.
* apperteined, and they sod their offrings with perfumes in caldrons and pottes, 13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterwarde they prepared for themselues, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes
of Aaron.
14 For the Priestes offred the fatte vnto the Euening, and the Leuites did make ready for them selues, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes
of Aaron.
15 And the holy singers, the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, according to the appoynted ordinances

ordinances of Dauid, to wit, Asaph, and Azarias, and ‖Eddinus, which was of the Kings appoyntment. ‖Or, Iedathun.
16 And the porters were at euery gate, so that it was not lawfull, that any should passe his ordinarie watche: for their brethren the Leuites made readie for them.
17 And in that day those things which apper-teined to the sacrifice of the Lorde, were accomplished, that they might offer the Passeouer, 18 And offer sacrifices vpon the altar of the Lorde, according to the commaundement of King Iosias.
19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Passeouer and the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes.
20 And there was not such a Passeouer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.
21 And all the Kings of Israel did not offer such a Passeouer, as did Iosias, and the Priestes, and the Leuites, and the Iewes, and all Israel, which were found to remaine in Ierusalem.
22 In the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosias was this Passeouer kept.
23 The works of Iosias were vpright before his Lord with a heart full of godlinesse.
24 And concerning the things which came to passe in his time, they are written before, to wit, of those that sinned & did wickedly against the Lord, aboue euery nation & kingdome, and grieued him with ‖ sensible things, so that the words of the Lord ‖Or, by worshipping sensible creatures.
stoode vp against Israel.
25 ¶ *Now after all these actes of Iosias, it came *2.Chro.35.20.
to passe that when Pharao King of Egypt came to moone warre at Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Iosias went out against him.
26 But the King of Eygpt sent to him, saying,
What haue I to doe with thee, O King of Iudea?
27 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee:
but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with me, and the Lorde hasteneth me forwarde:
depart from me, and be not against the Lord.
28 But Iosias would not turne backe his chariot from him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the wordes of Ieremias the Prophet
by the mouth of the Lord.
29 But he set himselfe in battel aray against him in the fielde of Megeddo, and the Princes came downe to King Iosias.
30 And the King sayde to his seruants, Conuey me out of the battel, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruants brought him out of the battell.
31 So he gate vpon his second chariot, and being come againe to Ierusalem hee changed his life, and was buried in his fathers graue.
32 And in all Iudea was Iosias bewayled, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, and the gouernours and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeined in all the kinred of Israel, to be done continually.
33 But these things are written in the booke of the stories of the Kings of Iudea, and euery one of the actes that Iosias did, and his glorie, & his knowledge in the Lawe of the Lorde, and the thinges which he did before, and the things now rehearsed are registred in the booke of the Kings of Israel and Iudea.
34 Then they of the nation tooke *Ioachaz *2.King.23.30. 2.Chro 36.1.
the sonne of Iosias, and made him King in steade of his father Iosias, when he was three and twentie yeere olde.
35 And hee reigned in Iudea and in Ierusalem three moneths: for the King of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.
36 He taxed also the people of an hundreth talents of siluer, and one talent of golde.
37 And the king of Egypt made Ioacim his brother King of Iudea and Ierusalem.
38 And he bound Ioachaz and his gouernours:
but when he had taken Zaraces his brother, he led him away into Egypt.
39 Twentie & fiue yeere olde was Ioacim, when he reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.
40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, who when hee had bound him with a chayne of brasse, lead him away into Babylon.
41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lorde, and caryed them away, and set them in his Temple at Babylon.
42 But all his actes, and his prophanation, & his reproche are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings.
43 And Ioacim his sonne reigned for him: and when hee was made King, hee was eighteene yeere olde.
44 And hee reigned three moneths and tenne dayes in Ierusalem, and hee did euill in the sight of
the Lorde.
45 ¶ So a yeere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lorde.
46 And he made Sedecias king of Iudea and Ie-rusalem, when he was one and twentie yeere olde, and he reigned eleuen yeeres.
47 And he did euill in the sight of the Lord, neither did hee feare the wordes spoken * by Ieremias *Iere.38.17.
the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord.
48 For after that he was sworne to King Nabu-chodonosor, he forsware himselfe by the Name of the Lord and fell away, and hardened his necke and his heart, and transgressed the lawes of the Lorde God of Israel.
49 Also the gouernours of the people, and the Priests committed many things against the Lawes and passed al the pollutions of al nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Ierusalem.
50 Neuerthelesse the God of their fathers sent his messenger to call them backe, because he spared them and his owne Tabernacle.
51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day, that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets, 52 So that he, being moued to anger against his people for their great wickednesse, commanded the Kings of the Caldeans to inuade them.
53 These killed their yong men with the sword rounde about their holy Temple, neither did they spare yong man, nor mayden, neither olde man, nor childe among them.
54 But he deliuered them all into their handes, and all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great and small with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they tooke, and caried away the Kings treasures into Babylon.
55 And they set fire in the House of the Lord, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem, and burnt their towres with fire.
56 They consumed also all the precious things
thereof,

thereof, and brought them to nought, and those that were left by the sworde bee caryed away into Babylon.
57 And they were seruantes to him, and to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfil the word
*Iere.25.11. and 29.10. of the Lord by the mouth of *Ieremias, 58 And that the lande might inioy her Sabbaths all the time, that it was desolate, till seuentie yeeres were accomplished.

CHAP. II.

1 Cyrus gaue leaue to the Iewes to returne. 10 He sent the holy vessels. 13 The names of them that returned. 16 Their aduersaries did let their building, and the Kings letters for the same.

2.Chro.36.22. ezra.1.1. IN the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus king of the Persians, to fulfill the worde of the Lorde by the mouth of Ieremias, 2 The Lord raised vp the spirit of Cyrus king of the Persians, and he made proclamatiō throughout all his kingdome, euen by expresse letters, 3 Saying, Thus sayth Cyrus king of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, euen the most high Lorde, hath made me king ouer the whole world, 4 And he hath commanded me to build him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudea.
5 If there bee any therefore of you of his people, let the Lord, euen his Lord be with him, and let him goe vp to Ierusalem, which is in Iudea, and builde the house of the Lorde of Israel: he is the Lord which dwelleth in Ierusalem.
6 All they then that dwell in the places rounde about, those, I say, that are in his place, let them helpe him with gold and siluer, 7 With giftes, with horses and cattell, and other things, which shall bee brought according to the vowes into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Ie-rusalem.
8 ¶ Then arose the chiefe of the families of Iu-dea, and of the tribe of Beniamin, and the Priestes and Leuites, and all whose minde the Lorde had moued to go vp, and builde an house to the Lorde in Ierusalem.
9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with siluer and gold, horses, and cattel, and with diuers vowes of many whose mindes were stirred vp.
10 Also king Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lorde, which Nabuchodonosor had cari-ed out of Ierusalem, and had consecrated them in the Temple of his idoles.
11 Nowe when Cyrus king of the Persians had brought them out, he deliuered them to Mithridates his treasurer,
‖Or, Sheshbazar, or, Sanabassar. 12 By whome they were giuen to ‖ Abassar the gouernour of Iudea.
13 Whereof this was the number: a thousande golden cups, & a thousand siluer cups, basins of siluer for the sacrifices, nine and twentie viols, of gold thirtie, and of siluer two thousand, foure hundreth and ten, and a thousand other vessels.
14 So all the vessels of golde and siluer, which they caryed away, were fiue thousande, foure hun-dreth, threescore and nine.
15 They were brought by Sanabassar with thē of the captiuitie of Babylon to Ierusalem.
*Ezra.4.9. 16 ¶ But * in the time of Artaxerxes king of ‖Or, Bischlemus. the Persians ‖Belemus, and Mithridates, and Tabel-‖Or, Shimshi. lius, and Rathūmus, and Beeltethmus, and ‖Semellius the secretarie, and others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this Epistle here following against them, that dwelt in Iudea and Ierusalem, To
THE KING ARTAXERXES OVR
LORD,
17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the secretary and the rest of their counsel, and the iudges which are in Coelosyria and Phenice.
18 Be it now therfore knowen to our Lord the king, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Ierusalem, that rebellious & wicked citie, and builde the market places, and make vp the walles thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.
19 Therfore if this citie be built, and the walles bee finished, they will not onely not indure to pay tribute, but will also resist kings.
20 And because the things pertaining to ẏ Temple, go forward, we thought it not meete to passe ouer such a thing,
21 But to declare it to our Lord the King, that if it bee thy pleasure, it may bee sought out in the bookes of thy fathers, 22 And thou shalt finde in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt knowe that this citie did alwayes rebell, and did trouble both kings and cities, 23 And that the Iewes are rebellious, raysing alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this citie was made desolate.
24 Now therefore, O lord the king, we declare it, that if this citie bee built and the walles thereof repaired, you shall haue no more passage into Coelosyria, nor Phenice.
25 ¶ The the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Beeltethmus, & to Semellius the secretarie, and to the rest of those that were ioyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria and Phenice, these things that followe.
26 I haue read the Epistle, which you sent to me: therefore I cōmanded, that it should be sought out, and it was founde, that this citie hath alwayes practised against Kings, 27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, and howe that mightie kings and fierce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which tooke tribute of Coelosyria, and Phenice.
28 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build vp the citie, and that it be taken heede that no more be done, 29 And that those wicked things, which should molest the king, go not forward.
30 Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the secretarie and the rest, which were ioyned with them, had read the things, which king Artaxerxes had written, they moued their tents with speede to Ierusalem with horses and men in aray, 31 And began to let them which built, so that the building of the Temple in Ierusalem ceased vnto the second yeere of the reigne of Darius king of the Persians.

CHAP. III.

1 The feast of Darius. 16 The three wise sentences.

NOwe when Darius reigned, hee made a great feast to all his subiectes and to all those of his owne house, and to all the Princes of Media and Persia,
2 And to all the gouernours and captaines, and lieutenantes that were with him, from India vnto Ethio-

Ethiopia of an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces.
3 And when they had eaten and drunke, and were satisfied, they departed, and King Darius went into his chamber, and slept, till he wakened againe.
4 ¶ In the meane time three yong men of the gard, keepers of ÿ kings body, saide one to another; 5 Let euery one of vs speake a sentence, and hee that shall ouercome, and whose sentence shall ap-peare wiser then the others, Darius the King shall giue him great gifts, and great things in token of victorie,
6 As to weare purple, and to drinke in gold, and to sleepe in gold, and a chariot with bridles of gold, an head tyre of fine linnen, and a chayne about his necke.
7 And hee shall sit next to Darius for his wise-dome, and shalbe called Darius cousin.
8 Then euery man wrote his sentence and sealed it, and put it vnder the pillowe of king Darius, 9 And said, when the king rose, they would giue him the writing, and whose sentence the king and the three Princes of Persia shoulde iudge to be wisest, to him should the victorie bee giuen as it was appoynted.
10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.
11 The other wrote, The king is strongest.
12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but trueth ouercommeth all things.
13 ¶ And when the king rose, they tooke the writings and gaue them to him, and he read them, 14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia and of Media, and the gouernors & the captains, and lieutenants, and the consuls, 15 And sate him downe in the counsell, and the writing was read before them.
16 Then he sayde, Call the yong men, that they may declare their owne sentence. So they called them, and they came in.
17 Then hee sayde vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first began, which had spoken of the strength of wine, 18 And saide on this maner, O yee men, howe strong is wine! it deceiueth all men that drinke it.
19 It maketh the minde of the king and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bonde man and of the free man, of the poore man and of the rich man, 20 It turneth also euery thought into ioye and gladnesse, so that one remembreth no maner of so-rowe, nor det.
21 It maketh euery heart riche, so that one remembreth neither king nor gouernour, and causeth to speake all things by ‖talents. ‖Or, pounds.
22 When men haue drunk, they haue no minde to loue either friendes or brethren, and a litle after they drawe out swordes, 23 But when they are from the wine, they doe not remember what they haue done.
24 O ye men, is not wine strongest, which compelleth to doe such things? and hee helde his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the strength of a King. 13 Of the strength of women. 34 Of the strength of trueth, which sentence is approued, 47 And his petition granted.

Then the seconde which had spoken of the strength of the King, began to say, 2 O ye men are not men strongest, which beare rule by lande and by sea, and ouer all things which are in them?
3 But the king is yet greater: for hee ruleth all things, and is lord of them, so that they do al things which he commandeth them.
4 If he bid them make warre one against an other, they doe it: if he send them out against the enemies, they goe and breake downe mountaines and walles and towers.
5 They kill and are killed, and doe not passe the commandement of the king: if they ouercome, they bring all to the king, aswell the spoyles as all other things,
6 And those also which go not to warre & battell, but till the earth: for when they haue sowen it againe, they reape it, and bring it to the king, and compell one another to pay tribute to the king.
7 Yet he is but one man: if he bid, Kill, they kill:
if he say, Spare, they spare.
8 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if he bid them, Make desolate, they make desolate: if he bid, Build,
they builde.
9 If he bid, Cut off, they cut off: if he bid, Plant, they plant.
10 So all his people and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while hee sitteth downe, he ea-teth, and drinketh and sleepeth.
11 For these keepe him rounde about: neyther can any one go and do his owne businesse, neyther are they disobedient vnto him.
12 O yee men, howe shoulde not the king bee strongest, seeing he is thus obeyed! So he helde his tongue.
13 ¶ Then the third which had spoken of women and of the trueth (this was Zorobabel) began to speake.
14 O ye men, neither the mightie king, nor many men, nor wine is strongest; who then ruleth them or hath dominion ouer them? are they not women?
15 Women haue borne the king & all the people which beare rule by sea and by land.
16 Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them, which planted the vines, of which the wine is made.
17 They also make mens garments & make men honorable, neither can men be without women.
18 And if they haue gathered together golde and siluer, or any goodly thing, doe they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?
19 Doe they not leaue all those things and giue themselues wholy vnto her, and gape, and gaze vp-on her, and all men desire her more then golde, or siluer, or any precious thing?
20 A man leaueth his owne father which hath nourished him, and his owne countrey, and is ioyned with his wife.
21 And for ÿ woman he ieopardeth his life, and neither remẽbreth father nor mother nor countrey.
22 Therfore by this ye may know that the women beare rule ouer you: do ye not labour and trauell, and giue and bring all to the women?
23 Yea, a man taketh his sword and goeth forth to kill and to steale, and to saile vpon the sea, and vpon riuers,
24 And hee seeth a Lion and goeth in darke-nesse, and when he hath stollen, rauished and spoy-led, he bringeth it to his loue.
25 Wherfore a man loueth his owne wife more then father or mother.
26 Yea, many haue runne mad for women, and haue bene seruants for them.

27 Many

27 Many also haue perished and haue erred and sinned for women.
28 Nowe therefore do you not beleeue me? is not the King great in his power? do not all regions feare to touch him?
29 Yet I saw him and Apame, the Kings concu-bine, the daughter of the famous Bartacus, sitting on the right hand of the King, 30 And shee tooke the crowne off the Kinges head, and put it vpon her owne, and strooke the King with her left hand.
31 Yet in the meane season the King gaped and gazed on her: & if she laughed at him, he laughed:
and if she were angry with him, hee did flatter her that he might be reconciled with her.
32 Howe then, O ye men, are not women more strong, seeing they do thus?
33 ¶ Then the Kings, & the Princes looked one vpon another, & he began to speake of the trueth.
34 O ye men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, and the heauen is hye, and the sunne is swift in his course: for hee turneth rounde about heauen in one daye, and runneth againe into his owne place.
35 Is not hee great that maketh these things?
therefore the trueth is greater & stronger then all.
36 All the earth calleth for trueth, and the heauen blesseth it: and all things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any vniust thing with it.
37 The wine is wicked, the King is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked workes are such, and there is no trueth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.
38 But trueth doeth abide, & is strong for euer, and liueth and reigneth for euer and euer.
39 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor difference: but she doeth the things which are iust, and absteineth from vniust and wicked things, and all men fauour her workes.
40 Neyther is there any vniust thing with her iudgement, and shee is the strength and the kingdome and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blessed be the God of trueth.
41 So hee ceassed to speake, and then all the people cryed and said, Trueth is great & strongest.
42 Then the King sayde vnto him, Aske what thou wilt besides that which is appoynted, and wee will giue it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue libertie to sit by me, and shalt be called my cousin.
43 ¶ Then he sayd to the King, Remember the vowe that thou hast vowed to builde Ierusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdome, 44 And to send againe all the vessels that were taken out of Ierusalem, which Cyrus set a part when he made a vow to cut off Babylon, & vowed to send them thither.
45 Thou also hast vowed to build the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Iudea was destroyed by the Chaldeans.
46 And now, O lord the King, this is that which I desire, & require of thee, and this is the magnificence, which I require of thee: I require therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vowe which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to do to the King of heauen.
47 Then King Darius rising vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the stewards & lieutenants, & captaines & gouernours, that they should bring on the way both him, and all that were with him, which went vp to builde Ierusalem.
48 And he wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Coelosyria & Phenice, & to them that were in Li-banus, that they should bring cedar wood from Li-banus to Ierusalem, and build the citie with him.
49 And he wrote for all the Iewes, which went vp out of his kingdome vnto Iudea, concerning their libertie, ÿ no Prince, nor lieutenant, nor gouer-nour, nor steward should enter into their doores, 50 And that all the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, & that the Idumeans should let go the villages of the Iewes which they helde, 51 And that euery yeere there should be giuen for the building of the Temple twentie talents vntill it were buylt, 52 And to mainteine the burnt offerings vpon the altar euery day (as they had a commandement to offer seuenteene) other ten talents euery yeere, 53 And that al they which went from Babylon to build the citie, should haue libertie, aswel they as their posteritie, and all the Priestes that went away.
54 He wrote also touching the charges and the Priestes garments, wherein they should minister.
55 And he wrote that they should giue the Le-uites their charges vntill the house were finished, and Ierusalem built.
56 Also he wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the citie.
57 And he sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, & whatsoeuer Cyrus had commanded to doe, he also commanded to do it, and to send to Ierusalem.
58 And when the ‖ yong man was gone foorth, ‖ Or, Zorobabel.
he lift vp his face to heauen towards Ierusalem, and gaue thankes to the King of heauen, 59 Saying, Of thee is the victorie, and of thee is wisdome, & of thee is glory, and I am thy seruant.
60 Blessed be thou which hast giuen mee wis-dome: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lorde of
our fathers.
61 ¶ So he tooke the letters and went out and came to Babylon, and telled all his brethren.
62 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because he had giuen them freedome and libertie 63 To goe vp and to builde Ierusalem, and the Temple, where his Name is renoumed, and they reioyced with instruments of musicke and ioy, seuen dayes.

CHAP. V.

1 The number of them that returne from the captiuitie. 42 Their vowes and sacrifices. 54 The Temple is begun to be built. 66 Their enemies would craftily ioyne with them.

After * these things, the chiefe of the houses of *Ezra.2.1. their fathers were chosen after their tribes, and their wiues, and their sonnes, and their daughters, and their seruants, and their maydes, and their

24 The Priestes, the sonnes of Ieddu, the sonne of Iesus which are counted among the sonnes of Sa-nasib, nine hundreth, seuentie and two: the sonnes of Meruth, a thousand fiftie and two.
25 The sonnes of ‖ Phassaron, a thousand, four-tie and seuen: the sonnes of ‖ Carme, a thousand and seuenteene.
26 ¶ The Leuites. The sonnes of Iessue, Cad-miel, Bannu and Suia, seuentie and foure.
27 ¶ The sonnes which were holy singers. The sonnes of Asaph, an hundreth, fourtie and eyght.
28 ¶ The porters. The sonnes of Salum, the sonnes of Iatal, the sonnes of ‖ Tolman, the sonnes of Dacobi, the sonnes of Teta, the sonnes of Sami:
all were an hundreth, thirtie and nine.

bat, the sonnes of Allom.
35 All the ministers of the Temple, and the sonnes of the seruants of Salomon, were three hun-dreth, seuentie and two.
36 These came vp from ‖ Thermelech and Thelarsas: Caraathalat and Aalar leading them.
37 Neither could they shewe their families nor their stocke how they were of Israel, the sonnes of ‖ Ladan the sonne of ‖ Ban, the sonnes of ‖ Neco-dan, sixe hundreth fiftie and two.
38 And of the Priests those which exercised the ‖ Obdia, the sonnes of ‖ Accos, the sonnes of Addus,

* which had taken for wife Augia, one of the daughters of ‖ Berzelaius, 39 And was called after his name: and when the description of the kinred of these men had bene sought in the register, and could not be found, they were set apart from the office of Priests.
40 For ‖ Neemias and Atharias sayde to them, that they should not be partakers of ẏ holy things, till there arose an high Priest clothed with doctrine and trueth.
41 So all they of Israel fro them of twelue yeere olde and litle children, were ‖ fourtie thousand besides men seruants and women seruants, two thousand, three hundreth and sixtie.

47 ¶ But *when the seuenth moneth was neere, and when the children of Israel were euery one at corde into the open place of the first gate, which is toward the East.

*Ezra.3.1.

48 Then Iesus the sonne of Iosedec and his brethren the Priests, with Zorobabel the sonne of Sa-lathiel and his brethren, rising vp, made ready the altar of the God of Israel, 49 To offer burnt offerings vpon it according as it is written in the booke of Moyses the man of God.
50 Whither also there were gathered against them of all nations of the lande: but they dressed the altar in his owne place, although al the nations of the lande were their enemies and vexed them, and they offered sacrifices according to the season, and burnt offeringes to the Lorde, morning and euening.
51 They kept also the feast of Tabernacles, as it is * ordeined in the Lawe, and offered sacrifices e-uery day, as was requisite,

*Leui.23.34.

52 And afterward, the continuall oblations and offerings of the Sabbaths and of the new moneths and of all holy feasts.
53 ¶ And al *they which had made any vow to God, began to offer sacrifice vnto God in the first day of the seuenth moneth, although the Temple of God was not yet built.

*Ezra.3.6.

54 They gaue also money to the masons and to the workmen, and meate and drinke with gladnes, 55 And charets to the Sidonians and to those of Tyrus to bring cedar wood out of Libanus, which should be brought by flotes to the hauen of Ioppe according to the commandement giuen vnto them by Cyrus king of Persia.
56 And in the second yere and second moneth came into the Temple of God in Ierusalem, Zoro-babel the sonne of Salathiel, and Iesus the sonne of Iosedec, and their brethren, and the Priestes and Leuites, and al they that came out of captiuitie into Ierusalem,
57 And *layde the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the seconde moneth of the second yeere after their returne into Iudea and Ie-rusalem.

*Ezek.43.13.

58 And they appoynted the Leuites from twen-tie yere olde ouer the workes of the Lord, and Iesus and his sonne, and his brethren, & his brother Cad-miel, and the sonnes of Madiabon with the sonnes of Ioda, the sonne of Heliadun, with their sonnes, & brethren, euen all the Leuites with one accorde did followe after the worke, calling vpon the workes in the house of God: thus the workemen built the Temple of the Lord.
59 And the Priestes stoode clothed with their long garments with musical instruments and trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymballes,
60 Singing and blessing the Lord, according to the ordinance of Dauid king of Israel.
61 And they sung with loud voyce songs to the prayse of the Lorde, because his mercie and glory is for euer in all Israel.
62 Then al the people blewe trumpets, and cried with a loude voyce, praysing the Lorde for the raysing vp of the house of the Lord.
63 Also some of the Priestes and Leuites, and chiefe men, to wit, the Auncientes which had seene
the former house,
64 Came to see the building of this with weeping and great crying, and many with trumpets, and ioy cryed with loude voyce, 65 So that the people could not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blewe trumpets, so that they were heard farre off.
66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Iuda and Beniamin heard it, they came to know what noyse of trumpets it was,
67 And they knewe that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.
68 Wherfore they comming to Zorobabel, and Iesus, & the chiefe of the families, said vnto them,
Let vs builde also with you.
69 For we obey your Lord, as you do, and sacrifice vnto him since the dayes of || Asbasareth king of the Assyrians, which brought vs hither.

||Or, Assaraddon, or, Asarhaddon.

70 Then Zorobabel, and Iesus, and the chiefe of the families of Israel sayd to them, It doeth not ap-pertaine to vs, and to you to builde an house to the Lord our God.
71 For we alone will builde it to the Lord God of Israel, as it becommeth vs, and as *Cyrus the king of the Persians bade vs.

*Ezra.4.3.

72 Howbeit the people of the land made them sluggish that were in Iudea, and letted thē to builde the worke, and by their ambushmentes and sedi-tions and conspiracies hindred the finishing of the building, 73 All the time of king Cyrus life: so that they were let from ẏ building two yere, vntill the reigne of Darius.

1 Of Aggeus and Zacharias. 2 The building of the Temple. 3 Sisinnes would let them. 7 His Epistle to Darius. 23 The kings answere to the contrary.

BVt * in the seconde yeere of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the sonne of Addo the Prophetes prophecied to the Iewes, euen vnto them that were in Iudea and Ierusalem, in the name of the Lord God of Israel, which they called †vpon.

†Greeke vpon them.

2 Then Zorobabel sonne of Salathiel, and Iesus the sonne of Iosedec stoode vp, and beganne to builde the house of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem, the Prophetes of the Lorde being with them, and helping them.
3 ¶ In that time Sisinnes the gouernour of Syria, and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes with his companions came vnto them, 4 And sayde vnto them, By whose commandement builde you this house and this building, and enterprise all these other things? and who are the builders that enterprise such things?

5 But the Auncients of the Iewes had grace of the Lord after that he had viſited the captiuitie, 6 That they were not letted to builde, vntill it was ſignified vnto Darius of theſe matters, and an anſwere was receiued.
7 ¶ The copie of the Epiſtle, which he did write and ſend to Darius: SISINNES gouernour of Syria and of Phenice, & Sathrabouzanes, & their companions, preſidents in Syria and Phenice, ſalute King Darius.
8 It may pleaſe the king our maſter plainely to vnderſtand, that when we came to the countrey of Iudea, and entred into the citie of Ieruſalem, wee found in the citie of Ieruſalem the Auncients of the Iewes that were of the captiuitie, 9 Building an houſe to the Lord, great & newe, of hewen ſtones, and of great price, and the timber alreadie laied vpon the wals.
10 And theſe workes are done with great ſpeed, yea, and the woorke hath good ſucceſſe in their handes, ſo that it will be finiſhed with all glory and diligence.
11 Then we asked their Auncients, ſaying, By whoſe commaundement build you this houſe, and lay the foundation of theſe workes?
12 We asked them theſe things to the intent to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therfore we demanded the names of the gouernours in writing.
13 But they anſwered, ſaying, We are the ſeruaunts of the Lord, which hath created the heauen and the earth.
*1.King.6.1. 14 And * this houſe was built vp many yeeres agoe by a king of Iſrael great and ſtrong, and was finiſhed.
15 But when our fathers, prouoking God to wrath, ſinned againſt the Lord of Iſrael, which is *2.King.24.1. in heauen, * hee deliuered them into the handes of Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon of the Chal-deans,
16 Who brake downe the houſe, and burnt it, and caried the people captiue to Babylon.
17 But in the firſt yeere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, king Cyrus wrote that this houſe ſhould be built vp.
18 And the holy veſſels of gold and of ſiluer, which Nabuchodonoſor had carried out of the houſe at Ieruſalem, and had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the king tooke out of the Temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zoro-‖Or, Shaſhbazar. babel, and to ‖ Sanabaſſarus ruler.
19 And a commandement was giuen vnto him, that hee ſhould carie away thoſe veſſels, and put them in the Temple at Ieruſalem, and that this Temple of the Lorde ſhould bee built in this place.
20 Then the ſame Sanabaſſarus, being come hither, laied the foundation of the houſe of the Lord at Ieruſalem, and ſince that time till now, it is in building, and is not finiſhed.
21 Nowe therefore if it pleaſe the king, let it be ſought vp in the kings Libraries concerning Cyrus.
22 And if it bee found that the building of the houſe of the Lord at Ieruſalem hath bene done by the conſent of king Cyrus, and if it ſeeme good to the lord our king, let him make vs anſwere concerning theſe things.
23 Then king Darius commanded to ſearch in the kings Libraries, that were in Babylon, and there was found in Ecbatane, which is a tower in the region of Media, a place where ſuch things were laide vp for memorie.
24 In the firſt yere of the reigne of Cyrus, king Cyrus commaunded the houſe of the Lorde at Ieruſalem to be builded, where they did ſacrifice with the continuall fire.
25 Of the which the height ſhould be of three-ſcore cubites, the breadth of threeſcore cubites with three rowes of hewen ſtones, and one rowe of newe wood of that countrey, and that the coſtes ſhoulde be payde out of the houſe of king Cyrus.
26 And that the holy veſſels of the houſe of the Lord, aſwell thoſe of gold as of ſiluer, which Nabu-chodonoſor had caried out of the houſe in Ieruſalem, and brought into Babylon, ſhould be reſtored to the houſe, which is in Ieruſalem, and ſet in the place where they were afore.
27 Alſo hee commaunded that Siſinnes, gouer-nour of Syria and Phenice, & Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, and thoſe which were conſtitute captaines in Syria and Phenice, ſhoulde take heede to refraine from that place, and to ſuffer Zorobabel the ſeruant of the Lorde, and gouernour of Iudea, and the Elders of the Iewes to builde that houſe of the Lord in that place.
28 And I alſo haue commaunded to builde it cleane vp againe, and that they be diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Iewes, til the houſe of the Lord be finiſhed, 29 And that ſome part of the tribute of Coeloſyria and Phenice ſhould be diligently giuen to theſe men for ſacrifice vnto the Lorde, and to Zo-robabel the gouernour, for bulles, rammes, and
and lambes:
30 Alſo corne, and ſalt, and wine, and oyle continually euery yeere without fayle, as the Prieſtes, which are in Ieruſalem ſhall teſtifie to bee ſpent euery day,
31 That offeringes may bee made to the high God for the king, and his children, and that they may pray for their liues.
32 Furthermore hee commaunded that whoſoeuer ſhoulde tranſgreſſe any thing afore ſpoken or written, or derogate any thing thereof, that a tree ſhould be taken out of his poſſeſſion, and hee be hanged thereon, and that his goods ſhoulde be the kings.
33 And therefore let the Lorde whoſe Name is there called vpon, deſtroy euery king and nation, which ſtretcheth out his hande to hinder or doe euill to that Houſe of the Lorde which is in Ieruſalem.
34 * I Darius the king haue ordeyned that it *Ezra.6.12.
ſhould bee diligently executed according to theſe
things.

and Phenice and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, obeying King Darius commaunde-mentes,
2 Aſſiſted diligently the holy woorkes working with the Ancients and gouernours of the Sanctuarie.
3 And the holy woorkes proſpered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophets which prophecied.
4 So they finiſhed al thinges by the commaun-dement

dement of the Lorde God of Israel, and with the consent of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerxes kings of the Persians.

5 Thus the holy House was finished in the three and twentieth day of the moneth Adar in the sixt yeere of Darius King of the Persians.

6 ¶ And the children of Israel, and the Priests and the Leuites, and the rest, which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moyses.

7 And they offered for the dedication of the Temple of the Lord, an hundreth bulles, two hundreth rammes, foure hundreth lambes,

8 And twelue goates for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Israel.

9 And the Priestes, and the Leuites stoode according to their kinreds clothed with long robes in the workes of the Lord God of Israel, according to the booke of Moyses, and also the porters in euery gate.

10 And the children of Israel offred the Passeouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourteenth day of the first moneth, after that the Priestes and Leuites were sanctified.

11 But all the children of the captiuitie were not sanctified together, but all the Leuites were sanctified together.

12 And they offered the Passeouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Priestes, and for themselues.

13 Then all the children of Israel which were of the captiuitie did eate, euen all they that had separated themselues from the abominations of the people of the land, and sought the Lord.

14 And they kept the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes, reioycing before the Lord, 15 Because hee had turned the counsell of the king of the Assyrians towardes them to strengthen their hands in the works of the Lord God of Israel.

3 This Esdras went out of Babolon, and was a scribe well taught in the lawe of Moyses, giuen by the Lorde God of Israel.

4 Also the King gaue him great honour, and he founde grace in his sight in all his requestes.

5 With him also there departed some of the children of Israel, and of the Priestes and Leuites, and of the holy singers, and of the porters, and of the ministers of the Temple vnto Ierusalem,

6 In the seuenth yeere of the reigne of Artaxerxes, and in the fifth moneth: this was the seuenth yeere of the King (for they went out of Babylon in the first day of the first moneth,

7 And came to Ierusalem according as the Lorde gaue them speede in their iourney)

8 For Esdras had gotten great knowledge, so that he would let nothing passe that was in the law of the Lorde, and in the commaundements, and he taught al Israel all the ordinances and iudgements.

9 So the commission written by King Artaxerxes was giuen Esdras the Priest and reader of the Lawe of the Lorde: the copie thereof foloweth.

10 King Artaxerxes to Esdras the Priest, & reader of the Lawe of the Lorde, Salutation.

11 Forasmuch as I consider things with pitie, I haue commanded that they that will and desire of the nation of the Iewes, and of the Priests and Leuites which are in our kingdome, shoulde go with thee vnto Israel,

12 Therefore as many as bee willing, let them depart together, as it hath seemed good to me and my seuen friendes the counsellers,

13 That they may visite the things that are in Iudea and Ierusalem diligently, as it is conteined in the Lawe of the Lorde,

14 And carie the giftes to the Lorde of Israel in Ierusalem, which I and my friendes haue vowed: also all the golde and siluer, which shall bee founde in the countrey of Babylon appertaining to the Lord in Ierusalem,

15 With that which is giuen of the people to the Temple of the Lorde their God, that it might be brought to Ierusalem, as well siluer as golde, for bulles, and rammes, and lambes, and thinges thereunto perteining, 16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lorde vpon the altar of the Lorde their God, which is in Ierusalem.

17 And whatsoeuer thou and thy brethren will doe with the golde or siluer, accomplish it according to the will of thy God.

18 And the holy vessels of the Lord, which are giuen thee for the vse of the Temple of thy God, which is in Ierusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Ierusalem.

19 And what other things so euer thou shalt remember for the vse of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt giue it out of the Kings treasure.

20 And I also King Artaxerzes haue commanded the treasurers of Syria and Phenice, that whatsoeuer Esdras, the Priest and Reader of the Law of the highest God, shall sende for, they shoulde giue it him with all speed, euen to the summe of an hundreth talents of siluer.

21 And likewise vnto an hundreth cores of corne, and an hundreth pieces of wine and other things in abundance.

22 Let all things be done to the hyest God according to the Lawe of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpon the kingdome of the King and of his sonnes.

23 Also to you it is commanded, that of none of the Priests or Leuites, or holy singers, or porters or ministers of the Temple, or of the workemen of this Temple, no tribute nor taxe be taken, nor that any haue power to taxe them in any thing.

24 Thou also, Esdras, according to the wisedome of God, ordeine iudges and gouernours, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all those which are well instructed in the Lawe of thy God, and teach those, which are not instructed.

25 And let all those which shall transgresse the Law of God and the King, be diligently punished, either with death, or other punishment, either with penaltie of money, or banishment.

26 ¶ Then Esdras the scribe said, Blessed be the onely Lorde God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the King to glorifie his house which is in Ierusalem, 27 And hath honoured me before the King and the counsellers, and all his friendes, and gouernours.

35 Of the sonnes of Saphatias, Zarias sonne of 37 Of the sonnes of ‖ Banid, Assalimoth sonne

‖Or, Baniah, Eslomith. of Iosaphias, and with him an hundreth, and three score men.
38 Of the sonnes of Babi, Zacharias sonne of Bebai, and with him twentie and eight men.
39 Of the sonnes of ‖ Astath, Iohannes sonne of ‖Or, Azgad, Iohanan sonne of Ecctthan. Acatan, and with him an hundreth and ten.
40 Of the sonnes of Adonicam the last: and 41 ¶ And I gathered them together to the *Ezra.8.15. flood called * Theras, and pitched our tentes there three dayes, and nombred them.

42 But when I had founde there none of the Priestes nor Leuites,
43 I sent to Eleazar, and beholde, there came ‖Or, Masima, Alnathan. ‖ Maasman, and Alnathan, and Samaian, and ‖ Iori-‖Or, Iorib, Elnathan, Zacharie, & Mosollam bon, and Nathan, Ennatan, Zacharian, and Mosollamon the chiefe, and best learned.
44 And I bade them to go to Daddeus the captaine, which was in the place of the treasurie, 45 With charge to bid Daddeus and his brethren, and the treasurers that were there, to send to vs them, which shoulde offer sacrifice in the house of our Lorde.
46 And they brought vnto vs by the mightie hād of our Lord, learned men of ẏ sonnes of Moli, ‖Or, Seredia. the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israel, to wit, ‖ Cisebebran & his sonnes, & his brethren being eighteene.
47 And Asebia, and ‖ Annon, and Osaian his ‖Or, Anom, Iesaia. brethren of the sonnes of ‖ Canaineus with their ‖Or, Canaanien. sonnes, twentie persons.
48 And of the ministers of the Temple, which Dauid gaue, and those which were rulers ouer the worke of the Leuites, to wit, ministers of the Temple, two hundreth and twentie, of whome all the names were registred.

49 ¶ And * there I proclaimed a faste for the *Ezra.8.21.
yong men before the Lorde to aske of him a good iourney both for vs, and for them that were with vs, for our children, and for our cattell, 50 For I was ashamed to aske the King footemen, or horsemen, or conduct for safegarde against our enemies,
51 Because wee had saide to the King, that the power of our Lorde shoulde bee with them that sought him, to direct them in all things.
52 Wherefore wee prayed our Lord againe, according to these things, whō we found fauourable.
53 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the tribes, & of the Priests, twelue mē, to wit, ‖ Esebrias ‖Or, Serebias.
and Assanias, and with them ten of their brethren.
54 And I weighed them the siluer and the gold, and the holy vessels of ẏ house of our Lorde, which the King and his counsellers, and his princes, and all Israel had giuen.
55 And I weighed them, sixe hundred and fifty talents of siluer, and siluer vessels of an hundreth talents, and an hundreth talents of golde, 56 And twentie golden basins, and twelue vessels of brasse, of fine brasse shining like golde.
57 And I said to them, You are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the gold, and the siluer is a vow to the Lord of our fathers.
58 Watch & keepe them, til that you giue them to the heads of the families of the Priestes and Le-uites, and captaines of the families of Israel in Ieru-salem in the chambers of the house of our God.
59 So the Priestes and Leuites tooke the siluer and the golde, and the vessels, and carried them to Ierusalem to the Temple of the Lord.
60 And we departed from the flood Thera, in the twelfth day of the first moneth, and came to Ierusalem, according to the mightie power of our Lord with vs: and the Lorde deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So we came to Ierusalem.
61 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the siluer that was weighed, and the golde was deliuered in the House of our Lorde to ‖ Marmoth the Priest, the sonne of Iouri, ‖Or, Marimoth, the sonne of Iori of Vrie.
62 And with him to Eleazar the sonne of Phinees: and there were with them, Iosabad the sonne of Iesus, and ‖ Moeth sonne of Sabbanus, Leuites: ‖Or, Noadia, sonnes, sonne of Bannu.
all was deliuered them by number and weight.
63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.
64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, euen twelue bulles for all Israel, rammes fourescore and sixteene, 65 Lambes threescore and twelue, twelue goats
for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Lord.
66 And they presented the commandements of the King to the Kings stewards, and to the gouer-nours of Coelosyria & Phenice who honoured the people, and the Temple of God.
67 ¶ * When these things were done, the go- *Ezra.9.1. uernours came to me, saying, The people of Israel, the Princes and the Priestes, and the Leuites haue not separated from them the strange people of the land, 68 Nor the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Cananites, & Chetites, & Pheresites, and Iebu-sites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Idumeans.
69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy seede is mixed

mixed with the strange people of the land, and the gouernours and rulers haue beene partakers of this wickednesse from the beginning of the thing.
70 And assoone as I had heard these thinges, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and I pulled the haire off mine head, and off my beard, and sate me downe sorowfull, and very sad.
71 Then also all they that were moued with the word of the Lord God of Israel, came to me whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I sate very sad till the euening sacrifice.
72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes torne, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees and stretched forth mine hands to the Lord, 73 And said, * O Lord, I am ashamed, and con- *Ezr.9.6. founded before thy face.
74 For our sinnes are increased aboue our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen.
75 Yea, euen from the time of our fathers wee are in great sinne vnto this day.
76 For our sinnes therefore, and our fathers we with our brethren, with our kings and Priests haue bene giuen vp to the kings of ỹ earth, to the sword and to captiuitie, and for a pray with all shame vnto this day.
77 And now how great hath thy mercie beene, O Lord, that there shoulde bee left vs a roote, and name in the place of thine holinesse!
78 And that thou shouldest reueale to vs a light in the house of the Lord our God, and giue vs meat in the time of our seruitude!
79 For when we were in bondage, we were not left of our God, but he gaue vs fauour before the kinges of the Persians, that they shoulde giue vs meate,
80 And that they shoulde honour the Temple of our Lord, and raise vp Sion that is desolate, and giue vs assurance in Iudea and Ierusalem.
81 And now, O Lord, what shall we say, hauing these things? for we haue transgressed thy commandements, which thou hast giuen by the handes of thy seruants the Prophets, saying, 82 * Because the land, which yee goe to inhe- *Deut.7.1. rite, is a lande polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land, which haue filled it with their filthinesse, 83 Therefore nowe yee shall not ioyne their daughters ŵ your sonnes, neither giue your daughters to their sonnes, 84 Neither shall you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that yee may bee made strong, and eate the good things of the lande, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.
85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked works, and for our great sinnes: yet, Lord, thou hast forborne our sinnes, 86 And hast giuen vs such a roote: but wee againe haue turned backe to transgresse thy Law, and to mixe vs with the vncleannesse of the people of
the land.
87 Mightest thou not be angrie with vs to destroy vs, so that thou shouldest neither leaue vs root nor seed nor name?
88 But, O Lord of Israel, thou art true: for there is a root left, euen vnto this day.
89 Beholde, wee are nowe before thee with our iniquities, neither can wee indure before thee for
these things.
90 ¶ And * as Esdras prayed and confessed and *Ezra.10.1. wept, & lay vpon the ground before the Temple, a very great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Ierusalem of men and women, and yoong children: for there was great lamentation among the multitude.
91 Then Iechonias the sonne of || Ieel of the ||Or, Iaiel.
sonnes of Israel, crying out sayd, O Esdras, we haue sinned against the Lorde God: wee haue taken in mariage strange women of the nations of the land.
92 And now all Israel is doutfull: therefore let vs make an othe concerning this to the Lorde to put away all our wiues, which are strangers, with their children.
93 If it seeme good to thee, & to al them that obey ỹ Law of ỹ Lord, rise vp and put it in execution.
94 For to thee doeth it appertaine, and we are with thee to make thee strong.
95 Then Esdras arose, and made al the chiefe of the families of the Priestes and Leuites of all Israel to sweare, that they would doe thus: and they sware.

CHAP. IX.

7 After Esdras had read the Law for the strange wiues, 10 They promise to put them away.

THen * Esdras rose from the court of the Tem- *Ezra.10.6.
ple, and went to the chamber of Ioanan the sonne of Eliasib,
2 And being lodged there, he did eate no bread nor dranke water, but mourned for the great ini-quities of the multitude.
3 And there was a proclamation in all Iudea & Ierusalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they should be gathered to Ierusalem, 4 And that all they which shoulde not meete there within two or three dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, shoulde haue their cattell confiscate to the Temple, and be cast out from among them of the captiuitie.
5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Iu-da & Beniamin, came together within three dayes into Ierusalem: this was the ninth moneth, and twentieth day of the moneth.
6 And all the multitude sate in the broad place of the temple shaking, because of the extreme winter.
7 Then Esdras arose and said to them, Ye haue sinned: for ye haue married strange wiues, so that ye haue augmented the sinnes of Israel.
8 Now therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers,
9 And doe his will, and separate your selues from the peole of the lande, and from the strange wiues.
10 Then all the multitude cryed out and sayde with a lowd voyce, We will do so as thou hast said.
11 But because the multitude is great, and the time is winter, so that we cannot stand without, and the worke is not of one day nor of two, seeing that many of vs haue sinned in this matter, 12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and all they which haue strange wiues of our families, tarie:
13 And let the Priests and Iudges come out of all places at the day appointed, til they haue appeased the wrath of the Lord against vs for this matter.
14 Then Ionathas Asaels sonne, and || Ezecias ||Or, Iahazias.
sonne of || Thecan were appoynted concerning these ||Or, Thecua.
thinges, and Mosollam and Sabbateus did helpe
them.
15 And they which were of the captiuitie, did after all these things.

26 Eldras the Priest also chose him certeine men, chiefe of their families, all by name: and they sate together in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine this matter.
27 And they made an ende of the thinges perteining to them that had married strange wiues in the first day of the first moneth.
28 And there were found of the Priests, which had married strange wiues, 19 Of the sonnes of Iesus, the sonne of Iosedec, ‖Or, Maaseas. and of his brethren, ‖ Mathelas, and Eleazar, & Io-‖Or, Iodaliah. ribus, and ‖ Ionadan.
20 Who also gaue their handes to cast out their wiues, and offered a ram for their reconciliation in their purgation.
‖Or, Anani, and Zabiah. 21 And of the sonnes of Emmer, ‖ Ananias, and Zabdeus, and Ganes, and Sameius, and Hiereel, and Azarias.
‖Or, Pashur, [illegible] 22 And of the sonnes of ‖ Phaisu, Ellionas, Massias, Esmaelus, and Nathanael, and ‖ Ocidelus, and Talsas.
23 And of the Leuites, ‖ Iorabadus, and Semis, and Colius, who was called ‖ Calitas, and Patheus, and Oudas, and Ionas.
24 Of the holy singers, ‖ Eliazurus, Bacchurus.
25 Of the Porters, ‖ Sallumus, and Tolbanes.
26 Of them of Israel, of the sonnes of Phorus, ‖ Hiermas, and Eddias, & Melchias, and Maelus, & Eleazar, and Asibias, and ‖ Banaias.
27 Of the sonnes of ‖ Ela, Matthanias, Zacharias, and ‖ Hierielas, and ‖ Hieremoth, and Aedias.
28 And of the sonnes of ‖ Zamoth, Eliadas, Elisimus, Othonias, Iarimoth, & ‖ Sabatus, & Sardeus.
29 Of the sonnes of ‖ Bebai, Ioannes, and Ananias, and ‖ Iosabad, and Ematheas.
30 Of the sonnes of ‖ Mani, Olamus, Mamuchus, Iedaias, Iasubus, Iasael, and Ieremoth.
31 And of the sonnes of ‖ Addi, Naathus, Moosias, Laccunus, and Naidus, and Mathanias, and ‖ Seschel, and Balnuus, and Manasseas.
32 And of the sonnes of Annas, Elionas, and A-seas, and Melchias, and Sabbeus, and Simon a Cho-samite.
33 And of the sonnes of ‖ Asom, Altaneus, and ‖ Matthias, and Bannaias, Eliphalat, and Manasses, and Semei.
34 And of the sonnes of ‖ Maani, Ieremias, Momdis, Omairus, Inel, Mamai, and Paclias, and Amos, Carabasion and Euasibus, and Mamnimatanaius, Elisiasis, Vamus, Eliali, Samis, Selemias, Nathanias, and of the sonnes of Ozoras, Sesis, Esril, A-zailus, Samatas, Sambis, Iosiphus.
35 And of the sonnes of Ethma, Nazitias, Za-badias, Ethes, Inel, Banaias.
36 All these married strange wiues, & put them away with their children.
37 And the Priestes and the Leuites dwelt in Ie-rusalem, and in the countrey, the first day of the seuenth moneth, and the children of Israel in their owne houses.
38 ¶ *Then all the multitude assembled toge- *Nehem. 8. 1.
ther with one consent into the broade place before the gate of the Temple toward the East, 39 And spake to Esdras the Priest, and reader, that he should bring the Law of Moyses, which had bene giuen by the Lord God of Israel.
40 Then brought Esdras the chiefe Priest the lawe to all the multitude, both man and woman, and to all the Priestes, that they might heare the Law the first day of the seuenth moneth.
41 And he read in the first broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to the Law.
42 So Esdras the Priest and reader of the Lawe, stood vpon a pulpit of wood that was prepared.
43 And there stood by him ‖ Margathias, Sam- ‖Or, Matithia.
mus, Ananias, Azarias, Ourias, Ezecias, Balasamus at his right hand, 44 And at his left hand ‖ Paldaius, & Sail, Mel- ‖Or, Pedaia. chias, Aothasaphus, Nabarias.
45 Then Esdras tooke the booke of the Lawe before the multitude (for hee sate honourably before them all)
46 And they all stoode vpright when hee expounded the Law, and Esdras blessed the Lord the most high God, the most mightie God of hosts.
47 And the whole multitude cried, Amen.
48 Then Iesus and ‖ Anus, and Sarabias, and ‖Or, Bani.
Adimus, and Iacobus, Sabataias, Autanias, Maianias and Calitas, Azarias, and Ioazabdus, and Ananias, and Biatas the Leuites lift vp their hands, and fell downe on the ground, and worshipped the Lord,
49 And taught the Law of the Lord, and stood also earnestly vpon the reading.
50 Then said ‖ Aththarates to Esdras the chiefe ‖Or, Nehemias.
Priest and reader, and to the Leuites, that taught the multitude in al things, This day is holy vnto the Lord, and all haue wept in hearing of the Law.
51 Goe therefore and eate the fat meates, and drinke the sweete drinks, and send presents to them that haue not.
52 For this day is holy to the Lorde, and be not sorie: for the Lord God will glorifie you.
53 So the Leuites commanded all these things to the people, saying, This day is holy to the Lord;
be not sad.
54 Then they departed all to eate, and drinke, and to reioyce, and to giue presents to them that had not, and to make good cheere.
55 For they were yet filled with the wordes wherewith they were instructed, when they were assembled together.

8 The people is reprooued for their vnfaithfulnesse. 30 God will haue another people, if these will not be reformed.

6 For the sinnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they haue forgotten me, and haue offred vnto strange gods.
7 Haue not I brought them out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage? but they haue prouoked me vnto wrath, and despised my counsels.
8 Pull thou off then the haire of thine head, and cast all euill vpon them: for they haue not bene obedient vnto my Lawe, but they are a rebellious people.

whom yee haue taken and slaine, and torne their bodies in pieces, whose blood I will require, saith
the Lord.
33 Thus saith the Almightie Lord, Your house shalbe desolate: I will cast you out as the winde doth the stubble.
34 Your children shall not haue generation:
for they haue despised my commandement, and done the thing that I hate, before me.
35 Your houses will I giue vnto a people to come, who shall beleeue me though they haue heard not, and they, vnto whom I neuer shewed miracle, shall doe the things that I command them.
36 Though they see no Prophets, yet shall they hate their iniquities.
37 ¶ I will declare the grace that I will doe for the people to come, whose children reioyce in gladnesse, and though they haue not seene me with bodily eyes, yet in heart they beleeue the things that I say.

CHAP. II.

The Synagogue findeth fault with her owne children. 18 The Gentiles are called.

Thus saith the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage: I gaue them also my commandements by my seruants the Prophets, whom they would not heare, but despised my counsels.
2 The mother that bare them, saith vnto them, Goe you away, O children: for I am a widowe and forsaken.
3 I brought you vp with gladnesse, but with sorowe and heauinesse haue I lost you: for ye haue sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.
4 But what shall I nowe doe vnto you? I am a widowe and forsaken: goe ye, O my children, and aske mercie of the Lord.
5 And thee, O Father, I call for a witnesse for the mother of these children, which woulde not keepe my couenant,
6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoyle, that their kinred be not continued.
7 Let their names bee scattered among the heathen: let them be put out of the earth, for they haue despised my couenant.
8 Woe vnto thee, Assur: for thou hidest the vnrighteous

vnrighteous in thee: O wicked people, remember
*Gen.19.24. * what I did vnto Sodom and Gomorah.
9 Whose lande is mixed with cloudes of pitch and heapes of ashes: so will I doe vnto them, that heare me not, saith the Almightie Lord.
10 Thus saith the Lord vnto Esdras, Tell my people, that I will giue them the kingdome of Ie-rusalem, which I would haue giuen vnto Israel.
11 And I will get me glorie by them, and giue them the euerlasting tabernacles, which I had prepared for those.
12 They shall haue at will the tree of life, smelling of oyntment: they shall neither labour nor be wearie.
13 Goe ye, and ye shall receiue it: pray that the time, which is long, may bee shortened: the kingdome is already prepared for you: watch.
14 Take heauen and earth to witnesse: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good: for I liue, saith the Lord.
15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnesse: make their feete as fast as a pillar: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.
16 And those that be dead, will I raise vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue knowen my Name in Israel.
17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for
I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.
18 I will send thee my seruants Esay and Ieremie to helpe thee, by whose counsell I haue sanctified and prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers fruites,
19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke and honie, and seuen mightie mountaines, whereupon there growe roses and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with ioy.
20 Execute iustice for the widowe: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: giue to the poore: defend the fatherlesse: cloth the naked.
21 Heale the wounded, and sicke: laugh not a lame man to scorne: defend the creeple, and let the blinde come into the light of my cleerenesse.
22 Keepe the olde and the yong that are within thy walles.
*Tob.1.17,18,19. 23 * Wheresoeuer thou findest the dead, take them and bury them, and I will giue thee the first place in my resurrection.
24 Abide still, O my people, and rest: for thy quietnesse shall come.
25 Nourish thy children, O thou good nurce:
stablish their feete.
26 None of the seruants that I haue giuen thee, shall perish: for I will seeke them from among thy number.
27 Be not weary: for when the day of trouble and heauinesse commeth, other shall weepe & be sorow-full, but thou shalt be mery and haue abundance.
28 The heathen shall enuie thee, and shall doe nothing against thee, saith the Lord.
29 Mine hands shall couer thee, so that thy children shall not see hell.
30 Be ioyful, O thou mother, with thy children:
for I will deliuer thee, saith the Lord.
31 Remember thy children that sleepe: for I will bring them out of the sides of the earth, and will shewe mercie vnto them: For I am mercifull, saith the Lord almightie.
32 Embrace thy children, vntill I come and shewe mercie vnto them: for my fountaines runne ouer, and my grace shall not faile.

33 I Esdras receiued a charge of the Lord vpon the mount Horeb, that I should goe vnto them of Israel, but when I came to them, they cast me off, and despised the commandement of the Lord.
34 And therefore I say vnto you, O yee heathen, that heare and vnderstand, Wayte for your shepheard, who shall giue you euerlasting rest: for hee is neere at hand, that shall come in the ende of
the world.
35 Be readie to the rewarde of the kingdome:
for the euerlasting light shall shine vpon you for euermore.
36 Flee the shadowe of this worlde: receiue the ioy of your glory: I testifie my Sauiour openly.
37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and bee glad, giuing thankes vnto him, that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.
38 Arise, and stand vp, and beholde the number of those that are sealed for the feast of the Lord, 39 Which are departed from the shadow of the world, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.
40 Take thy number, O Sion, and shut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Lawe of the Lord.
41 The number of thy children whome thou longest for, is fulfilled: beseech the power of the Lord, that thy people which haue bene called from the beginning, may be sanctified.
42 * I Esdras saw vpon mount Sion a great peo- *Reu.7.9. ple whom I coulde not number, and they all praysed the Lord with songs.
43 And in the middes of them there was a yong man hier in stature then them all, and vpon euery one of their heads he set crownes, and was hier then the others, which I much maruelled at.
44 So I asked the Angel, and sayde, Who are these, my Lord?
45 Who answered, and sayde vnto me, These be they, that haue put off the mortall clothing, and haue put on the immortall, and haue confessed the Name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.
46 Then sayde I vnto the Angel, What yong man is it, that setteth crownes on them, and giueth them the palmes in their handes?
47 And hee answered and sayde vnto me, It is the Sonne of God, whome they haue confessed in the worlde. Then began I greatly to commend them, that had stand so strongly for the Name of
the Lord.
48 Then the Angel said vnto me, Goe thy way, and tell my people, what, and howe great wonders of the Lord God thou hast seene.

CHAP. III.

4 The wonderous workes, which God did for the people, are recited. 31 Esdras marueileth that God suffereth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people, which yet are sinners also.

IN the thirtieth yeere after the fall of the citie, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came vp to my heart, 2 Because I saw the desolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.
3 So my spirite was sore mooued, so that I began to speake fearefull wordes to the most High,
and sayde,
4 O Lord, Lord, thou spakest at the beginning when thou alone plantedst the earth, and gauest commandement vnto the people, 5 * And a body vnto Adam, without soule, *Gen.2.7.
who

who was also the workemanship of thine hands, and hast breathed in him the breath of life, so that he liued before thee,

6 And leaddest him into Paradise, which thy right hand had planted, or euer the earth || brought forth. [|| Or, went forward.]

7 Euen then thou gauest him commandement to loue thy way: but he transgressed it, and immediatly thou appointedst death to him and his generation, of whom came nations, tribes, people and kinreds out of number.

8 * And euery people walked after their owne will, and did wonderfull things before thee, and despised thy commandements. [* Gen.6.12.]

9 * But at the time appointed thou broughtest the flood vpon those that dwelt in the worlde, and destroyedst them, [* Gen.7.10.]

10 So that by the flood, that came to euery one of them, which came by death to Adam,

11 Yet thou leftest one, euen * Noe, with his housholde, of whom came all righteous men. [* 1.Pet.3.20.]

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth, began to multiplie, and the number of the children, people and many nations were increased, they began to be more vngodly then the first.

13 Now when they liued wickedly before thee, * thou diddest choose thee a man from among them, whose name was * Abraham. [* Gen.12.1. * Gen.17.5.]

14 Whom thou louedst, and vnto whom onely thou shewedst thy will,

15 And madest an euerlasting couenant with him, promising him that thou wouldest neuer forsake his seed.

16 * And vnto him thou gauest Isaac, * vnto Isaac also thou gauest Iacob and Esau, * and diddest choose Iacob, and cast off Esau, and so Iacob became a great multitude. [* Gen.21.2,3. * Gen.25.25,26. * Mala.1.2,3. rom.9.13.]

17 And when thou leddest his seede out of Egypt, * thou broughtest them vp to mount Sina, [* Exod.19.1. deut.4.10.]

18 And enclinedst the heauens and bowedst downe the earth, and diddest mooue the grounde, and cause the depthes to shake, and diddest astonish the world.

19 And thy glorie went thorowe foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, winde and colde, that thou mightest giue the Law vnto the seede of Iacob, and that which the generation of Israel should diligentlie obserue.

20 Yet tookest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy Lawe might bring forth fruit in them.

21 For * Adam first hauing a wicked heart, was ouercome and vanquished, and all they that are borne of him. [* Gen.3.6.]

22 Thus remained weakenesse ioyned with the Lawe in the hearts of the people, with the wickednesse of the roote: so that the good departed away, and the euill abode still.

23 So the times passed away, and the yeres were brought to an end, * till thou diddest raise thee vp a seruant called Dauid, [* 1.Sam.16.13.]

24 * Whom thou commandedst to builde a citie vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therein with incense and sacrifice. [* 2.Sam.5.1. & 7.5,13.]

25 When this was done many yeeres, the inhabitants forsooke thee,

26 Following the wayes of Adam & all his generation: for they also had a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gauest thy citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

28 But doe they that dwell at Babylon, any better, that they should haue the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and saw their wicked deedes without number (for this is the thirtieth yeere that I see many trespassing) I was discouraged.

30 For I sawe, howe thou sufferedst them that sinne, and sparedst the wicked doers, where as thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and preserued thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

31 I can not perceiue howe this commeth to passe. Are the deedes of Babylon better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generation hath so beleeued thy testimonies, as Iacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, & their labour hath no fruit: for I haue gone heere & there thorowout the heathen, and I see them flourish, and thinke not vpon thy commandements.

34 Weigh thou therefore our wickednesse nowe in the balance, and theirs also that dwell in the worlde, and no mention of thee shalbe founde but in Israel.

35 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth, haue not sinned in thy sight? or what people hath so kept thy commandements?

36 Thou shalt surely finde that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIII.

2 The Angel reprooueth Esdras, because he seemed to enter into the profound iudgements of God.

AND the Angel that was sent vnto mee, whose name was Vriel, answered,

2 And said, Thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this world, and thou thinkest to comprehend the wayes of the Highest.

3 Then said I, Yea, my Lord. And he answered me, and saide, I am sent to shew thee three wayes, and to set foorth three similitudes before thee,

4 Whereof if thou canst declare me one, I will shew thee also the way, that thou desirest to see, and I will shewe thee from whence the wicked heart commeth.

5 And I said, Tell on, my Lorde. Then saide he vnto me, Go thy way: weigh me the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the winde, or call me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and saide, What man is borne, that can do that, which thou requirest mee, concerning these things?

7 And he said vnto me, If I shoulde aske thee howe deepe dwellings are in the middes of the sea, or howe great springs are in the beginning of the depth, or howe great springs are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise,

8 Peraduenture thou wouldest say vnto mee, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hell, neither did I euer clime vp to heauen.

9 But nowe haue I asked thee but of fire and winde, & of the day, whereby thou hast passed, and from the which things thou canst not be separated, and yet canst thou giue me none answere of them.

10 He saide moreouer vnto mee, Thine owne things, and such as are growen vp with thee, canst thou not know:

11 Howe shoulde thy vessell then bee able to comprehend the wayes of the Highest, and nowe outwardly in the corrupt world, to vnderstand the corruption, corruption,that is euident in my sight ?

12 Then said I vnto him, It were better that we were not at all,then that we should liue in wickednesse,and to suffer, and not to know wherefore.
13 And he answered me,and saide, * I came to a forest in the plaine where the trees held a counsell, 14 And saide, Come, let vs goe fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that wee may make vs more woods.
15 Likewise the floods of the sea tooke counsell and said, Come, let vs goe vp and fight against the trees of the wood, that we may get an other countrey for vs.
16 But the purpose of the wood was vaine : for the fire came and consumed it.
17 Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea : for the sand stood vp and stopped them.
18 If thou were iudge betweene these two,
whome wouldest thou iustifie ? or whome wouldest thou condemne ?
19 I answered and said, Verely it is a foolish purpose that they both haue deuised : for the grounde is appoynted for the wood, & the sea hath his place to beare his floods.
20 Then answered he me, and saide, Thou hast giuen a right iudgement : but why iudgest thou not thy selfe also ?
21 For like as the ground is appoynted for the wood,and the sea for his floods,so * they that dwell vpon earth, can vnderstande nothing, but that which is vpon earth : and they that are in the hea-uens, the thinges that are aboue the height of the heauens.
22 Then answered I,and sayde, I beseeche thee,
O Lord,let vnderstanding be giuen me.
23 For I did not purpose to inquire of thine hie thinges, but of such as wee dayly meddle withall, namely wherefore Israel is made a reproche to the heathen,and for what cause the people,whom thou hast loued,is giuen ouer to wicked nations,and why the Law of our fathers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect, 24 Why wee are tossed to and fro through the worlde as the grashoppers, and our life is a verie feare, and we are not thought woorthie to obteine mercie.
25 But what will he doe to his Name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these things haue I asked the question.
26 Then answered hee me, and said, The more thou searchest,the more thou shalt maruell: for the world hasteth fast to passe away, 27 And can not comprehend the things,that are promised to the righteous in time to come : for this world is full of vnrighteousnesse and weakenesse.
28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou askest,the euill is sowen,but the destruction thereof is not yet come.
29 If the euill now that is sowen,bee not turned vpside downe , and if the place where the euill is sowen,passe not away, then cannot the thing come,
that is sowen with good.
30 For the corne of euill seede hath bene sowen in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vngodlinesse hath hee brought vp vnto this time ? and how much shall he bring forth vntill the haruest come?
31 Ponder with thy selfe,how much fruit of wickednesse the corne of euill seed bringeth forth, 32 And when the stalkes shall be cut downe, which are without number, howe great an haruest must be prepared.
33 Then I answered,and saide, Howe,and when shall these things come to passe? wherefore are our yeeres few and euill?
34 And hee answered me, saying, Haste not to bee aboue the most High : for thou labourest in vaine to be aboue him, though thou indeuour neuer so much.
35 Did not the soules also of the righteous aske question of these things in their chambers, saying, Howe long shall I thus hope? and when commeth the fruite of my barne and our wages ?
36 And vpon this Ieremiel the Archangell answered, and saide, When the number of the seedes is filled in you ; for hee hath weighed the worlde in the balance.
37 The measure of the times is measured : the ages are counted by number, and they shall not be moued or shaken,till ẏ measure thereof be fulfilled.
38 Then answered I,and said, O Lord,Lord,we are all euen full of sinne, 39 And for our sake peraduenture the haruest of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.
40 So he answered me, and saide, Goe, and aske a woman with childe, when shee hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her.
41 Then said I,No, Lorde,she can not. And he saide vnto me, In the graue the places of soules are like the wombe.
42 For as she that is ẇ childe , hasteth to escape the necessitie of the trauel, so doe these places haste to deliuer those things ẏ are committed vnto them.
43 That which thou desirest to see,shalbe shewed thee from the beginning.
44 Then answered I, and said, If I haue founde grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I bee meete therefore,
45 Shewe me whether there bee more to come then is past,or more things past,then are to come.
46 What is past, I knowe, but what is to come,
I know not.
47 And he said vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.
48 So I stoode, and beholde, a hote burning ouen passed before mee : and when the flame was gone by,I looked, and beholde, the smoke had the vpper hand.
49 After this there passed before mee a watrie cloude, and sent downe much raine with a storme :
and when the stormie rayne was past, the droppes came after.
50 Then said he vnto mee, Consider with thy selfe, as the rayne is more then the droppes, and as fire exceedeth the smoke, so the portion that is past,hath the vpper hand. And the droppes,and the smoke were much.
51 Then I prayed, and said, May I liue,thinkest thou vntill that time? or what shall come to passe
in those dayes ?
52 Hee answered mee, and saide, Of the tokens whereof thou askest me,I can tell thee a part : but I am not sent to shewe thee of thy life : for I doe not know it.

CHAP. V.

1 In the latter times trueth shalbe hid. 16 Vnrighteousnesse and all wickednesse shall reigne in the world. 23 Israel is reiected and God deliuereth them. 35 God doeth all thing in season.

Neuerthelesse

* Iudg.9.8. 2.chron.25,18.
* Wisd.9,16. Iohn.3.31. 1.cor.2.14.

NEuerthelesse concerning the tokens, beholde, the times shall come, that they which dwel vpon earth, shalbe taken in great nomber, and the way of trueth shalbe hidde, and the land shall be barren from faith,

2 And * iniquitie shall be increased more then thou hast seene now, or hast heard in time past.

*Matth.24.12.

3 And it shall come to passe, that one shall set in foote, and thou shalt see the land desolate, which now reigneth.

4 Yea, if God graunt thee to liue, thou shalt see after the thirde trumpet, that the sunne shall suddenly shine againe in the night, & the moone three times a day.

5 Blood shall droppe out of the wood, and the stone shall giue his voyce, and the people shall bee mooued.

6 And he shall rule, of whome they hope not that dwell vpon earth, and the foules shal change place.

7 And the sea of Sodom shall cast out fish, and make a noyse in the night, which many shall not know, but they shall heare the voyce thereof.

8 There shall bee a confusion in many places, and the fire shall oft breake foorth, and the wilde beastes shall change their places, and menstruous women shall beare monsters,

9 And salt waters shal be found in the sweete, and all friends shall fight one against another: then shall wit hide it selfe, and vnderstanding depart into his secret chamber.

10 It shall be sought of many, and yet not bee founde: then shall vnrighteousnes and voluptuousnesse haue the vpper hand vpon earth.

11 One land also shall aske another, and say, Is righteous iustice gone throrowe thee? And it shall say, No.

12 At the same time shal men hope, but not obteine: they shall labour, but their enterprises shall not prosper.

13 To shew thee such tokens I haue leaue, and if thou wilt pray againe and weepe as now, and fast seuen dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulnesse went thorowe all my body, and my minde was feeble and fainted.

15 But the Angell that was come to talke with mee, helde mee, comforted me, and set me vp vpon my feete.

16 And in the second night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto mee, saying, Where hast thou bene? and why is thy countenance so heauie?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie?

18 Vp then and eate, and forsake vs not, as the shepheard that leaueth his flocke in the hands of the cruel wolues.

19 Then saide I vnto him, Goe thy wayes from me, and come not neere me: and when he heard it, he went from me.

20 And I fasted seuen dayes, mourning and weeping, as Vriel the Angel had commaunded me.

21 And after seuen dayes the thoughts of mine heart were very grieuous vnto me againe.

22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I beganne to talke with the most High againe, 23 And said, O Lord, Lorde: of euery forest of the earth, and of all trees thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyarde.

24 And of all lands of the world thou hast chosen thee one pit, and of all the flowres of the grounde thou hast chosen thee one lilie.

25 And of all the depthes of the sea thou hast filled thee one riuer, and of all builded cities thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy selfe.

26 And of all the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one doue, and of al the cattell that are made, thou hast appointed thee one sheepe?

27 And among al the multitude of people thou hast gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whome thou louedst, thou gauest a Lawe, that is proued of all.

28 And now, O Lord, why hast thou giuen this one people ouer vnto many? and vpon one roote thou hast set others, and hast scattered thine onely people among many.

29 They treade them downe, which haue withstand thy promises, and beleeue not thy testimonies.

30 And if thou diddest so much hate thy people, they shoulde haue bene punished with thine owne handes.

31 ¶ Now when I had spoken these wordes, the Angel that came to me the night afore, was sent vnto mee, 32 And said vnto me, Heare me, and I will teach thee, and hearken that I may instruct thee further.

33 And I said, Speake on, my Lord. Then said he vnto me, Thou art sore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou them better, then he doeth that made them?

34 And I said, No, Lord: but of very sorow haue I spoken: for my raines paine me euery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most High, and to seeke out part of his judgement.

35 And he said vnto me, Thou canst not. And I saide, Wherefore, Lord, wherefore was I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not seene the trouble of Iacob, and the griefe of the stocke of Israel.

36 And he saide vnto me, Nomber vnto me the things that are not yet come, or gather mee the drops that are scattered, or make me the withered flowers greene againe.

37 Open me the places that are closed, and bring mee foorth the windes, that are shutte vp therein: shewe me the image of a voyce, and then wil I declare thee the thing, that thou askest and labourest to knowe.

38 And I saide, O Lorde, Lorde, who can know these things, but hee that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, how can I speake of these things whereof thou askest me?

40 Then said he vnto me, Like as thou canst do none of these things, that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my judgement, nor the least benefite, that I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I saide, Behold, O Lord, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shall they do that haue bene before mee, or we that be nowe, or they that shal come after vs?

42 And hee saide vnto me, I will compare my judgement vnto a ring: as there is no slackenesse of the last, so there is no swiftnesse of the first.

43 Then I answered, and sayde, Couldest thou not make at once those that haue bene, those that are now, & those that shall come, that thou mightest shewe thy judgement the sooner?

44 Then

44 Then answered hee mee, The creature, sayd hee, can not preuent the Creator, neyther can the worlde holde them at once, that shall bee created therein.
45 And I said, As thou hast taught thy seruant, that thou which giuest strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast susteined it, so might it nowe also conteine all men at once.
46 And he saide vnto me, Aske the wombe of a woman, & say vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest foorth? require her to bring foorth tenne at once.
47 And I said, Surely she cannot, but by distance of time.
48 Then saide hee vnto me, So haue I deuided the nomber of the earth by times when seede is sowen vpon it.
49 For as a yong childe begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordeined the time which I haue created.
50 ¶ I asked again, & said, Seeing thou hast now shewed mee the way, I will proceede to speake before thee: for our mother, whom thou hast told me which is, draweth she neere vnto age?
51 He answered me, and said, Aske a woman that trauaileth, and she will tell thee.
52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they (whom thou hast now brought foorth) like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?
53 And he shall answere thee, Some were borne in the flower of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombe failed.
54 Consider now thy selfe, how that ye are lesse of stature, then those that were before you, 55 And so are they that come after you, lesse then ye, as the creatures which nowe beginne to be olde, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.
56 Then sayde I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shewe thy seruant, by whome doest thou gouerne thy workemanship?

CHAP. VI.

God hath foreseene all things in his secret counsell, and is authour thereof, and hath created them for his children. 25 The felicitie of the age to come.

AND he saide vnto mee, In the beginning when the round word was made, and before the borders of the worlde was set, and before the windes blew one against another:
2 Before the noise of thunders sounded, before the bright lightning did shine foorth, before the foundations of Paradise were layde: 3 Before the faire flowers did appeare, before the mooueable powers were stablished, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered: 4 Before the heights of the aire were lifted vp, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chimnies in Sion were hote: 5 Before the present yeeres were sought out,
and before the affections of them that nowe sinne, were turned away, and they that haue layde vp the treasure of faith, were sealed, 6 Then did I purpose these things, and they were made by me alone, and by none other, by me also they shall be ended, and by none other, 7 Then answered I, and saide, What shalbe the diuision of times? or when shall be the ende of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth?
8 And he saide vnto me, From Abraham vnto
Isaac, when Iacob and Esau were borne of him,
* Iacobs hand held fast the heele of Esau. *Gen.25.26.
9 For Esau is the end of this world, and Iacob is the beginning of it that followeth.
10 The hande of man is betwixt the heele and the hand. Other thing, Esdras, aske thou not.
11 ¶ I answered then, and said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, 12 I beseech thee, make an ende to shewe thy seruant thy tokens, whereof thou shewedst me part the last night.
13 So he answered me, and saide, Stand vp vpon thy feete, and heare a mightie sounding voyce.
14 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest, shall not be mooued.
15 And therefore when hee speaketh, be not afraide: for of the ende shall be the word, and of the foundation of the earth shall it be vnderstand.
16 Therefore while one speaketh of them, it trembleth and is mooued: for it knoweth, that it must be changed at the ende.
17 And when I had heard it, I stoode vp vpon my feete, and hearkened, and beholde, there was a voyce that spake, and the sound of it was like the sound of many waters:
18 And it sayde, Beholde, the dayes come, that I will come and inquire of them that dwell vpon
the earth,
19 And when I beginne to inquire of them,
who by their vnrighteousnesse haue hurt others,
and when the affliction of Sion shalbe fulfilled, 20 And the world, that shall vanish away, shall be sealed, then will I shew these signes: the bookes shalbe opened before the heauen, and they shall see all it together.
21 And the children of a yeere olde shall speake with their voyces: the women with child shal bring forth vntimely children of three or foure moneths olde, and they shall liue that are raised vp.
22 Then suddenly shall the sowen places ap-peare as the vnsowen, and the full store houses shall suddenly be found emptie.
23 And the trumpet shall sounde, and all they that heare it, shall be suddenly afraide.
24 At that time shall friends fight with friends, as with enemies, and the earth shal feare with them:
the springs of the welles shal stand stil, and in three houres they shall not runne.
25 Whosoeuer remaineth from all these things that I haue tolde thee, shalbe saued, and see my sal-uation, and the ende of your world.
26 And the men that are receiued, shall see it:
they that haue not tasted death from their birth,
and the heart of the inhabitants shall be changed,
and turned to another meaning.
27 For euill shall be put out, and deceit shall be quenched,
28 But faith shall florish: corruption shall bee ouercome, and the trueth which hath bene so long without fruite, shall come foorth.
29 ¶ And when he talked with me, beholde, I looked a little vpon him before whom I stoode.
30 And these words said he vnto me, I am come to shew thee the time of the night to come.
31 If thou wilt pray againe, and fast seuen daies more, I will tell thee more things, and greater then these, which I haue heard in the day.
32 For thy voyce is heard before the Highest:
surely the mighty hath seene thy righteous dealing:
hee hath seene also thy chastitie, which thou hast kept since thy youth.

53 Therefore hath he sent me to shewe thee all these things, and to say vnto thee, Be of good comfort, and feare not,
34 And haste not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haste to the latter times.
35 And after this I wept againe and fasted seuen dayes in like maner, that I might fulfill the three weekes, which he had appointed me.
36 And in the eight night was mine heart vexed within me againe, and I began to speake before the most High.
37 For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in distresse, 38 And I sayd, O Lord, thou spakest expresly in the first creation (euen the first day) and commandedst * that the heauen and the earth should bee *Gen.1.1.
made, and the worke followed thy worde.
39 And then was there the spirit, and the darknes was on euery side with silence: there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee, 40 Then commaundedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might giue light to thy worke.
41 Vpon the second day thou createdst the hea-uenly ayre, and commaundedst it, that, going betweene, it should make a diuision betweene the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.
42 Vpon the thirde day thou commaundedst, that the waters should be gathered together in the seuenth part of the earth: sixe partes diddest thou drie, and kept them to the intent that of these there should be that should serue thee, beeing sowen of God and tilled.
43 Assoone as thy worde went forth, the worke was incontinently made.
44 For immediatly great and innumerable fruit did spring vp, and many diuers pleasures for the taste, and flowers of vnchangeable colour, and odours of a most wonderfull smell, and these things were created the third day.
45 * Vpon the fourth day thou createdst the *Gen.1.14.
light of the sunne, and of the moone, and the order of the starres,
46 And gauest them a charge, to doe * seruice *Gen.1.14.and 15.deut.4.19.
euen vnto man that was for to be made.
47 And vpon the fift day thou saydest vnto the seuenth part * where the waters were gathered, that *Gen.1.20.
it shoulde bring forth beastes, & foules and fishes:
and it was so.
48 For the dum waters, & without life brought forth liuing things at the commaundement of God, that the nations might prayse thy wonderous
workes.
49 Then didst thou prepare two liuing things:
the one thou calledst * Behemoth, and the other *Or, Enoch.
thou calledst Leuiathan, 50 And diddest separate the one from the other:
for the seuenth part, where the water was gathered,
could not holde them.
51 Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dried vp the third day, that he should dwell in the same part, wherein are a thousand hilles.
52 But vnto Leuiathan thou gauest the seuenth part, that is wet, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt and when thou wilt.
53 Vpon the sixt day thou gauest commaunde-ment vnto the earth, that before thee it shoulde bring forth beastes, cattell and creeping things,

54 And besides this [illegible] lorde ouer all the workes, [illegible] of him come wee all, and the [illegible] thou hast chosen.
55 All this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the world for our sakes.
56 As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto spittle, and hast compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth from a vessell.
57 And nowe, O Lorde, beholde, these heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.
58 And we thy people (whom thou hast called the first borne, the onely begotten, and thy feruent louer) are giuen into their hands.
59 If the world then bee created for our sakes, why haue we not the inheritance [illegible]
sion? or how long shall we suffer these things?

CHAP. VII.

5 Without tribulation none can come to [illegible] perisheth all in time. 28 The comming [illegible] 32 The resurrection and last iudgement, [illegible] all corruption shall cease. 48 All fell in Adam [illegible] true life. 62 The mercies and goodnes of God.

AND when I had made an ende of [illegible]
there was sent vnto mee an Angel, [illegible] bene sent downe to me the nights afore. [illegible] 2 And he sayd vnto me, Vp, [illegible] the wordes that I am come to tell thee. [illegible] 3 And I sayd, Speake on, my God. Then sayd he vnto mee, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great, 4 But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narrow, and like the riuers, 5 Who could go into the sea to looke vpon it, and to rule it? if he went not thorowe the narrowe, howe could he come into the broad?
6 There is also another thing: a citie is builded and set vpon a broad fielde, and is full of all good things:
7 The entrance thereof is narrowe and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left, 8 And there is but one path betwixt them, euen betweene the fire and the water, so that there could but one man go there, 9 If this citie were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if he neuer went thorowe the perill before it, how could he receiue his inheritance?
10 And I sayd, It is so, Lord. Then sayd he, So is the portion of Israel.
11 Surely for their sakes haue I made the world:
& when Adam transgressed my statutes, then came this thing to passe.
12 Then were the entrances of the world made narrowe, full of sorowe and trauaile: they are but fewe, and euill, and full of perils, and very painefull.
13 For the entrances of the fore worlde were wide and sure, and brought immortall fruite.
14 If then they that are liuing, labour not to enter by these straight and brittle things, they can not attaine to those things that are hid.
15 Why then disquietest thou thy selfe, seeing thou art corruptible? and why art thou moued, seeing thou art mortall?
16 And why hast thou not considered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are present?

*Deut.8.1.

17 Then sayd I, O Lord, Lord, *seeing thou hast ordeyned in thy Lawe, that the righteous should inherite these things, and that the vngodly should perish:
18 Yet should the righteous suffer straitnes in hope for large things: yet they that haue liued vngodly and suffered straitnes, shall not see the large things.
19 Then he sayde vnto me, There is no iudge aboue him then God, and there is none more wise then the most High.
20 For many perish in this life, because they despise the Lawe of God that is appointed.
21 For God hath diligently admonished such as should come, as they came, what they should doe to liue, and what they should obserue, to auoyde punishment.
22 Neuerthelesse, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake against him, and imagined vaine things, 23 And deceiued them selues by their wicked deedes, and denyed the power of the most High, and regarded not his wayes.
24 But they despised his Law, & refused his promises: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not perfourmed his workes.
25 And therefore, Esdras, vnto the emptie are emptie things, and to the full, full things.
26 Beholde, the time shall come, that these tokens which I haue tolde thee, shall come to passe, and the bride shall appeare, & she shall come forth, and be seene that nowe is vnder the earth.
27 And whosoeuer shall escape these euils, hee shall see my wonders.
28 For my sonne Iesus shall appeare with those that be with him, and they that remaine, shall reioyce within foure hundreth yeeres.
29 After these same yeres, shall my sonne Christ die, and all men that haue life.
30 And the worlde shalbe turned into the olde silence for seuen dayes, as in the fore iudgements, so that no man shall remaine.
31 But after seuen dayes, the worlde that is yet a sleepe, shall be raised vp: and that shall die that is corrupt.
32 Then the earth shall restore those that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shall deliuer the soules that were committed vnto them.
33 And the most High shall appeare vpon the seate of iudgement, and miseries shall vanish away, and long suffering shall haue an ende.
34 Iustice onely shall continue: the trueth shal remaine, and faith shalbe strong.
35 The worke shal follow, & the reward shalbe shewed: the good deedes shalbe of force, and vnrighteousnes shall beare no more rule.
*Gene.18.23. 36 Then sayd I, *Abraham prayed first for the *Exod.32.3. Sodomites, and *Moyses for the fathers that sinned in the wildernes, 37 And they that came after him, for Israel in the time of Achaz, and Samuel,
*2.Sam.24.17. 38 And *Dauid for the destruction, *and Salo-
*2.Chro.6.14. mon for them that came into the Sanctuarie,
*1.King.17.21. and 18.42.45. 39 *And Elias for those that receiued raine, and for the dead that he might liue,
*2.King.19.15. 40 *And Ezechias for the people in the time of Sennacherib, and diuers others for many.
41 Euen so now, seeing vice is increased, & wickednes aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly, wherefore shall not the same effect followe also nowe?
42 Then he answered me, and said, This presente life is not the ende: oft times honour is reteined in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weake.
43 But the day of iudgement shall bee the ende of this world, and the beginning of the immortalitie to come, wherein all corruption shall cease.
44 Intemperancie shall passe away: infidelitie shall be cut off: righteousnes shall growe vp, and the veritie shall spring vp.
45 Then shall no man be able to saue him that is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victorie.
46 I answered then, and said, This is my first and last saying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that hee shoulde not haue sinned.
47 For what profite is it for man in this present life to be in heauinesse, and after death to feare punishment?
48 O Adam, what hast thou done? *for in *Rom.5.12.
that that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall also redoundeth vnto vs that come of thee.
49 For what profite is it vnto vs, if there bee promised an immortall life, when we do the works that bring death?
50 And that an euerlasting hope should be promised vs, seeing that we be tied our selues to deadly vanitie?
51 And that there shoulde be appointed vs dwellings of health and safetie, if wee haue liued wickedly?
52 And that the glory of the most High should be kept to defend them which haue led a patient life, if we haue walked in the wicked wayes?
53 And that an eternal Paradise should be shewed, whose fruite remaineth incorruptible, wherein is safetie and health, if we wil not enter into it?
54 (For wee haue bene conuersant in vnpleasant places)
55 And that the faces of them, which haue absteined, should shine more then starres, if our faces be blacker then darknes?
56 For while we liued, wee did not remember when wee did vnrighteously, that we should suffer after death.
57 Then answered he me, and sayd, This is the maner of the battell, which man, that is borne in the earth, shal fight, 58 That if he be ouercome, he shoulde suffer as thou hast sayd: but if he get the victorie, he should receiue the thing that I sayd.
59 For this is the life, whereof Moyses spake vnto the people, while he liued, saying, *Chuse thee *Deut.30.19.
life that thou mayest liue.
60 Neuertheles, they beleeued him not, neither the Prophets after him, nor me also which haue sayd vnto them, 61 That heauinesse, shoulde not so be to their destruction, as ioy should come vnto them, to whome saluation is perswaded.
62 I answered then, and sayd, I know Lord, that the most High is called mercifull, in that hee hath mercie vpon them, which are not yet come to that world, 63 And that he hath pitie on those that walke in his Lawe,

64 And

*Rom.2.4. 64 And that *he is patient: for he long suffereth those that haue sinned as his creatures, 65 And that he is liberal: for he wil giue as much as needeth,
66 And that he is of great mercies: for he ouer-commeth in mercie those that are present, and that are past, and them which are to come.
67 For if he were not aboundant in his mercies, the worlde coulde not continue, nor they that haue
the possession thereof.
68 He pardoneth also: for if he gaue not of his goodnesse, that they which haue done euil, might be relieued from their wickednesse, the tenne thousand part of men should not remaine aliue.
69 And if he, being iudge, forgaue not those that be healed with his word, and tooke away the multitude of sinnes,
70 There should peraduenture be very fewe left in an innumerable multitude.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The number of the godly is small. 6 The workes of God are excellent. 20 Esdras prayer for him and for his people. 39 The promes of saluation to the iust. 55 The destruction of the vniust.

AND hee answered me, saying, The most High made this world for many, but the worlde to come for fewe.
2 I will tel thee a similitude, O Esdras. As when thou askest the earth, it shall say vnto thee, that it giueth much earthly matter to make pottes, but litle dust that golde commeth of, so is it with the worke of this world.
*Matth.20.16. 3 *There be many created, but fewe shall bee saued.
4 Then answered I, and sayd, Then swallow vp the wit, O my soule, and deuoure vnderstanding.
5 For thou hast promised to heare, & thou wilt prophecie: for thou hast no longer space, but the life giuen thee.
6 O Lord, if thou suffer not thy seruant, that we may intreate thee, that thou maiest giue seede vnto our heart, and prepare our vnderstanding, that there may come fruite of it, whereby euery one which is corrupt, may liue, who can set himselfe for man?
7 For thou art alone, and we all are one worke-manship of thine handes, as thou hast said.
8 For when the body is fashioned nowe in the wombe, and thou hast giuen it members, the creature is preserued by fire and water, and the worke, created by thee, doth suffer nine monethes the creature, which is fashioned in it.
9 But the thing that conteineth, and that which is conteined, shal both be preserued, and when time is come, the wombe, being preserued, deliuereth the things that grewe in it.
10 For thou hast commanded the members, euen the breastes, to giue milke vnto the fruite appointed to the breasts,
11 That the thing, which is created, may be nourished for a time, till thou disposest it to thy mercie.
12 Thou bringest it vp with thy righteousnesse, nourturest it in thy lawe, and reformest it with thy iudgement.
13 Thou slayest it as thy creature, and giuest it life as thy worke.
14 Seeing then that thou destroyest him, which with so great labours is fashioned, it is an easie thing to appoint by thy commaundement, that the thing also which is made, might be preserued.
15 Now therefore, O Lord, I wil speake (as touching men in general thou shalt rather prouide) but concerning thy people, for [illegible] 16 And for thine inheritance [illegible] mourne: for Israel, for whome I [illegible] and for Iacob, for whose sake I am grieued.
17 For them will I pray before thee, as well for my selfe, as for them: for I see our [illegible] in the lande.
18 ¶ But I haue heard the sudden comming of the iudge, which is to come.
19 Therefore heare my voyce, & vnderstand my wordes, which I wil speake before thee. The beginning of the words of Esdras, before he was taken vp.
20 O Lord, that [illegible]
from about that which is aboue, and in the ayre, 21 Whose throne is [illegible] and his glory incomprehensible, before whome the hostes of the Angels stand with trembling, 22 Whose keeping is turned in [illegible] whose word is true, & sayings stedfast, [illegible] mandement is strong, and gouernment [illegible] 23 Whose looke drieth vp the [illegible] maketh the mountaines to melt [illegible] beareth witnesse:
24 Heare the prayer of thy [illegible] into thine eares the petition of thy [illegible] 25 For while I liue, I will speake, [illegible] haue vnderstanding, I will answere.
26 Looke not vpon the sinnes of thy [illegible] ther then thy faithfull seruants [illegible] 27 Haue not respect vnto the [illegible] men, rather then to them that haue [illegible] in afflictions.
28 Thinke not vpon those that haue walked fai-nedly before thee, but remember [illegible] rence thy will.
29 Let it not be thy will to destroy them, which haue liued like beastes, but looke vpon them that haue clearely taught thy Law.
30 Take not displeasure with them, which ap-peare worse then beastes, but loue them that alway put their trust in thy righteousnesse and glory.
31 For wee and our fathers haue all the same sickenesse: but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.
32 If therefore thou wilt haue mercy vpon vs, thou shalt be called mercifull towardes vs which haue no works of righteousnesse.
33 For the righteous, which haue layd vp many good workes, let them receiue the rewarde of their owne deeds.
34 But what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortall generation, that thou shouldest be so grieued towardes it?
35 *For verely there is no man among them *1.King.8.46.
that be borne, but he hath done wickedly, nor any 2.chron.6.36.
that doth confesse thee, which hath not done amis.
36 For in this, O Lord, thy righteousnes and thy goodnes shall be praised, if thou be mercifull vnto them, which haue not ẏ substance of good workes.
37 ¶ Then answered he me, & said, Some things hast thou spoken aright, and according vnto thy words it shall be.
38 For I will not verely consider the works of them, before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:
39 But *I will reioyce in the wayes of the righ- *Gen.4.4.
teous, and I will remember the pilgrimage, the sal-uation and the reward that they shall haue.
40 Like as I haue spoken nowe, so shall it come to passe.

41 But as the husbandman soweth much seede vpon the grounde, and planteth many trees, and yet alway the thing that is sowen, commeth not vp in time, neither yet doth all that is planted, take roote: so neither shall they all that are brought into the world, be saued.

42 I answered then and sayde, If I haue founde grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the husbandmans seede perisheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raine in due season, or if it be destroyed with too much raine:

44 So perisheth man, which is created with thine handes, and thou art called his paterne, because he is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, and likened him vnto the husbandmans seede.

45 Be not wroth with vs, O Lord, but spare thy people, and haue mercie vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be mercifull vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered he me, and saide, The things present are for the present, and the things to come for such as be to come.

47 For thou art farre off that thou shouldest loue my creature aboue mee: but I haue oft times drawen neere vnto thee and vnto it, but neuer to the vnrighteous.

48 In this also thou art marueilous before the most High,

49 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becommeth thee, and hast not iudged thy selfe worthie to glorifie thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries and calamities remaine for them that shall liue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pride.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glory for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plenteousnesse is made ready: the citie is builded, and rest is prepared, perfect goodnesse and absolute wisedome.

53 The roote of euill is sealed vp from you: the weakenesse and moth is destroyed from you, and into hell fleeth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorowes are vanished away, and in the ende is shewed the treasure of immortalitie.

55 Therefore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish.

56 For when they had libertie, they despised the most High: they contemned his lawe and forsooke his wayes.

57 Moreouer, they haue troden downe his righteous,

58 * Saying in their heart, that there was no God, though they knew that they should die. *Psalme 14.1. and 53.1.

59 For as ẏ thing that I haue spoken of, is made readie for you: so is thirst and paine prepared for them: for God would not that man should perish:

60 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled ẏ Name of him that made them, & are vnthankefull vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgement is now at hand.

62 These thinges haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a fewe like thee: then I answered, and said, 63 Beholde now, O Lord: thou hast shewed me the many wonders, which thou art determined to doe in the last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

5 All things in this world haue a beginning and an ende. 10 Torments for the wicked after this life. 15 The multitude of the wicked is more then of the good. 29 The Iewes ingratitude. 36 Therefore they perish. 38 The vision of a woman lamenting.

He answered mee then, and saide, Measure the time with it selfe, and when thou seest that one part of the tokens come to passe, which I haue told thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstande that it is the time wherein the most High will beginne to visite the worlde which he made.

3 Therefore when there shalbe seene an *earthquake in the world, and an vprore of the people, *Math. 24.7.

4 Then shalt thou vnderstande that the most High spake of those thinges from the dayes that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For as all that is made in the worlde, hath a beginning and an ende, and the ende is manifest,

6 So the times also of ẏ most High haue plaine beginnings in wonders and signes, & ende in effectes and miracles.

7 And euery one that shall escape safe, and shall be deliuered by his workes, and by the faith wherein ye haue beleeued,

8 Shalbe preserued from the said perils and shall see my saluation in my land, & within my borders: for I haue kept me holy from the world.

9 Then shall they haue pitie of themselues, which now haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast them out despitefully, shal dwel in paines,

10 For such as in their life haue receiued benefites, and haue not knowen me,

11 But haue abhorred my lawe, while they were yet in libertie, and when they had yet leisure of amendment, & would not vnderstand but despised it,

12 They must be taught it after death by paine.

13 And therefore be thou no more carefull, to knowe how the vngodly shall be punished, but inquire howe the righteous shall be saued, and whose the world is, and for whom it is, and when.

14 Then answered I, and said,

15 I haue afore saide that which I say nowe and will speake it heereafter, that there bee many moe of them which perish, then of them that shall bee *saued, *Chap. 8. 3. matt. 20. 16.

16 As the flood is greater then a drop.

19 And he answered me, saying, As the field is, so is also the seed: as the flowers be, so are the colours also: such as the workman is, such is the worke: and as the husbandman is, so is his husbandrie: for it was the time of the world.

18 Surely when I prepared the world, which was not yet made for them to dwel in that now liue, no man spake against me.

19 For then euery one obeyed, but now the maners of them that are created in this world, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall seede, and by a Law, whereout they cannot rid themselues.

20 So I considered the world, and beholde there was perill, because of the deuises, that were sprung vp into it.

21 Yet when I sawe it, I spared it greatly, and haue kept me one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape be kept, and my plant, which I haue dressed with great labour.

23 ¶ Neuerthelesse, if thou wilt ceasse seuen dayes moe (but thou shalt not fast in them,

24 But shalt goe into a faire fielde, where no house is builded, and shalt eate onely of the floures of the of the fielde, and eate no flesh, nor drinke wine, but

the flowers onely, 25 And pray vnto the most High continually) then will I come, and talke with thee.
26 So I went my way, as he had commaunded me into the field, which is called Ardath, & there I sate among the flowers, & did eate of the herbes of the fielde, and the meate of the same satisfied me.
27 And after seuen dayes, as I sate vpon the grasse, & mine heart was vexed within me, as afore, 28 I opened my mouth, and began to talke before the most High, and to say, 29 O Lord, when thou wouldest shewe thy selfe
*Exod.19.9. and 24.3 deut.4.12. vnto vs, *thou declaredst thy selfe vnto our fathers in ẏ wildernes, in a place where no man dwelleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt, 30 And expresly spakest vnto them, saying, Heare me, O Israel, and marke my wordes, thou seede of Iacob.
31 For beholde, I sowe my Lawe in you, that it may bring forth fruite in you, and that yee may be honoured by it for euer.
32 But our fathers which receiued the Lawe, kept it not, neither obserued thine ordinances, neither did the fruit of the Law appeare, neither could it, for it was thine.
*Exod.32.28. 33 *For they that receiued it, perished because they kept not the thing that was sowen in them.
34 And lo, it is a custome when the ground receiueth seede, or the sea a ship, or a vessell meate and drinke, if that perish wherein a thing is sowen, or wherein any thing is put,
35 Likewise the thing that is sowen, or is put therein, & the things that are receiued, must perish:
so the things that are receiued, do not remaine with vs: but in vs it commeth not so to passe.
36 For wee that haue receiued the Lawe, perish in sinne, and our heart also which receiued it.
37 But the Law perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.
38 ¶ And when I spake these things in mine
*Chap.10.44. heart, I looked about me, & vpon the right side *I sawe a woman, which mourned sore, and lamented with a loude voyce, and was grieued in heart, and rent her clothes, and she had ashes vpon her head.
39 Then I left my thoughtes, wherein I was occupied, and turned me vnto her, 40 And said vnto her, Wherefore weepest thou?
why art thou so sory in minde?
41 And she sayd vnto me, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewayle my selfe, and increase sorow: for I am sore vexed in my minde, & brought very lowe.
42 Then I sayde vnto her, What ayleth thee?
tell me.
43 And shee sayde vnto me, I thy seruant haue bene barren, and haue had no childe, hauing an husband thirtie yeeres.
44 And euery houre, and euery day these thirtie yeeres I pray to the most High day and night.
45 And after thirtie yeeres God heard me thine handmayd, and looked vpon my miserie, considered my trouble, & gaue me a sonne, and I was glad of him: so was mine husband also & all they of my countrey, & we gaue great honor vnto ẏ Almighty.
46 And I nourished him with great trauell.
47 So when hee grewe vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

CHAP. X.

Esdras and the woman that appeareth vnto him, commune together.

BVt when my sonne went into his chamber, hee fell downe, and dyed.
2 Then wee all ouerthrewe the lights, and all my neighbours rose vp to comfort me; so I rested vntill the second day at night.
3 And when they had all left off to comfort me, that I should be quiet, then I rose vp by night, and fled, and am come into this fielde as thou seest, 4 And am not purposed to returne into ẏ citie,
but to remaine here, & neither to eate nor drinke, but continually to mourne and fast, vntill I die.
5 Then left I my purpose wherein I was, and spake to her angerly, and sayd, 6 Thou foolish woman aboue all other, seest thou not our heauines, & what commeth vnto vs?
7 For Sion our mother is all wofull and is sore afflicted, and mourneth extremely.
8 Seeing we be all nowe in heauines, and make our mone (for we be all sorowfull) art thou sory for one sonne?
9 Demaund the earth, and shee shall tell thee that it is shee which ought to mourne for the fall of so many that growe vpon her.
10 For from the beginning all men are borne of her, and other shall come, and beside, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shal be destroyed.
11 Who should then rather mourne, shee that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art sorie but for one?
12 But if thou wouldest say vnto me, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I haue lost the fruite of my wombe, which I brought forth with heauines, and bare with sorowes, 13 But the earth is according to the maner of the earth, and present multitude returneth into her as it came) 14 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast borne with trauell, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her fruite vnto man, euen to him that laboured her.
15 Nowe therefore withholde thy sorowe in thy selfe, and beare constantly that which commeth vnto thee.
16 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and receiuest his counsell in time, thou shalt be commended therein.
17 Go thy way then into ẏ citie to thine husbād.
18 ¶ Then she sayd vnto me, I wil not, I wil not goe into the citie, but here wil I die.
19 So I cōtinued to speake more ẇ her, and said, 20 Doe not so, but be counselled: for how many falles hath Sion? Be of good comfort because of the sorowe of Ierusalem.
21 For thou seest that our Sanctuarie is layde waste: our altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed:
22 Our psalterion fainteth, and the song ceaseth, and our mirth is vanished away, & the light of our candlesticke is quenched, and the Arke of our couenant is taken away, and our holy things are defiled, and the Name that is called vpon ouer vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Priests are burnt, and our Leuites are caried into captiuitie, and our virgins are defiled, and our wiues rauished, and our righteous men spoyled, and our children destroyed, and our yong men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weake,
23 And, which is ẏ greatest of all, Sion the seale hath

hath lost her worship: for she is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake off thy great heauines, and put away the multitude of sorowes, that the Almightie may bee mercifull vnto thee, and that the most High may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and beautie shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraid of her and mused what it might be.

26 And behold, immediatly she cast out a great voyce, very fearefull, so that the earth shooke at the noyse of the woman.

27 And I looked, and beholde, the woman appeared vnto me no more: but there was a citie builded, and a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afraide, and cryed with a loude voyce, and sayd, 28 Where is Vriel the Angel * which came to me at the first? for hee hath caused me to come into many and deepe considerations, and mine ende is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

*Chap.4.1.

29 And as I was speaking these wordes, behold, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

30 And loe, I lay as one dead, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and hee tooke me by the right hand & comforted me, and set me vpon my feete, and sayd vnto me, 31 What ayleth thee? and why is thine vnderstanding vexed? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou sory?

32 And I sayde, Because thou hast forsaken me, and I haue done *according vnto thy words: I went into the field, and there haue I seene things, and see that I am not able to expresse.

*Chap.5.20.

33 Then sayd he vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.

34 Then sayd I, Speake vnto me, my Lord, and forsake me not, least I die through rashnes.

35 For I haue seene that I knew not, and heare that I doe not know.

36 Or is mine vnderstanding deceiued, or doeth my minde, being hautie, erre?

37 Now therefore I beseech thee that thou wilt shewe thy seruant of this wonder.

38 Then he answered me, and sayd, Heare me, and I wil informe thee, & tell thee wherefore thou art afrayd: for the most High hath reueiled many secret things vnto thee, 39 He hath seene thy good purpose, that thou art sory continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision, which appeared vnto thee a litle while agoe.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou beganest to comfort her:

42 But nowe seest thou the likenes of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded.

43 And where as shee tolde thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution,

44 This woman, which thou sawest, she is Sion: and where as she tolde thee (euen she which thou seest nowe as a citie builded)

45 And as touching that she sayde vnto thee, that she was barren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that, there was euen thirtie yeres wherein there was no offering offered in her.

46 But after thirtie yeeres, Salomon built the citie, and offered offerings: than bare the barren a sonne.

47 And where as she tolde thee, that shee nourished him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Ierusalem.

48 But where as she tolde thee that her sonne, as his chance was, dyed when shee came into her chamber, that is the fall that is come to Ierusalem.

49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, thou beganest to comfort her; of these things which haue chanced these are to be opened vnto thee.

50 For now the most High seeth, that thou art sory in thy minde, and because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, hee shewed thee the clearnes of her glory, and the fairenes of her beautie.

51 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the fielde where no house was built.

52 For I knewe that the most High would shew these things vnto thee.

53 Therfore I commanded thee to goe into the fielde, where no foundation nor building is.

54 For the works of mans building can not stand in that place where the citie of the most High should be shewed.

55 And therefore feare not, neither let thine heart be afrayd, but goe in, and see the beautie and greatnes of the building as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare, as much as thine eares may comprehende.

57 For thou art blessed aboue many, and art called with the most High among the fewe.

58 But to morowe at night thou shalt remaine here,

59 And the most High shall shewe thee visions of high things, which the most High will doe vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last dayes. So I slept the same night and another as hee had commaunded me.

CHAP. XI.

1 The vision of an egle comming foorth of the sea, and of her feathers. 37 Of a lyon comming out of the forest.

THen sawe I a dreame, and beholde, there came vp from the sea an egle, which had twelue feathered wings and three heads.

2 And I saw and beholde, shee spred her wings ouer all the earth, and all the windes of the ayre blewe on her, and gathered them selues.

3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers grewe out other contrarie feathers, and they became litle feathers and small.

4 But her heads remained still, and the head in the middes was greater then the other heads, yet rested it with them.

5 Moreouer, I sawe that the egle flewe with his feathers and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwelt therein.

6 And I saw that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto her, and no man spake against her, no not one creature vpon earth.

7 I sawe also that the egle stoode vp vpon her clawes, and spake to her feathers, saying,

8 Watch not altogether: sleepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by course.

9 But let the heads be preserued for the last.

10 Neuertheles, I sawe that the voyce went not out of her heads, but from the middes of her body.

11 Then I numbred her contrary feathers, and beholde, there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and beholde vpon the right side there arose one feather, and reigned ouer all
the earth.
13 And when it had reigned, the end of it came,
and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next stood vp, and reigned: it continued a long time.
14 And when it had reigned, the end of it came also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.
15 Then there came a voyce vnto it, and sayde, 16 Heare thou that hast kept the earth so long:
this I say vnto thee, before thou beginnest to ap-peare no more,
17 There shall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.
18 Then arose the third and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.
19 So came it to all the others one after another, so that euery one reigned, and then appeared no more.
20 Then I looked, and beholde in processe of time the feathers that folowed, stood vp on the right side, that they may rule also, and some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.
21 For some of them were set vp, but ruled not.
22 After this I looked, and beholde, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two wings.
23 And there was no more vpon the egles body,
but the two heads that rested, and sixe wings.
24 Then sawe I also that two wings deuided themselues from the sixe, and remained vnder the head, that was vpon the right side: for the foure continued in their place.
25 So I looked, and beholde, the vnderwings thought to set vp themselues, and to haue the rule.
26 Then was there one set vp, but shortly it appeared no more.
27 And the second were sooner gone then ẏ first.
28 Then I beheld, and loe, the two that remained, thought also in themselues to reigne.
29 And when they so thought, beholde, there awaked one of the heads that were at rest, which was in the middes: for that was greater then the two.
30 And then I sawe, that the two heads were ioyned therewith.
31 And behold, the head was turned with them, that were with it, and did eate vp the two vnder-wings that would haue reigned.
32 But this head put the whole earth in feare and bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwelt vpon earth with much labour, and it had the gouernance of the world, more then all the wings that had bene.
33 After this I looked, and behold, the head that was in the middes suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.
34 But the two heads remained, which also ruled likewise vpon earth, and ouer those ẏ dwelt therein.
35 And I beheld, and lo the head vpon the right side deuoured it that was vpon the left side.
36 ¶Then I heard a voyce which said vnto me, Looke before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest.
37 So I sawe, and beholde as it were a lyon that roareth, running hastily out of the wood: and I saw that he sent out a mans voyce vnto the egle, and spake, and said, 38 Heare thou, I will talke with thee, and the most High shall say vnto thee, 39 Art not thou that that of the foure beastes remainest, whom I made to reigne in my worlde, that by them the ende of times might come, 40 And the fourth is come, and hath ouercome all the beastes that were past, and hath power ouer the world with great fearefulnesse, and ouer ẏ whole compasse of ẏ earth w̄ most wicked oppression, and that dwelleth so longtime in al ẏ world with deceit?
41 For thou hast not iudged ẏ earth with trueth.
42 Seeing thou hast troubled the meeke, thou hast hurt the peaceable, and thou hast loued lyars, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought foorth fruite, and hast cast down the walles of such as did thee no harme, 43 Therefore is thy wrongfull dealing come vp vnto the most High, and thy pride vnto ẏ Mightie.
44 The most High also hath looked vpon the proude times, and behold, they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.
45 Therefore appeare no more, thou egle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, and thy wicked clawes, nor all thy vaine bodie,
46 That all the earth may be refreshed, & come againe as one deliuered from thy violence, and that she may hope for the judgement and mercie of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the former vision.

AND when the lyon spake these words to the egle, I sawe,
2 And beholde, the head that had the vpper hand, appeared no more, neither did the foure wings appeare any more, that came to it, and set vp themselues to reigne, whose kingdome was small and full of vproares.
3 And I sawe, and beholde, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the egle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and trance of my minde, and from the great feare, and sayd vnto my spirit, 4 Lo, this hast thou done vnto me in that thou searchest out the wayes of the most High.
5 Lo, yet am I wearie in my minde, and very weake in my spirit, and litle strength is there in me, for the great feare that I receiued this night.
6 Therefore now I will beseech the most High that he will comfort me vnto the end.
7 And I sayd, O Lorde, Lorde, if I haue founde grace before thy sight, and if I am iustified with thee before many other, & if my praier in deede become vp before thy face, 8 Comfort me, and shewe mee thy seruant the interpretation and difference of this horrible sight, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soule, 9 Seeing thou hast iudged me worthie to shew me the last times.
10 ¶Then he said vnto me, This is the interpretation of this vision, 11 The egle, whome thou sawest come vp from the sea, is the * kingdome which was seene in the vi- *Dan. 7. 7.
sion of thy brother Daniel.
12 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore nowe I declare vnto thee.
13 Beholde, the dayes come, that there shall rise vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shall be feared aboue all kingdomes that were before it.
14 In it shall twelue Kings reigne one after another,
15 Whereof the second shal beginne to reigne, and shall haue more time then the twelue.
16 And this do the twelue wings signifie which thou sawest.

17 As for the voyce that thou heardest speake, and that thou sawest not goe out from the heads, but from the middes of the bodie thereof, this is
the interpretation,
18 That after the time of that kingdome there shall arise great strife, and it shall be in danger to fall, but it shall not then fall, but shall bee restored againe to his beginning.
19 Concerning the eight vnderwings, which thou sawest hang vnto her wings, this is the interpretation,
20 In him shall arise eight Kings, whose time shall be but small, and their yeeres swift, and two of them shall perish.
21 But when the mid time commeth, there shalbe foure kept a time, whiles his time beginneth to come, that it may be ended, but two shalbe kept vnto the end.
22 And where as thou sawest three heads resting, this is the interpretation, 23 In his last dayes shall the most High raise vp three kingdomes, and shall call againe many things into them, and they shall haue the dominion of the earth,
24 And of those that dwell therein, with much griefe aboue all those that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the egle.
25 For they shall accomplish his wickednesse, and shall finish his last end.
26 And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die vpon his bed, and yet with paine.
27 For the two that remained, the sworde shall deuoure them.
28 For ỹ sword of the one shal deuoure ỹ other:
but at the last he shall fall by the sword himselfe.
29 And whereas thou sawest two vnderwings, that went off towarde the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretation, 30 These are they whom the most High hath preserued for their end, whose kingdome is litle, and full of trouble as thou sawest.
31 And the lyon whom thou sawest rising vp out of the wood and roaring, & speaking vnto the egle, and rebuking her for her vnrighteousnesse with all the wordes that thou hast heard, 32 This is the winde which the most High hath kept for them, and for their wickednesse vnto the ende, and hee shall reproue them, and cast before them their spoyles.
33 For he shall set them aliue in the iudgement, and shall rebuke them and correct them.
34 For hee will deliuer the residue of my people by affliction, which are preserued vpon my borders, and he shall make them ioyfull, vntill the comming of the day of iudgement, wherof I haue spoken vnto thee from the beginning.
35 This is the dreame that thou sawest, and these are the interpretations.
36 Thou onely hast bene meete to know this secret of the most High.
37 Therefore write all these things that thou hast seene in a booke and hide them, 38 And teache them ỹ wise of the people, whose heartes thou knowest may comprehend and keepe these secrets.
39 But waite thou here yet seuen dayes mo, that it may bee shewed thee whatsoeuer it pleaseth the most High to declare vnto thee: and with that he went his way.
40 And when all the people perceiued, that the seuen dayes were past, and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them all together, from the least vnto the most, and came vnto me, and spake
vnto me, saying,
41 What haue we offended thee? or what euill haue we done against thee, that thou forsakest vs, and sittest in this place?
42 For of all the people thou only art left vs as a grape of ỹ vine, & as a candle in a darke place, and as an hauen or shippe preserued from the tempest.
43 Are not the euils which are come vnto vs sufficient?
44 If thou then forsake vs, howe much better had it bene for vs, that wee had bene burnt also as Sion was burnt?
45 For wee are no better then they that dyed there: and they wept with a loude voyce. Then answered I them, and said, 46 Be of good comfort, O Israel, and be not heauie, thou house of Iaakob.
47 For ỹ most High hath you in remembrance, and the Almightie hath not forgotten you in temptation.
48 As for me I haue not forsaken you, neither am I departed frõ you, but am come into this place to pray for ỹ desolation of Sion, that I might seeke mercie for the lowe estate of your Sanctuarie.
49 And nowe goe your way home euery man,
and after these dayes will I come vnto you.
50 So the people went their way into the citie,
as I commaunded them:
51 But I remained still in the fielde seuen dayes, as he had commaunded me, & did eate onely of the flowers of the field, and had my meate of the herbes
in those dayes.

C H A P. XIII.

The vision of a winde comming foorth of the sea, 3 which became a man. 5 His propertie and power against his enemies. 21 The declaration of this vision.

AND after the seuen dayes I dreamed a dreame by night.
2 And beholde, there arose a winde from the sea, and it mooued all the waues thereof.
3 And I looked, and beholde, there was a mightie man with the thousands of heauen: and when he turned his countenance to looke, all the things trembled that were seene vnder him.
4 And when the voyce went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voyce, as the earth faileth when it feeleth the fire.
5 After these things I sawe, and beholde, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, from the foure windes of the heauen, to fight against the man that came out from the sea.
6 And I looked, and beholde, he graued himselfe a great mountaine, and flewe vp vpon it.
7 But I would haue seene ỹ countrey or place whereout the hill was grauen, and I could not.
8 I sawe after these things, and behold, all they which came to fight against him, were sore afraide, and yet they durst fight.
9 Neuerthelesse when hee sawe the fiercenesse of the multitude that came, hee lifted not vp his hand: for he helde no sworde nor any instrument of warre.
10 But onely, as I sawe, he sent out of his mouth, as it had bene a blast of fire, and out of his lips the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue he cast out sparkes and stormes.

11 And they were all mixt together, euen this blast of fire, the winde of the flame, and the great storme, and fell with violence vpon the multitude, which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp all,
so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing seene, but onely dust, and smell of smoke.
When I sawe this, I was afrayd.
12 ¶ Afterwarde sawe I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peacable multitude.
13 And there came many vnto him, some with ioyfull countenance, and some with sadde: some of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offered: and I was sicke through great feare, and awaked, and sayd, 14 Thou hast shewed thy seruaunt these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted mee worthy to receiue my prayer.
15 Shewe mee nowe therefore the interpretation of this dreame.
16 For thus I consider in mine vnderstanding, woe vnto them that shall be left in those daies, and much more woe vnto them that are not left be-hinde.
17 For they that were not left, were in heauines.
18 Nowe vnderstand I the things that are laied vp in the latter dayes, which shall come both vnto them, and to those that are left behinde.
19 Therefore are they come into great perils and many necessities, as these dreames declare.
20 Yet it is easier, that he that is in danger, should fall into these, and foresee the thinges to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloude out of the worlde.
21 ¶ Then answered he me, and sayd, The interpretation of the vision wil I shewe thee, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.
22 Where as thou hast spoken of them that are left behinde, this is the interpretation, 23 He that shall beare the danger in that time, hee shall keepe him selfe. They that be fallen into danger, are such as haue workes and fayth towarde the most Mightie.
24 Know therefore, that they which be left be-hinde, are more blessed then they that be dead.
25 These are the meanings of the vision, Where as thou sawest a man comming vp from the middes of the sea,
26 The same is he whome the most High hath kept a great season, who by his owne selfe shall de-liuer his creature, and he shall order them that are left behinde.
27 ¶ And where as thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came a blast with fire and storme, 28 And that he neither held sword nor weapon, but that by his fiercenesse hee destroyed the whole multitude, that came to fight against him, this is
the interpretation,
29 Beholde, the dayes come that the most High will beginne to deliuer them that are vpon
the earth:
30 And he shal astonish the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth:
31 And one shall prepare to fight against ano-
the, citie against citie, and place against place,
* and nation against nation, and realme against
realme.
32 When this commeth to passe, then shall the tokens come, that I shewed thee before, and then shall my Sonne be reueiled, whom thou sawest goe vp as a man.
33 And when al the people heare his voice, eue-ry man shall in their owne lande leaue the battell that they haue one against another.
34 And an innumerable multitude shall be gathered as one, as they that be willing to come, and to fight against him.
35 But he shall stande vpon the toppe of mount Sion.
36 And Sion shal come, and shall be shewed to all, being prepared and builded, as thou sawest the hill grauen foorth without any hands.
37 And this my Sonne shall rebuke the wicked inuentions of those nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempest, 38 And into torments like to flame, whereby they shalbe tormented: and without any labour will hee destroy them, euen by the Lawe, which is compared vnto the fire.
39 And where as thou sawest that hee gathered another peaceable people vnto him, 40 Those are the ten tribes which were caried away captiues out of their owne land, * in the time of Oseas the King, whome Salmanasar the King of the Assyrians tooke captiue, and caryed them beyonde the riuer: so were they brought into an other lande.
41 But they tooke this counsell to them selues, and they woulde leaue the multitude of the heathen, and goe foorth into a further countrey, where neuer mankinde dwelt, 42 That they might there keepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.
43 And they entred in at the narrowe passages of the riuer Euphrates.
44 For the moste High then shewed them signes, * and staied the springs of the flood till they were passed ouer.
45 For thorowe the countrey there was a great iourney, euen of a yeere and an halfe, and the same region is called || Arsareth.
46 Then dwelt they there vntill the latter time:
and when they come foorth againe, 47 The most High shal holde still the springs of the riuer againe that they may goe thorowe: therefore sawest thou the multitude peaceable.
48 But they that be left behinde of thy people, are those that be found within my borders.
49 Nowe when he destroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he shall defend the people that remaine, 50 And then shall hee shewe great wonders vn-
to them.
51 Then sayd I, O Lorde, Lorde, shewe me this, wherefore haue I seene the man comming vp from
the middes of the sea?
52 And he sayd vnto me, As thou canst neither seeke out, nor knowe these thinges, that are in the deepe of the sea, so can no man vpon earth see my Sonne, or those that be with him, but in the time of that day.
53 This is the interpretation of the dreame which thou sawest, and whereby thou onely art lightened.
54 For thou hast forsaken thine owne Law, and applied thy diligence vnto mine, and sought it.
55 Thy life hast thou ordered in wisedome, and hast called vnderstanding thy mother.
56 Therefore haue I shewed thee the rewardes with the most High: and after three other dayes I will

I will speake other things vnto thee, and will declare the great and wonderous things.
57 Then went I forth vnto the field, glorifying and praysing the most High for the wonders which he did in time, 58 Which he gouerneth, & such things as come in their seasons: and there I sate three dayes.

CHAP. XIIII.

3 How God appeared to Moses in the bush. 10 All things decline to age. 15 The latter times worse then the former. 29 The ingratitude of Israel. 35 The resurrection and iudgement.

VPon the third day I sate vnder an Oke, and be-holde, there came forth a voyce vnto me out of the bush, and sayd, Esdras, Esdras.
2 And I sayd, Here am I, Lorde, and stoode vp vpon my feete.
3 Then sayd he vnto me,* In the bush I reuei- *Exod.3.8. led my selfe, and spake vnto Moyses, when my people serued in Egypt:
4 And I sent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Sinai, and I helde him with me a long season, 5 And I tolde him many wonders, and shewed him the secrets of the times and the ende, and commanded him, saying,
6 These wordes shalt thou declare, and these shalt thou hide.
7 And nowe I say vnto thee, that thou lay vp in thine heart the signes that I haue shewed, and the dreames that thou hast seene, and the interpretations which thou hast heard.
8 For thou shalt be taken away from all, and thou shalt remaine henceforth with my counsell, & with such as be like thee, vntill the times be ended.
9 For the worlde hath lost his youth, and the times begin to waxe olde.
10 For the world is deuided into twelue partes, and ten partes of it are gone already, and halfe of the tenth part.
11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.
12 Therefore set thine house in order, & reforme thy people, and comfort such of them as be in trouble, and nowe renounce the corruption.
13 Let goe from thee mortall thoughtes: cast away from thee the burdens of men, & put off now
the weake nature,
14 And set aside thy most grieuous thoughtes, and haste thee to depart from these times: 15 For greater euils then those which thou hast seene nowe shall they commit.
16 For the weaker that the worlde is by reason of age, the more shall the euils be increased vpon them that dwell therein.
17 For the trueth is fled farre away, and lies are at hand: for nowe hasteth the vision to come, that thou hast seene.
18 ¶Then answered I, and sayd before thee, 19 Behold, O Lord, I wil goe as thou hast commanded me, and reforme the people, which are present: but they that shall be borne afterwarde, who shall admonish them?
20 Thus the world is set in darkenesse, and they
that dwell therein, are without light.
21 For thy Lawe is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the thinges that are done of thee, or the workes that shalbe done.
22 But if I haue found grace before thee, sende the holy Ghost into mee, and I will write all that hath bene done in the world since the beginning, which was written in thy Law, that men may finde the path, and that they which will liue in the latter dayes, may liue.
23 And he answered me, saying, Goe, and gather the people, and say vnto them, that they seeke thee not for fourtie dayes, 24 But prepare thee many boxe tables, and take with thee these fiue, Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Ecanus and Asiel, which are ready to write swiftly, 25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of vnderstanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out till the things be perfourmed which thou shalt begin to write.
26 And then shalt thou declare some things openly vnto the perfite men, and some things shalt thou shewe secretly vnto the wise: to morowe this houre shalt thou begin to write.
27 Then went I forth, as he commaunded me,
and gathered all the people together, and sayd, 28 Heare these wordes, O Israel.
29 *Our fathers at the beginning were strangers *Gen.47.4.
in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered, 30 And receiued ẏ Law of life,* which they kept *Acts 7.53.
not, which ye also haue trangressed after them.
31 Then was the land, euen the land of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and yee also haue done vnrighteously, and haue not kept the wayes which the most High commaunded you.
32 And for so much as he is a righteous Iudge, he tooke from you in time the thing that hee had giuen you.
33 And nowe are ye here, and your brethren among you.
34 Therefore if so be that you will subdue your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, yee shall be kept aliue, and after death shall ye obteine
mercie.
35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when we shall liue againe: and then shal the names of the righteous be manifest, and the workes of the vngodly shalbe declared.
36 Let no man therefore come nowe vnto mee, nor seeke me these fourtie dayes.
37 So I tooke the fiue men, as he commaunded me, and we went into the field, and remained there.
38 The next day, beholde, a voyce called mee, saying, Esdras,* open thy mouth, and drinke that *Ezech.3.2.
I giue thee to drinke.
39 Then opened I my mouth, and beholde, hee reached me a full cup, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.
40 And I tooke it, and dranke, and when I had drunke it, mine heart had vnderstanding, and wis-dome grewe in my brest: for my spirite was strengthened in memorie,
41 And my mouth was opened, & shut no more.
42 The most High gaue vnderstanding vnto the fiue men, that they wrote the high thinges of the night, which they vnderstood not.
43 But in the night they did eate bread, but I spake by day, and helde not my tongue by night.
44 In fourtie dayes they wrote two hundreth and foure bookes.
45 And when the fourtie dayes were fulfilled, the most High spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the worthy and vnworthy may reade it.
46 But keepe the seuentie last, that thou mayest giue them to the wise among the people.
47 For in them is the veine of vnderstanding,
and

and the fountaine of wisedome, and the riuer of knowledge, and I did so.

C H A P. XV.

1 The prophecie of Esdras is certaine. 5 The euils that shall come on the world. 9 The Lorde will auenge the innocent blood. 12 Egypt shall lament. 16 Sedition, 20 And punishment vpon the Kings of the earth. 24 Cursed are they that sinne. 29 Troubles and warres vpon the whole earth. 53 God is the reuenger of his elect.

Beholde, speake thou in the eares of my people the wordes of prophecie, which I will put in thy mouth, saith the Lord:

2 And cause them to be written in a letter: for they are faithfull and true.

3 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the vnfaithfulnesse of the speakers trouble thee, that speake against thee.

4 For euery vnfaithfull shall die in his vnfaithfulnesse.

5 Beholde, saith the Lorde, I will bring plagues vpon all the worlde, the sworde, famine, death, and destruction.

6 Because that iniquitie hath fully polluted all the earth, and their wicked workes are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, sayth the Lorde, I will holde my tongue no more for their wickednesse, (they do vngodly) neither will I suffer them in the things that they doe wickedly.

8 Beholde, * the innocent and righteous blood cryeth vnto me, and the soules of the iust crie continually.

* Reuel.6.10. and 19.2.

9 I will surely auenge them, saith the Lord, and receiue vnto mee all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Beholde, my people is led as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them nowe to dwell in the land of Egypt,

11 But I will bring them out with a mightie hand, and a stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues as afore, and will destroy all the land therof.

12 Egypt shall mourne, and the foundations thereof shall be smitten with the plague and punishment, that God shall bring vpon it.

13 The plowmen that till the grounde, shall mourne: for their seedes shall faile through the blasting and haile, and by an horrible starre.

14 Wo to the world, & to them that dwel therin.

15 For the sword and their destruction draweth neere, and one people shall stand vp to fight against another with swordes in their hands.

16 For there shall be sedition among men, and one shall inuade another: they shall not regarde their King, and the princes shal measure their doings by their power.

17 A man shall desire to go into a citie, and shall not be able.

18 Because of their pride the cities shalbe troubled, the houses shall be afraide, and men shall feare.

19 A man shall haue no pitie vpon his neighbour, but shall destroy their houses with the sword, and their goods shall be spoyled for lacke of bread, and because of great trouble.

20 Behold, saith God, I cal together al the Kings of the earth to reuerence me, which are from the ‖ East, and from the South, from the East, and from Libanus, to turne vpon them, and to repay the things that they haue done to them.

‖ Or, West.

21 As they doe yet this day vnto my chosen, so will I doe also, and recompense them in their bosome: thus saith the Lord God, 22 My right hand shall not spare the sinners, neither shall the sworde cease from them, that shead innocent blood vpon earth.

23 The fire is gone out from his wrath, and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners like the strawe, that is kindled.

24 Woe to them that sinne, and keepe not my commandements, saith the Lord.

25 I will not spare them: depart, O children, from the power: defile not my Sanctuarie.

26 For the Lord knoweth all them that sinne against him, and therefore deliuereth hee them vnto death and destruction.

27 For nowe are the plagues come vpon the world, and ye shall remaine in them: for God will not deliuer you, because ye haue sinned against him.

28 Beholde, an horrible vision commeth from the East,

29 Where generations of dragons of Arabia shall come out with many charets, and the multitude of them shall be caried as the winde vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble.

30 Euen the Carmanians raging in wrath, shall goe forth as the bores of the forest, and shall come with great power, and stand against them in battell, and shall destroy a portion of the land of the Assyrians.

31 But after this shall the dragons haue the vpper hand, and remember their nature, and shal turne about, and conspire to consume them with a great power.

32 Then these shall be troubled, and keepe silence by their power, and shall flee.

33 From the land of the Assyrians shall the enemie besiege them, and consume some of them, and in their hoste shall be feare and dread, and strife among their kings.

34 Behold cloudes from the East, and from the North vnto the South, and they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and storme.

35 They shall smite one vpon another: and they shall smite downe a great multitude of starres vpon the earth, euen their owne starre, and the blood shal be from the sword vnto the belly,

36 And the dongue of man vnto ẏ Camels litter.

37 And there shall bee great fearefulnesse and trembling vpon earth, and they that see the wrath, shall be afraide, and a trembling shall come vpon them.

38 And then there shall come great stormes from the South, and from the North, and part from the West.

39 And from the East shall windes arise and shal open it with the cloude, which he raised vp in wrath, and the starre, raysed to feare the East and West winde, shall be destroyed.

40 And the great and mightie cloudes shall bee lift vp full of wrath, and the starre, that they may make all the earth afraid, and them that dwell therein, and that they may powre out ouer euery hie place, and lifted vp, an horrible constellation,

41 As fire and haile, and flying swordes, and many waters, that all fieldes may be full, and all riuers with the abundance of great waters.

42 And they shall breake downe the cities, and walles, and mountaines, and hilles, and the trees of the wood, and the grasse of the medowes, and their corne.

43 And they shall goe with a streight course vnto Babylon, and make it afraide.

44 They

44 They shall come to her, and besiege her, and shall powre forth the constellation, and al the wrath against her: then shall the dust and smoke goe vp vnto the heauen, and al they that be about her, shall bewayle her.

45 And they that remaine vnder her, shall doe seruice vnto them, that haue put her in feare.

46 ¶ And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glory of her person, 47 Woe vnto thee, O wretch, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto her, and hast deckt thy daughters in whoredome, that they might please and glorie in thy louers, which haue alway desired to commit whoredome with thee.

48 Thou hast followed her that is hated in all her workes, and in her inuentions: therefore saith God, 49 I will send plagues vpon thee, widowhood, pouertie, and famine, and the sword, and pestilence, to waste thine houses with destruction and death.

50 And the glory of thy power shall be dryed vp, as a flower when the heate riseth, that is sent vpon thee.

51 Thou shalt be sicke as a poore wife that is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mightie and the louers shall not be able to receiue thee.

52 Would I thus hate thee, saith the Lord,

53 If thou hadst not alway slaine my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine handes, and saide ouer their death, when thou wast drunken,

54 Set forth the beautie of thy countenance?

55 The reward of thy whoredome shalbe in thy bosome: therefore shalt thou receiue a reward.

56 As thou hast done vnto my chosen, saith the Lord, so will God doe vnto thee, and will deliuer thee vnto the plague.

57 And thy children shal die for hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sworde, and thy cities shall be broken downe, and all thy men shall fall by the sword in the field.

58 And they that be in the mountaines shall die of hunger, and eate their owne flesh, & drinke their owne blood for want of bread and thirst of water.

59 And thou, as vnhappie, shalt come thorowe the sea, and receiue plagues againe.

60 In the passage they shall cast downe the slaine citie, and shall roote out one part of thy land, and consume the portion of thy glorie, and shall returne to her that was destroyed.

61 When thou shalt be cast downe, thou shalt be to them as stubble, and they shall be to thee as fire.

62 And they shall destroy thee, and thy cities, thy land, and thy mountaines: all thy woods, and all thy fruitefull trees shall they burne with fire.

63 Thy children shall they carie away captiue, and shall spoyle thy substance, and marre the beautie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Against Babylon, Asia, and Egypt and Syria. 18. 38 Of the euils that shall come vpon the worlde, with admonition how to gouerne themselues in afflictions. 54 To acknowledge their sinnes, and to commit themselues to the Lord. 55 Whose mightie prouidence and iustice is to be reuerenced.

WO to thee, Babylon and Asia: woe to thee, Egypt and Syria.

2 Girde your selues with sacke and haircloth, and mourne your children, and be sorie: for your destruction is at hand.

3 A sworde is sent vnto you, and who will turne it backe? a fire is sent among you, and who will quench it?

4 Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can driue them away?

5 May any man driue away an hungry lyon in the wood? or quench the fire in stubble when it hath once begun to burne? may one turne againe the arrowe, that is shot of a strong archer?

6 The mightie Lorde sendeth the plagues, and who can driue them away? the fire is gone foorth in his wrath, and who can quench it?

7 He shall cast lightnings, and who shall not feare? he shall thunder, and who shall not be afraid?

8 The Lord shall threaten, and who shall not vtterly bee broken in pieces at his presence? the earth quaketh, and the foundation thereof: the sea ariseth vp with waues from the deepe, and the waues thereof are troubled, and the fishes thereof, before the Lord, and the glorie of his power.

9 For strong is his right hand, that bendeth the bowe: his arrowes that hee shooteth, are sharpe, and shall not misse, when they begin to be shot into the endes of the world.

10 Beholde, the plagues are sent, and shall not turne againe, till they come vpon earth.

11 The fire is kindled, and shall not be put out, till it consume the foundations of the earth.

12 As an arrowe which is shotte of a mightie archer, returneth not backeward, so the plagues that shall be sent vpon earth, shall not turne againe.

13 Woe is me, woe is me: who will deliuer me in those dayes?

14 The beginning of sorowes and great mournings: the beginning of famine, and great death: the beginning of warres, and the powers shall feare: the beginning of euils, and all shall tremble. What shall I doe in these thinges, when the plagues come?

15 Beholde, famine and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendment.

16 But for all these things they will not turne from their wickednesse, nor bee alway mindefull of the scourges.

17 Beholde, vitailes shall be so good cheape vpon earth, that they shall thinke themselues to be in good case: but then shall the euils bud foorth vpon earth, euen the sworde, the famine and great confusion.

18 For many of them that dwell vpon earth, shall perish with famine, and the other that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy.

19 And the dead shalbe cast out as dongue, and there shall be no man to comfort them: for the earth shalbe wasted, & the cities shalbe cast downe.

20 There shalbe no man left to till the earth, and to sowe it: the trees shall giue fruite, but who shall gather them?

21 The grapes shalbe ripe, but who shall treade them? for all places shalbe desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voyce.

22 For of one citie there shalbe tenne left, and two of the fielde, which shall hide themselues in the thicke woods, and in the clefts of rockes.

23 As when there remaine three or foure oliues in the place where oliues growe, or among other trees,

24 Or as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently sought thorow the vineyard:

25 So in those dayes there shalbe three or foure left by them that search their houses with the sworde.

26 And the earth shalbe left waste, and the fields thereof thereof shall waxe olde, and her wayes and all her pathes shall growe full of thornes, because no man shall trauell therethrough.

27 The virgins shall mourne, hauing no bride-gromes: the women shall make lamentation, hauing no husbandes: their daughters shall mourne, hauing no helpers.
28 In the warres shall their bridegromes be destroyed, and their husbandes shall perish with famine.
29 But, yee seruantes of the Lorde, heare these things, and marke them.
30 Beholde the word of the Lord, receiue it: beleeue not the gods of whome the Lord speaketh:
beholde, the plagues draw neere, and are not slacke.
31 As a trauelling woman which in the ninth moneth bringeth foorth her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two or three houres afore ẏ paines come vpon her bodie, and when the childe commeth to the birth, they tarie not a whit: 32 So shall not the plagues be slacke to come vpon the earth, and the worlde shall mourne, and sorrowes shall come vpon it on euery side.
33 O my people, heare my worde: make you readie to the battell, and in the troubles be euen as strangers vpon earth.
34 Hee that selleth, let him be as hee that fleeth his way: and he that bieth, as one that will lose.
35 Who so occupieth merchandise, as hee that winneth not: and he that buildeth, as he that shall not dwell therein:
36 He that soweth, as one that shall not reape:
he that cutteth the vine, as he that shall not gather the grapes:
37 They that marrie, as they that shall get no children: and they that marrie not, so as the wid-dowes.
38 Therefore, they that labour, labour in vaine.
39 For strangers shall reape their fruites, and spoile their goods, and ouerthrowe their houses, and take their children captiue; for in captiuitie and famine shall they get their children.
40 And they that occupie their merchandise with couetousnesse, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their owne persons,
41 So much more will I be angrie against them for their sinnes, saith the Lord.
42 As a whore enuieth an honest and vertuous woman, 43 So shall righteousnesse hate iniquitie, when shee decketh her selfe, and shall accuse her openly, when hee shall come that shall bridle the autor of all sinne vpon earth.
44 And therefore be yee not like thereunto, nor to the workes thereof: for or euer it be long, iniquitie shall be taken away out of the earth, and righte-ousnesse shall reigne among you.
45 Let not the sinner say, that he hath not sinned: for coales of fire shall burne vpon his head, which saith, I haue not sinned before the Lord God and his glorie.
*Luke 16.15. 46 Beholde, the Lord * knoweth all the works of men, their imaginations, their thoughtes and their hearts.
*Gen.1.1. 47 * For assoone as hee sayde, Let the earth be made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created.
48 By his word were the starres established, and he * knoweth the number of them. *Psal.147.4.
49 Hee searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: he hath measured the sea, and what it conteineth.
50 Hee hath shut the sea in the mids of the waters, and with his word hath hee hanged the earth vpon the waters.
51 Hee spreadeth out the heauens like a vawt:
vpon the waters hath he founded it.
52 In the desert hath he made springs of water, and pooles vpon the toppe of the mountaines, to powre out floodes from the high rockes to water
the earth,
53 He made man, and put his heart in the mids
of the bodie, and gaue him breath, life and vnder-
standing.
54 And the Spirite of the almightie God, which made all things, and hath searched all the hid things in the secrets of the earth, 55 Hee knoweth your inuentions, and what yee imagine in your heart when yee sinne and would hide your sinnes.
56 Therefore hath the Lord searched & sought out all your works, and will put you all to shame.
57 And when your sinnes are brought foorth before men, ye shall be confounded, and your owne sinnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.
58 What will ye doe, or howe will ye hide your sinnes before God and his Angels?
59 Beholde, God him selfe is the iudge: feare him: cease from your sinnes, and forget your iniquities, and meddle no more from hencefoorth with them: so shall God lead you foorth, and deliuer you from all trouble.
60 For beholde, the heart of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certaine of you, and shall slay you for meate to the idoles.
61 And they that consent vnto them, shall be had in derision and in reproche, and troden vnder foote.
62 For in euery place and cities that are neere, there shall be great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.
63 They shalbe like mad men: they shall spare none: they shall spoile, & waste such as yet feare the Lord.
64 For they then shall waste and spoyle their goods, and cast them out of their houses.
65 Then shall the triall of my chosen appeare, as the golde is tried by the fire.
66 Heare, O ye my beloued, saith the Lord: be-holde, the dayes of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: be not ye afraid: dout not,
for God is your captaine.
67 Who so keepeth my commandements and precepts, sayeth the Lorde God, Let not your sinnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift themselues vp.
68 Woe vnto them that are bounde with their sinnes, and couered with their iniquities, as a fielde is hedged in with bushes, and the pathe thereof co-uered with thornes, whereby no man may trauell:
it is shut vp, and is appointed to be deuoured with fire.

TOBIT.

CHAP. I.

1 Tobits parentage. 3 His godlinesse. 6 His equitie. 8 His charitie and prosperitie. 23 He fleeth, and his goods are confiscate, 25 And after restored.

Tobias, being captiue amongst the Assyrians, did not leaue the way of trueth.

THe booke of the woordes of Tobit sonne of Tobiel, the sonne of Ana-neel, the sonne of Aduel, the sonne of Gabael, of the seede of Asael, and of the tribe of Nephthalim, 2 Who in the time of ‖ Enemessar King of the Assyrians was * led away captiue out of Thisbe, which is at the right hande of that citie, which is called properly Nephthalim, in Galilee aboue Aser.

‖ Or, Salmanasar. * 2.King.17.3.

3 I Tobit haue walked all my life long in the way of trueth and iustice, and I did many things liberally to the brethren, which were of my nation, and came with me to Niniue into the lande of the Assyrians.

Tobit is was mercifull.

4 And when I was in mine owne countrey in the lande of Israel, being but yoong, all the tribe of Nephthalim my father fell from the house of Ieru-salem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes should sacrifice there, where the Temple of the tabernacle of the most High was consecrated, and built vp for all ages.
5 * Nowe all the tribes which fell from God, yea, and my father Nephthalims house offered to the heifer called Baal.

* 1.King.12.30.

6 But I (as it was ordeined to all Israel by an euerlasting decree) went alone often to Ierusalem, at the feastes * bringing the first fruites, and the tenth of beasts, with that which was first shorne, and offred them at the altar to the Priests the children of Aaron.

He fled from idoles. * Exod.22.29. Deut.12.6.

7 The first tenth part I gaue to the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, which ministred in Ierusalem: the other tenth part I solde, and came and bestowed it euery yeere at Ierusalem.
8 The thirde tenth part I gaue vnto them to whome it was meete, as Debora my fathers mother had commanded mee: for my father left mee as a pupill.
9 ¶ Furthermore when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of * mine owne kinred, and of her I begate Tobias.

He marrieth to wife Anna, which beareth him Tobiah. * Nomb.36.7.

10 ¶ But when I was led captiue to Niniue, all my brethren, and those which were of my kinred, did eate of the * bread of the Gentiles.

Gene.43.32.

11 But I kept my selfe from eating.
12 Because I remẽbred God with al mine heart.
13 Therefore the most High gaue me grace and fauour before Enemessar, so that I was his puruoier.
14 ¶ And I went into Media, & I deliuered ten talents of siluer to Gabael the ‖ brother of Gabrias ‖ in the land of Media.

He found grace in the sight of Salmanasar. ‖ Or, sonne. ‖ Or, in Rages a citie of Media.

15 But when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead whose state because it was troubled, I could not goe into Media.
16 ¶ But in the time of ‖ Enemessar, I gaue many almes to my brethren, and gaue my breade to them which were hungrie,

‖ Or, Salmanasar. The charitie of Tobias.

17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I saw any of my kinred dead, or cast about the walles of Niniue, I buried him.
18 And if the King Sennacherib had slaine any,
when he * was come and fled from Iudea, I buried them priuilie (for in his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not found when they were sought for of the king.

* 2.Kin.19.35,36. Isa.37.36,37. Eccus.48.18,22. 1.maccha.7.41. 2.maccha.8.19.

19 Therefore when a certaine Niniuite had accused mee to the King, because I did burie them, I hid my selfe: and because I knew that I was sought to be slaine, I withdrew my selfe for feare.

Tobit fleeth fro the face of Senacherib.

20 Then all my goods were spoyled, neither was there any thing left mee besides my wife Anna and my sonne Tobias.
21 Neuerthelesse * within fiue and fiftie dayes, two of his sonnes killed him, and they fled into the mountaines of Ararath, & Sarchedonus his sonne reigned in his stead, who appointed ouer his fathers accomptes and ouer all his domesticall affaires A-chiacharus my brother Anaels sonne.

* 2.King.19.37. 2.chron.32.21.

22 And when Achiacharus had made a request for me, I came againe to Niniue: nowe Achiacha-rus was cupbearer and keeper of the signet, and steward, and ouersaw the accompts: so Sarchedonus appoynted him next vnto him, and he was my brothers sonne.

Tobit returneth.

CHAP. II.

1 Tobit calleth the faithfull to his table. 3 He leaueth the feast to burie the dead. 10 How he became blinde. 13 His wife laboureth for her liuing. 14 She reprocheth him bitterly.

NOwe when I was come home againe, and my wife Anna was restored vnto mee with my sonne Tobias, in the feast of Pentecoste, which is the holy feast of the seuen weeks, there was a great dinner prepared me, in ẏ which I sate downe to eat.
2 And when I saw abundance of meate, I saide to my sonne, Go, and bring what poore man soeuer thou shalt finde of our brethren which doeth remember God, and loe I will tarie for thee.

Tobit doeth bid to dinner those which feare God.

3 But hee came againe, and sayde, Father, one of our nation is strangled, & is cast out in the market place.
4 Then before I had tasted any meate, I start vp, and brought him into mine house vntill the going downe of the sunne.
5 Then I returned and washed, & ate my meat in heauinesse,

Tobit, leauing his ghests, taketh vp the dead bodie into his house to burie it.

6 Remembring that prophecie of * Amos, which had said, Your solemne feasts shall be turned into mourning, and your ioyes into wailing.

* Amos.8.10. 1.maccha.1.41.

7 Therefore I wept, & after the going downe of the sunne I went and made a graue and buried
him.
8 But my neighbours mocked mee, and sayd, Doeth he not feare, to die for this cause, who * fled away, and yet, loe, he burieth the dead againe?

Tobit is rebuked of his neighbours. * Chap.1.19.

9 The same night also when I returned from the buriall, and slept at the wall of mine house because I was polluted, & hauing my face vncouered, 10 And I knewe not that sparrowes were in the wall, and as mine eyes were open, the sparrowes cast downe warme dongue into mine eyes, and a whitenesse came in mine eyes, and I went to the Physicions, but they helped me not. Moreo-uer Achiacharus did nourish me, vntill I went into Helimais.

Hee is made blinde for an example of patiencie to his posteritie.

11 And my wife Anna did take womens works to doe.
12 And when shee had sent them home to the owners, they payed the wages, and gaue a kid.
13 Which when it was at mine house, & began

The wife of Tobit laboureth for her liuing.

to bleate, I sayd vnto her, From whence is this kid? is it not stollen? render it to the owners: *for it is not lawfull to eate any thing that is stollen.

The innocencie of Tobit. Deut.22.1.

14 But shee sayde, It was giuen for a gift more then the wages: but I did not beleeue, and bade her to render it to the owners, and I did blush, because of her. Furthermore she said, *where are thine almes, and thy righteousnes? beholde, they all nowe appeare in thee.

Iob.2.9.

CHAP. III.

3 The prayer of Tobit. 7 Sarra Raguels daughter, and the things that come vnto her. 12 Her prayer heard. 17 The Angel Raphael sent.

THen I, being sorowfull, did weepe, and in my sorow prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iust, and all thy workes, and all thy wayes are mercy and trueth, and thou iudgest truely and iustly for euer.

3 Remember me, and looke on me, neither punish me according to my sinnes or mine ignorances or my fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy commandements: wherefore thou hast deliuered vs *for a spoyle, and vnto captiuitie, & to death, & for a prouerbe of a reproch to all them among whom we are dispersed, and now ‖thou hast many and iust causes

Deu.28.25,37.

5 To doe with me according to my sinnes, and my fathers, because we haue not kept thy commandements, neither haue walked in trueth before thee.

6 Now therefore deale with me as seemeth best vnto thee, and commande my spirite to be taken from me, that I may be dissolued, & become earth: for it is better for me to dye then to liue, because I haue heard false reproches, and am very sorowfull: command therefore that I may be dissolued out of this distresse, and go into the euerlasting place: turne not thy face away from me.

7 ¶ It came to passe the same day that in Ecbatane a citie of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maydes, Sarra is checked of her fathers maydes.

8 Because she had beene maryed to seuen husbands, whom Asmodeus the euill spirit had killed, before that they had lyen with her. Doest thou not know, said they, that thou hast strangled thine husbands? thou hast had nowe seuen husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

9 Wherefore doest thou ‖beate vs for them? if they be dead, goe thy wayes hence to them, that we may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

‖Or, when shee beat them for their faults they spake.

10 When shee heard these things, shee was very sorowfull, so that she thought to haue strangled her selfe. And she sayd, I am the onely daughter of my father, and if I do this, I shall slander him, and shall bring his age to the graue with sorowe.

11 Then she prayed toward the windowe, and sayde, Blessed art thou, O Lord my God, and thine holy and glorious Name is blessed, and honourable for euer: let all thy workes praise thee for euer.

Sarra prayeth, & desireth, that she may be deliuered from shame.

12 And nowe, O Lord, I set mine eyes, and my face toward thee,

13 And say, Take mee out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproch.

14 Thou knowest, O Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

The innocencie of Sarra.

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captiuitie: I am the only daughter of my father, neither hath he any manchilde to be his heire, neither any †neere kinseman or childe borne of him, to whome I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seuen husbands are now

Her chastitie.

dead, and why should I liue? But if it please not thee that I should die, command to looke on me, and to pitie me that I doe no more heare reproch.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the maiestie of the great God.

The prayers of Tobit, and Sarra are heard both at a time.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that is, to take away the whitenes of Tobits eyes, & to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to binde Asmodeus the euill spirit, because shee belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and entred into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came downe from her chamber.

CHAP. IIII.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his sonne.

IN that day Tobit remembred *the siluer, which hee had deliuered to Gabael in Rages a citie of Media,

Chap.1.14.*

2 And sayde with himselfe, I haue [illegible] death: wherefore doe I not call for my sonne Tobias that I may admonish him before I die?

3 And whe he had called him, he said, [illegible] after that I am dead, bury me, and despise not thy mother, but *honour her all the dayes of thy [illegible] and do that which shal please her, & [illegible]

4 Remember, my sonne, howe many [illegible] she susteined when thou wast in her w[illegible]

5 And when she dyeth, burie her by [illegible] same graue.

6 My sonne, set our Lord God alwayes [illegible] thine eyes, and let not thy will be set to [illegible] transgresse the commandements of God. Doe [illegible] rightly all thy life long, and followe not the [illegible] of vnrighteousnesse: for if thou deale truely, [illegible] doings shall prosperously succeede to thee, and to all them which liue iustly.

7 Giue *almes of thy substance: and when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye bee enuious, neyther turne thy face from any poore, lest that God turne his face from thee.

Almes. Prouerbs [illegible] eccle.4.1. and [illegible] 13.*

8 *Giue almes according to thy substance: if thou haue but a litle, be not afraide to giue a litle almes.

Luke 14.13. ecclu.35.20.*

9 For thou layest vp a good store for thy selfe against the day of necessitie, 10 *Because that almes doth deliuer from death, and suffreth not to come into darkenesse.

Ecclu.29.13.*

11 For almes is a good gift before the most High to all them which vse it.

12 Beware of all *whoredome, my sonne, and chiefly take a wife of the seede of thy fathers, and take not a strange woman to wife, which is not of thy fathers stocke: for wee are the children of the Prophets. Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember my sonne, that they maryed wiues of their owne kinred, and were blessed in their children, and their seede shall inherite the land.

Adoultrie. 1.Thes.4.3.*

13 Now therefore, my sonne, loue thy brethren, and despise not in thine heart thy brethren, the sonnes and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is destruction and much trouble, and in fiercenesse is scarcitie, and great pouertie: for ‖fiercenesse is the mother of famine.

Pride.

14 Let not the *wages of any man, which hath wrought for thee, tary with thee, but giue him it out of hand: for if thou serue God, he wil also pay thee: be circumspect, my sonne, in all things that thou doest, and be wel instructed in all thy conuersation.

Wages of an hyred seruant. Leuit. 19.13. deut.24.14,15.*

15 *Do that to no man which thou hatest: drinke not wine to make thee drunken, neyther let drunkennesse kenneſſe goe with thee in thy iourney.

* Luke 14.13. The hungry. * Matth. 6.2.

16 *Giue of thy bread to the hungry, and of thy garments to them that are naked, and * of all thine abundance giue almes, and let not thine eye be en-uious when thou giueſt almes.

‖ Or, be liberall to the iuſt, [illegible] to their death.

17 ‖Powre out thy bread on the buriall of the iuſt, but giue nothing to the wicked.

Counſell.

18 Aske counſell alway of the wiſe, and deſpiſe not any counſell that is profitable.

God is to be bleſſed.

19 Bleſſe thy Lord God alway, and deſire of him that thy wayes may be made ſtreight, and that all thy purpoſes and counſels may proſper: for euery nation hath not counſell: but the Lorde giueth all good things, and he humbleth whom he will, as he will: now therefore, my ſonne, remember my com-mandements, neither let them at any time be put out of thy minde.

* Chap. 1.14.

20 *Furthermore I ſignifie this to thee, that I deliuered tenne talents to Gabael the ſonne of Ga-brias at Rages in Media.

21 And feare not, my ſonne, foraſmuch as wee are made poore: for thou haſt many things, if thou feare God, & flee from all ſinne, and doe that thing which is acceptable vnto him.

CHAP. V.

1 Tobias is ſent to Rages. 4 He meeteth with the Angel Raphael, which did conduct him.

1 Tobias then anſwered, and ſaid, Father, I will do all things which thou haſt commanded me.

2 But howe can I receiue the ſiluer, ſeeing I know him not?

Tobias ſent by his father to Rages, ſeeketh a companion, and meeteth with Raphael, whom he bringeth to his father.

3 Then he gaue him the hand writing, and ſaid vnto him, Seeke thee a man, which may goe with thee, whiles I yet liue, and I wil giue him wages, and goe and receiue the money.

4 Therefore when he was gone to ſeeke a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

5 But he knewe not, and ſayd vnto him, May I goe with thee into the land of Media? and knoweſt thou thoſe places well?

6 To whom the Angel ſaid, I wil go with thee:
for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias ſayd to him, Tarie for me, till I tell my father.

8 Then he ſayde vnto him, Goe, and tarie not:
ſo hee went in and ſayde to his father, Beholde, I haue founde one, which will goe with me. Then he ſayde, Call him vnto me, that I may knowe of what tribe he is, and whether he be faithfull to goe
with thee.

9 So he called him, and hee came in, and they ſaluted one another.

10 Then Tobit ſayde vnto him, Brother, ſhewe me of what tribe and familie thou art.

11 To whom he ſaid, Doeſt thou ſeeke a ſtocke or familie, or an hired man to goe with thy ſonne?
Then Tobit ſayd vnto him, I would know, brother, thy kindred and thy name.

12 Then he ſayde, I am of the kinred of Azarias and Anania the great, and of thy brethren.

‖ Or, thou commeſt happily.

13 Then Tobit ſayd, ‖Thou art welcome, brother: be not now angry with me, becauſe I haue enquired to know thy kinred, & thy familie: for thou art my brother of an honeſt and good ſtocke: for I know Azanias & Ionathas, ſonnes of that great Sa-maias: for we went together to Ieruſalem to worſhip, and offred the firſt borne, & the tenthes of the fruites, and they were not deceiued with the error of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great ſtocke.

14 But tell me, What wages ſhall I giue thee?
wilt thou a groate a day and things neceſſarie, as to mine owne ſonne?

15 Yea, moreouer if ye returne ſafe, I will adde ſomething to the wages.

16 So they agreed. Then ſaid he to Tobias, Prepare thy ſelfe for the iourney, and goe you on Gods Name. And when his ſonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father ſayde, Goe thou with this man, and God which dwelleth in heauen, proſper your iourney, & the Angel of God keepe you com-panie. So they went foorth both and departed, and the dogge of the yong man with them.

Tobias goeth forth, the Angell keeping him company. His mother weepeth. * Chap. 10.4.

17 But *Anna his mother wept, and ſaid to To-bit, Why haſt thou ſent away our ſonne? is he not the ſtaffe of our hand to miniſter vnto vs?

18 Woulde to God wee had not layed money vpon money, but that it had bene caſt away in re-ſpect of our ſonne.

19 For that which God hath giuen vs to liue with, doeth ſuffice vs.

20 Then ſaid Tobit, Be not careful, my ſiſter, he ſhall returne in ſafetie, and thine eyes ſhall ſee him.

21 For the good Angel doth keepe him company, and his iourney ſhall be proſperous, and he ſhall returne ſafe.

22 Then ſhe made an ende of weeping.

CHAP. VI.

2 Tobias deliuered from the fiſh. 4 Raphael ſheweth him certaine medicines. 10 He counſelleth him to marie Sara.

1 AND as they went on their iourney, they came at night to the flood Tygris, and there abode.

Tobias, inuaded of a fiſh, is deliuered by the Angel.

2 And when the yong man went to waſh him ſelfe, a fiſh leaped out of the riuer, and would haue deuoured him.

3 Then the Angel ſaid vnto him, Take the fiſh.
And the yong man tooke ẏ fiſh, & drew it to land.

4 To whom the Angel ſaide, Cut the fiſh, and take the heart, and the liuer, and the gall, and put them vp ſurely.

5 So the yong man did, as the Angel commanded him: and when they had roſted the fiſh, they ate it: then they both went on their way, till they came to Ecbatane.

6 ¶ Then the yong man ſayde to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gall of the fiſh?

7 And he ſayde vnto him, Touching the heart, and the liuer, if a deuil or an euil ſpirit trouble any, we muſt make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and he ſhalbe no more vexed.

8 As for the gall, anoint a man that hath whiteneſſe in his eyes, and he ſhalbe healed.

9 ¶ And when they were come neere to Rages,

10 The Angel ſayde to the yong man, Brother, to day we ſhall lodge ẇ Raguel, who is thy couſin:
he alſo hath one only daughter named Sarra: I will ſpeake for her that ſhe may be giuē thee for a wife.

* Nom. 27.8, and 36.8.

11 For to thee doth *the right of her pertaine, ſeeing thou alone art the remnant of her kindred.

12 And the mayd is faire and wiſe: now therefore heare me, & I will ſpeake to her father, that we may make the mariage when we are returned from Rages: for I know that Raguel can not marry her to another according to the lawe of Moyſes: els he ſhould deſerue death, becauſe the right doth rather apperteine to thee then to any other man.

13 Then the yong man anſwered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this mayde hath bene giuen to ſeuen men, who all dyed in the marriage chamber.

14 And

14 And I am the only begotten sonne of my father, and I am afraid, least I go in to her, and dye as the other before: for a wicked spirite loueth her, which hurteth no body but those which come in to her: wherefore I also feare least I die, and bring my fathers and my mothers life because of mee to the graue with sorowe: for they haue no other sonne to bury them.
15 Then the Angel sayde vnto him, Doest thou not remember the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou shouldest marry a wife of thine owne kinred? wherefore heare me, O my brother:
for she shall be thy wife, neither be thou carefull of the euill spirit: for this same night shal she be giuen thee in marriage.
16 And when thou shalt goe into the marriage chamber, thou shalt take of the hote coles for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fish,
17 Which if the spirit do smel, he wil flee away, and neuer come againe any more: but when thou shalt come to her, rise vp both of you, and pray to God which is mercifull, who wil haue pitie on you, and saue you: feare not, for she is appoynted vnto thee from the beginning, and thou shalt keepe her, and she shall go with thee: moreouer I suppose that shee shall beare thee children: nowe when Tobias had heard these things, he loued her, and his heart was effectually ioyned to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marrieth Sarra Raguels daughter.

Raphael & Tobias come to Raguel.

AND when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the house of Raguel: and Sarra mette them, and after they had saluted one another, she brought them into the house.
2 Then sayde Raguel to Edna his wife, Howe like is this yong man to Tobit my cousin!
3 And Raguel asked, Whence are you, my brethren? To whome they saide, that they were of the tribe of Nephthalim, and of the captiues that dwelt at Nineue.
4 Then he sayd to them, Doe ye knowe Tobit our kinsman? And they sayd, We know him. Then said he, Is he in good health?
5 And they sayde, He is both aliue, and in good health: and Tobias sayd, He is my father.
6 Then Raguel leaped, and kissed him, & wept, 7 And blessed him, and sayde vnto him, Thou art the sonne of an honest and good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blinde, he was sorowful and wept.
8 And likewise Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Moreouer they receiued them with a ready minde, and after that they had killed a ram of the flocke, they set much meat on the table. Thē sayd Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forth those things whereof thou spakest in the way, that this businesse may be dispatched.

Tobias asketh Raguels daughter to wife.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel sayde to Tobias, Eate, and drinke and make merry.
10 For it is meete that thou shouldest marrie my daughter: neuerthelesse, I will declare vnto thee the trueth.
11 I haue giuen my daughter in marriage to seuen men, who dyed that night which they came in vnto her: neuerthelesse, be thou of a good courage and merry. But Tobias sayde, I will eate nothing here, vntill yee bring her hither, and betrothe her to me.
12 Raguel sayd then, Marry her then according to the custome: for thou art her cousin, and shee is thine, God which is mercifull, make this prosperous to you in all good things.
13 Then hee called his daughter Sarah, and she came to her father, and he tooke her by the hande, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, saying, Beholde, take her after the *lawe of Moyses, and leade her away to thy father: and he blessed them,

Raguel, giueth his daughter Sara to Tobias.

*Num. 36.6.

14 And called his wife Edna, and hee tooke a booke and wrote a contract, and sealed it.
15 Then they began to eate.
16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and sayde vnto her, Sister, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.
17 Which when she had done, as he had bidden her, shee brought her thither: then Sarra wept, and her mother wiped away her daughters teares, 18 And sayde vnto her, Be of good comfort, my daugheer: the Lord of heauen and earth giue thee ioy for this thy sorowe: bee of good comfort my daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias driueth away the euill spirit. 4 Hee prayeth to God with his wife, 11 Raguel prepareth a graue for his sonne in lawe. 16 Raguel blesseth the Lord.

AND when they had supped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.
2 And as he went, he remembred the wordes of Raphael, and tooke coles for perfumes, and put the heart and liuer of the fish thereupon, and made a perfume.
3 The which smell when the euill spirit had smelled, he fledde into the ‖vtmost partes of Egypt, whom the Angel bound.
4 And after that they were both shut in, Tobias rose out of the bed, and sayd, Sister, arise and let vs pray, that God would haue pitie on vs.

Tobias followeth Raphaels counsell. Chap. 6.7.

‖Or, vppermost.

5 Then began Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thine holy and glorious Name for euer: let the heauens blesse thee, and all thy creatures.
6 Thou madest Adam, and gauest him *Eua his wife for an helpe, and stay: of them came mankind:
thou hast sayde, It is not good, that a man shoulde bee alone: let vs make vnto him an ayde like vnto himselfe.
7 And nowe, O Lorde, I take not this my sister for fornication, but vprightly: therefore graunt me mercie, that we may become aged together.
8 And she sayd with him, Amen.
9 So they slept both that night, and Raguel arose, and went and made a graue,
10 Saying, Is not he dead also?
11 But when Raguel was come into his house, 12 He sayde to his wife Edna, Sende one of the maides, and let them see whether he be aliue: if not,
that I may bury him, and none knowe it.
13 So the maide opened the doore, and went in,
and found them both asleepe,
14 And came forth, & told them ẏ he was aliue.
15 Then Raguel praysed God, and sayd, O God, thou art worthy to be praysed with all pure, and holy prayse: therefore let thy Saintes prayse thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels and thine elect prayse thee for euer.
16 Thou art to be praised, O Lord: for thou hast made me ioyfull, and that is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with vs according to great mercie,

Tobias prayeth.

*Gene. 2.7, 18, 21.

Raguel thinking Tobias was dead, made a graue for him.

Raguel prayseth God for Tobias.

17 Thou art to be praised because thou hast had mercy of two that were the onely begotten children of their fathers: graunt them mercy, O Lorde, and finish their life in health with ioy and mercy.
18 Then Raguel bade his seruants to fill ẏ graue.
19 And hee kept the wedding feast fourteene
dayes.
20 For Raguel had sayde vnto him by an othe, that hee shoulde not depart before that the foure-teene dayes of the marriage were expired, 21 And then hee shoulde take the halfe of his goods and returne in safety to his father, & shoulde haue the rest, when he and his wife were dead.]

Raguel giueth halfe of his goods toward the marriage of his daughter to Tobias.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabael to Tobias marriage.

THen Tobias called Raphael, and sayde vnto
him,
2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a seruant and two camels, and goe to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring mee the money and bring him to the wedding.
3 For Raguel hath sworne that I shall not depart.
4 But my father counteth the dayes: and if I tarie long, he will be very sory.
5 So Raphael went out & came to Gabael, and gaue him the hande writing, who brought foorth bagges which were sealed vp, and gaue thē to him.
6 And in the morning they went forth, both together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias begate his wife with childe.

Tobias care for his father. The Angel goeth on Tobias message.

CHAP. X.

1 Tobit and his wife thinke long for their sonne. 10 Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

NOwe Tobit his father counted euery day, and when the dayes of the iourney were expired, and they came not,
2 Tobit sayde, are they not mocked? or is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to giue him the money?
3 Therefore he was very sory.
4 Then his wife sayd to him, My sonne is dead, seeing he tarieth: and she began to * bewayle him,
and sayde,
5 Nowe I care for nothing, my sonne, since I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.
6 To whom Tobit sayd, Hold thy peace: be not carefull, for he is safe.
7 But she sayd, Hold thy peace, and deceiue me not: my sonne is dead: and she went out euery day by the way, which they went, neither did shee eate meate on the day time, and did consume whole nightes in bewayling her sonne Tobias vntill the foureteene dayes of ẏ wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworne, that he should tary there. Then Tobias sayde to Raguel, Let mee goe: for my father and my mother looke no more to see me.
8 But his father in lawe sayde vnto him, Tarie with mee, and I will sende to thy father, and they shall declare him thine affaires.
9 But Tobias sayde, No, but let mee goe to my father.
10 Then Raguel arose, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as seruants, and cattell, and
money,
11 And hee blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heauen make you, my children, to prosper before I dye.
12 And he sayd to his daughter, Honour thy father, and thy mother in lawe which are nowe thy parents, that I may heare good report of thee: and hee kissed them. Edna also sayde to Tobias, The Lord of heauen restore thee, my deare brother, and graunt that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Lord. Beholde nowe, I commit to thee my daughter, as a pledge:
doe not entreat her euill.

The father and mother are in heauinesse for Tobias tarying.

*Chap. 5. 17.

Raguel giueth Tobias, and his wife leaue to depart.

Sarra is instructed by her parents.]

CHAP. XI.

1 The returne of Tobias to his father. 9 Howe he was receiued. 10 His father hath his sight restored and praiseth the Lord.

AFter these thinges Tobias went his way, pray-sing God that hee had giuen him a prosperous iourney, and blessed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way till he drewe neere to Nineue.
2 Then Raphael said to Tobias, Thou knowest, brother, howe thou diddest leaue thy father.
3 Let vs haste before thy wife, and prepare the
house,
4 And take in thine hand the gall of the fish. So they went their way, and the dog followed them.
5 Nowe Anna sate in the way looking for her
sonne,
6 Whom when she sawe comming, she sayde to his father, Behold, thy sonne commeth, and the man that went with him.
7 Then sayd Raphael, I knowe, Tobias, that thy father shall receiue his sight.
8 Therefore anoynt his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he shall rub and make the whitenesse to fall away, and shall see thee.
9 ¶ Then Anna ranne foorth, and fell on the necke of her sonne, and sayde vnto him, Seeing I haue seene thee, my sonne, from henceforth I am content to die, and they wept both.
10 Tobit also went forth toward the doore, and stumbled, but his sonne ranne vnto him, 11 And tooke hold of his father and sprinkled of the gall on his fathers eyes, saying, Bee of good hope, my father.
12 And when his eyes began to pricke, he rubbed them.
13 And the whitenes pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when he sawe his sonne, he fell vpon his necke,
14 And hee wept and sayde, Blessed art thou, O Lorde, and blessed be thy Name for euer, and blessed be all thine holy Angels.
15 For thou hast scourged me, and hast had pi-tie on me: for beholde, I see my sonne Tobias: and his sonne, being glad went in, and tolde his father the great things that had come to passe in Media.
16 Then Tobit went out to meete his daughter in lawe, reioycing and praysing God to the gate of Nineue: and they which saw him go, marueiled, because he had receiued his sight.
17 But Tobit testified before them all, that God had had [pitie] on him. And when he came neere to Sarra his daughter in law, he blessed her, saying, thou art welcome, daughter: God be blessed, which hath brought thee vnto vs, and blessed be thy father: and there was great ioy among all his brethren which were at Nineue.
18 And Achiacharus and Nasbas his brothers sonne came.
19 And Tobias marriage was kept seuen dayes with great ioy.

The Angels counsell to Tobias.

CHAP. XII.

1 Tobias declareth to his father the pleasures that Raphael had done him. 5 The which hee would recompence. 12. 15 Raphael declareth that he is an Angel sent of God.

THen Tobit called his sonne Tobias, and said vnto him, Prouide, my sonne, wages for the man, which went with thee, & thou must giue him more.
2 And he sayde vnto him, O father, it shall not grieue me to giue him halfe of those things which I haue brought.
3 For hee hath brought mee againe to thee in safetie, & hath made whole my wife, & hath brought me the money, and hath likewise healed thee.
4 Then the olde man sayd, It is due vnto him.
5 So he called the Angel, and sayde vnto him, Take halfe of all that ye haue brought, and goe away in safetie.
6 But he tooke them both apart, and said vnto them, Prayse God, and confesse him, and giue him the glorie, and prayse him for the things which hee hath done vnto you before all them that liue. It is good to praise God, and to exalt his Name, and to shewe forth his euident workes with honour: therefore be not wearie to confesse him.
7 It is good to keepe close the secrets of a king, but it is honorable to reueile the works of God: do that which is good, and no euill shall touch you.
8 Prayer is good with fasting, and almes, and righteousnesse. A litle with righteousnesse is better then much with vnrighteousnesse: it is better to giue almes then to lay vp golde.
9 For almes doth deliuer from death, and doth purge all sinne. Those which exercise almes & righteousnesse, shalbe filled with life.
10 But they that sinne, are enemies to their owne life.
11 Surely I will keepe close nothing from you:
neuertheles, I said it was good to keepe close the secret of a king, but that it was honourable to reueile the works of God.
12 Nowe therefore when thou diddest pray, and Sarra thy daughter in lawe, I did bring to memorie your prayer before the Holy one: and when thou diddest burie the dead, I was with thee likewise.
13 And when thou wast not grieued to rise vp, and leaue thy dinner to burie the dead, thy good deede was not hid from me: but I was with thee.

He that will bee acceptable to God, must be prooued with tentation.

14 And nowe God hath sent me to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in lawe.
15 I am Raphael one of the seuen holy Angels, which present the prayers of the Saincts, and which go forth before his holy maiestie.
16 Then they were both troubled, and fel vpon their face: for they feared.
17 But he said vnto them, Feare not, for it shall goe well with you: prayse God therefore.
18 For I came not of mine owne pleasure, but by the good will of your God: wherefore praise him in all ages.
19 * Al these dayes I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eate nor drinke, but you saw it in visiō.

*Gen.18 8. & 19 3. iudg.13.16.

20 Now therefore giue God thanks: for I go vp to him that sent me: but write all things which are done, in a booke.
21 And when they rose, they saw him no more, 22 Then they confessed the great and wonder-full works of God, and how the Angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

CHAP. XIII.

A thankesgiuing of Tobit, who exhorteth all to praise the Lord.

THen Tobit wrote a prayer of reioycing, and sayd, Blessed be God that liueth for euer, and blessed be his kingdome.
2 * For hee doeth scourge, and hath pitie: hee

*Deut.32.39. 1.sam.2 6. wisd.16.13.

leadeth to hell, and bringeth vp, neither is there any that can auoyde his hand.
3 Cōfesse him before the Gentiles, ye children of Israel: for he hath scattered you among them.
4 There declare his greatnesse, and extoll him before all the liuing: for he is our Lord & our God and our Father for euer.
5 Hee hath scourged vs for our iniquities, and will haue mercie againe, and will gather vs out of al nations, among whome we are scattered.
6 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minde, & deale vprightly before him, then will he turne vnto you, and will not hide his face from you, but ye shall see what hee wil doe with you: therefore confesse him with your whole mouth, & praise the Lord of righteousnes, & extol the euerlasting King. I wil confesse him in the land of my captiuitie, and wil declare his power, and greatnesse to a sinful nation. O ye sinners, turne and do iustice before him: who can tell if he will receiue you to mercy, and haue pitie on you?
7 I will extoll my God, and my soule shall prayse the King of heauen, and shall reioyce in his greatnesse.
8 Let all men speake, and let all prayse him for his righteousnes.
9 O Ierusalem the holy citie, hee will scourge thee for thy childrens workes, but he will haue pitie againe on the sonnes of righteous men.
10 Giue prayse to the Lord duely, and praise the euerlasting King, that his tabernacle may be builded in thee againe with ioy: and let him make ioyfull there in thee those that are captiues, and loue in thee for euer those that be miserable.
11 Many nations shall come from farre to the Name of the Lord God, with gifts in their handes, euen giftes to the King of heauen: all generations shall prayse thee, and giue signes of ioy.
12 Cursed are al they, which hate thee: but blessed are they for euer which loue thee.
13 Reioyce, and be glad for the children of the iust: for they shalbe gathered, and shall blesse the Lord of the iust.
14 Blessed are they which loue thee: for they shall reioyce in thy peace. Blessed are they which haue bene sorowfull for all thy scourges: for they shal reioyce for thee, when they shal see all thy glorie, and shal reioyce for euer.
15 Let my soule blesse God the great King.
16 For Ierusalem shalbe built vp with saphires, and emeraudes, and thy walles with precious stones,
and thy towers, & thy bulwarkes with pure golde.
17 And the streetes of Ierusalem shall be paued with berall, and carbuncle, and stones of ‖ Ophir.
18 And all her streetes shal say, ‖ Halleluiah, and they shal prayse him, saying, Blessed be God which hath extolled ‖ it for euer.

‖ Or, Sophir.
‖ Or, prayse ye the Lord.
‖ That is, Ierusalem.

CHAP. XIIII.

4 Lessons of Tobit to his sonne. 4 He prophecieth the destruction of Niuene, 5 And the restoring of Ierusalem and the Temple. 13 The death of Tobit and his wife. 14 Tobias age and death.

SO Tobit made an ende of praysing God.
2 And he was eight & fiftie yeere olde, when hee lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yeere, and hee gaue almes, and he continued to feare the Lord God, and to prayse him.
3 And when he was very aged, hee called his sonne, & sixe of his sonnes sonnes, & sayde to him, My sonne, take thy children (for behold, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life)

4 Go into Media, my sonne: for I surely beleeue those things which Ionas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shalbe destroyed, and for a time peace shall rather be in Media, and that our brethren shall be scattered in the earth from that good land, and Ierusalem shall be desolate, and the House of God in it shalbe burned, and shalbe desolate for a time.

*Esra. 3.8. and 6.14.

5 Yet againe God *will haue pitie on them, and bring them againe into the lande where they shall builde a Temple, but not like to the first, vntill the times of that age be fulfilled, which being finished, they shall returne from euery place out of captiuitie, and builde vp Ierusalem gloriously, & the House of God shall be built in it for euer with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spoken thereof.

6 And all nations shall turne, and feare the Lord God truely, and shall burie their idoles.

7 So shall all nations praise the Lord, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lorde shall exalt his people, and all those which loue the Lorde in trueth and iustice, shal reioyce, and those also which shewe mercie to our brethren.

8 And nowe, my sonne, depart out of Nineue, because that those things which the Prophet Ionas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Lawe, and the commandements, and shewe thy selfe mercifull and iust, that it may goe well with thee.

10 And burie me honestly, and thy mother with me: but tary no longer at Nineue. Remember, my sōne, how Aman handled Achiacharus that brought him vp, howe out of light hee brought him into darkenes, & how he rewarded him againe: yet Achiacharus was saued, but the other had his reward: for he went downe into darkenes. Manasses gaue almes, and escaped the snare of death, which they had set for him, but Aman fell into the snare and perished.

11 Wherefore nowe, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and howe righteousnesse doeth deliuer. When he had sayde these things, || he gaue vp the ghost in the bed, being an hundreth and eight and fiftie yeere olde, and he buried him honourably.

||Or, his soule failed him in the bed.

12 And when Anna was dead, hee buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Ecbatane to Raguel his father in lawe.

13 Where he became olde with honour, and he buryed his father and mother in law honorably, and he inherited their substance and Tobits his father.

14 And he died at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundreth and seuen and twentie yeere olde.

15 But before he dyed, he heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Assuerus, and before his death he reioyced for Nineue.

IVDETH.

CHAP. I.

2 The building of Ecbatane 5 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad, and ouercame him. 12 Hee threatneth them that would not helpe him.

IN the twelfth yeere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineue the great citie (in the dayes of Arphaxad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane the walles round about, of hewen stone, three cubites broad, & sixe cubits long, & made the height of the wal seuētie cubits, & the bredth therof fiftie cubits,

3 And made the towres thereof in the gates of it of an hundreth cubites, & the breadth thereof in the foundation threescore cubites,

4 And made the gates thereof, euen gates that were lifted vp on hie, seuentie cubites, & the bredth of thē fourtie cubits, for ẏ going forth of his mightie armies, & for the setting in aray of his footemē)

5 Euen in those dayes, King Nabuchodonosor made warre with King Arphaxad in the great field, which is the field in the coastes of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him all they that dwelt in the mountaines, & all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tygris & Hydaspes, & the countrey of Arioch the king of the Elymeans, & very many nations assembled thē selues to the battel of ẏ sonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, & to all that dwelt in the West, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus & Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the sea coast,

8 And to the people that are in Carmel, and Galaad, and the hier Galile, and the great fielde of Esdrelam,

9 And to all that were in Samaria, & the cities therof, & beyond Iorden vnto Ierusalem, & Betane, and Chellus, and Cades, & the riuer of Egypt, and Taphnes, and Ramesse, and all the land of Gesem, 10 Vnto one come to Tanis, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and to one come to the mountaines of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this countrey did not passe for the cōmaundement of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians, neither would they come with him to the battel: for they did not feare him: yea, he was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his ambassadours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with all this countrey, and sware by his throne and kingdome that he would surely be auenged vpon all those coastes of Cilicia & Damascus, & Syria, & that hee would slay with the sworde all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Iudea, and all that were in Egypt, till one come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then hee marched in battell aray with his power against King Arphaxad in the seuenteenth yeere, & he preuailed in his battel: for he ouerthrew all the power of Arphaxad, and all his horsemen, & all his chariots.

14 And he wanne his cities, & came vnto Ecbatane, and tooke the towres, and spoyled the streetes thereof, and turned the beautie thereof into shame.

15 He tooke also Arphaxad in the mountaines of Ragau, and smote him through with his dartes, and destroyed him vtterly that day.

16 So he returned afterward to Ninene, both he and all his companie with a very great multitude of men of warre, and there hee passed the time, and banketed, both hee, and his armie an hundreth and twentie dayes.

CHAP. II.

5 Nabuchodonosor commaunded presumptuously that all people should be brought in subiection, 6 And to destroy those that disobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Olofernes armie. 23 The conquest of his enemies.

And

AND in the eighteenth yeere, the two and twentieth day of the first moneth, there was talke in the house of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, that he should auenge himselfe on al the earth, as he had spoken.
2 So he called vnto him al his officers and al his nobles, and communicated with them his secrete counsell, and set before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.
3 Then they decreed to destroy all flesh, that had not obeyed the commandement of his mouth.
4 And when hee had ended his counsell, Nabu-chodonosor king of the Assyrians called Olofernes his chiefe captaine, and which was next vnto him,
and sayde vnto him, 5 Thus saith the great king, the Lorde of the whole earth, Behold, thou shalt goe forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footemen, an hundreth & twen-tie thousande, and the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand, 6 And thou shalt goe against al the West countrey, because they disobeyed my commandement.
7 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land and the water: for I wil goe forth in my wrath against them, and will couer the whole face of the earth with the feete of mine armie, and I will giue them as a spoyle vnto them, 8 So that their wounded shall fill their valleyes, and their riuers, and the flood shall ouerflowe, being filled with their dead.
9 And I will bring their captiuitie to the vtmost parts of all the earth.
10 Thou therefore shalt depart hence, and take vp for me all their countrey: and if they yeeld vnto thee, thou shalt reserue them for mee vntill the day that I rebuke them.
11 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoyle them wheresoeuer thou goest.
12 For as I liue, & the power of my kingdome, whatsoeuer I haue spoken, that will I doe by mine hande.
13 And take thou heede that thou transgresse not any of the commaundements of thy lorde, but accomplish them fully, as I haue commanded thee, and deferre not to doe them.
14 ¶ Then Olofernes went forth from the presence of his Lord, & called all the gouernours, and captaines, and officers of the armie of Assur, 15 And he mustred the chosen men for the bat-tel, as his Lord had commanded him, vnto an hun-dreth and twentie thousand, and twelue thousande archers on horsebacke.
16 And hee set them in aray according to the maner of setting a great armie in aray.
17 And hee tooke camels & asses for their burdens a very great number, and sheepe, and oxen, and goates without number for their prouision, 18 And vitaile for euery man of the army, and very much gold and siluer out of the kings house.
19 Then he went forth and all his power, to goe before in the viage of king Nabuchodonosor, & to couer all the face of the earth Westward, with their charets, and horsemen, and chosen footemen.
20 A great multitude also of sundry sorts came with them like grashoppers, and like the grauell of the earth: for the multitude was without number.
21 And they went forth of Nineue three dayes iourney toward the countrey of Bectileth, and pitched from Bectileth neere the mountaine which is at the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.
22 Then hee tooke all his armie, his footemen and horsemen, and charets, and went from thence into the mountaines, 23 And he destroied Phud and Lud, and spoiled all the children of Rasses, and the children of Isma-el, which were toward the wildernesse at the South of the Chelians.
24 Then hee went ouer Euphrates, and went through Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the hie cities that were vpon the riuer of Arbonai, vntill one come to the sea.
25 And he tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Iapheth, which were toward the South and ouer against Arabia.
26 He compassed also all the children of Madian, and burnt vp their tabernacles, and spoiled their lodges.
27 Then hee went downe into the countrey of Damascus, in the time of wheate haruest, and burnt vp all their fieldes, and destroyed their flockes and the heards, he robbed their cities, and spoyled their countrey, and smote all their yong men with the edge of the sword.
28 Therefore feare and trembling fell vpon all the inhabitants of the sea coast, which were in Sidon and Tyrus, and them that dwelt in Sur and Ocina, and all that dwelt in Iemnaan: and they that dwelt in Azotus, and Ascalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people subiect to Olofernes. 8 He destroyed their gods that Na-buchodonosor might onely be worshipped.

SO they sent ambassadours to him with messages of peace, saying,
2 Behold, wee are the seruants of Nabuchodo-nosor the great king: we lie downe before thee: vse vs as shalbe good in thy sight.
3 Beholde, our houses and all our places, and all our fieldes of wheate, & our flocks, and our heards, and all our lodges and tabernacles lie before thy face: vse them as it pleaseth thee.
4 Beholde, euen our cities and the inhabitantes thereof are thy seruants: come, and take them, as seemeth good to thee.
5 ¶ So the men came to Olofernes, and declared vnto them after this maner.
6 Then came he downe toward ẏ sea coast, both he and his armie, and set garisons in the hie cities, and tooke out of them chosen men for the warre.
7 So they and all the countrey rounde about re-ceiued them, with crownes, with daunces, and with timbrels.
8 Yet he brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods: for it was inioyned him to destroy al the gods of the land, that all nations should worship Nabuchodonosor only, & that all tongues and tribes should call vpon him as God.
9 Also hee came against Esdraelon, neere vnto
Iudea, ouer against the great straite of Iudea, 10 And hee pitched betweene Geba, and a citie of ẏ Scythians, & there he taried a moneth, that hee might assemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIII.

The Israelites were afrayde and defended their countrey. 6 Ioacim the Priest writeth to Bethulia, that they shoulde fortifie themselues. 9 They cried to the Lord, and humbled themselues before him.

NOwe the children of Israel that dwelt in Iu-dea, heard all that Olofernes ẏ chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and howe he had spoyled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therfore they feared greatly his presence, and were troubled for Ierusalem, and for the Temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was assembled in Iudea, and the vessels and the altar of the house had bene sanctified because of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coastes of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethoro, and Belmen, and Iericho, and to Choba, and Esora, and to the valley of Salem,

5 And tooke all the toppes of the hie mountaines, & walled the villages that were in them, and put in vitailes for the prouision of warre: for their fieldes were of late reaped.

6 Also Ioacim the hie Priest which was in those dayes in Ierusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Betomestham, which is ouer against Esdraelon toward the open country nere to Dothaim,

7 Exhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entrie into Iudea, and it was easie to let them that would come vp, because the passage was streit for two men at the most.

8 And the children of Israel did as Ioacim the hie Priest had commanded them with the Ancients of all the people of Israel, which dwelt at Ierusalem.

9 Then cryed euery man of Israel to God with great feruencie, & their soules with great affection.

10 Both they, and their wiues, and their children, and their cattell, and euery stranger, and hireling, and their bought seruants put sackecloth vpon their loynes.

11 Thus euery man and woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell before the Temple, and sprinkled ashes vpon their heads, and spred out their sackecloth before the face of the Lord: also they put sackecloth about the altar,

12 And cried to the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that hee woulde not giue their children for a pray, and their wiues for a spoile, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, & the Sanctuarie to pollution and reproch, and vnto derision to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many dayes in all Iudea and Ierusalem before the Sanctuary of the Lord Almightie.

14 And Ioacim the high Priest, and all the Priestes that stoode before the Lord, and ministred vnto the Lord, had their loynes girt with sackcloth, and offred the continuall burnt offring, with prayers and the free gifts of the people,

15 And had ashes on their maytres, & cried vnto the Lord with all their power for grace, and that he would looke vpon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Achior the Ammonite doeth declare to Olofernes of the maner of the Israelites.

THen was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the army of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had shut the passages of the mountaines, and had walled all the toppes of the hie hilles, and had layde impediments in the champion countrey.

2 Wherewith he was very angrie, and called all the princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the sea coast.

3 And he sayd vnto them, Shewe me, O ye sonnes of Chanaan, Who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaines? and what are the cities that they inhabite? and what is the multitude of their armie? and wherein is their strength and their power? and what king or captaine is raised among them ouer their armie?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to meete me, more then all the inhabitants of the West?

5 ¶ Then * saide Achior the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let my lord heare ẏ word of the mouth of his seruant, & I will declare vnto thee the trueth concerning this people, that dwell in these mountaines, neere where thou remainest: and there shall no lie come out of the mouth of thy seruant. *Chap.11.9.

6 This people come of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

7 And * they dwelt before in Mesopotamia, because they would not followe the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of Chaldea. *Gene.11.31.

8 But they went out of the way of their auncesters and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whome they knewe: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, and soiourned there many dayes.

9 Then * their God commaunded them to depart from the place where they soiourned, and to go into the land of Chanaan, where they dwelt, and were increased with golde and siluer, and with very much cattell. *Gene.12.1.

10 But when a famine couered all the lande of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so ẏ one could not number their linage.

11 * Therfore the king of Egypt rose vp against them, and vsed deceite against them, and brought them lowe with labouring in bricke, and made them slaues. *Exod.1.8.

12 Then they cried vnto their God, & he smote all the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the *Egyptians cast them out of their sight. *Exod.12.31,33.

13 And *God dried the red sea in their presence, *Exod.14.21.

14 And * brought them into mount Sina and Cades barne, and cast foorth all that dwelt in the wildernesse. *Exod.19.1.

15 So they dwelt in the lande of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Esebon, and passing ouer Iordan, they inherited all the mountaines.

16 And they * cast forth before them the Chanaanites, and the Pheresites, and the Iebusites, and them of Sichem, and all the Gergesites, and they dwelt in that countrey many dayes. *Iosh.12.8.

17 And whiles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie, was with them.

18 But * when they departed from the way which he appoynted them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderfull sort, * and were led captiues into a land that was not theirs: and the Temple of their God was cast to the grounde, and their cities were taken by the enemies. *Iud.2.11.and 3.8. *2.King.25.1,14.

19 But * nowe they are turned to their God, and are come vp from the scattering wherein they were scattered, and haue possessed Ierusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate. *Ezra.1.1,3.

20 Nowe therefore, my lorde and gouernour, if there there be any fault in this people, so that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shall be their ruine, and let vs goe vp, and wee shall ouercome them.

21 But if there be none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, least their lord defend them, and their God be for them, and wee become a reproch before all the world.
22 ¶ And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people, standing round about the tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Olofernes, and all that dwelt by the sea side and in Moab, spake that he should kill him.
23 For, say they, wee feare not to meete the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mightie armie.
24 Let vs therefore goe vp, O lorde Olofernes, and they shalbe meate for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Olofernes blasphemeth God whom Achior confessed. 14 Achi-or is deliuered into the handes of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians crye vnto the Lord.

AND when the tumult of the men that were about the councill, was ceased, Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, said vnto Achior before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, and of them that were hyred of Ephraim, 2 Because thou hast prophecied among vs to day, and hast sayde that the people of Ierusalem is able to fight, * because their God will defende them: and who is God but Nabuchodonosor?
3 He will send his power, and will destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but wee his seruants will destroy them as one man: for they are not able to susteine
the power of our horses.
4 For wee will treade them vnder feete with them, and their mountaines shall be drunken with their blood, and their fieldes shalbe filled with their dead bodies, and their footesteppes shall not bee able to stand before vs: but they shall vtterly perish.
5 The King Nabuchodonosor, lorde of all the earth, hath sayde, euen he hath sayde, None of my wordes shall be in vaine.
6 And thou Achior an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these wordes in the day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day vntill I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.
7 And then shall the yron of mine armie, and the multitude of them that serue me, passe through thy sides, & thou shalt fall among their slaine, when I shall put them to flight.
8 And my seruants shall carrie thee into the mountaines, and they shall leaue thee at one of the hie cities: but thou shalt not perish, till thou bee destroyed with them.
9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy mind, that they shall not bee taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, and none of my words shall be in vaine.
10 Then commaunded Olofernes them concerning Achior, that they should bring him to Bethu-lia, and deliuer him into the handes of the children
of Israel.
11 So his seruants tooke him, and brought him out of the campe into the plaine: and they went out from the middest of the plaine into the mountaines, and came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Be-thulia.
12 And when the men of the citie saw them frõ
the top of the mountaine, they tooke their armour, and went foorth of the citie vnto the toppe of the mountaine, euen al the throwers with slings, & kept thẽ from comming vp, by casting stones against thẽ.
13 But they went priuily vnder the hill, and bound, Achior, and left him lying at the foote of the hill, and returned to their lorde.
14 Then the Israelites came downe from their citie, and stoode about him, and loosed him and brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of their citie, 15 Which were in those dayes, Ozias the sonne of Micha, of ẏ tribe of Simeon, & Chabris ẏ sonne of Gothoniel, and Charmis the sonne of Melchiel.
16 And they called together all the Auncients of the citie, and all their youth ranne together, and their women to the assemblie: and they set Achior in the middes of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.
17 And hee answered and declared vnto them the wordes of the counsell of Olofernes, and all the wordes that hee had spoken in the mids of the princes of Assur, and whatsoeuer Olofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.
18 Then the people fell downe and worshipped
God, and cryed vnto God, saying, 19 O Lord God of heauen, beholde their pride, and haue mercy on the basenesse of our people, and beholde this day the face of those that are sanctified
vnto thee.
20 Then they comforted Achior, and praysed him greatly.
21 And Ozias tooke him out of ẏ assembly into his house, and made a feast to the Elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Olofernes doeth besiege Bethulia. 8 The counsell of the Idumeans and others against the Israelites. 19 The Bethulians mur-mure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

THE next day Olofernes commaunded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his part, that they should remooue their campes against Bethulia, and that they shoulde take all the streites of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.
2 Then their strong men remoued their camps in that day, and the armie of the men of warre was an hundreth thousand and seuentie footemen, and twelue thousand horsemen, beside the baggage and other men that were afoote among them, a very great multitude.
3 And they camped in the plaine neere vnto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and they spred abroade towarde Dothaim vnto Belbaim, and in length from Bethulia vnto Ciamon, which is ouer against Esdraelom.
4 Nowe the children of Israel, when they sawe
the multitude, were greatly troubled, and said euery one to his neighbour, Nowe will they shut vp all the whole earth: for neither the hie mountaines nor the valleyes, nor the hilles are able to abide their burden.
5 Then euery one tooke his weapons of warre, and burning fires in their towres, they remained and watched all that night.
6 But in the seconde day, Olofernes brought foorth all his horsemen in the sight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia,

*Chap.5.5.21.

7 And viewed the passages vp to their citie, and came to the fountaines of their waters, and tooke them and set garisons of men of warre ouer them,
and remoued toward his people.
8 Then came vnto him all the chiefe of ẏ children of Esau, & all the gouernours of the people of Moab, and all the captaines of the sea coast, & said, 9 Let our captaine nowe heare a worde, least an inconuenience come in thine armie.
10 For this people of the children of Israel doe not trust in their speares, but in the height of the mountaines, wherein they dwell, because it is not easie to come vp to the tops of their mountaines.
11 Nowe therefore my lorde, fight not against them in battell aray, and there shall not so much as one man of thy people perish.
12 Remaine in thy campe, & keepe all the men of thine armie, and let the men keepe still the water of the countrey, that commeth foorth at the foote of the mountaine.
13 For al the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: so shall thirst kill them, and they shall giue vp their citie: and we and our people wil goe vp to the toppes of the mountaines that are neere, and will campe vpon them, and watch that none goe out of the citie.
14 So they and their wiues, and their children shalbe consumed with famine, and before the sworde come against them, they shall be ouerthrowen in the streetes where they dwell.
15 Thus shalt thou render them an euil reward, because they rebelled and obeyed not thy person peaceably.
16 And these wordes pleased Olofernes and all his souldiers, and he appoynted to doe as they had spoken.
17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, and with thē fiue thousand of the Assyrians, and they pitched in the valley, & tooke ẏ waters, &
the fountaines of the waters of the children of Israel.
18 Then the children of Esau went vp with the children of Ammon, and camped in the mountaines ouer against Dothaim, and they sent some of them selues toward the South, and towarde the East, ouer against Rebel, which is neere vnto Chusi, that is vpon the riuer Mochmur: and the rest of the armie of the Assyrians camped in the fielde, and coue-red the whole lande: for their tents and their baggage were pitched in a wonderfull great place.
19 Then the children of Israel cryed vnto the Lorde their God, because their heart fayled: for all their enemies had compassed them about, and there was no waye to escape out from among
them.
20 Thus all the companie of Assur remained about them, both their footemen, chariots & horsemen, foure & thirtie daies: so that euen al the places of their waters fayled all ẏ inhabitants of Bethulia.
21 And the cisternes were emptie, and they had not water ynough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by measure.
22 Therefore their children swooned, and their wiues and yong men failed for thirst, & fell downe in the streetes of the citie, and by the passages of the gates, and there was no strength in them.
23 Then all the people assembled to Ozias, and to the chiefe of the citie, both yong men and women, and children, and cryed with a loude voyce, and said before all the Elders, 24 The *Lorde iudge betweene vs and you: for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that ye haue not required peace of the children of Assur.
25 For nowe we haue no helper: but God hath sold vs into their hands, that we should be throwen down before them with thirst & great destruction.
26 Nowe therefore call them together, and de-liuer the whole citie for a spoyle to the people of Olofernes, and to all his armie.
27 For it is better for vs to bee made a spoyle vnto them, then to die for thirst: for we will bee his seruants that we may liue, and not see the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to die.
28 Wee take to witnesse against you the heauen and the earth, and our God and Lorde of our fathers, which punisheth vs, according to our sinnes and the sinnes of our fathers, that he lay not these things to our charge.
29 Then there was a great cry of all with one consent in the middes of the assemblie, and they cryed vnto the Lord God with a loude voyce.
30 Then said Ozias to thē, Brethren, be of good courage: let vs waite yet fiue dayes, in the which space the Lorde our God may turne his mercie to-warde vs: for he will not forsake vs in the ende.
31 And if these dayes passe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I wil doe according to your worde.
32 So he separated the people, euery one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towres of their citie, and sent their wiues and their children into their houses, and they were very lowe brought in the citie.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life, and conuersation of Iudeth. 11 She rebuketh the faintnesse of the gouernours. 12 Shee sheweth that they should not tempt God, but waite vpon him for succour. 33 Her enterprise against the enemies.

NOwe at that time, Iudeth heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari the sonne of Ox, the sonne of Ioseph, the sonne of Oziel, the sonne of Elcia, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Gede-on, the sonne of Raphaim, the sonne of Acito, the sonne of Eliu, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Nathanael, the sonne of Samael, the sonne of Salasadai, the sonne of Israel.
2 And Manasses was her husband, of her stocke and kinred, who dyed in the barley haruest.
3 For as he was diligent ouer them that bound sheaues in the fielde, the heate came vpon his head, and he fell vpon his bed, and dyed in the citie of Be-thulia, and they buryed him with his fathers in the fielde betweene Dothaim and Balamo.
4 So Iudeth was in her house a widowe three yeeres and foure moneths.
5 And she made her a tent vpon her house, and put on sackecloth on her loynes, and ware widowes apparell.
6 And shee fasted all the dayes of her widowhood, saue the day before the Sabbath & the Sabbaths, and the day before the newe moones, and in the feastes & solemne dayes of the house of Israel.
7 She was also of a goodly countenance and very beautifull to beholde: and her husbande Ma-nasses had left her golde and siluer, and men ser-uants, and maide seruants, and cattell, and possessions, where she remained.
8 And there was none that coulde bring an euill report of her: for she feared God greatly.
9 Now when she heard the euill wordes of the people against the gouernour, because they fainted
for

*Exod. 5.21.

for lacke of water (for Iudeth had heard all the wordes that Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that hee had *sworne vnto them to deliuer the citie vn- *Chap.7.26,31.
to the Assyrians within fiue dayes) 10 Then she sent her maide, that had the gouernement of all things that she had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charmis the Ancients of the citie.
11 And they came vnto her, and she sayd vnto them, Heare mee, O yee gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your words that ye haue spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this othe which yee made and pronounced betweene God and you, and haue promised to deli-uer the citie to the enemies, vnlesse within these dayes the Lord turne to helpe you.
12 And nowe who are you that haue tempted God this day, & set your selues in the place of God among the children of men?
13 So nowe you seeke the Lorde almightie, but you shall neuer know any thing.
14 For you cannot finde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can yee perceiue the thinges that hee thinketh: then howe can you search out God, that hath made all these things, and know his minde, or comprehende his purpose? Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lord our God to anger.
15 For if he will not helpe vs within these fiue dayes, he hath power to defend vs whē he will, euen euery day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.
16 Doe not you therefore binde the counsels of the Lord our God: For God is not as man that hee may be threatned, neither as the sonne of man to be brought to iudgement.
17 Therefore let vs waite for saluation of him and call vpon him to helpe vs, and he wil heare our voyce if it please him.
18 For there appeareth none in our age, neither is there any nowe in these dayes, neither tribe, nor familie, nor people, nor citie among vs, which worship ÿ gods made ŵ hands, as hath bene aforetime.
19 For *the which cause our fathers were giuen *Iudg.2.11,and 4.1.and 61.
to the sworde, and for a spoyle, and had a great fall before our enemies.
20 But we know none other God: therefore we trust ÿ he wil not despise vs, nor any of our linage.
21 Neither when we shalbe taken, shall Iudea be so famous: for our Sanctuarie shalbe spoyled, & he will require the prophanation therof at our mouth, 22 And the feare of our brethren, and the cap-tiuitie of the countrey, and the desolation of our inheritance wil hee turne vpon our heads among the Gentiles, wheresoeuer we shalbe in bondage, & we shalbe an offence and a reproche to all them that possesse vs.
23 For our seruitude shal not be directed by fa-uour, but ÿ Lord our God shal turne it to dishonour.
24 Now therefore, O brethren, let vs shewe an example to our brethren, because their heartes depend vpon vs, and the Sanctuarie, and the House, and the altar rest vpon vs.
25 Moreouer, let vs giue thankes to ÿ Lord our God, which tryeth vs euen as he did our fathers.
26 Remember what things he did to *Abrahā, *Gen.22.1.
and how he tryed Isaac, & al that he did to *Iacob *Gen.28.7.
in Mesopotamia of Syria when hee kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother.
27 For hee hath not tried vs as hee did them to the examination of their hearts, neither doeth hee take vengeance on vs, but the Lorde punisheth for instruction them that come neere to him.

28 ¶ Then said Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy wordes.
29 For it is not to day that thy wisedome is knowen, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue knowen thy wisedome: for the deuice of thine heart is good.
30 But the people were very thirstie, & compelled vs to doe vnto them, as we haue spoken, & haue brought vs to an oth which we may not transgresse.
31 Therefore now pray for vs, because thou art an holy woman, that the Lord may send vs raine to fill our cisternes, and that we may faint no more.
32 Then sayd Iudeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will doe a thing, which shall bee declared in all generations, to the children of our nation.
33 You shal stand this night in the gate, & I wil go forth with mine handmaide: and within ÿ dayes that ye haue promised to deliuer the citie to our enemies, the Lord wil visite Israel by mine hand.
34 But inquire not you of mine acte: for I will not declare it vnto you, till the thinges be finished that I doe.
35 Then saide Ozias and the princes vnto her, Goe in peace, and the Lorde God be before thee,
to take vengeance on our enemies.
36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wardes.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iudeth humbleth her selfe before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliuerance of her people. 7 Against the pride of the Assyrians. 11 God is the helpe of the humble.

THen Iudeth fell vpon her face, and put ashes vpon her head, and put off the sackeloth wherewith she was clothed. And about the time that the incense of that euening was offered in Ierusalem in the house of the Lorde, Iudeth cryed with a loude voyce, and saide,
2 O Lord God of my father *Simeon, to whom *Gen.34.2,25.
thou gauest a sword to take vengeance of the strangers which opened the wombe of the maide, and defiled her, and discouered the thigh with shame, & polluted the wombe to reproche (for thou haddest commanded that it should not so be, 3 Yet they did things for the which thou gauest their princes to the slaughter, for they were decei-ued and washed their beds with blood) and hast striken the seruants with the gouerners, and the go-uerners vpon their thrones, 4 And hast giuen their wiues for a praye & their daughters to be captiues, and all their spoyles for a bootie to the children that thou louedst: which were mooued with thy zeale, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called vpon thee for ayde, O God, O my God, heare me also a widowe.
5 For thou hast wrought the things afore, and these, and the things that shall be after, and thou considerest the things that are present, & the things that are to come.
6 For the thinges which thou doest purpose, are present, and say, Beholde, wee are here: for all thy wayes are ready, and thy iudgements are foreknowen.
7 Beholde, the Assyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted them selues with horses and horsemen: they glory in the strength of their footemen: they trust in shield, speare and bow, and sling, and do not know that thou art the Lord that brakest the battels: the Lord is thy Name.
8 Breake thou their strength by thy power, and breake

breake their force by thy wrath: for they haue purposed to defile thy Sanctuarie, and to pollute the Tabernacle where thy glorious Name resteth, and to cast downe w weapons the hornes of the Altar.

9 Behold their pride, and sende thy wrath vpon their heads: giue into mine hand which am a widow, the strength that I haue conceiued.

*Iudg.4.21.and 5.26.

10 * Smite by the deceite of my lippes the seruant with the prince, and the prince with the seruant: abate their height by the hand of a woman.

*Iudg.7.2. 2.Chron.14.11. and 16.8.and 20.6.

11 * For thy power standeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in strong men: but thou, O Lorde, art the helpe of the humble and little ones, the defender of the weake, and the protectour of them that are forsaken, and the Sauiour of them that are without hope.

12 Surely, surely thou art the God of my father, and the God of the inheritance of Israel, the Lorde of heauen of earth, the creator of the waters, the King of all creatures: heare thou my prayer,

13 And graunt me words & craft, and a wound, and a stroke against them that enterprise cruell things against thy couenant, and against thine holy House, and against the top of Sion, and against the house of the possession of thy children.

14 Shew euidently among all thy people, and all the tribes, that they may know that thou art ỷ God of all power and strength, and that there is none other that defendeth the people of Israel, but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudeth decketh her selfe and goeth forth of the citie. 11 She is taken of the watch of the Assyrians and brought to Olofernes.

NOwe after she had ceased to cry vnto the God of Israel, and had made an ende of all these wordes,

2 She rose where she had fallen downe, and called her maide, and went downe into the house, in the which shee abode in the Sabbath dayes and in the feast dayes,

3 And putting away the sackecloth wherewith she was clad, and putting off the garments of her widowhode, she washed her body with water, and anointed it with much oyntment, and dressed the haire of her head, and put attire vpon it, and put on her garments of gladnesse, wherewith she was clad during the life of Manasses her husband.

4 And she put slippers on her feete, and put on bracelets, and sleeues, and rings, and earerings, and all her ornaments, and she decked her selfe brauely to allure the eyes of all men that should see her.

5 Then she gaue her maide a bottel of wine, & a pot of oyle, and filled a scrip with floure, and with dry figges, and with fine bread: so she lapped vp all these things together and laide them vpon her.

6 Thus they went forth to the gate of the citie of Bethulia, and found standing there Ozias, and the Ancients of the citie, Chabris and Charmis.

7 And when they sawe her that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they marueiled greatly at her wonderfull beautie, and saide vnto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterprises to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Ierusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And she said vnto them, Command the gates of the citie to be opened vnto me, that I may goe forth to accomplish the things which you haue spoken to me. So they commaunded the yong men to open vnto her, as she had spoken.

10 And when they had done so, Iudeth went out, she and her maide with her, and the men of the citie looked after her, vntill shee was gone downe the mountaine, & till she had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

11 Thus they went streight forth in the valley, and the first watch of the Assyrians met her,

12 And tooke her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence commest thou? and whither goest thou? And she sayde, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am fledde from them: for they shall be giuen you to be consumed.

13 And I come before Olophernes, the chiefe captaine of your armie, to declare him true things, and I will shewe before him the way whereby hee shall goe and win all the mountaines, without losing the body or life of any of his men.

14 Nowe when the men heard her wordes, and behelde her countenance, they wondred greatly at her beautie, and sayd vnto her,

15 Thou hast saued thy life, in that thou hast hasted to come downe to the presence of our lord: nowe therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee vntill they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, be not afraide in thine heart, but shew vnto him according as thou hast to say, and he will intreate thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundreth men, and prepared a charet for her and her maide, and brought her to the tent of Olophernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro, through out the campe: for her comming was bruted among the tentes: and they came and stoode round about her: for she stood without the tent of Olophernes vntill they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they marueiled at her beautie, and wondred at the children of Israel because of her, and euery one sayde vnto his neighbour, Who woulde despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they should remaine, they might deceiue the whole earth.

20 Then Olophernes garde went out, and all his seruants, and they brought her into the tent.

21 Now Olophernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was wouen with purple and golde and emeraudes, and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, & he came forth vnto the entrie of his tent, and they caried lampes of siluer before him.

23 And when Iudeth was come before him and his seruants, they all marueiled at the beautie of her countenance, and she fel downe vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his seruants tooke her vp.

CHAP. XI.

1 Olophernes comforteth Iudeth. 3 And asketh the cause of her comming. 5 She deceiueth him by her faire wordes.

THen sayd Olophernes vnto her, Woman, be of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that would serue Nabuchodonosor the King of all the earth.

2 Now therefore if thy people that dwelleth in the mountaines, had not despised me, I would not haue lifted vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to themselues.

3 But now tell me wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for sauegarde: be of good comfort, thou shalt liue from

from this night, and hereafter.
4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreate thee well, as they doe the seruants of King Nabuchodo-nosor my lorde.
5 Then Iudeth saide vnto him, Receiue the wordes of thy seruant, and suffer thine handmaide to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lye to my lorde this night.
6 And if thou wilt followe the wordes of thine handmaid, God wil bring ÿ thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lorde shall not faile of his purpose.
7 As Nabuchodonosor King of all the earth li-ueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not onely men shalbe made subiect to him by thee, but also the beastes of the fieldes, and the cattel, and the foules of the heauen shall liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.
8 For wee haue heard of thy wisedome and of thy prudent spirite, and it is declared through the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderfull knowledge, and in feates of warre marueilous.
9 Nowe * as concerning the matter which A- *Chap.5.5. chior did speake in thy councill, wee haue heard his wordes: for the men of Bethulia did take him, and he declared vnto them all that he had spoken vnto
thee.
10 Therefore, O lord and gouernour, reiect not his worde, but set it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the sworde preuaile against them, except they sinne against their God.
11 Nowe therefore, least my lorde shoulde bee frustrate, and voyde of his purpose, and that death may fall vpon them, and that they may be taken in their sinne whiles they prouoke their God to anger, which is so oft times as they doe that which is not beseeming, 12 (For because their vitailes fayle, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their catell, and haue purposed to consume all things that God had forbidden them to eate by his Lawes:
13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruits of the wheat, and the tithes of the wine, & of the oyle which they had reserued and sanctified for the Priestes that serue in Ierusalem before the face of our God the which things it is not lawful for any of the people to touch with their handes.
14 Moreouer, they haue sent to Ierusalem, because they also that dwel there, haue done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senate) 15 Nowe when they shall bring them worde, they will doe it, and they shall bee giuen thee to be destroyed the same day.
16 Wherefore I thine handmaide, knowing all this, am fledde from their presence, and God hath sent me to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shall wonder, and whosoeuer shall heare it.
17 For thy seruant feareth God, and worshippeth the God of heauen day and night, and nowe let me remaine with thee, my lord, and let thy seruant goe out in the night into the valley, and I will pray vnto God, that he may reueile vnto me when they shall commit their sinnes, 18 And I will come and shew it vnto thee: then thou shalt goe foorth with all thine armie, and there shall be none of them that shall resist thee.
19 And I will leade thee through the middes of Iudea, vntill thou come before Ierusalem, and I will set thy throne in the middes thereof, and thou shalt driue them as sheepe that haue no shepherd, and a dogge shall not barke with his mouth against thee: for these things haue bene spoken vnto me, and declared vnto mee according to my foreknowledge, and I am sent to shewe thee.
20 ¶ Then her wordes pleased Olofernes, and all his seruants, and they marueiled at her wisedome,
and sayde,
21 There is not such a woman in all the world, both for beautie of face, and wisedome of wordes.
22 Likewise Olofernes said vnto her ||God, hath ||Or, hath done well. done this, to send thee before the people, that strength might bee in our handes, and destruction vpon them that despise my lord.
23 And nowe thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, and wittie in thy wordes: surely if thou doe as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabu-chodonosor, and shalt bee renoumed throughout the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

2 Iudeth would not pollute her selfe with the meate of the Gentiles.
5 Shee maketh her request that shee might goe out by night to pray. 11 Olofernes causeth her to come to the banket.

THen he commanded to bring her in where his treasures were layd, and bade that they should prepare for her of his owne meates, and that shee should drinke of his owne wine.
2 But Iudeth sayde, * I may not eate of them, *Gen.43.32. daniel.1.8. tob.1.11.
least there shoulde be an offence, but I can suffice my selfe with the things that I haue brought.
3 Then Olofernes sayde vnto her, If the things that thou hast, shoulde faile, howe shoulde we giue thee the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.
4 Then sayde Iudeth vnto him, As thy soule li-ueth, my lorde, thine handmaide shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lorde worke by mine hand the things that hee hath determined.
5 Then the seruants of Olofernes brought her into the tent, and shee slept vntill midnight, and rose at the morning watch, 6 And sent to Olofernes, saying, Let my lorde command that thine handmayde may goe foorth vnto prayer.
7 Then Olofernes commanded his garde that they shoulde not stay her: thus shee abode in the campe three dayes, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed her selfe in a fountaine, euen in the water by the campe.
8 And when shee came out, shee prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that hee woulde direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.
9 So shee returned, and remained pure in the tent, vntill she ate her meate at euening.
10 ¶ And in the fourth day, Olofernes made a feast to his owne seruants onely, and called none of them to the banket, that had the affaires in hand.
11 Then sayde he to Bagoas the eunuch who had charge ouer all that he had, Goe and perswade this Hebrewe woman, which is with thee, that shee come vnto vs, and eate and drinke with vs.
12 For it were a shame for vs, if we should let such a woman alone, and not talke with her, and if we doe not allure her, she will mocke vs.
13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Olofernes, and came to her, and sayde, Let not this faire

faire maide make difficultie to goe in to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs ioyfully, and to bee entreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then said Iudeth vnto him, Who am I now, that I should gainesay my lord? Surely whatsoeuer pleaseth him, I will doe speedily, and it shall be my ioy vnto the day of my death.

15 So she arose and trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, and her maid went, and spred foorth her skinnes on the grounde ouer against Olofernes, which shee had receiued of Bagoas for her daily vse, that she might sit and eate vpon them.

16 Nowe when Iudeth came and sate downe, Olofernes heart was rauished with her, and his spirite was mooued, and he desired greatly her companie: for he had waited for the time to deceiue her from the day that he had seene her.

17 Then said Olofernes vnto her, Drinke nowe, and be mery with vs.

18 So Iudeth saide, I drinke nowe, my lorde, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was borne.

19 Then shee tooke, and ate and dranke before him the things, that her maid had prepared.

20 And Olofernes reioyced because of her, and dranke much more wine then hee had drunken at any time in one day since he was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Iudeth prayeth for strength. 8 Shee smiteth off Olofernes necke. 10 Shee returneth to Bethulia and reioyceth her people.

NOwe when the euening was come, his seruants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without, and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lorde, and they went to their beddes: for they were all weary, because the feast had bene long.

2 And Iudeth was left alone in the tent, and Olofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with * wine.

*Eccl.31.20,25.

3 ¶ Nowe Iudeth had commanded her maide to stand without her chamber, and to waite for her comming foorth as she did daily: for she sayd, she would goe foorth to her prayers, and shee spake to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

4 So all went foorth of her presence, and none was left in the chamber, neither little nor great: then Iudeth standing by his bed, sayde in her heart, O Lorde God of all power, beholde at this present the workes of mine handes for the exaltation of Ierusalem.

5 For nowe is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises, to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against vs.

6 Then she came to the post of the bed which was at Olofernes head, and tooke downe his fauchin from thence,

7 And approched to the bed, and tooke holde of the haire of his head, and said, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel this day.

8 And she smote twise vpon his necke, with all her might, and she tooke away his head from him,

9 And rolled his body downe from the bedde, and pulled downe the canopie from the pillars, and anon after shee went foorth, and gaue Olofernes head to her maid,

10 And shee put it in her scrippe of meate: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and preassing through the tents, went about by that valley, & went vp to the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 ¶ Then saide Iudeth afarre off to the watchmen at the gates, Open nowe the gate: God, euen our God is with vs to shewe his power yet in Ierusalem, and his force against his enemies, as hee hath euen done this day.

12 Nowe when the men of her citie heard her voyce, they made haste to goe downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie.

13 And they ranne all together both small and great: for it was aboue their expectation, that she shoulde come. So they opened the gate, and receiued her, and made a fire for a light, and stood round about them twaine.

14 The she sayde to them with a loude voyce, Praise God, praise God: for hee hath not taken away his mercie from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

15 So she tooke the head out of the scrippe and shewed it, and sayd vnto them, Beholde the head of Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, and beholde the canopie, wherein hee did lye in his drunkennesse, and the Lorde hath smitten him by the hand of a woman.

16 As the Lorde liueth, who hath kept mee in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceiued him to his destruction, and hee hath not committed sinne with me by any pollution or villenie.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed them selues, and worshipped God, and sayd with one accord, Blessed be thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

18 Then sayde Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most hie God aboue all the women of the earth, and blessed bee the Lord God, which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of our chiefe enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shall neuer depart out of the hearts of men: for they shall remember the power of God for euer.

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetuall praise, and visite thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people said, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Iudeth causeth to hang vp the head of Olofernes. 10 Achior ioyneth himselfe to the people of God. 11 The Israelites goe out against the Assyrians.

THen said Iudeth vnto them, Heare me also, my brethren, and * take this head, and hang it vpon the hiest place of your walles. a Mat.15.35.

2 And so soone as the morning shall appeare and the sunne shall come foorth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe foorth euery valiant man out of the citie, and set you a captaine ouer them, as though you woulde goe downe into the fielde, towarde the watche of the Assyrians, but goe not downe.

3 Then they shall take their armour, and shall goe into their campe, and rayse vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shall runne to the tent of Olofernes, but shall not finde him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall flee before fore your face.

4 So you & all that inhabite the coastes of Israel,shal pursue them, & ouerthrow them as they go.
5 But before you doe these things , call mee Achior the Ammonite, that he may see , and knowe him that despised the house of Israel , and that sent him to vs as to death.
6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when hee was come and sawe the head of Olofernes in a certaine mans hand in the assemblie of the people , hee fell downe on his face, and his spirit failed.
7 But when they had taken him vp , hee fell at Iudeths feete, and reuerenced her, and said, Blessed art thou in all the tabernacle of Iuda, and in all nations,which,hearing thy name, shalbe astonished.
8 Nowe therefore tell mee all the things , that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Iudeth declared vnto him in the middes of the people all that shee had done from the day that shee went foorth, vntill that houre shee spake vnto them.
9 And when she had left of speaking , the people reioyced with a great voyce , and made a noyse of gladnesse through their citie.
10 And Achior , seeing all things that God had done for Israel , beleeued in God vnfainedly , and circumcised the foreskin of his flesh , and was ioyned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.
11 ¶ Assoone as the morning arose , they hanged the head of Olofernes out at the wall , and e-uery man tooke his weapons, and they went foorth by bandes vnto the straytes of the mountaine.
12 But when the Assyrians sawe them, they sent to their captaines , which went to the gouernours and chiefe captaines, and to all their rulers.
13 So they came to Olofernes tent and said to him that had the charge of all his things , Waken our lorde : for the slaues haue bene bolde to come downe against vs to battell , that they may bee destroyed for euer.
14 Then went in Bagoas , and knocked at the doore of the tent : for he thought that he had slept with Iudeth.
15 But because none answered , hee opened it, and went into the chamber , and founde him cast vpon the floore, and his head was taken from him.
16 Therefore he cryed with a loude voyce,with weeping and mourning, and a mightie cry,and rent his garments.
17 After,he went into the tent of Iudeth where she vsed to remaine , and founde her not: then hee leaped out to the people and cryed, 18 These slaues haue committed wickednesse:
one woman of the Hebrewes hath brought shame vpon the house of King Nabuchodonosor : for be-holde , Olofernes lieth vpon the grounde without an head.
19 When the captaines of the Assyrians armie heard these words, they rent their coates,and their heart was wonderfully troubled,and there was a cry and a very great noyse throughout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Assyrians are afraide and flie. 3 The Israelites pursue them. 8 Ioacim the hie Priest commeth to Bethulia to see Iudeth and to prayse God for her.

AND when they that were in the tentes, heard, they were astonished at the thing that was done.
2 And feare and trembling came vpon them,so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour : but altogether amased , they fled by euery way of the plaine and of the mountaines.
3 They also that had camped in the mountaines round about Bethulia, were put to flight : then the children of Israel, euery one that was a warriour among them,rushed out vpon them.
4 Then sent Ozias to Bethomasthem , and to Rebai,and Chobai, and Chola and to all the coastes of Israel , such as shoulde declare vnto them the things that were done , and that all shoulde rushe forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.
5 Nowe when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Choba: likewise also they that came from Ierusalem and from all the mountaines : for men had tolde them what things were done in the campe of their enemies , & they that were in Galaad and in Galile chased them with a great slaughter vntill they came to Damascus to the coastes thereof.
6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia , fell vpon the campe of Assur and spoyled them , and were greatly enriched.
7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter,had the rest : and the villages and the cities that were in the mountaines and in the plaine, had a great bootie : for the abundance was very great.
8 Then Ioacim the hie Priest,and the Ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Ierusalem, came to confirme the benefites ỳ God had shewed to Israel, and to see Iudeth,and to salute her.
9 And when they came vnto her , they blessed her with one accorde,and sayd vnto her , Thou art the exaltation of Ierusalem : thou art the great glorie of Israel : thou art the great reioycing of our nation.
10 Thou hast done all these thinges by thine hande : thou hast done much good to Israel , and God is pleased therewith : blessed bee thou of the almightie Lorde for euermore : and all the people sayd, So be it.
11 And the people spoyled the campe the space of thirtie dayes , and they gaue vnto Iudeth Olo-fernes tent, and all his siluer and beds , and basins, and all his stuffe,and she tooke it and layd it on her mules, and made ready her charets , and laied them thereon.
12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her , & blessed her , & made a daunce among them for her,and she tooke braunches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.
13 They also crowned her with oliues , and her that was with her, and shee went before the people in the daunce, leading all the women : and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, ẘ crownes, and with songs in their mouthes.

CHAP. XVI.

Iudeth prayseth God with a song. 19 Shee offereth to the Lorde Olofernes stuffe. 23 Her continence , life and death. 25 All Israel lamenteth her.

THen Iudeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loude voyce.
2 And Iudeth sayd, Beginne vnto my GOD with tymbrels : sing to my Lorde with cymbales:
tune vnto him a psalme : exalt his prayse, and call vpon his Name.
3 For God breaketh the battels, and pitched his campe in the middes of the people , and deliuered me out of the hand of the persecuters.

4 Assur

4 Assur came from the mountaines forth of the North: hee came with thousandes in his armie, *Chap.2.21,15. * whose multitude hath shut vp the riuers and their horsemen haue couered the valleys.
5 He sayd that he would burne vp my borders and kill my yong men with the sworde, and dash the sucking children against the ground, and make mine infants as a praye, and my virgins a spoyle.
6 But the almightie Lorde hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.
7 For the mighty did not fal by the yong men, neither did the sonnes of Titan smite him, nor the hie giants inuade him, but Iudeth the daughter of Merari did discomfite him by the beautie of her countenance.
8 For shee put off the garment of her widow-hoode, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anoynted her face with oyntment, and bound vp her haire in a coife, and tooke a linnen garment to deceiue him.
9 Her slippers rauished his eyes: her beautie tooke his minde prisoner, and the fauchin passed through his necke.
10 The Persians were astonished at her bolde-nes, & the Medes were troubled with her hardines.
11 But mine afflicted reioyced, and my feeble ones shouted: then they feared, they lifted vp their voyce and turned backe.
12 The children of maydes perced them, and wounded them as they fledde away like children:
they perished by the battel of the Lord.
13 I will sing vnto the Lorde a song and prayse, O Lord, thou art great and glorious, maruellous and inuincible in power.
*Gen.1.24. psal.33.9. 14 Let all thy creatures serue thee: * for thou hast spoken and they were made: thou hast sent thy Spirit, and he made them vp: and there is none that can resist thy voyce.
15 For the mountaines leape vp from their foudations with the waters: the rockes melte at thy presence like waxe: yet thou art mercifull to them that feare thee.
16 For all sacrifice is to litle for a sweete sauour, and all the fat is to litle for thy burnt offering: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.
17 Woe to the nations that rise vp against my kinred: the Lorde almightie will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in sending fire & wormes vpon their flesh, and they shall feele them and weepe for euer.
18 ¶ After, when they went vnto Ierusalem, they worshipped the Lorde, and assoone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, and their free offerings, and their giftes.
19 Iudeth also offred all the stuffe of Olofernes, which the people had giuen her, and gaue the cano-pie which she had taken off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.
20 So the people reioyced in Ierusalem by the Sanctuarie, for the space of three moneths, and Iudeth remained with them.
21 After this time, euery one returned to his owne inheritance, and Iudeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her owne possession, and was for her time honourable in all the countrey.
22 And many desired her, but none had her companie all the dayes of her life after that Ma-nasses her husband was dead, and was gathered to ‖ his people. ‖Or, her people.
23 But shee increased more and more in honour, and waxed olde in her husbands house, being an hundreth and fiue yeere olde, and made her mayde free: so shee dyed in Bethulia, and they buried her in the graue of her husband Manasses.
24 And * the house of Israel lamented her seuen *Gen.50.10.
dayes, and before shee dyed, shee did distribute her goods to all them that were neerest of kinred to Manasses her husband, and to them that were the neerest of her kinred.
25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraide in the dayes of Iudeth, nor a long time after her death.

ESTHER.

Certaine portions of the storie of Esther, which are found in some Greeke and Latine translations.

Which folowe the tenth Chapter.

THen Mardocheus sayde, God hath done these things.
5 For I remember a dreame, which I sawe concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.
6 A litle fountaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the sunne, and as much water, this flood was Esther whom the King married, and made Queene.
7 And the two dragons are I and Aman.
8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the name of the Iewes.
9 And my people is Israel, which cryed to God, and are saued: for the Lord hath saued his people, &
the Lorde hath deliuered vs from all these euils, and God hath wrought signes, & great wonders, which haue not bene done among the Gentiles.
10 Therefore hath hee made two lottes, one for the people of God, & another for all the Gentiles.
11 And these two lottes came before God for all nations, at the houre and time appointed, and in the day of iudgement.
12 So God remembred his owne people, and iustified his inheritance.
13 Therefore those dayes shall be vnto them in the moneth Adar the fourteenth, and fifteenth day of the same moneth, with an assemblie and ioy, and with gladnesse before God, according to the generations for euer among his people.

CHAP. XI.

IN the fourth yeere of the reigne of Ptolemeus & Cleopatra Dositheus, who said he was a Priest and Leuite, and Ptolemeus his sonne, and brought the former letters of ‖ Phrurai, which they sayde Lysi- ‖Or, lottes. machus the sonne of Ptolomeus, which was at Ie-rusalem, interpreted,
2 In the second yere of the reigne of great Artaxerxes in the first day of the moneth Nisan, Mar-docheus the sonne of Iarus, the sonne of Semei, the
sonne

sonne of Cis of the tribe of Beniamin had a dreame, 3 A Iewe dwelling in the Citie of Susis, a noble man, that bare office in the Kings court.
4 Hee was also one of the captiuitie which Na-buchodonosor the king of Babylon brought from Ierusalem with Iechonias.
5 And this was his dreame. Beholde a noyse of a tempest with thunders, and earthquakes, and vp-roare in the land.
6 Beholde two great dragons came foorth ready to fight one against another.
7 Their cry was great, whereby all the heathen were ready to fight against the righteous people.
8 And the same day was full of darkenesse and obscuritie, and trouble, and anguish: yea, aduersitie, and great affliction was vpon the earth.
9 For then the righteous fearing their afflictions, were amased, & being ready to die, cried vnto God.
10 And while they were crying, the litle wel grew into a great riuer, & flowed ouer with great waters.
11 The light and the sunne rose vp, and the lowly were exalted, and deuoured the glorious.
12 Nowe when Mardocheus had seene this dreame, he awooke and rose vp, and thought in his heart vntill the night, what God would doe, and so he desired to knowe all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

AT the same time dwelt Mardocheus in the kings court with Bagathas, and Thara, the kings eunuches and keepers of the palace.
Ester 2.21. and 6.2. 2 * But when he heard their purpose, and their imaginations, he perceiued that they went about to laye their handes vpon the King Artaxerxes, and so he certified the King thereof.
3 Then caused the King to examine the two eunuches with torments, and when they had confessed it, they were put to death.
4 This the King caused to be put in the Chronicles. Mardocheus also wrote the same thing.
5 So the King comaunded that Mardocheus shoulde remaine in the court, and for the aduertisement, he gaue him a reward.
6 But Aman the sonne of Amadathus the Aga-gite, which was in great honour and reputation with the King, went about to hurt Mardocheus and his people, because of the two eunuches of the king that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes against the Iewes. 8 The prayer of Mardocheus.

Joseph. antiq. lib. 11. chap. 6. THe copie of the letters was this, The great King Artaxerxes writeth these things to the princes and gouernours that are vnder him from India vnto Ethiopia in an hundreth and seuen and twentie
prouinces.
2 When I was made Lord ouer many people, and had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I would not exalt my selfe by the reason of my power, but purposed with equitie alway and gentlenesse to gouerne my subiects, and wholy to set them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto tranquilitie, that men might safely goe thorow on euery side, and to renewe peace againe, which all men desire.
3 Now when I asked my counsellers, how these things might be brought to passe, one that was conuersant with vs, of excellent wisdome, and constant in good will, and shewed himselfe to be of sure fidelitie, which had the second place in the kingdome, euen Aman,
4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was scattered abroade a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to all people, and haue alway despised the commandements of Kings, and so that this generall empire, that we haue begunne, cannot be gouerned without offence.
5 Seeing nowe wee perceiue, that this people alone are altogether contrary vnto euery man, vsing strange and other maner of lawes, and hauing an euill opinion of our doings, and goe about to stablish wicked matters, that our kingdome should not come to good estate, 6 Therefore haue we commanded, that all they that are appoynted in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordeined ouer ẏ affaires, & is as our second father) shall all with their wiues and children be destroied & rooted out with the sword of their enemies without all mercie, & that none be spared the fourtenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yeere, 7 That they which of olde, and nowe also haue euer bene rebellious, may in one day with violence be thrust downe into the hell, to the intent that after this time our affaires may bee without troubles, and well gouerned in all poyntes.
8 Then Mardocheus thought vpon al the works and of the Lord, and made his prayer vnto him, 9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, the King Almighty (for all things are in thy power) & if thou hast appointed to saue Israel, there is no man ẏ can withstand thee.
10 For thou hast made heauen and earth, and all the wonderous things vnder the heauen.
11 Thou art Lorde of all things, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the Lord.
12 Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest, Lord, that it was neither of malice, nor presumption, nor for any desire of glorie, that I did this, and not bowe downe to proude Aman.
13 For I would haue bene contented with good will for the saluation of Israel, to haue kist the sole of his feete.
14 But I did it, because I would not preferre the honour of a man aboue the glory of God, & would not worship any but onely thee, my Lord, and this haue I not done of pride.
15 And therefore, O Lord God and King, haue mercie vpon thy people: for they imagine how they may bring vs to naught, yea, they would destroy the inheritance, that hath bin thine from the beginning.
16 Despise not the portion, which thou hast de-liuered out of Egypt for thine owne selfe.
17 Heare my prayer, and be mercifull vnto thy portion: turne our sorow into ioy, that we may liue, O Lord, and praise thy Name: shut not the mouthes of them that praise thee.
18 All Israel in like maner cried most earnestly vnto the Lord, because ẏ death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliuerance of her, and her people.

QVeene Esther also, being in danger of death, resorted vnto the Lord, 2 And layd away her glorious apparell, and put on the garments of sighing, and mourning. In the stead of precious oyntment, she scattered ashes, and dongue vpon her head: and she humbled her body greatly with fasting, and all the places of her ioy filled she with the haire that she pluckt off.
3 And she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, saying O my Lord, thou onely art our King, helpe me desolate woman, which haue no helper but thee.
4 For my danger is at hand.

5 From my youth vp I haue heard in the kinred of my father, that thou, O Lord, tookest Israel from among all people, and our fathers from their predecessours for a perpetuall inheritance, and thou hast performed that which thou diddest promise them.
6 Now Lord, we haue sinned before thee: therefore hast thou giuen vs into ẏ hands of our enemies.
7 Because we worshipped their gods, O Lorde, thou art righteous.
8 Neuerthelesse, it satisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captiuitie, but they haue stroken hands with their idoles,
9 That they wil abolish the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordeined, & destroy thine inheritãce, to shut vp the mouth of them that praise thee, and to quench the glory of thy Temple, and of thine altar, 10 And to open the mouths of the heathen, that they may praise the power of the idoles, and to magnifie a fleshly king for euer.
11 O Lord, giue not thy scepter vnto them that be nothing, lest they laugh vs to scorne in our miserie:
but turne their deuise vpon themselues, & make him an example, that hath begunne thẽ same against vs.
12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lord, and shewe thy selfe vnto vs in the time of our distresse, and strengthen me, O King of gods, and Lord of all power.
13 Giue mee an eloquent speach in my mouth before the Lion: turne his heart to hate our enemie, to destroy him, and all such as consent vnto him.
14 But deliuer vs ẇ thine hand, and helpe me that am solitarie, which haue no defence but onely thee.
15 Thou knowest al things, O Lord: thou know-est, that I hate the glorie of the vnrighteous, and that I abhorre the bed of the vncircumcised, and of all the heathen.
16 Thou knowest my necessitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon mine head, what time as I must shewe my selfe, and that I abhorre it as a menstruous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my selfe, 17 And that I thine handmaide haue not eaten at Amans table, and that I haue had no pleasure in the Kings feast, nor drunke the wine of the drinke offerings,
18 And that I thine handmayde haue no ioye since that day that I was brought hither, vntill this day, but in thee, O Lord God of Abraham.
19 O thou mighty God aboue al, heare the voyce of them ẏ haue none other hope, & deliuer vs out of the hand of ẏ wicked, & deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1 Mardocheus mooueth Esther to goe in to the King and make intercession for her people. 9 And she perfourmeth his request.

MArdocheus also bade Esther to goe in vnto the king, & pray for her people, & for her country.
2 Remember, saith hee, the dayes of thy lowe estate, how thou wast nourished vnder mine hande:
for Aman which is next vnto the King hath giuen sentence of death against vs.
3 Call thou therfore vpon the Lord, & speake for vs vnto the King, and deliuer vs from death.
4 And vpon the third day when she had ended her prayer, she layde away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell, 5 And deckt herselfe goodly, after that she had called vpon God, which is the beholder and sauiour of all things, and tooke two handmaides with her.
6 Vpon the one she leaned herselfe, as one that was tender.
7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her vesture.
8 The shine of her beautie made her face rose coloured: and her face was cheerefull and amiable, but her heart was sorowfull for great feare.
9 Then she went in thorowe all the doores, and stoode before the King, and the King sate vpon his royall throne, and was clothed in his goodly aray, all glittering with golde and precious stones, and he was very terrible.
10 Then he lift vp his face, that shone with maiestie, and looked fiercely vpon her: therefore the Queene fell downe, and was pale and faint and leaned her selfe vpon the head of the mayde that went with her.
11 Neuerthelesse, God turned the Kings minde that he was gentle, who being carefull, leaped out of his throne, and tooke her in his armes, till she came to her selfe againe: and comforted her with louing wordes, and sayd,
12 Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheare,
13 Thou shalt not die: for our commandement toucheth the commons, and not thee. Come neere.
14 And so hee helde vp his golden scepter, and layde it vpon her necke, 15 And kissed her, and said, Talke with me.
16 Then sayd she, I saw thee, O lord, as an Angel of God, and mine heart was troubled for feare of thy maiestie.
17 For wonderfull art thou, O lord, and thy face is full of grace.
18 And as she was thus speaking vnto him, shee fell downe againe for faintnesse.
19 Then the king was troubled, and all his ser-uants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby he reuoketh those which he first sent forth.

THE great King Artaxerxes, which reigneth from Ioseph. Antiq. 11. chap. 6.
India vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundreth & seuen and twentie prouinces, sendeth vnto the princes and rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutatiõ.
2 There be many that through the goodnesse of Princes and honour giuen vnto them, become very proud,
3 And indeuour not onely to hurt our subiects, but not content to liue in wealth, doe also imagine destruction against those that doe them good, 4 And take not onely all thankefulnesse away from men, but in pride and presumption, as they that be vnmindefull of benefites, they thinke to escape the vengeance of God, that seeth all things, and is contrary to euill.
5 And oft times many, which be set in office, and vnto whome their friendes causes are committed, by vaine intisements doe wrappe them in calamities, that cannot be remedied: for they make them partakers of the innocent blood, 6 And deceitfully abuse the simplicitie, and gentlenesse of Princes with lying tales.
7 This may be proued not onely by olde histories, but also by those things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such pestilences, as
are not worthy to beare rule.
8 Therefore we must take heede hereafter, that we may make the kingdome peaceable for all men, what chance soeuer shall come, 9 And discerne the things that are before our eyes, to withstand them with gentlenesse.
10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Ama-dathus,

dathus, being in deede a stranger from the Persians blood, & far from our goodnes, was receiued of vs, 11 And hath proued the friendshippe that wee beare toward all nations, so that he was called our father, and was honoured of euery man, as the next person vnto the King.
12 But he could not vse himselfe soberly in this great dignitie, but went about to depriue vs of the kingdome, and of our life.
13 With manifolde deceite also hath he desired to destroy Mardocheus our preseruer, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent Esther the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.
14 For his minde was (when he had taken them out of the way) to lay waite for vs, and by this meanes to translate the kingdome of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.
15 But we finde that ẏ Iewes (which were accused of this most wicked man that they might be destroyed) are no euill doers, but vse most iust lawes, 16 And that they bee the children of the most High and Almightie & euerliuing God, by whome the kingdome hath bene preserued vnto vs, and our progenitours in very good order.
17 Wherefore yee shall doe well, if ye doe not put in execution those letters, that Aman the sonne of Amadathus did write vnto you, 18 For hee that inuented them, hangeth at Susis before the gates with all his familie, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath speedely rewarded him after his deseruing.
19 Therefore yee shall publish the copy of this letter in all places, that the Iewes may freely liue after their owne Lawes.
20 And ye shall ayde them, that vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar they may be auenged of them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them.
21 For almightie God hath turned to ioy ẏ day wherein the chosen people should haue perished.
22 Moreouer, among other solemne dayes yee shall keepe this day with all gladnes, 23 That both nowe and in time to come this day may bee a remembrance of deliuerance for vs and all such as loue the prosperitie of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be seditious vnto vs.
24 Therefore all cities and countreys that doe not this, shall horribly bee destroyed with sworde and fire, and shall not onely not bee inhabited of men, but bee abhorred also of the wilde beasts and foules for euer.

THE WISDOME OF SALOMON.

CHAP. I.

1 Howe wee ought to search and enquire after God. 2 Who bee those that finde him. 5 The holy Ghost. 8. 11 We ought to flee from backbiting and murmuring. 12 Whereof death commeth. 15 Righteousnes and vnrighteousnes.

LOVE *righteousnesse, ye that bee *1.King.3.3. Esai.56.1.
Iudges of the earth: thinke reue-rently of the Lord, and seeke him in simplicitie of heart.
2 *For hee wil be found of them *Deut.4.29. 2.chro.15.4.
that tempt him not, and appeareth vnto such as be not vnfaithfull vnto him.
3 For wicked thoughts separate from God: and his power when it is tried, reprooueth the vnwise, 4 Because wisdome cannot enter into a wicked heart, nor dwell in the body that is subiect vnto sinne.
5 For the holy *Spirit of discipline fleeth from *Iere.4.22.
deceite, & withdraweth himselfe from the thoughts that are without vnderstanding, and is rebuked when wickednes commeth.
6 For the Spirit of wisdome *is louing, and wil *Galat.5.22.
not absolue him, that blasphemeth with his lips: for God is a witnes of his reines, and a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of the tongue.
7 For the Spirite of the Lorde filleth all the worlde: and the same that mainteineth all things, hath knowledge of the voyce.
8 Therefore hee that speaketh vnrighteous things, cannot be hid: neither shall the iudgement of reproche let him escape.
9 For inquisition shalbe made for the thoughts of the vngodly, and the sounde of his wordes shall come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.
10 For the eare of ielousie heareth al things, and the noyse of the grudgings shall not be hid.
11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which profiteth nothing, and refraine your tongue from slander: for there is no worde so secret, that shall go for nought, and the mouth that speaketh lyes, slayeth the soule.
12 Seeke not death in the errour of your life:
*destroy not your selues thorowe the workes of *Deut.4.29.
your owne hands.
13 *For God hath not made death, neither hath *Ezek.18.32. and 33.11.
he pleasure in the destruction of the liuing.
14 For hee created all things, that they might haue their being: and the generations of the worlde are preserued, and there is no poyson of destruction in them, & the kingdome of hell is not vpon earth.
15 For righteousnes is immortall, but vnrighte-ousnes bringeth death.
16 And the vngodly [a] call it vnto them both a To wit, death.
with hands and wordes: and while they thinke to haue a friende of it, they come to naught: for they are confederate with it: therefore are they worthy to be partakers thereof.

CHAP. II.

1 The imaginations and desires of the wicked, and their counsell against the faithfull.

FOr the vngodly say, as they falsly imagine with themselues, *Our life is short & tedious: and in *Iob.7.1.and 14.1.mat 22.23. 1.cor.15.32.
the death of a man there is no recouery, neither was any knowen that hath returned from the graue.
2 For we are borne at al aduenture, and we shal be hereafter as though wee had neuer bene: for the breath is a smoke in our nostrels, & the words as a sparke raised out of our heart, 3 Which being extinguished, the body is turned into ashes, and the Spirite vanisheth as the soft ayre.
4 Our life shall passe away as the trace of a cloude, and come to naught as the miste that is driuen away with the beames of the sunne, & cast down with the heate thereof. Our name also shall be forgotten in time, and no man shall haue our works in remembrance.
5 *For our time is a shadow that passeth away, *1.Chro.29.15. chap.5.9.
and after our ende there is no returning: for it is fast sealed, so that no man commeth againe.

[*Isa.22.13.and 56.12.1.cor. 15.32.] 6 *Come therefore, and let vs enioy the pleasures that are present, and let vs cheerefully vse the creatures as in youth.
7 Let vs fill our selues with costly wine & ointments, and let not the floure of life passe by vs.
8 Let vs crowne our selues with rose buds afore they be withered.
9 Let vs all be partakers of our wantonnes: let vs leaue some token of our pleasure in euery place:
for that is our portion, and this is our lot.
10 Let vs oppresse the poore that is righteous:
let vs not spare the widdow, nor reuerence ẏ white haires of the aged, that haue liued many yeeres.
11 Let our strength be the lawe of vnrighteousnes: for the thing that is feeble, is reprooued as vn-profitable.
12 Therefore let vs defraude the righteous: for he is not for our profite, and hee is contrary to our doings: hee checketh vs for offending against the Law, and blameth vs as transgressers of discipline.
13 He maketh his boast to haue the knowledge of God: & he calleth himselfe the sonne of ẏ Lord.
[*Iob.7.7. ephes.5.13. *Isai.53.3.] 14 He is made * to reprooue our thoughtes.
15 It grieueth vs also to looke *vpon him: for his life is not like other mens: his wayes are of another fashion.
16 Hee counteth vs as bastards, and hee with-draweth himselfe from our wayes as from filthines:
hee commendeth greatly the latter end of the iust, and boasteth that God is his father.
17 Let vs see then if his wordes bee true: let vs prooue what ende he shall haue.
[*Psal.22.8,9. mat.27.43.] 18 For if the righteous man be the * sonne of God, hee will helpe him, and deliuer him from the hands of his enemies.
[*Iere.11.19.] 19 Let vs * examine him with rebukes and torments that we may know his meekenes, & prooue his patience.
20 Let vs condemne him vnto a shameful death:
for he shalbe preserued as he himselfe sayth.
21 Such things doe they imagine, and go astray:
for their owne wickednes hath blinded them.
22 And they doe not vnderstand the mysteries of God, neither hope for the reward of righteousnes, nor can discerne the honour of the soules that are faultles.
23 For God created man without corruption, [*Gen.1.27.and 2.7.and 5.1. ecclus.17.2.] and made him after the *image of his owne likenes.
[*Gen.3.1,2.] 24 *Neuerthelesse, thorowe enuie of the deuill came death into the world: and they that holde of his side, prooue it.

CHAP. III.

1 The conuersation and assurance of the righteous. 7 The reward of the faithfull. 11 Who are miserable.

[*Deut.33.3.] BVt the * soules of the righteous are in the hand of God, and no torment shall touch them.
[*Chap.5.4.] 2 *In the sight of the vnwise they appeared to die, and their end was thought grieuous, 3 And their departing from vs, destruction, but they are in peace.
4 And though they suffer paine before men, [*Rom.8.24. 2.cor.5.1. 1.pet.1.13.] yet is *their hope full of immortalitie.
5 They are punished, but in fewe things, yet in [*Exod.16.4. deut.8.2.] many things shal they be well rewarded: * for God prooueth them, & findeth them meete for himselfe.
6 Hee tryeth them as the golde in the fornace, and receiueth them as a perfect fruite offering.
[*Mat.13.43.] 7 * And in the time of their vision they shall shine, and runne thorowe as the sparks among the stubble.
8 * They shall iudge the nations, and haue do- [*Mat.19.28. 1.cor.6.2.] minion ouer the people, and their Lord shal reigne for euer.
9 They that trust in him shall vnderstand the trueth, and the faithfull shall remaine with him in loue: for grace and mercy is among his Saints, and he regardeth his elect.
10 But *the vngodly shalbe punished according [*Mat.25.41.] to their imaginations: for they haue despised the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.
11 Who so despiseth wisedome and discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, and their labours are foolish, and their workes vnprofitable.
12 Their wiues are vndiscreete, and their children wicked their offering is cursed.
13 Therefore the barren is blessed which is vndefiled, and knoweth not the sinfull bed: * she shall [*Isai.56.4.] haue fruite in the visitation of the soules.
14 And the eunuch, which with his hands hath not wrought iniquitie, nor imagined wicked things against God: for vnto him shalbe giuen the speciall gift of faith, & an acceptable portion in the Temple of the Lord.
15 For glorious is the fruite of good labours,
and the roote of wisdome shall neuer fade away.
16 But the children of adulterers shall not bee partakers of the holy things, and the seede of the wicked bed shalbe rooted out.
17 And though they liue long, yet shall they be nothing regarded, and their last age shalbe without honour.
18 If they die hastely, they haue no hope, neither comfort in the day of tryall.
19 For horrible is the ende of the wicked generation.

CHAP. IIII.

Of vertue and the commoditie thereof. 10 The death of the righteous, and the condemnation of the vnfaithfull.

BEtter is barrennes with vertue: for the memoriall thereof is immortall: for it is knowen with God and with men.
2 When it is present, men take example thereat, and if it goe away, yet they desire it: it is alway crowned and triumpheth, and winneth the battell and the vndefiled rewardes.
3 But the multitude of the vngodly which abound in children, is vnprofitable: and the bastard plants shall take no deepe roote, nor lay any fast foundation.
4 For though they bud foorth in the branches for a time, * yet they shalbe shaken with the winde: [*Matt.7.19.] for they stand not fast, and through the vehemencie of the winde they shalbe rooted out.
5 For the vnperfect branches shalbe broken, and their fruite shalbe vnprofitable and sowre to eate, and meete for nothing.
6 For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shalbe witnes of the wickednes against their parents when they be asked.
7 But though the righteous be preuented with death, yet shall he be in rest.
8 For the honourable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeeres.
9 But wisdome is the gray haire, and an vnde-filed life is the olde age.
10 * He pleased God, and was beloued of him, [*Gen.5.24. hebr.11.5.] so that where as he liued among sinners, he translated him.
11 He was taken away, least wickednesse should alter

alter his vnderstanding, or deceit beguile his minde.
12 For wickednesse by bewitching obscureth the things that are good, and the vnstedfastnesse of concupiscence peruerteth the simple minde.
13 Though he was soone dead, yet fulfilled he much time.
14 For his soule pleased God: therefore hasted he to take him away from wickednesse.
15 Yet the people see and vnderstand it not, and consider no such things in their hearts, howe that grace and mercie is vpon his Saintes, and his prouidence ouer the elect.
16 Thus the righteous that is dead, condemneth the vngodly which are liuing: and the youth that is soone brought to an ende, the long life of the vnrighteous.
17 For they see the ende of the wise, but they vnderstand not what God hath deuised for him, and wherefore the Lord hath preserued him in safetie.
18 They see him and despise him, but the Lord will laugh them to scorne, 19 So that they shall fall hereafter without honour, and shall haue a shame among the dead for euermore: for without any voice shal he burst them and cast them downe, & shake them from the foundations, so that they shalbe vtterly wasted, and they shalbe in sorow, and their memoriall shall perish.
20 So they being afraide, shall remember their sinnes, and their owne wickednes shall come before them to conuince them.

CHAP. V.

1 The constantnesse of the righteous before their persecuters. 14 The hope of the faithfull is vaine. 15 The blessednesse of the Saintes and Godly.

THen shall the righteous stand in great boldenesse before the face of such as haue tormented him, and taken away his labours.
2 When they see him, they shall be vexed with horrible feare, and shall bee amased for his wonderfull deliuerance,
3 And shall change their minds, & sigh for griefe of mind, & say within thẽselues, This is he whom we sometime had in derision & in a parable of reproch.
*Chap.3.2. 4 * Wee fooles thought his life madnesse, and his ende without honour.
5 Howe is he counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the Saintes!
6 Therefore wee haue erred from the way of trueth, and the light of righteousnes hath not shined vnto vs, & the sunne of vnderstãding rose not vpõ vs.
7 Wee haue wearied our selues in the way of wickednesse and destruction, and wee haue gone through dangerous wayes: but we haue not knowen
the way of the Lord.
8 What hath pride profited vs? or what profite hath the pompe of riches brought vs?
*1.Chron.29.15. chap.2.5. 9 All those things are * passed away like a shadow, and as a poste that passeth by:
10 As a ship that passeth ouer the waues of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot be found, neither ẏ path of it in the floods:
*Prou.30.19. 11 Or as a *birde that flieth thorow in the ayre, and no man can see any token of her passage, but onely heare the noise of her wings, beating the light winde, parting the aire through the vehemencie of her going, and fleeth on shaking her wings, whereas afterward no token of her way can be found: 12 Or as when an arrow is shot at a marke, it parteth the aire, which immediatly cõmeth together againe, so ẏ a man cannot know where it wẽt thorow.
13 Euen so we, assoone as we were borne, we began to drawe to our ende, & haue shewed no token of vertue, but are consumed in our owne wickednes.
14 For *the hope of the vngodly is like the dust *Job 8.9.psa.1.4. and 143.4. prou. 10.25. and 11.7. iames 1.10,11.
that is blowen away with the wind, & like a thinne fome that is scattered abroad with ẏ storme, & as the smoke, which is dispersed with the winde, & as the remembrance of him passeth, ẏ tarieth but for a day.
15 But the righteous shall liue for euer: their reward also is with the Lord, and the most High hath care of them.
16 Therefore shall they receiue a glorious kingdome, and a beautifull crowne of the Lordes hand:
for with his right hande shall hee couer them, and with his arme shall he defende them.
17 He shal take his ielousie for armour, and shall arme the creatures to be reuenged of the enemies.
18 He shal put on righteousnes for a brestplate, and take true iudgement in steade of an helmet.
19 He wil take holines for an inuincible shielde.
20 He wil sharpen his fierce wrath for a sworde, and the world shal fight with him against ẏ vnwise.
21 Then shal the thunder bolts go streight out of the lightnings, and shall flee to the marke, as out of the bent bowe of the cloudes, and out of his anger that throweth stones, shall thicke haile be cast, and the water of the sea shalbe wroth against them,
and the floods shal mightily ouerflowe.
22 And a mightie winde shall stande vp against them, & like a storme shal scatter them abroad. Thus iniquitie shal bring all the earth to a wildernes, and wickednes shal ouerthrow ẏ thrones of the mighty.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kings, Princes and Iudges, which are also exhorted to searche wisdome.

HEare therefore, O ye Kings, and vnderstande:
learne, ye that be iudges of the endes of ẏ earth.
2 Giue eare, ye that rule the multitudes, and glorie in the multitude of people.
3 For the rule * is giuen you of the Lorde, and *Rom.13.1. power by the most High, which wil try your works,
and search out your imaginations.
4 Because that yee being officers of his kingdome haue not iudged aright, nor kept the Lawe, nor walked after the will of God, 5 Horribly & suddenly wil he appeare vnto you:
for an hard iudgement shall they haue ẏ beare rule.
6 For he that is most low is worthy mercy, but the mightie shalbe mightily tormented.
7 For he that is Lord ouer all, wil spare no *person, *Deut.10.17. son, neither shal he feare any greatnes: for he hath 2.chro.19.7.iob.
made the small and great, and careth for all alike, 33.19.ecclus.35.
8 But for the mightie abideth the sorer triall. 12,16.acts.10.34.
9 Vnto you therefore, O tyrants, doe I speake, rom.2.11.gal.2.6.
that ye may learne wisdome, and not goe amisse. ephe.6.9. colos.3.25.1.pet.1.17.
10 For they ẏ keepe holines holily, shalbe holy,
and they that are learned there, shal finde a defence.
11 Wherefore set your delite vpon my wordes and desire them, and ye shalbe instructed.
12 Wisedome shineth and neuer fadeth away, and is easily seene of them that loue her, and found
of such as seeke her, 13 She preuenteth them that desire her, that she may first shewe her selfe vnto them.
14 Who so awaketh vnto her betimes, shal haue no great trauaile: for he shal finde her sitting at his doores.
15 To thinke vpõ her then is perfect vnderstãding:
& who so watcheth for her, shalbe soone without care.
16 For she goeth about, seeking such as are meete

for her, and sheweth herselfe cheerefully vnto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in euery thought.
17 For the most true desire of discipline is her beginning: and the care of discipline is loue: 18 And loue is the keeping of her lawes: and the keeping of the lawes is the assurance of immortalitie:
19 And immortalitie maketh vs neere vnto God.
20 Therefore the desire of wisedome leadeth to the kingdome.
21 If your delite be then in thrones, and scepters, O Kings of the people, honour wisdome, that ye may reigne for euer.
22 Nowe I will tell you what wisedome is, and whence it commeth, and will not hide the mysteries from you, but will seeke her out from the beginning of her natiuitie, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not keepe backe the trueth.
23 Neither will I haue to do with consuming enuie: for such a man shal not be partaker of wisdome.
24 But the multitude of the wise is the preseruation of the world, and a wise King is the stay of the people.
25 Be therefore instructed by my words, and ye shall haue profite.

CHAP. VII.

Wisdome ought to be preferred aboue all things.

I My selfe am also mortal & a man like al other, and I am come of him that was first made of the earth.
2 And in my mothers wombe was I fashioned *Iob.10.10,11. to be flesh in tenne moneths: I was * brought together into blood of the seede of man, and by the pleasure that commeth with sleepe.
3 And when I was borne, I receiued the common ayre, and fell vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying & weeping at the first as all other do.
4 I was nourished in swadling cloths, and with cares.
5 For there is no King that had any other beginning of birth.
*Iob.1.21. 1.tim.6.7. 6 All * men then haue one entrance vnto life, and a like going out.
7 Wherefore I prayed, and vnderstanding was giuen me: I called, and the spirit of wisdome came
vnto me.
8 I preferred her to scepters and thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.
*Iob.28.15. 9 * Neither did I compare precious stones vnto her: for all gold is but a litle grauel in respect of her,
and siluer shalbe counted but clay before her.
10 I loued her aboue health and beautie, and purposed to take her for my light: for her light cannot be quenched.
*1.King.3.13. matth.6.33. 11 All *good things therefore came to me together with her, & innumerable riches thorow her hands.
12 So I was glad in all: for wisdome was the author therof, and I knewe not that she was the mother of these things.
13 And I learned vnfainedly, and communicated without enuie, and I do not hide her riches.
14 For she is an infinite treasure vnto men, which who so vse, become partakers of the loue of God, and are accepted for the giftes of knowledge.
15 God hath graunted me to speake according to my minde, and to iudge worthily of the thinges, that are giuen me: for he is the leader vnto wisdome,
and the directer of the wise.
16 For in his hand are both we and our wordes, and all wisdome, and the knowledge of the workes.
17 For he hath giuen me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I knowe how the world was made, and the powers of the elements, 18 The beginning & the end, and the mids of the times: how the times alter, & the chāge of y^e seasons, 19 The course of y^e yere, the situatiō of the stars, 20 The nature of liuing things, and the furiousnes of beastes, the power of the windes, and the imaginations of men, the diuersities of plantes, and the vertues of rootes.
21 And all things both secret and knowen doe I knowe: for wisdome the worker of all things, hath taught me it.
22 For in her is the Spirit of vnderstāding, which is holy, y^e only begotten, manifold, sobtil, moueable, cleare, vndefiled, euident, not hurtfull, louing the good, sharpe, which cannot be letted, doing good, 23 Courteous, stable, sure, without care, hauing all power, circumspect in all thinges, and passing through all, intellectuall, pure and subtil spirites.
24 For wisdom is nimbler then al nimble things:
she goeth thorowe and atteineth to all thinges, because of her purenesse.
25 For she is the breth of the power of God, & a pure influence that floweth frō the glory of the Almighty: therfore can no defiled thing come vnto her 26 For * she is the brightnesse of the euerlasting *Ebr.1.3.
light, the vndefiled mirrour of the maiestie of God,
and the image of his goodnesse.
27 And being one, she can do all things, and remaining in her selfe, renueth all, and according to the ages shee entreth into the holy soules, and ma-keth them the friendes of God and Prophets.
28 For God loueth none, if he dwel not with wisdom.
29 For she is more beautifull then the sunne, and is aboue all the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared vnto her.
30 For night commeth vpon it, but wickednesse cannot ouercome wisdome.

CHAP. VIII.

The effectes of wisdome.

SHe also reacheth from one end to another mightily, and comely doeth she order all things.
2 I haue loued her, & sought her frō my youth: I desired to marry her, such loue had I vnto her beauty.
3 In that she is conuersant with God, it cōmendeth her nobilitie: yea, the Lord of all things loueth her.
4 For she is the scholemystres of the knowledge of God, and the chooser out of his workes.
5 If riches be a possessiō to be desired in this life, what is richer then wisdom, that worketh all things?
6 For if prudencie worketh, what is it among all things, that worketh better then she?
7 If a man loue righteousnes, her labours are vertuous: for she teacheth sobernes and prudencie, righteousnes and strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.
8 If a man desire great experience, she can tell the things that are past, & discerne things to come:
she knoweth the subtilties of wordes, and the solutions of darke sentences: she foreseeth the signes and wonders, or euer they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.
9 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my companie, knowing that shee would counsell mee good things, and comfort me in cares and griefes.
10 For her sake shall I haue glorie among the multitude, and honour among the Elders though I be yong.
11 I shalbe found of sharpe iudgement, so that I shalbe marueilous in the sight of great men.
12 When I hold my tongue, they shal abide my leysure: when I speake, they shall heare diligently,
and

and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.
13 Moreouer, by her I shall obtaine immortali-tie, & leaue an euerlasting memoriall amog them that come after me.
14 I shall gouerne the people, and the nations shalbe subdued vnto me.
15 Horrible tyrants shalbe afraide when they heare me: among the multitude I shalbe counted good, and mightie in battell.
16 When I come home, I shall rest with her:
for her company hath no bitternes, and her felow-ship hath no tediousnes, but mirth and ioy.
17 Now when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondred them in mine heart, how that to be ioyned vnto wisdome is immortalitie, 18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the workes of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudencie, and glory by communing with her, I went about, seeking how I might take her vnto me.
19 For I was a wittie childe, and was of a good spirite.
20 Yea, rather being good, I came to an vndefiled body.
21 Neuertheles, when I perceiued that I could not enioy her except God gaue her (and that was a point of wisdome also, to know whose gift it was)
I went vnto the Lord, and besought him, and with my whole heart I sayd,

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Salomon to obteine wisdome.

O God of Fathers, and Lorde of mercy, which hast made all things with thy worde, 2 And ordeined man through thy wisdome, that he should haue * dominion ouer the creatures | *Gen.1,28.
which thou hast made,
3 And gouerne the world according to equitie and righteousnes, and execute iudgement with an vpright heart:
4 *Giue me that wisdome, which sitteth by thy | 1.King.3.9.
throne, & put me not out from among thy childrē.
5 For I thy * seruant, and sonne of thine hand- | *Psal.116.16.
mayd, am a feeble person, & of a short time, and yet lesse in ẏ vnderstanding of iudgement & the lawes.
6 And though a man be neuer so perfect among the children of men, yet if thy wisedome bee not with him, he shalbe nothing regarded.
7 * Thou hast chosen me to be a King of thy | *1.Chro.28.5. 2.Chro.1.9.
people, and the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters.
8 Thou hast commanded me to build a temple vpon thine holy Mount, & an altar in ẏ citie wherein thou dwellest, a likenes of thine holy Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning.
9 And thy * wisdome with thee, which know- | *Prou.8.22. Ioh.1.2.
eth thy workes, which also was when thou madest the world, and which knew what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy commandements.
10 Send her out of thine holy heauens, & send her from the throne of thy maiestie, that shee may be with me, and labour, that I may knowe what is acceptable in thy sight.
11 For she knoweth & vnderstandeth all things, and shee shall leade mee soberly in my workes and preserue me by her glory.
12 So shall my workes be acceptable, and then shall I gouerne thy people righteously, & be meete for my fathers throne.
13 For *what man is he that can know ẏ counsel | *Esa.40.13. Rom.11.34. 1.Cor.2.16.
of God? or who can thinke what the wil of God is?

14 For the thoughtes of mortall men are fearefull, and our forecastes are vncertaine, 15 Because a corruptible body is heauy vnto the soule, and the earthly mansion keepeth downe the minde that is full of cares.
16 And hardly can wee discerne the things that are vpon earth, and with great labour finde we out the things which are before vs: who can then seeke out the things that are in heauen?
17 Who can knowe thy counsell, except thou giue him wisdome, and send thine holy Spirit from aboue?
18 For so the wayes of them which are vpon earth, are reformed, and men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are preserued through wisdome.

CHAP. X.

The deliuerance of the righteous and destruction of the enemies commeth through wisdome.

She preserued the first father of the world, that was formed, and kept him when hee was created alone, and brought him out of his offence,
2 And * gaue him power to rule all things, | *Gen.2.19.
3 * But the vnrighteous in his wrath departed | *Gen.4.8.
from her, and perished by killing his brother in his furie.
4 For whose cause the * earth was ouerflowen, | *Gen.7.21.
but wisdome preserued it againe, gouerning the iust man by a litle wood.
5 Moreouer, *when the nations were ioyned in | *Gen.11.[illegible] their malicious confederacies, she knewe the righteous, & preserued him faultles vnto God, and ‖ kept | ‖Or, kept him [illegible] him sure, because she loued him tenderly as a sonne.
6 She preserued the righteous, * when the vngodly perished, when he fled from the fire that fell | *Gen.19.18.
downe vpon the fiue cities.
7 Of whose wickednes the waste land that smo-keth, yet giueth testimonie, and the trees that beare fruite that neuer commeth to ripenes: and for a remembrance of the vnfaithfull soule, there standeth a pillar of salte.
8 For al such as regarded not wisdome, had not only this hurt, that they knew not the things which were good, but also left behinde them vnto men a memoriall of their foolishnes, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they can not lie hid.
9 But wisdome deliuered them that serued her.
10 * When the righteous fled because of his | *Gen.28.5.
brothers wrath, she led him the right way, shewed him the kingdome of God, gaue him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his labours, and made his paines profitable.
11 Against the couetousnes of such as defrauded him, she stood by him and made him rich.
12 She saued him from the enemies, & defended him from them, that lay in waite, and she gaue him
the price in a mightie battell, that he might knowe that the feare of God is stronger then all things.
13 *When the righteous was solde, she forsooke | *Gen.37.28. and 39.7. act.7.10.
him not, but deliuered him from sinne: shee went downe with him into the dungeon, 14 And failed him not in the bands, till she had brought him the scepter of the realme, and power against those that oppressed him, and them that had accused him, she declared to be liars, and gaue him perpetuall glory.
15 *She deliuered the righteous people & fault- | *Exod.1.10.

against the terrible Kings.
17 She gaue the Saints the rewarde of their labours, and led them foorth a maruelous way: on the day time she was a shadowe vnto them, and a light of starres in the night.
*Exod.14.21,22. psal.78.13. 18 *She brought them thorow the red sea, and caried them through the great water, them out of the bottome of the deepe.

20 So the righteous tooke the spoyles of the vn-magnified thy victorious hand with one accord.

21 For wisdome openeth the mouth of the dombe, and maketh the tongues of babes eloquent.

CHAP. XI.

1 The miracles done for Israel. 13 The vengeance of sinners. 18 The great power and mercy of God.

SHe prospered their workes in the hands of thine holy Prophet.
*Exod.16.1. 2 *They went through the wildernes that was not inhabited, and pitched their tentes in places where there lay no way.
*Exod.17.10,18. 3 *They stood against their enemies, and were auenged of their aduersaries.
*Numb.20.11. 4 *When they were thirstie, they called vpon thee, & water was giuen them out of the hie rocke, and their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.
5 For by the things whereby their enemies were punished, by the same were the Israelites helped in their neede.
6 For in the stead of a fountaine of running water, the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the commaundement of the killing of the children, but thou gauest vnto thine owne abundance of water vnlooked for,
7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time
*Exod.7.20. *how thou haddest punished thine aduersaries.
8 For when they were tried and chastised with mercy, they knewe howe the vngodly were iudged and punished in wrath.
9 For these hast thou exhorted as a father, and proued them: but thou hast condemned ẏ other as a righteous King, when thou didst examine them.
10 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike: for their griefe was double with mourning, & the remembrance of things past.
11 For when they perceiued ẏ through their torments good came vnto them, they felt the Lord.
12 And seeing the things that came to passe, at at the last they wondered at him, whom afore they had cast out, denyed and derided: for they had an other thirst then the iust.
13 Because of the foolish deuices of their wickednes wherewith they were deceiued, & worship-*Chap.12.24. rom.1.23. ped *serpents, that had not the vse of reason, and vile beasts, thou sendedst a multitude of vnreasona-ble beastes vpon them for a vengeance, that they might know, that wherewith a man sinneth, by the same also shall he be punished.
14 For vnto thine almightie hand, that made *Gene.1.1. the world of *naught, it was not vnpossible to send *Leuit.26.22. among them a multitude of *beares or fierce lyons, ierem.8.16,17. chap.16.1. 15 Or furious beasts newly created, & vnknowen, which should breath out blastes of fire, & cast out smoke as a tempest, or shoote horrible sparkes like lightnings out of their eyes.
16 Which might not onely destroy them with hurting, but also kill them with their horrible sight.
17 Yea, without these might they haue bene cast downe with one winde, being persecuted by thy vengeance, and scattered abroad through the power of thy Spirite: but thou hast ordered al things in measure, number and weight.
18 For thou hast euer had great strength and might, and who can withstande the power of thine arme?
19 For as the small thing that ẏ balance weigh-eth, so is the world before thee, and as a drop of the morning dewe, that falleth downe vpon the earth.
20 But thou hast mercie vpon all: for thou hast power of al things, & makest as though thou sawest not the sinnes of men, because they should amend.
21 For thou louest all the things that are, & ha-test none of them whome thou hast made: for thou wouldest haue created nothing ẏ thou hadst hated.
22 And how might any thing endure, if it were not thy will? or how could any thing be preserued, except it were called of thee?
23 But thou sparest all: for they are thine, O
Lord, which art the louer of soules.

CHAP. XII.

1 The mercie of God toward sinners. 14 The workes of God are vnreproueable. 19 God giueth leasure to repent.

FOr thine incorruptible spirit is in all things.
2 Therfore thou chastenest them measurably that go wrong, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance of the things wherein they haue offended, that leauing wickednes, they may beleeue in thee, O Lord.
3 *As for those olde inhabitants of the holy *Deut.9.5. 31.and.18.12.
land, thou diddest hate them.
4 For they committed abominable workes, as sorceries and wicked sacrifices, 5 And slaying of their owne children without mercy, & eating of ẏ bowels of mans flesh in banke-ting, where ẏ raging Priests shed abominable blood.
6 And the fathers were the chiefe murtherers of the soules, destitute of all helpe, whome thou wouldest destroy by the hands of our fathers, 7 That the lande which thou louest aboue all other, might be a meete dwelling for the children of God.
8 *Neuertheles, thou sparedst them also as men, *Exod.23.28. deut.7.22.
and sendedst the forerunners of thine hoste, euen hornets to destroy them by litle and litle, 9 Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodly vnto ẏ righteous in battel, or ẇ cruell beasts, or with one rough word to destroy them together.
10 But in punishing them by litle and litle, thou gauest them space to repent, knowing well, that it was an vnrighteous nation & wicked of nature, and that their thought could neuer be altered.
11 For it was a cursed seede from the beginning:
yet hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou fearedst any man.
12 For who dare say, *What hast thou done? *Rom.9.20.
or who dare stand against thy iudgement? or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whome thou hast made? or who dare stand against thee to reuenge the wicked men?
13 For there is none other God but thou, *that *1.Pet.5.7. carest for all things, that thou mayest declare howe that thy iudgement is not vnright.
14 There dare neither King nor tyrant in thy sight require accounts of them whome thou hast punished.
15 For so much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou orderest all things righteously, *thinking *Iob.10.2,3.
it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him,
that hath not deserued to be punished.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righte-ousnesse, and because thou art Lord of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.
17 When men thinke thee not to be of a perfite power, thou declarest thy power, and reproouest the boldnesse of the wise.
18 But thou ruling the power, iudgest with equi-tie, and gouernest vs with great fauour: for thou maist shew thy power when thou wilt.
19 By such workes nowe hast thou taught thy people, that a man should be iust and louing, and hast made thy children to bee of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.
20 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserued death with so great consideration, & requesting vnto them, giuing them time & place that they might change from their wickednes, 21 With howe great circumspection wilt thou punish thine owne children, vnto whose fathers thou hast sworne and made couenants of good promises?
22 So when thou doest chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousande times more, to the intent that when we iudge, wee shoulde diligently consider thy goodnesse, & when we are iudged, we should hope for mercie.
23 Wherfore thou hast tormented the wicked that haue liued a dissolute life by their own imaginatiōs.
*Chap.11.13,16. rom.1.23. 24 * For they went astray very farre in the wayes of errour, and esteemed the beasts, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the maner of children, that haue none vnderstanding.
25 Therfore hast thou sent this punishment that they should be in derision as childrē without reason.
26 But they that will not be reformed by those scornefull rebukes, shall feele the worthie punishment of God.
27 For in those things when they suffred, they disdained: but in these whom they counted godly, when they sawe themselues punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God whom afore they had denied to know: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 All things be vaine, except the knowledge of God. 10 Idolaters and idoles are mocked.

SVrely all men are vaine by nature, and are igno-

by the good things that are seene, neither consider by the workes, the worke master.
*Deut.4.19. eccl.17.3. 2 * But they thought the fire, or the winde or the swift aire, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lightes of heauen to bee gouer-nours of the world, and gods.
3 Though they had such pleasure in their beau-tie that they thought them gods, yet shoulde they haue knowen, how much more excellent he is that made them: for the first authour of beautie hath created these things.
4 Or if they marueiled at the power, and operation of thē, yet should they haue perceiued thereby, howe much he that made these things, is mightier.
5 For by the greatnesse of their beautie, and of the creatures, the Creator being compared with them, may be considered.
6 But yet the blame is lesse in these, that seeke God and would finde him, & yet peraduenture doe erre.
*Rom.1.21. 7 For *they goe about by his workes to seeke him, and are perswaded by the sight, because the things are beautifull that are seene.
8 Howbeit they are not to be excused,
9 For if they can know so much, that they can discerne the worlde, why doe they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?
10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods, which are the workes of mens hands, golde, and siluer, & the thing that is inuented by arte, & the similitude of beastes, or any vaine stone that hath bene made by the hand of antiquitie.
11 * Or as when a carpenter cutteth downe a *Isa.44.13. iere.10.3. tree meete for the worke, and pareth off all the barke thereof cunningly, & by arte maketh a vessell profitable for the vse of life.
12 And the things that are cut off from his worke, he bestoweth to dresse his meate to fill himselfe, 13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a crooked piece of wood and full of knobbes) he carueth it diligently at his leasure, and according as hee is expert in cunning, he giueth it a proportion, and facioneth it after the similitude of a man, 14 Or maketh it like some vile beast, and straketh it ouer with red, and painteth it, and couereth euery spotte that is in it.
15 And when he hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, and maketh it fast with yron,
16 Prouiding so for it, least it fall: for he knoweth that it cannot helpe it selfe, because it is an image, which hath neede of helpe.
17 Then he prayeth for his goods, and for his mariage & for children: he is not ashamed to speake vnto it, that hath no life.
18 Hee calleth on him that is weake for health:
he prayeth vnto him that is dead for life: he requireth him of helpe that hath no experience at all.
19 And for his iourney, him that is not able to goe, and for gaine, and worke, and successe of his affaires he requireth furtherance of him, that hath no maner of power.

CHAP. XIIII.

*1 The detestation and abomination of images, 8 A curse of them, and of him that maketh them. 14 Whereof idolatrie proceeded.

AGaine, another man purposing to saile, and intending to passe thorow the raging waues, calleth vpon a stocke more rotten then the shippe that

3 But thy prouidence, O Father, gouerneth it:

sure path among the waues, 4 Declaring thereby, that thou hast power to helpe in all things, yea, though a man went to the sea without meanes.
5 Neuerthelesse thou wouldest not, that the workes of thy wisdome should be vaine, & therefore doe men cōmit their liues to a small piece of wood, & passe ouer the stormie sea in a ship, and are saued.
6 * For in the olde time also when the proude *Gen.6.4. and 7.10.
giants perished, the hope of the worlde went into a ship which was gouerned by thine hand, and so left seede of generation vnto the world.
7 For blessed is the tree whereby righteousnes commeth.

both like hated of God: so truely the worke and he
that made it, shall be punished together.
10 Therefore shall there be a visitation for the

they are become abomination, * and stumbling *Ierem.10.8.

feete of the vnwise.
11 For the inuenting of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.
12 For they were not from the beginning, neither shall they continue for euer.
13 The vaine glorie of men brought them into the world: therfore shal they come shortly to an end.
14 When a father mourned grieuously for his sonne that was taken away suddenly, he made an image for him that was once dead, whom nowe he worshippeth as a god, and ordeined to his seruants ceremonies and sacrifices.
15 Thus by proces of time this wicked custome preuailed, and was kept as a lawe, and idoles were worshipped by the commandement of tyrants.
16 As for those that were so farre off that men might not worship them presently, they did counterfeit the visage that was farre off, and made a gorgeous image of a King, whom they would honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him that was absent, as though he had bene present.
17 Againe the ambition of the craftesmen thrust forward the ignorant to increase the superstition.
18 For he peraduenture willing to please a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the best fashion.
19 And so thorow the beautie of the worke the multitude was allured, and so tooke him nowe for a God, which a litle afore was but honoured as a man.
20 And this was the deceiuing of mans life, when men, being in seruitude, through calamitie and ty-rannie ascribed vnto stones and stockes the name, which ought not to be communicate vnto any.
21 Moreouer, this was not ynough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but where as they liued in great warres of ignorance, those so great plagues called they peace.
22 For either * they slewe their owne children *Deut.18.10.
in sacrifice, or vsed secret ceremonies, or raging dis- ierem.7.9.and solutenes by strange rites, 19.4.
23 And so kept neither life nor mariage cleane:
but either one slewe another by treason, or els vexed him by adulterie.
24 So were all mixt together, blood and slaughter, theft and deceit, corruption, vnfaithfulnesse, tu-multes, periurie,
25 Disquieting of good men, vnthankfulnesse, defiling of soules, changing of birth, disorder in ma-riage, adulterie and vncleannesse.
26 For the worshipping of idoles that ought not to be named, is the beginning and the cause and the ende of all euill.
27 For either they be mad when they be merie, or prophesie lyes, or liue vngodly, or els lightly forsweare themselues.
28 For in so much as their trust is in the idoles, which haue no life, though they sweare falsely, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.
29 Therefore for two causes shall they iustly be punished, because they haue an euill opinion of God, addicting them selues vnto idols, and because they sweare vniustly to deceiue, and despise holines.
30 For it is not ÿ power of them by whom they sweare, but ÿ vengeance of them that sinne, which punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The voyce of the faithfull, praysing the mercie of God, by whose grace they serue not idoles.

BVt thou, O our God, art gracious and true, long suffering, and gouernest all things by mercie.
2 Though wee sinne, yet are we thine: for wee knowe thy power: but we sinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.
3 For to know thee, is perfite righteousnes, and to know thy power is the roote of immortalitie.
4 For neither hath the wicked inuention of men deceiued vs, nor the vnprofitable labour of the painters, nor an image spotted with diuers colours.
5 Whose sight stirreth vp the desire of the ignorant: so that he coueteth the forme that hath no life, of a dead image.
6 They that loue such wicked things are worthie to haue such things to trust to, and they that make them, and they that desire them, and they that worship them.
7 The * potter also tempereth soft earth, and *Rom.9.21.
facioneth euery vessell with labour to our vse: but of the same clay he maketh both the vessels, that serue to cleane vses, and the contrarie likewise: but whereto euery vessell serueth, the potter is ÿ iudge.
8 So by his wicked labour hee maketh a vaine
God of the same clay: euen he, which a litle afore was made of earth himselfe, and within a litle while after goeth thither againe whence hee was taken,
*when he shal make account for the lone of his life. *Luke 12.20.
9 Notwithstanding hee careth not for the labour he taketh, nor that his life is short, but striueth with the goldsmithes, and siluersmithes, and counterfeiteth the coppersmithes, and taketh it for an honour to make deceiueable things.
10 His heart is ashes, & his hope is more vile then earth, & his life is lesse worthy of honour then clay.
11 For he knoweth not his owne maker, ÿ gaue him his soule, that had power and breathed in him
the breath of life.
12 But they count our life to be but a pastime, and our conuersation as a market, where there is gaine: for they say we ought to be getting on euery side, though it be by euill meanes.
13 Nowe he ÿ of earth maketh fraile vessels and images, knoweth himselfe to offend aboue al other.
14 All the enemies of thy people, that hold them in subiection, are most vnwise, and more miserable then very fooles.
15 For they iudge all the idoles of the nations to be gods, which neither haue eye sight to see, nor noses to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of handes to grope, and their feete are slowe to goe.
16 For man made them, and he that hath but a borowed spirite, facioned them: but no man can make a God like vnto himselfe.
17 For seeing he is but mortall himselfe, it is but mortall that he maketh with vnrighteous hands: he himselfe is better then they whom he worshippeth:
for he liued, but they neuer liued.
18 Yea, they worshipped beastes also, which are their most enemies, and which are the worst, if they be compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.
19 Neither haue they any beautie to be desired in respect of other beastes: for they are destitute of Gods prayse, and of his blessing.

nished & *tormented by ÿ multitude of beasts. *Chap.11.15. numb.11.6.

the things which were shewed & sent among them, might turne away their necessarie desire, and that they, which had suffered penurie for a space, should also feele a newe taste.
4 For it was requisite, that they which vsed ty-rannie,should fall into extreeme pouertie, and that to these only it should be shewed, howe their enemies were tormented.
5 *For when the cruell fiercenes of the beasts *Numb.21.6. 1.cor.10.9.

led them, and there was no remedie found for their life: for they were worthy to be punished by such.
10 But the teeth of the venemous dragōs could not ouercome thy children: for thy mercy came to helpe them,and healed them.
11 For they were pricked, because they should remember thy wordes, and were speedily healed, least they should fal into so deepe forgetfulnes, that they could not be called backe by thy benefite.
12 For neither herbe nor plaster healed them,
but thy worde,O Lord, which healeth all things.
13 For thou hast the power of life and death, gest vp againe.

14 A man in deede by his wickednesse may slay another: but when the spirite is gone foorth,it turneth not againe,neither can he call againe the soule that is taken away.

thee, were punished by the strength of thine arme,
with strange raine and with haile, and were pursued with tempest,that they could not auoide, and were consumed with fire.
17 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might doe more then water, which quencheth all things:
but the world is the auenger of the righteous.
18 For sometime was the fire so tame, that the beasts, which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not:and that, because they should see & know, that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.
19 And sometime burnt the fire in the middes of the water aboue the power of fire, that it might destroy the generation of the vniust land.
20 * In the steade whereof thou hast fed thine *Exod.16.14. numb.11.7. psal.78.25. iohn 6.31.
owne people with Angels foode, and sent them bread ready from heauen without their labour, which had aboundance of all pleasures in it and was meete for all tastes.
21 For thy sustenance declared thy sweetenesse vnto thy children, which serued to the appetite of him that tooke it, and was meete to that that euery man would.

and melted not,that they might know,that the fire burning in the haile, and sparkeling in the raine,destroyed the fruite of the enemies.
23 Againe it forgate his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished.
24 For the creature that serueth thee which art
the maker, is fierce in punishing the vnrighteous:
but it is easie to doe good vnto such as put their trust in thee.
25 Therefore was it changed at the same time vnto all facions to serue thy grace, which nouri-sheth all things, according to the desire of them that had neede thereof,

Lorde,might knowe, * that it is not the increase of *Deut.8.3. matth.4.4. fruites that feedeth men, but that it is thy worde, which preserueth them that trust in thee.
27 For that which could not be destroyed with the fire, being only warmed a little with the sunne beames, melted, 28 That it might be knowen that wee ought to preuent the sunne rising to giue thankes vnto thee, and to salute thee before the day spring.
29 For the hope of the vnthankfull shall melt as the winter yce, and flowe away as vnprofitable waters.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgements of God against the wicked.

FOr thy iudgements are great,and can not be expressed: therefore men doe erre,that wil not be reformed.
2 For when the vnrighteous thought to haue thine holy people in subiection, they were bound with the bands of darknesse,and long night,and being shut vp vnder the roofe, did lie there to escape the euerlasting prouidence.
3 And while they thought to bee hid in their darke sinnes, they were scattered abroade in the darke couering of forgetfulnesse, fearing horribly and troubled with visions.
4 For the denne that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the soundes that were about them, troubled them, and terrible visions and sorowfull sightes did appeare.
5 No power of the fire might giue light, neither might the cleare flames of the starres lighten the horrible night.
6 For there appeared vnto them only a sudden fire,very dreadfull: so that being afraide of this vision, ‖which they could not see, they thought the ‖That is,the mighty vision.
things,which they sawe,to be worse.
7 * And the illusions of the magical artes were *Exod.7.12.and 8.7. brought downe, & it was a most shamefull reproch for the boasting of their knowledge.
8 For they that promised to driue away feare and trouble from the sicke person, were sicke for feare,and worthy to be laughed at.
9 And though no fearful thing did feare them, yet were they afraide at the beastes which passed by them,and at the hissing of the serpents: so that they died for feare,and said they sawe not the ayre,which by no meanes can be auoyded.
10 For it is a fearefull thing, when malice is condemned by her owne testimonie: and a conscience that is touched,doeth euer forecast cruell things.
11 For feare is nothing els, but a betraying of the succors, which reason offreth.
12 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doeth he esteeme the ignorance of the thing,
that

that tormenteth him, great.

13 But they that did endure the night that was intollerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleepe, 14 And sometimes were troubled with monstruous visions, and sometime they swooned, as though their owne soule should betray them: for a sudden feare not looked for came vpon them.

15 And thus, whosoeuer fell downe, he was kept and shut in prison, but without chaines.

16 For whether hee was an husband man, or a shepheard, or one that was set to worke alone, if he were taken, hee must suffer this necessitie, that he could not auoide:

17 (For with one chaine of darknesse were they all bounde) whether it were an hissing winde, or a sweete song of the birdes among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemencie of hastie running water,

18 Or a great noyse of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping beastes, that coulde not be seene, or the noyse of cruell beastes, that roared, or the || sounde that answereth againe in the holowe mountaines: these fearefull thinges made them to swoone.

19 For al the world shined with cleare light, and no man was hindred in his labour.

20 Onely vpon them there fell an heauie night, an image of that darkenesse that was to come vpon them: yea, they were vnto themselues more grieuous then darkenesse.

4 But they were worthy to be depriued of the light, and to be kept in darkenesse, which had kept thy children shut vp, by whom the vncorrupt light of the Lawe should be giuen to the world.

5 * Whereas they thought to slay the babes of the Saints, by one childe that was cast out, and preserued to reprooue them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children and destroyed them all together in the mightie water.

*Exod.1.16.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they knowing vnto what othes they had giuen credite, might be of good cheere.

7 Thus thy * people receiued the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroyed.

*Exo.14.24,25.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whome thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offered secretly, and made a Lawe of righteousnes by one consent, that the Saintes shoulde receiue good and euill in like maner, and that the fathers should first sing prayses.

10 But a disagreeing crie was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noise for the children that were bewailed.

11 For the * master and the seruant were punished with like punishment, and the common people suffered alike with the King.

*Exo.11.5.

12 So they all together had innumerable that died with one kinde of death: neither were ẏ liuing sufficient to burie them: for in the twinckling of an eye the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

13 So they that could beleeue nothing, because of the enchantments, confessed this people to be the children of God, in the destruction of ẏ first borne.

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the middest of her swift course,

15 Thine Almightie worde leapt downe from heauen out of thy royall throne, as a fierce man of warre in the middes of the land that was destroyed,

16 And brought thine vnfained commaundement as a sharpe sworde, and stoode vp and filled all things with death, and being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

17 Then the sight of the fearefull dreames vexed them suddenly, and fearefulnes came vpon them vnawares.

18 Then lay there one here, another there halfe dead, and shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the visiōs that vexed them, shewed them these things afore: so that they were not ignorant, wherefore they perished.

20 Nowe tentation of death touched the righteous also, and * among the multitude in the wildernesse there was a plague, but the wrath indured not long.

*Nom.16.48.

21 For the blameles man made haste, and defended them, and tooke the weapons of his ministration, euen prayer, and the recconciliation by the perfume, and set himselfe against the wrath, and so brought the miserie to an ende, declaring that hee was thy seruant.

22 For he ouercame not the multitude with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the word he subdued him that punished, alleadging the othes and couenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when the dead were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another, he stoode in the middes, and cut off the wrath, and parted it from comming to the liuing.

24 * For in the long garment was all the ornament, and in the foure rowes of the stones was the glory of the fathers grauen with thy maiestie in the diademe of his head.

*Exo.28.6,16.

25 Vnto these the destroyer gaue place, and was afraide of them: for it was sufficient, that they had tasted the wrath.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The death of the Egyptians, and the great ioy of the Hebrewes. 11 The meate that was giuen at the desire of the people. 17 All the elements serue to the will of God.

AS for the vngodly, the wrath came vpon them without mercy vnto the ende: for hee knewe what should come vnto them,

2 That they (when they had consented to let them goe, and had sent them out with diligence) would repent, and pursue them.

3 For while yet sorowe was before them, and they lamented by the graues of the dead, they deuised another foolishnesse, so that they persecuted them in their fleeing, whome they had cast out afore with prayer.

4 For the destinie, whereof they were worthy, brought them to this ende, and caused them to forget forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remained by torments,

5 Both that thy people might trie a marueilous passage, and that these might finde a strange death.
6 For euery creature in his kinde was facioned of newe, and serued in their owne offices inioyned them, that thy children might be kept without hurt.
7 For the cloude ouershadowed their tentes, and the drye earth appeared, where afore was water:
so that in the red sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a greene fielde.
8 Through the which all the people went that were defended with thine hand, seeing thy wonderous marueiles.
‖Or, were fed. 9 For they ‖ neyed like horses, and leaped like lambes, praysing thee, O Lord, which haddest de-liuered them.
10 For they were yet mindefull of those things which were done in the land where they dwelt, how the ground brought foorth flyes, in stead of cattell, and howe the riuer scrauled with the multitude of frogges in steade of fishes.
*Exod.16.13. num.11.31. 11 *But at the last they sawe a newe generation of birdes, when they were intised with lust, and desired delicate meates.
*Chap.16.2. 12 *For the quailes came foorth of the sea vnto them for comfort, but punishments came vpon the ‖Or, Egyptians. ‖ sinners not without signes that were giuen by great thundrings: for they suffered worthily according to their wickednesse, because they shewed a cruell hatred toward strangers.
13 For the one sort would not receiue them when they were present, because they knew them not: the other sort brought the strangers into bondage that had done them good.
14 Beside all these things some would not suffer, that any regard shoulde bee had of them: for they handled the strangers despitefully.
15 Others that had receiued them with great banketting, and admitted them to be partakers of the same lawes, did afflict them with great labours.
16 Therfore they were stricken with blindnesse, as in olde time certaine were at the doores of the *righteous, so that euery one being compassed with *Gen.19.11. darkenesse, sought the entrance of his doore.
17 Thus the elements agreed among themselues in this change, as when one tune is changed vpon an instrument of musicke, and the melodie still remaineth, which may easily be perceiued by the sight of the things that are come to passe.
18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, and the thing that did swimme went vpon the ground.
19 The fire had power in the water contrary vnto his owne vertue, and the water forgate his owne kinde to quench.
20 Againe, the flames did not hurt the flesh of the corruptible beasts that walked therein, neither melted they that which seemed to be yce, & was of a nature that would melt, & yet was an immortal meate.
21 For in all things, O Lord, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and hast not despised to assist them in euery time and place.

THE WISDOME OF IESVS THE SONNE OF SIRACH, CALLED ECCLESIASTICVS.

This Argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

THis Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirachs father was also called Iesus, and hee liued in the latter times, after the people had bene ledde away captiue, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Nowe his grandfather, as he himselfe witnesseth, was a man of great diligence, and wisedome among the Hebrewes, who did not onely gather the graue sentences of wise men, that had bene before him, but he himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisedome. So this first Iesus dyed, and left this which he had gathered, and Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who tooke it and put it in order in a booke, and called it WISDOME, intituling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking by this title of VVisdome to allure the reader to reade this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke containeth wise sayings, and darke sentences, and similitudes with certaine diuine histories which are notable and ancient, euen of men that were approoued of God, and certaine prayers, and songs of the author himselfe: moreouer, what benefites the Lorde had bestowed vpon his people, and what plagues he had heaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was no lesse famous in wisedome and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was in deede.

The Prologue of the wisdome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

VVHere as many, and great things haue bene giuen vs by the Lawe and the Prophets, and by others that haue followed them, (for the which things Israel ought to be commended by the reason of doctrine and wisedome, whereby the readers ought not onely to become learned themselues, but also may be able by the diligent studie thereof to be profitable vnto strangers both by speaking and writing) after that my grandfather Iesus had giuen himselfe to the reading of the Lawe and the Prophets, and other bookes of our fathers, and had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, he purposed also to write something perteyning to learning and wisedome, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne, and would giue themselues to these things, might profite much more in liuing according to the Lawe. Wherefore I exhort you to receiue it louingly, and to reade it with diligence, and to take it in good woorth, though wee seeme to some in some things not able to atteine to the interpretation of such words as are hard to be expressed: for the things that are spoken in the Hebrewe tongue, haue another force in themselues then when they are translated into another tongue, and not onely these things, but other things also, as the Lawe it selfe, and the prophets, and other bookes haue no small difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yeere, when I came into Egypt vnder King Euergetes, and continued there, I found a copie full of great learning, and I thought it necessarie,

cessarie, to bestowe my diligence, and trauaile to interprete this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching and studie I gaue my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, that they which remaine in banishment, and are desirous to learne, might applie themselues vnto good maners, and liue according to the Lawe.

CHAP. I.

1 Wisdome commeth of God. 11 A prayse of the feare of God. 29 The meanes to come by wisdome.

ALl wisdome * commeth of the Lord, [and hath bene euer with him] and is with him for euer.

*1.King.3.9. and 4.29.

That which is marked with these two markes [] is read in the Latine copies, and not in the Greeke.

2 Who can number the sand of the sea, and the droppes of the raine, and the dayes of the worlde? [who can measure] the height of heauen, the breadth of the earth, and the depth?

3 Who can finde the wisedome [of God which hath bene before all things?]

4 Wisdome hath bene created before all things, and the vnderstanding of prudence from euerlasting.

5 [The word of God most high is the fountaine of wisedome, and the euerlasting commandements are the entrance vnto her.]

6 *Vnto whom hath the roote of wisdome bene declared? or who hath knowen his wise counsels?

7 [Vnto whom hath the doctrine of wisedome bene discouered and shewed? and who hath vnderstoode the manifolde entrance vnto her?]

8 There is one wise, [euen the most high Creator of al things, the Almightie, the King of power] and very terrible, which sitteth vpon his throne.

9 He is the Lord, that hath created her [thorow the holy Ghost:] hee hath seene her, numbred her, [and measured her.]

10 He hath powred her out vpon all his works, and vpon all flesh, according to his gift, and giueth her abundantly vnto them that loue him.

11 The feare of the Lord is glory, and gladnesse, and reioycing, and a ioyfull crowne.

12 The feare of the Lord maketh a mery heart, and giueth gladnesse and ioy, and long life.

13 Who so feareth the Lord, it shal go wel with him at the last, and he shall finde fauour in the day of his death.

14 [The loue of God is honourable wisedome, and vnto whom it appeareth in a vision, they loue it for the vision, and for the knowledge of the great workes thereof.]

15 * The feare of the Lord is the beginning of wisedome, and was made with the faithfull in the wombe: [she goeth with the chosen women, and is knowen with the righteous and faithfull.

*Psal.111.10. pro.9.10. iob 28.28.

16 The feare of the Lord is an holy knowledge.

17 Holinesse shall preserue, and iustifie the heart, and giueth mirth and gladnesse.

18 Who so feareth the Lord, shall prosper, and in the day of his ende, he shalbe blessed.]

19 She hath built her euerlasting foundations with men, and is giuen to be with their seede.

20 To feare God is the fulnesse of wisdome, and filleth men with her fruites.

21 She filleth their whole house with [all] things desireable, and the garners with the things, that she bringeth forth, and both twaine are gifts of God.

22 The feare of the Lorde is the crowne of wisdome, and giueth peace and perfect health: he hath seene her, and nombred her.

23 || She rayneth downe knowledge, and vnderstanding of wisedome, and hath brought vnto honour, them that possessed her.

24 The feare of the Lorde is the roote of wisedome, and her branches are long life.

25 [In the treasures of wisedome is vnderstanding, and holy knowledge, but wisedome is abhorred of sinners.]

26 The feare of the Lord driueth out sinne: and when she is present, she driueth away anger.

27 ¶ For wicked anger cannot bee iustified: for his rashnesse in his anger shall be his destruction.

28 A patient man will suffer for a time, and then shall he haue the reward of ioy.

29 He will hide his wordes for a time, and many mens lippes shall speake of his wisedome.

30 In the treasures of wisdome are the secrets of knowledge, but ẏ sinner aborreth ẏ worship of God.

31 If thou desire wisedome, keepe the commandements, and the Lord shall giue her vnto thee, [and will fill her treasures.]

32 For the feare of the Lord is wisdome and discipline: he hath pleasure in faith and meekenesse.

33 Be not disobedient to the feare of the Lord, and come not vnto him with a double heart.

34 ¶ Bee not an hypocrite that men shoulde speake of thee, but take heede what thou speakest.

35 Exault not thy selfe, least thou fall and bring thy soule to dishonour, and so God discouer thy secrets, and cast thee downe in the middes of the congregation, because thou wouldest not receiue the true feare of God, and thine heart is full of deceite.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee exhorteth the seruants of God to righteousnesse, loue, vnderstanding, and patience. 11 To trust in the Lord. 13 A curse vpon them that are faint hearted and impatient.

MY sonne, if thou wilt come into the seruice of God, [stand fast in righteousnesse and feare, and] prepare thy soule to tentation.

2 Settle thine heart, and bee patient: [bowe downe thine eare, and receiue the words of vnderstanding,] and shrinke not away, when thou art assayled, [but wayte vpon God patiently.]

3 Ioyne thy selfe vnto him, and depart not away, that thou mayest be encreased at thy last ende.

4 Whatsoeuer commeth vnto thee, receiue it patiently, & be patient in the change of thine affliction.

5 * For as gold [and siluer are] tryed in the fire, euen so are men acceptable in ẏ fornace of aduersity.

*Wisd.3.6. prou.17.3.

6 Beleeue in God, and he will helpe thee: order thy way aright, and trust in him: [hold fast his feare, and growe olde therein.]

7 Ye that feare the Lord, waite for his mercie: shrinke not away from him that ye fall not.

8 Ye that feare the Lord, beleeue him, and your reward shall not faile.

9 O ye that feare the Lord, trust in good things, and in the euerlasting ioy and mercie.

10 [Ye that feare the Lord, loue him, and your hearts shall be lightened.]

11 Consider the olde generations [of men, yee children,] and marke them well: * was there euer any confounded, that put his trust in the Lord? or who hath continued in his feare, & was forsaken? or whom did he euer despise, that called vpon him?

*Psal.37.25.

12 For God is gracious and mercifull, and forgiueth sinnes, & saueth in the time of trouble, [and is a defender for al them that seeke him in the trueth.]

13 Woe vnto them, that haue a || fearefull heart, [and to the wicked lips] and to the faint hands, and to

*1.king.18.21. to the sinner that goeth two * maner of wayes.
14 Woe unto him that is faint hearted , for hee beleeueth not:therefore shal he not be defended.
15 Woe vnto you that haue lost patience , [and haue forsaken the right waies,and are turned backe into froward waies:] for what wil ye doe when the Lord shal visite you?
16 They that feare the Lord,wil not disobey his
*Iohn 14.23,24. worde:and they that *loue him,wil keepe his waies.
17 They that feare the Lorde, wil seeke out the things that are pleasant vnto him:and they that loue him,shalbe fulfilled with his Lawe.
18 [They that feare the Lord, wil prepare their hearts,and humble their soules in his sight.
19 They that feare the Lorde, keepe his commandements, and wil be patient till he see them, 20 Saying,if we doe not repent] we shal fall into the hands of þ Lord, & not into the hands of men.
21 Yet as his greatnesse is, so is his mercie.

C H A P. III.

2 To our father and mother ought we to giue double honour. 10 Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 22 No man ought ouer curiously to searche out the secretes of God.

[THe children of wisdome are the Church of the righteous,and their offspring is obedience
and loue.]
2 Heare your fathers iudgement , O children,
and doe thereafter, that ye may be safe.
3 For the Lorde wil haue the father honoured
of the children , and hath confirmed the authoritie
of the mother ouer the children.
4 Who so honoureth his father,his sinnes shall
be forgiuen him , [and he shal absteine from them,
and shal haue his dayly desires.] 5 And hee that honoureth his mother , is like
one that gathereth treasure.
6 Who so honoureth his father, shall haue ioy
of his owne children,and when he maketh his prayer, he shalbe heard.
7 He that honoureth his father , shall haue a long life, and he that is obedient vnto the Lorde,
shall comfort his mother.
8 He that feareth the Lorde,honoureth his parents,& doeth seruice vnto his parents,as vnto lords.
*Exod.20.12. deu.5.16. matth.15.4. ephes.6.1,2. 9 * Honour thy father and mother, in deede and in worde[and in all patience],that thou mayest ||Or, the blessing of men. haue || Gods blessing , [and that his blessing may abide with thee in the ende.] 10 For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of the children , and the mothers curse roo-
teth out the foundations.
11 Reioyce not at the dishonour of thy father:
for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame.
12 Seeing that mans glorie commeth by his fathers honour,and the reproche of the mother is dis-
honour to the children, 13 My sonne , helpe thy father in his age , and
grieue him not as long as he liueth.
14 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue patience with him, and despise him not when thou art in thy full strength.
15 For the good intreatie of thy father shal not be forgotten , but it shall be a fortresse for thee against sinnes , [and for thy mothers offence , thou shalt be recompenced with good , and it shall be found for thee in righteousnesse.] 16 And in the day of trouble thou shalt bee re-membred : thy sinnes also shal melt away as the yce
in the faire weather.
17 He þ forsaketh his father,shal come to shame,
and he that angreth his mother, is cursed of God.
18 ¶ My sonne,performe thy doings w meekenes,
so shalt thou be beloued of them that are approued.

selfe[in all things,] and thou shalt finde fauour before the Lorde.
20 Many are excellent and of renowme: but the
secrets are reueiled vnto the meeke.

for thee,neither searche the things rashly which are
too mightie for thee.
23 [But] what [God] hath commaunded thee,
thinke vpon that with reuerence, [and be not curious in many of his workes:]for it is not needeful for thee to see with thine eyes the things that are secret.
24 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee aboue the capacitie
of men.
25 The medling with such hath beguiled many,
and an euil opinion hath deceiued their iudgement.
26 Thou canst not see without eyes:professe not
the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.
27 A stubburne heart shall fare euill at the last:
and he that loueth danger , shall perish therein.
28 An heart that goeth two waies,shall not prosper : and he that is frowarde of heart , shal stumble
therein.
29 An obstinate heart shalbe laden w sorowes:
and the wicked man shal heape sinne vpon sinne.
30 The perswasion of the proude is without remedie , and his steppes shalbe plucked vp: for the plant of sinne hath taken roote in him,[and he shal
not be esteemed.]
31 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, shal perceiue secret things , and an attentiue eare is
the desire of a wise man.

absteine from sinne, and shal prosper in the workes of righteousnesse.]

any confounded, that put his trust in the Lord? or who hath continued in his feare, & was forsaken? or whom did he euer despise, that called vpon him?

ueth sinnes, & saueth in the time of trouble, [and is a defender for al them that seeke him in the trueth.]

C H A P. III.

1 To our father and mother ought we to giue double honour. 10 Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 22 No man ought ouer curiously to searche out the secretes of God.

[THe children of wisdome are the Church of
the righteous, and their offspring is obedience
and loue.]
2 Heare your fathers iudgement, O children,
and doe thereafter, that ye may be safe.
3 For the Lorde wil haue the father honoured
of the children, and hath confirmed the authoritie
of the mother ouer the children.
4 Who so honoureth his father, his sinnes shall
be forgiuen him, [and he shal absteine from them,
and shal haue his dayly desires.]
5 And hee that honoureth his mother, is like
one that gathereth treasure.
6 Who so honoureth his father, shall haue ioy
of his owne children, and when he maketh his prayer, he shalbe heard.
7 He that honoureth his father, shall haue a long life, and he that is obedient vnto the Lorde,
shall comfort his mother.
8 He that feareth the Lorde, honoureth his parents, & doeth seruice vnto his parents, as vnto lords.
9 * Honour thy father and mother, in deede *Exod.20.12. deu.5.16. matth.15.4. ephes.6.1,2.
and in worde [and in all patience], that thou mayest ‖Or, the blessing of men.
haue ‖ Gods blessing, [and that his blessing may abide with thee in the ende.]
10 For the blessing of the father establisheth the
houses of the children, and the mothers curse roo-
teth out the foundations.
11 Reioyce not at the dishonour of thy father:
for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame.
12 Seeing that mans glorie commeth by his fathers honour, and the reproche of the mother is dis-
honour to the children, 13 My sonne, helpe thy father in his age, and
grieue him not as long as he liueth.
14 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue patience
with him, and despise him not when thou art in thy
full strength.
15 For the good intreatie of thy father shal not
be forgotten, but it shall be a fortresse for thee against sinnes, [and for thy mothers offence, thou shalt be recompenced with good, and it shall be
found for thee in righteousnesse.]
16 And in the day of trouble thou shalt bee re-
membred: thy sinnes also shal melt away as the yce
in the faire weather.
17 He ẏ forsaketh his father, shal come to shame,
and he that angreth his mother, is cursed of God.

so shalt thou be beloued of them that are approued.

selfe [in all things,] and thou shalt finde fauour before the Lorde.
20 Many are excellent and of renowme: but the
secrets are reueiled vnto the meeke.

for thee, neither searche the things rashly which are
too mightie for thee.
23 [But] what [God] hath commaunded thee,
thinke vpon that with reuerence, [and be not curious in many of his workes:] for it is not needeful for thee to see with thine eyes the things that are secret.
24 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee aboue the capacitie
of men.
25 The medling with such hath beguiled many,
and an euil opinion hath deceiued their iudgement.
26 Thou canst not see without eyes: professe not
the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.
27 A stubburne heart shall fare euill at the last
and he that loueth danger, shall perish therein.
28 An heart that goeth two waies, shall not prosper: and he that is frowarde of heart, shal stumble
therein.
29 An obstinate heart shalbe laden ẇ sorowes:
and the wicked man shal heape sinne vpon sinne.
30 The perswasion of the proude is without re-
medie, and his steppes shalbe plucked vp: for the plant of sinne hath taken roote in him, [and he shal
not be esteemed.]
31 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding,
shal perceiue secret things, and an attentiue eare is
the desire of a wise man.

MY sonne, defraud not the * poore of his liuing, *Deut.15.7.
and make not the needy eyes to waite long.
2 Make not an hungrie soule sorowfull, neither vexe a man in his necessitie.
3 Trouble not the heart that is grieued, and de-ferre not the gift of the needie.
4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble: * turne not away thy face from the poore. *Tobit 4.7.
5 Turne not thine eyes aside [in anger] from the poore, and giue him none occasion to speake euill of thee.
6 For if he curse thee in ẏ bitternes of his soule,
his prayer shalbe heard of him that made him.
7 Be courteous vnto the companie [of poore, and humble thy soule vnto the Elder,] and bowe downe thine head to a man of worship.
8 Let it not grieue thee to bowe downe thine eare vnto the poore, [but pay thy dette,] and giue him a friendly answere.
9 ¶ Deliuer him that suffereth wrong, from the 10 Be as a father vnto the fatherlesse, and as an husband vnto their mother: so shalt thou be as the sonne of the most High, and he shal loue thee more then thy mother doeth.

11 Wisdome exalteth her children, and recei-ueth them that seeke her, [and wil goe before them in the way of righteousnes.] 12 He that loueth her, loueth life, and they that seeke life in the morning, shal haue great ioy.
13 He that keepeth her, shal inherite glory: for vnto whom shee entreth, him the Lord wil blesse.
14 They that honour her, shall be the seruants of the Holy one, and them that loue her, the Lorde doeth loue.
15 Who so giueth eare vnto her, shall iudge the nations, and he that goeth vnto her, shall dwell safely.
16 He that is faithfull vnto her, shal haue her in possession, and his generation shall possesse her.
17 For first she wil walke with him by crooked wayes, and bring him vnto feare, and dread, and torment him with her discipline vntill shee haue tried his soule, and haue prooued him by her iudgements.
18 Then wil shee returne the streight way vnto him, and comfort him, and shewe him her secretes, [and heape vpon him the treasures of knowledge, and vnderstanding of righteousnesse.] 19 But if he go wrong, she wil forsake him, and giue him ouer into the hands of his destruction.
*Rom.12.21. 1.thess.5.22. 20 [¶My sonne,] make much of time, and *es-chewe the thing that is euill, thy life: for there is a shame that bringeth sinne, and a shame that bringeth worship and fauour.

22 Accept no person against thine owne conscience, that thou bee not confounded to thine owne decay, [& forbeare not thy neighbour in his fault.] 23 And keepe not backe counsell when it may doe good, neither hide thy wisdome when it may be famous.
24 For by the talke is wisdome knowen, and learning by the wordes of the tongue, [and counsel, wisdom and learning by the talking of the wise, and stedfastnes in the workes of righteousnesse.] 25 In no wise speake against the word of trueth, but be ashamed of the lies of thine owne ignorance.
26 Be not ashamed to confesse thy sinnes, and resist not the course of the riuer.
27 Submit not thy selfe vnto a foolish man, neither accept the person of the mightie.
28 Striue for the trueth vnto death, [and defend iustice for thy life,] and the Lord God shal fight for thee [against thine enemies.] 29 Bee not hastie in thy tongue, neither slacke and negligent in thy workes.

presse them that are vnder thee.]

CHAP. V.

1 In riches may we not put any confidence. 7 The vengeance of God ought to be feared, and repentance may not be deferred.

*Prou.10.2. and 11.4. TRust not vnto thy *riches, and say not, I haue ynough for my life: [for it shal not helpe in the time of vengeance and indignation.] 2 Folow not thine owne minde, & thy strength to walke in the wayes of thine heart: 3 Neither say thou, [How haue I had strength?] or who wil bring me vnder for my workes? for God
the auenger wil reuenge the wrong done by thee.
4 And say not, I haue sinned, & what euill hath come vnto mee? for the Almightie is a patient re-warder, but he wil not leaue thee vnpunished.
5 Because thy sinne is forgiuen, be not without feare, to heape sinne vpon sinne.
6 And say not, The mercie of God is great: hee wil forgiue my manifolde sinnes: for mercie and wrath come from him, and his indignation commeth downe vpon sinners.
7 Make no tarying to turne vnto the Lord, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shall the wrath of the Lord breake foorth, and in thy securitie thou shalt be destroied, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.
8 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shall not helpe thee in the day of punishmẽt [& vengeance.] 9 Be not caried about with euery winde, and goe not into euery way: for so doeth the sinner that hath a double tongue.
10 Stande fast in thy sure vnderstanding [and in the way and knowledge of the Lord] and haue but one maner of word, [and follow the worde of peace and righteousnesse.]

12 *Be swift to heare good things, & let thy life *Iam.1.19.
be pure, and giue a patient answere.
13 If thou hast vnderstanding, answere thy neighbour: if not, lay thine hande vpon thy mouth, [least thou be trapped in an vndiscreete worde, and so be blamed.]
14 Honour and shame is in the talke, and the tongue of a man causeth him to fall.

waite with thy tongue: for shame [and repentance] follow the thiefe, and an euil condemnation is ouer him that is double tongued: [but he that is a back-biter, shalbe hated, enuied and confounded.] 16 Doe not rashly, neither in small things nor in great.

CHAP. VI.

1 It is a propertie of a sinner to bee euill tongued. 6 Of friendship. 33 Desire to be taught.

BE not of a friend [thy neighbours] enemie: for such shal haue an euil name, shame and reproch, and hee shall be in infamie as the wicked that hath a double tongue.
2 Be not proude in the deuice of thine owne minde, least thy soule rent thee as a bull, 3 And eate vp thy leaues, & destroy thy fruite, and so thou be left as a dry tree [in the wildernes.] 4 For a wicked soule destroyeth him that hath it, and maketh him to be laughed to scorne of his enemies, [and bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.]
5 A sweete talke multiplieth the friendes [and pacifieth them that be at variance,] and a sweete tongue increaseth much good talke.
6 Holde friendship with many, neuerthelesse haue but one counseller of a thousand.
7 If thou gettest a friend, prooue him first, and be not hastie to credite him.
8 For some man is a friend for his owne occasion, and wil not abide in the day of thy trouble.
9 And there is some friend that turneth to eni-mitie, and taketh part against thee, & in contention he

he will declare thy shame.

10 Againe some *friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction he continueth not. *Chap.37.4.5.

11 But in thy prosperitie he will be as thou thy selfe, and will vse libertie ouer thy seruants.

12 If thou be brought lowe, he will bee against thee, and will hide himselfe from thy face.

13 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friendes.

14 A faithfull friende is a strong defence, and he that findeth such one, findeth a treasure.

15 A faithfull friende ought not to be changed for any thing, and the weight [of gold and siluer] is not to be compared to the goodnesse [of his faith.]

16 A faithfull friend is the medicine of life [and immortalitie,] and they that feare the Lord, shall finde him.

17 Who so feareth the Lorde, shall direct his friendship aright, and as his owne selfe, so shall his friend be.

18 ¶ My sonne, receiue doctrine from thy youth vp: so shalt thou finde wisdome [which shall indure] till thine olde age.

19 Goe to her as one that ploweth, and soweth, and wayte for her good fruites: for thou shalt haue but litle labour in her worke; but thou shalt eate of her fruites right soone.

20 Howe exceeding sharpe is shee to the vnlearned! he that is without iudgement, will not remaine with her.

21 Vnto such one shee is as a fine touchstone, and he casteth her from him without delay.

22 For they haue the name of wisedome, but there be but fewe that haue the knowledge of her.

23 [For with them that knowe her, she abideth vnto the appearing of God.]

24 Giue eare, my sonne: receiue my doctrine, and refuse not my counsell, 25 And put thy feete into her linkes, and thy necke into her chaine.

26 Bow downe thy shoulder vnto her, and beare her, and be not wearie of her bands.

27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power.

28 Seeke after her, and search her, and shee shall be shewed thee: and when thou hast gotten her, forsake her not.

29 For at the last thou shalt finde rest in her, and that shalbe turned to thy ioy.

30 Then shall her fetters be a strong defence for thee, [and a sure foundation] and her chaines a glorious rayment.

31 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her bandes are the laces of purple colour.

32 Thou shalt put her on as a robe of honour, and shalt put her vpon thee, as a crowne of ioy.

33 My sonne, if thou wilt, thou shalt be taught, and if thou wilt apply thy mind, thou shalt be wittie.

34 If thou liue to heare, thou shalt receiue [doctrine,] and if thou delight in hearing, thou shalt be wise.

35 Stand with the multitude of the Elders, which are wise, and ioyne with him that is wise.

36 *Desire to heare all godly talke, and let not the graue sentences of knowledge escape thee. *Chap.8.9.

37 And if thou seest a man of vnderstanding, get thee soone vnto him, and let thy foote weare the steppes of his doores.

38 Let thy minde be vpon the ordinances of the Lord, and be ‖ continually *occupyed in his commandements: so shall hee stablish thine heart, and giue thee wisdome at thine owne desire. ‖Or, earnestly. *Psal.1.2,3.

CHAP. VII.

2 We must forsake euill, and yet not iustifie our selues. 19 The behauiour of the wise toward his wife, his friend, his children and seruants, his father and mother.

Do no euill: so shall no harme come vnto thee.

2 Depart from the thing that is wicked, and sinne shall turne away from thee.

3 My sonne, sowe not vpon the furowes of vnrighteousnesse, lest that thou reape them seuen fold.

4 Aske not of the Lord preeminence, neyther of the king the seate of honour.

5 *Iustifie not thy selfe before the Lord: [for he knoweth thine heart,] and boast not thy wisdome in the presence of the king. *Iob.9.2, & psal.143.2. luke.18.11.

6 Seeke not to be made a Iudge, least thou be not able to take away iniquitie, and least thou, fearing the person of the mightie, shouldest commit an offence against thine vprightnesse.

7 Offend not against the multitude of a citie, and cast not thy selfe among the people.

8 *Binde not two sinnes together: for in one sinne shalt thou not be vnpunished. *Chap.5.5.

9 Say not, God will looke vpon the multitude of mine oblations, & when I offer to the most high God, he will accept it.

10 Be not faint hearted, when thou makest thy prayer, neither slacke in giuing of almes.

11 Laugh no man to scorne in the heauinesse of his soule: for [God which seeth all things] is hee *that can bring downe, and set vp againe. *1.Sam.2.7.

12 Sowe not a lye against thy brother, neyther doe the same against thy friend.

13 Vse not to make any maner of lye: for the custome thereof is not good.

14 Make not many words when thou art among the Elders, neither *repeate a thing in thy prayer. *Mat.6.5,7.

15 Hate not laborious *worke, neither the husbandrie, which the most high hath created. *Rom.12.11.

16 Number not thy selfe in the multitude of the wicked, but remember that vengeance wil not slack.

17 Humble thy minde greatly: for the vengeance of the wicked is fire and wormes.

18 Giue not ouer thy friende for any good, nor thy true brother for the golde of Ophir.

19 Depart not from a wise and good woman, [that is fallen vnto thee for thy portion in the feare of the Lord:] for her grace is aboue golde.

20 ¶ *Whereas thy seruant worketh truely, intreate him not euill, nor the hireling that bestoweth himselfe wholly for thee. *Leuit.19.13. chap.33.29. and 34.22.

21 Let thy soule loue a good seruant, and defraude him not of libertie, [neither leaue him a poore man.]

23 *If thou haue sonnes, instruct them, and hold their necke from their youth. *Chap.30.11.

24 If thou haue daughters, keepe their body, and shewe not thy face cheerefull toward them.

25 Marry thy daughter, and so shalt thou performe a weightie matter: but giue her to a man of vnderstanding.

26 If thou haue a wife after thy minde, forsake her not, but commit not thy selfe to the hatefull.

27 *Honour thy father from thy whole heart, and forget not the sorowes of thy mother. *Chap.3.9. tob.4.3.

28 Remember that thou wast borne of them, and found iust vnto their graue.

15 Keepe thee from the man that hath power to slay: so shalt thou not doubt the feare of death:
and if thou come vnto him, make no fault, least he take away thy life: remember that thou goest in the middes of snares, and that thou walkest vpon the towres of the citie.

workes bee commended, and the wise prince of the people by his word, [and the worde by the wise-dome of the Elders.] 20 A man full of words is dangerous in his citie,
and he that is rash in his talking shalbe hated.

CHAP. X.

1 Of Kings and Iudges. 7 Pride and couetousnesse are to be abhorred. 28 Labour is praised.

A Wise Iudge will instruct his people with discretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is well ordered.

2 As the iudge of the people is him selfe, so are his officers, and what maner of man the ruler of the citie is, such are all they that dwell therein.
3 * An vnwise king destroyeth his people, but
*1.King.12.7, 13,14. where they that be in authoritie, are men of vnder-standing, there the citie prospereth.
4 The gouernement of the earth is in the hand of the Lorde, [and all iniquitie of the nations is to be abhorred,] and when time is, he wil set vp a profitable ruler ouer it.
5 In the hand of God is the prosperitie of man,
and vpon the scribes will he lay his honour.
*Leuit.19.17. 6 * Be not angrie for any wrong, with thy neighbour, and doe nothing by iniurious practises.
7 Pride is hatefull before God and man, and by both doth one commit iniquitie.
*Iere.27.6.deut. 4.14. 8 * Because of vnrighteous dealings & wrongs and riches gotten by deceit, the kingdome is translated from one people to another.
9 There is nothing woorsse then a couetous man: [why art thou proude, O earth and ashes?
there is not a more wicked thing, then to loue money:] for such one woulde euen sell his soule, and for his life euery man is compelled to pull out his owne bowels.
10 [All tyrannie is of small indurance, and the disease that is hard to heale, is grieuous to the physitian.]
11 The physitian cutteth off the sore disease, and he that is to day a king, to morow is dead.
12 Why is earth and ashes proude, seeing that when a man dieth, he is the heire of serpents, beasts and wormes?
13 The beginning of mans pride, is to fall away from God, and to turne away his heart from his maker.
14 For pride is the original of sinne, and he that hath it, shall powre out abomination, till at last he be ouerthrowen: therefore the Lorde bringeth the persuasions [of the wicked] to dishonour, and de-stroyeth them in the end.
*Luke 1.52.and 14.11.and 18.14. 1.sam.2.7,8. 15 The Lord hath * cast downe the thrones of the [proude] princes, and set vp the meeke in their stead.
16 The Lorde plucketh vp the rootes of the [proude] nations, and planteth the lowly with glorie among them.
17 The Lorde ouerthroweth the landes of the heathen, and destroyeth them vnto the foundations of the earth: hee causeth them to wither away, and destroyeth them, and maketh their memoriall to cease out of the earth.
18 [God destroyeth the memorial of the proud, and leaueth the remembrance of the humble.] 19 Pride was not created in men, neither wrath in the generation of women.
20 There is a seede of man which is an honourable seede: the honourable seede are they that feare the Lorde: there is a seede of man, which is without honour: the seede without honour, are they that transgresse the commaundementes of the Lord: it is a seede that remaineth which feareth the Lord, and a faire plant, that loue him: but they are a seede without honour, that despise the Lawe, and a deceiueable seede that breake the commaundements.
21 He that is the chiefe among brethren, is honourable: so are they that feare the Lorde in his sight.
22 The feare of the Lord causeth that the kingdome faileth not, but the kingdome is lost by cru-eltie and pride.
23 The feare of the Lorde is the glory aswell of the rich and the noble, as of the poore.
24 It is not meete to despise the poore man that hath vnderstanding, neither is it couenient to magnifie the rich that is a wicked man.
25 The great man and the iudge and the man of authority, are honourable, yet is there none of them greater, then he that feareth the Lord.
26 * Vnto the seruant that is wise, shal they that *Prou.17.2.
are free, doe seruice: * he that hath knowledge, will *2.Sam.12.13.
not grudge when hee is reformed, [and the ignorant shall not come to honour.] 27 Seeke not excuses when thou shouldest doe thy worke, neither bee ashamed thereof through pride in the time of aduersitie.
28 * Better is hee that laboureth and hath plen- *Prou.12.9,12.
teousnesse of all things, then hee that is gorgeous,
and wanteth bread.
29 My sonne, get thy selfe prayse by meekenes, and esteeme thy selfe as thou deseruest.
30 Who wil count him iust that sinneth against himselfe? or honour him, that dishonoureth his owne soule?
31 The poore is honoured for his knowledge [and his feare,] but the rich is had in reputation because of his goods.
32 Hee that is honourable in pouertie, howe much more shall he be when he is rich? and he that is vnhonest being rich, howe much more will he be so when he is in pouertie?

CHAP. XI.

ought we not to iudge. 7 Of rash iudgement. 14 All thinges come of God. 29 All men are not to bee brought into thine house.*

great men.
2 Commend not a man for his beautie, neither despise a man in his vtter appearance.

doth her fruit passe in sweetnesse.
4 Be not proude of clothing and rayment, rious,] secrete, [and vnknowen] are his workes a-

their tales.
9 Striue not for a matter that thou hast not to do with, and sit not in the iudgement of sinners.
10 My sonne, meddle not with many matters: *Matth.19.22. 1.tim.6.9.
* for if thou gaine much, thou shalt not be blame-lesse, and if thou followe after it, yet shalt thou not attaine it, neither shalt thou escape, though thou flee from it.
11 * There is some man that laboureth and ta- *Prou.10.3.
keth paine, and the more he hasteth, the more hee wanteth.

12 Againe there is some that is slouthfull, and
* hath need of helpe: for he wanteth strength, and hath great pouerty, yet the eye of the Lord looketh vpon him to good, and setteth him vp from his low estate, *Iob.42.10.
13 And he lifteth vp his head: so that many men maruell at him, [and giue honour vnto God.] 14 * Prosperitie and aduersitie, life and death, pouertie and riches come of the Lord. *Iob.1.21. ezek.18.4.
15 Wisedome and knowledge, and vnderstanding of the Lawe are of the Lorde: loue and good works come of him.
16 Errour and darkenesse are appointed for sinners, and they that exalt themselues in euill, waxe olde in euill.
17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godly, and his good will giueth prosperitie for euer.
18 ¶ Some man is rich by his care and nigardship, and this is the portion of his wages, 19 In that hee saith, * I haue gotten rest, and nowe will I eate continually of my goods, yet hee considereth not, that the time draweth neere, that he must leaue all these things vnto other men, and die himselfe. *Luk.12.20.
20 Stand thou in thy state, and exercise thy selfe therein, and remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.
21 Maruell not at the works of sinners, but trust in the Lorde, and abide in thy labour: for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lorde, suddenly to make a poore man rich.
22 The blessing of the Lorde is in the wages of the godly, and he maketh his prosperitie soone to flourish.
23 ¶ Say not, What profite and pleasure shall I haue? and what good things shall I haue hereafter?
24 Againe say not, I haue enough, and possesse many thinges, * and what euill can come to mee hereafter? *Chap.18.24.
25 In thy good state remember aduersitie, and in aduersitie forget not prosperitie.
26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lorde in the day of death to rewarde a man according to his wayes.
27 The aduersitie of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans ende, his workes are discouered.
28 Iudge none blessed before his death: for a man shall be knowen by his children.
29 Bring not euery man into thine house: for the deceitfull haue many traines, [and are like stomacks that belch stinkingly.] 30 As a partrich is taken vnder a basket, [and the hind is taken in the snare,] so is the heart of the proud man, which like a spie watcheth for thy fall.
31 For he lieth in waite and turneth good vnto euill, and in thinges worthie praise hee will finde some fault.
32 Of one litle sparke is made a great fire, [and of one deceitfull man is blood increased:] for a sin-
full man layeth wait for blood.
33 Beware of a wicked man: for hee imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetual shame.
34 Lodge a stranger, and hee will destroy thee with vnquietnesse, and driue thee from thine owne.

CHAP. XII.

1 Vnto whome we ought to do good. 10 Enemies ought not to be trusted.

When thou wilt doe good, knowe to whome thou doest it, so shalt thou be thanked for thy benefites.
2 *Do good vnto the righteous, and thou shalt finde [great] reward, though not of him, yet of the most High. *Gal.6.10. 1.tim.5.8.
3 He can not haue good that continueth in euill, and giueth no almes: [for the most High ha-teth the sinners, and hath mercie vpon them that repent.]
4 Giue vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinner.
5 Do well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: holde backe thy bread, and giue it not vnto him, least he ouercome thee thereby: else thou shalt receiue twise as much euill for all the good that thou doest vnto him.
6 For the most High hateth the wicked, & will repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, and keepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.
7 Giue vnto the good, & receiue not ŷ sinner.
8 A friend can not be knowen in prosperitie, neither can an enemie be vnknowen in aduersitie.
9 When a man is in wealth, it grieueth his enemies, but in heauinesse and trouble a mans very friend will depart from him.
10 Trust neuer thine enemie: for like as an y-ron rusteth, so doeth his wickednesse.
11 And though hee make much crouching and kneeling, yet aduise thy selfe, and beware of him, and thou shalt be to him, as he that wipeth a glasse, and thou shalt knowe that all his rust hath not bin well wiped away.
12 Set him not by thee, least hee destroy thee,
and stand in thy place.
13 Neither set him at thy right hande, least hee seeke thy roome, and thou at the last remember my words, and be pricked with my sayings.
14 *Bind not two sinnes together: for there shal *Chap.7.8.and 21.1.
not one be vnpunished.
15 Who will haue pitie of the charmer, that is stinged of the serpent? or of all such as come neere the beastes? so is it with him that keepeth compa-nie with a wicked man, and wrappeth himselfe in his sinnes.
16 For a season wil he bide with thee: but if thou stumble, he tarieth not.
17 *An enemie is sweet in his lips: he can make *Iere.41.6.
many good wordes, and speake many good things: yea, he can weepe with his eyes, but in his heart he imagineth howe to throw thee into the pit: and if he may finde opportunitie, he will not be satisfied with blood.
18 If aduersitie come vpon thee, thou shalt find him there first, and though hee pretende to helpe thee, yet shall he vndermine thee: he will shake his head, and clap his hands, and wil make many words, and disguise his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The companies of the proude and of the riche are to bee eschewed. 15 The loue of God. 17 Like doe companie with their like.

He * that toucheth pitch, shalbe defiled with it: *Deut.7.2.
and he that is familiar with the proude, shalbe like vnto him.
2 Burthen not thy selfe aboue thy power, whi-lest thou liuest, and companie not with one that is mightier, and richer then thy selfe: for howe agree the kettle and the earthen pot together? for if the one be smitten against the other, it shall be broken.
3 The riche dealeth vnrighteously, and threateneth withall: but the poore being oppressed must intreate: if the riche haue done wrong, hee must

must yet be intreated: but if the poore haue done
it, he shall straight wayes be threatned.
4 If thou be for his profite, he vseth thee: but if thou haue nothing, he wil forsake thee.
5 If thou haue any thing, he wil liue with thee:
yea, he will make thee a bare man, and will not care for it.
6 If he haue neede of thee, hee will defraude thee, & wil laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, and giue thee al good words, & say, What wantest thou?
7 Thus will he shame thee in his meate, vntill he haue supt thee cleane vp twise or thrise, and at the last hee will laugh thee to scorne: afterwarde, when he seeth thee, he will forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.
8 [Submit thy selfe vnto God, and waite vpon his hand.]
9 Beware that thou be not deceiued in thine owne conceit & brought downe by thy simplenes:
[be not two humble in thy wisedome.]
10 ¶ If thou be called of a mightie man, absent thy selfe: so shall he call thee the more oft.
11 Prease not thou vnto him, that thou be not shut out, but go not thou far off, lest he forget thee.
12 Withdraw not thy selfe from his speach, but beleeue not his many wordes: for with much communication will he tempt thee, and laughingly wil he grope thee.
13 He is vnmerciful & keepeth not promes: he wil not spare to doe thee hurt, & to put thee in prisō.
14 Beware, and take good heede: for thou wal-kest in perill of thine ouerthrowing: when thou hearest this, awake in thy sleepe.
15 Loue the Lorde all thy life, & call vpon him for thy saluation.
16 ¶ Euery beast loueth his like, and euery man loueth his neighbour.
17 Al flesh will resort to their like, & euery man will keepe company with such as he is himselfe.
18 How can the wolfe agree with the lambe? no more can the vngodly with the righteous.
19 What felowship hath ‖ hyena with a dogge?
and what peace is betweene the rich & the poore?
20 As the wilde Asse is the Lyons pray in ẏ wil-dernes, so are poore men the meate of the rich.
21 As the proude hate humilitie, so do the riche abhorre the poore.
22 If a riche man fall, his friendes set him vp againe: but when the poore falleth, his friendes driue him away.
23 If a rich man offende, he hath many helpers:
he speaketh proude wordes, & yet men iustifie him:
but if a poore man faile, they rebuke him, & though he speake wisely, yet can it haue no place.
24 When the riche man speaketh, euery man holdeth his tongue: and looke what he sayth, they prayse it vnto the cloudes: but if the poore man speake, they say, What felow is this? and if he doe a-misse, they will destroy him.
25 Riches are good vnto him that hath no sinne [in his conscience,] & pouertie is euil in the mouth of the vngodly.
26 The heart of a man changeth his countetenance, whether it be good or euill.
27 A chearefull countenance is a token of a good heart: for it is an hard thing to knowe the secrets of the thought.

‖ Which is a wilde beast that counterfeiteth the voice of mē, and so entiseth thē out of their houses and deuoureth them.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The offence of the tongue. 17 Man is but a vaine thing. 21 Happie is he that continueth in wisedome.

Blessed is the man * that hath not fallen by [the worde of] his mouth, and is not tormented with the sorow of sinne.
2 Blessed is he that is not condemned in his conscience, and is not fallen from his hope in the Lord.
3 Riches are not comely for a nigard, and what should an enuious man do with money?
4 Hee that gathereth together from his owne soule, heapeth together for other, that will make good cheare with his goods.
5 He that is wicked vnto himselfe, to whome will he be good? for such one can haue no pleasure of his goods.
6 There is nothing worse, then when one enuieth himselfe; and this is as a reward of his wickednes.
7 And if he do any good, he doth it, not knowing thereof, and against his will, and at the last he declareth his wickednes.
8 The enuious man hath a wicked looke: hee turneth away his face, and despiseth men.
9 A couetous mans eye hath neuer ynough of a portion, and his wicked malice withereth his owne soule.
10 A * wicked eye enuieth the bread, and there is scarcenesse vpon his table.
11 My sonne, doe good to thy selfe of that thou hast, and giue the Lord his due offrings.
12 Remember that death tarieth not, and that the couenant of the graue is not shewed vnto thee.
13 *Do good vnto thy friend before thou dye, and according to thine habilitie stretche out thine hand, and giue him.
14 Defraude not thy selfe of the good day, & let not the portion of the good desires ouerpasse thee.
15 Shalt thou not leaue thy traueiles vnto another, & thy labours for the deuiding of the heritage?
16 Giue and take & sanctifie thy soule: [worke thou righteousnes before thy death:] for in the hell there is no meate to finde.
17 ¶ * All flesh waxeth olde, as a garment, and this is the condition of all times, Thou shalt die the death.
18 As the greene leaues on a thicke tree, some fall, & some growe, so is the generation of flesh and blood: one cometh to an end, and another is borne.
19 All corruptible thinges shall faile, and the worker thereof shal go withall.
20 [Euery excellent worke shalbe iustified, and he that worketh it, shall haue honour thereby.] 21 *Blessed is the man that doeth meditate honest things by wisedome, [and exerciseth himselfe in iustice,] and he that reasoneth of holy thinges by his vnderstanding, 22 Which considereth in his heart her wayes, and vnderstandeth her secrets.
23 Goe thou after her as one that seeketh her out, and lye in wayte in her wayes.
24 He shall looke in at her windowes, and hearken at her doores.
25 He shall abide beside her house, and fasten a stake in her walles: he shal pitch his tent besides her: 26 And he shal remaine in the lodging of good men, and shall set his children vnder her couering, and shall dwell vnder her branches.
27 By her he shalbe couered from the heate, & in her glory shall he dwell.

4 He shal assure himselfe in her, & shall not be

5 She shall exalt him aboue his neighbours, and 6 Shee shall cause him to inherite ioy, and the crowne of gladnes, and an euerlasting name.

7 But foolish men wil not take holde vpon her:
[but such as haue vnderstanding, wil meete her:] the sinners shall not see her.
8 For she is farre from pride [and deceite,] and men that lye, can not remember her: [but men of truth shall haunt her, and shall prosper euen vnto the beholding of God.] 9 Prayse is not seemely in the mouth of the sinner: for that is not sent of the Lord.
10 But if praise come of wisdome, [& be plenteous in a faithful mouth] then ẏ Lord wil prosper it.

1 Of vnhappie and wicked children. 17 No man can hide him selfe from God. 24 An exhortation to the receiuing of instruction.

DEsire not the multitude of vnprofitable children, neither delight in vngodly children: though they be many, reioyce not in them, except the feare of the Lord be with them.
2 Trust not thou to their life, neither rest vpon their multitude.
3 For one that is iust, is better then a thousand such, and better it is to dye without children, then to leaue behind him vngodly children.
4 For by one that hath vnderstanding, shall the 19 All the worlde which is created and made.

by his will, the mountaines also, & the foundations of the earth shall shake for feare, when the Lorde looketh vpon them.
20 These thinges doth no heart vnderstand worthily, [but he vnderstandeth euery heart.] 21 And who vnderstandeth his wayes? and the storme that no man can see? for the most part of his workes are hid.
22 Who can declare the workes of his righte-ousnes? or who can abide them? for his ordinance is farre off, and the trying out of all things fayleth.
23 He that is humble of heart, wil cōsider these things: but an vnwise and erronious man casteth his minde vpon foolish things.
24 My sonne, hearken vnto me, & learne knowledge, and marke my wordes with thine heart.
25 I will declare thee waightie doctrine, and I will instruct thee exactly in knowledge.
26 The Lorde hath set his workes in good order from the beginning, and part of them hath he sundred from the order when he first made them.
27 He hath garnished his workes for euer, and their beginnings so long as they shall endure, they are not hungrie nor wearyed in their labours, nor cease from their offices.
28 None of them hindreth another, neither was any of them disobedient vnto his wordes.

29 After

29 After this the Lorde looked vpon the earth and filled it with his good things.
30 With all maner of liuing beastes hath he co-uered the face thereof, and they returne into it againe.

all thinges by his power, and diuideth the holie

3 To whome hath he giuen power to expresse his workes? who will seeke out the grounde of his noble acts?
4 Who shall declare the power of his great-

mercie?
5 As for the wonderous workes of the Lorde, there may nothing bee taken from them, neither can any thing bee put vnto them, neither may the ground of them be found out.
6 But when a man hath done his best, he must beginne againe, and when hee thinketh to come to table words.

15 Shall not the dewe asswage the heate? so is a word better then a gift.
16 Loe, is not a worde better then a good gift?
but a gratious man giueth them both.

fore the Lord.
26 A wise man feareth in all thinges, and in the dayes of transgression hee keepeth himselfe from sinne: but the foole doth not obserue the time.
27 ¶ Euery wise man knoweth wisedome, and knowledge, and prayseth him that findeth her.

in words: [they vnderstand the trueth and righte-ousnesse,] and powre out with modestie graue sentences for mans life.

nes, and intangle not thy selfe with such companie.

ken away, and be made a publike example.

minded, & he that erreth, sinneth against his owne
soule.
5 Who so reioyceth in wickednesse, shalbe punished: [he that hateth to be reformed, his life shall bee shortened, and hee that abhorreth babbling of wordes, quencheth wickednesse:] but he that resi-steth pleasures, crowneth his owne soule.
6 He that refraineth his tongue, may liue with a troublesome man, and hee that hateth babbling, shall haue lesse euill.
7 Rehearse not to another, that which is tolde vnto thee: so thou shalt not be hindred.
8 Declare not other mens manners, neither to friend nor foe: and if the sinne appertaine not vnto thee, reueile it not.

thee, and when hee findeth opportunitie, he will hate thee.
10 * If thou hast heard a worde [against thy *Chap.22.22. and 27.17.
neighbour,] let it die with thee, and be sure, it will not burst thee.
11 A foole trauelleth when hee hath heard a thing, as a woman that is about to bring foorth a childe.
12 As an arrowe that sticketh in ones thigh, so is a word in a fooles heart.
13 * Reproue a friend least he do euill, and if he *Leuit.19.17. matth.18.15.
haue done it, that he doe it no more.

der is raised, and giue no credence to euery word.

his tongue?
17 Reproue thy neighbour before thou threaten him, and being without anger, giue place vnto
the Law of the most High.
18 The feare of the Lord is the first degree to be receiued of him, and wisedome obteineth his loue.
19 The knowledge of the commandementes of the Lord is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, shall receiue the fruit of immortalitie.
20 The feare of the Lord is all wisedome, & the performing of the Law is perfect wisedome, and the knowledge of his almightie power.
21 If a seruant say vnto his master, I will not do as it pleaseth thee, though afterwarde he doe it, hee shall displease him that nourisheth him.
22 The knowledge of wickednesse is not wise-dome, neither is there prudencie whereas the counsell of sinners is: but it is euen execrable malice: and the foole is voyd of wisedome.
23 Hee that hath small vnderstanding, and feareth God, is better then one that hath much wise-dome, and transgresseth the Law of the most high.
24 There is a certaine subtiltie that is fine, but it is vnrighteous: and there is that wresteth the open and manifest Law: yet there is that is wise and iudgeth righteously.
25 There is some that being about wicked purposes, doe bowe downe themselues, and are sadde, whose inwarde parts burne altogether with deceit:
he looketh downe with his face, & faineth himselfe deafe: yet before thou perceiue, hee will be vpon thee to hurt thee.

26 And though he be so weake that he can doe thee no harme, yet when he may finde opportunitie, he will doe euill.
27 ¶ A man may be knowen by his looke, and one that hath vnderstanding, may be perceiued by the marking of his countenance.

ter, and going declare what person he is.

CHAP. XX.

Of correction and repentance. 6 To speake and keepe silence in time. 17 The fall of the wicked. 23 Of lying. 24 The thiefe and the murtherer. 28 Giftes blinde the eyes of the wise.

THere is some rebuke that is not comely: againe, some man holdeth his tongue, and he is wise.
2 It is much better to reprooue, then to beare euill will: and he that acknowledgeth his fault, shal-be preserued from hurt.
*Chap.30.20. 3 As * when a gelded man through lust woulde defile a mayde, so is he that vseth violence in iudgement.
4 Howe good a thing is it, when thou art reprooued, to shewe repentance! for so shalt thou escape wilful sinne.
5 Some man keepeth silence, and is found wise,
and some by much babbling becommeth hatefull.
6 Some man holdeth his tongue, because he hath not to answere: and some keepeth silence,
*Eccles.3.7. waiting a conuenint * time.
*Chap.32.4. 7 * A wise man will holde his tongue till hee see oportunitie: but a trifler and a foole will re-garde no time.
8 Hee that vseth many wordes, shall be abhorred, and he that taketh authoritie to him selfe, shalbe hated.
9 Some man hath oft times prosperitie in wicked thinges, and sometime a thing that is founde, bringeth losse.
10 There is some gift that is not profitable for thee, & there is some gift, whose reward is double.
11 Some man humbleth him selfe for glories sake, and some by humblenesse lifteth vp the head.
12 Some man byeth much for a litle price: for the which he payeth seuen times more.
*Chap.6.5. 13 * A wise man with his wordes maketh him selfe to be loued, but the merrie tales of fooles shall be powred out.
14 The gift receiued of a foole, shall doe thee no good, neither yet of the enuious for his importunitie: for he looketh to receiue many thinges for one: he giueth litle, and he vpbraideth much: he openeth his mouth like a towne cryer: to day he lendeth, to morowe asketh he againe, and such one is to be hated of God and man.
15 The foole saith, I haue no friend: I haue no thanke for all my good deedes: and they that eate my bread, speake euill of me.
16 How oft, and of how many shal he be laughed to scorne? for he comprehendeth not by right iudgement that which he hath: and it is all one as though he had it not.
17 The fall on a pauement is very sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastely.
18 A man without grace is as a foolish tale which is oft tolde by the mouth of the ignorant.
19 A wise sentence loseth grace when it commeth out of a fooles mouth: for he speaketh not in due season.
20 Some man sinneth not because of pouertie, and yet is not grieued when he is alone.
21 Some man there is that destroyeth his owne soule, because he is ashamed, and for the regarde of persons loseth it.
22 Some man promiseth vnto his friende for shame, and getteth an enemie of him for naught.
23 * A lie is a wicked shame in a man: yet is it *Chap.25.2.
oft in the mouth of the vnwise.
24 A thiefe is better, then a man that is accustomed to lie: but they both shall haue destruction to heritage.
25 The conditions of lyars are vnhonest, and their shame is euer with them.
26 A wise man shall bring him selfe to honour with his wordes, and he that hath vnderstanding, shall please great men.
27 * He that tilleth his lande, shall increase his *Prou.12.11. and 28.19.

alted,] and he that pleaseth great men, shall haue pardon of his iniquitie.

wise, and make them dumme, that they can not reprooue faultes.
29 Wisedome that is hid, and treasure that is hoarded vp, what profite is in them both?
30 Better is hee that keepeth his ignorance secret, then a man that hideth his wisedome.
31 The necessarie presence of him, that followeth the Lorde, is better then he that gouerneth his life without the Lorde.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Not to continue in sinne. 5 The prayer of the afflicted. 6 To hate to be reproued. 17 The mouth of the wise man. 26 The thought of the foole.

MY sonne, hast thou sinned? doe so no more, *Chap.5.5. psal.41.4. luk.15.18.

2 Flee from sinne, as from a serpent: for if thou comest to neere it, it wil bite thee: the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a lyon, to slay the soules of men.
3 All iniquitie is as a two edged sworde, the woundes whereof cannot be healed.
4 Strife and iniuries waste riches: so the house of the proude shalbe desolate.

iustice is done him incontinently.
6 Who so hateth to be reformed, is in the way of sinners: but he that feareth the Lord, conuerteth in heart.
7 An eloquent talker is knowen a farre off: but he that is wise, perceiueth when he falleth.
8 Who so buildeth his house with others mens of wisedome is the ende of the feare of God.

12 He that is not wise, will not suffer him selfe to be taught: but, there is some witte that encreaseth bitternesse.
13 The knowledge of the wise shall abounde like water that runneth ouer, and his counsell is like a pure fountaine of life.
14 * The inner partes of a foole are like a bro- *Chap.33.5.

ken vessel: he can keepe no knowledge whiles he liueth.
15 When a man of vnderstanding heareth a wise worde, he will commende it, and increase it:
but if an ignorant man heare it, he will disalowe it,
and cast it behinde his backe.
16 The talking of a foole is like a burden in the way, but there is comelinesse in the talke of a wise man.
17 They inquire at the mouth of the wise man in the congregation, & they shall ponder his words in their heart.
18 As is an house that is destroyed, so is wisdome vnto a foole, and the knowledge of the vnwise is as wordes without order.
19 Doctrine vnto fooles is as fetters on the feete, and like manacles vpon the right hand.
20 * A foole lifteth vp his voyce with laughter, *Chap. 19.27,28.
but a wise man doeth scarce smile secretly.
21 Learning is vnto a wise man a iewell of golde, and like a bracelet vpon his right arme.
22 A foolish mans foote is soone in [his neighbours] house: but a man of experience is ashamed to looke in.
23 A foole will peepe in at the doore into the house: but he that is well nurtured, will stand w'out.
24 It is the poynt of a foolish man to hearken at the doore: for hee that is wise, will be grieued with such dishonour.
25 The lippes of talkers will be telling such things as pertaine not vnto them, but the wordes of such as haue vnderstanding, are weighed in the balance.
26 The heart of fooles is in their mouth: but the mouth of the wise is in their heart.

1 Of the sluggard. 12 Not to speake much to a foole. 16 A good conscience feareth not.

A Slouthfull man is like a filthie stone, which euery man mocketh at for his shame.
2 A slouthfull man is to be compared to the dongue of oxen, and euery one that taketh it vp, will shake it out of his hand.
3 An euill nurtured sonne is the dishonour of the father: & the daughter is least to be esteemed.
4 A wise daughter is an heritage vnto her husbande: but shee that liueth dishonestly, is her fathers heauinesse.
5 She that is bolde, dishonoureth both her father and her husband, [and is not inferiour to the vngodly.] but they both shall despise her.
6 A tale out of time is as musicke in mourning:
but wisedome knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.
7 Who so teacheth a foole, is as one that gleweth a potsheard together, and as he that waketh one that sleepeth, from a sound sleepe.
8 If children liue honestly, & haue wherewith, they shall put away the shame of their parents.
9 But if children be proude, with hautines and foolishnes they defile the nobilitie of the kinred.
10 Who so telleth a foole of Wisedome, is as a man, which speaketh to one that is a sleepe: when he hath told his tale, he saith, What is the matter?
11 * Weepe for the dead, for he hath lost the *Chap. 38.16.
light: so weepe for the foole, for he wanteth vnderstanding: make small weeping for the dead, for he is at rest: but the life of the foole is worse then the death.
12 Seuen dayes doe men mourne for him

sier to beare, then an vnwise, [foolish and vngodly
man.]
16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a building can not be loosed with shaking, so the heart that is stablished by aduised counsel, shal feare at no time.
17 The heart that is confirmed by discrete wis-dome, is as a faire plaistring on a plaine wall.
18 As reedes that are set vp on hie, can not abide the winde, so the fearefull heart with foolish imagination can endure no feare.
19 He that hurteth the eye, bringeth foorth teares, and he that hurteth the heart bringeth forth the affection.
20 Who so casteth a stone at the birdes, frayeth them away: and he that vpbraydeth his friende, breaketh friendship.
21 Though thou drewest a sword at thy friend, yet despaire not: for there may be a returning to fauour.
22 If thou haue opened thy mouth against thy friende, feare not: for there may be a reconciliation, so that vpbrayding or pride or disclosing of secrets or a traiterous wounde doe not let: for by these things euery friend will depart.
23 Be faithfull vnto thy friend in his pouertie, that thou mayest reioyce in his prosperitie. Abide stedfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, that thou mayest be heire with him in his heritage: for pouertie is not alwayes to be contemned, nor the rich that is foolish, to be had in admiration.
24 As the vapour and smoke of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euill wordes [rebukes and threatnings] goe before bloodsheading.
25 I will not be ashamed to defende a friende:
neither will I hide my selfe from him, though he shoulde doe me harme: whosoeuer heareth it, shall beware of him.

denly by them, & that my tongue destroy me not?

abound to my destruction, and least I fall before mine aduersarie, and mine enemies reioyce ouer me, whose hope is farre from thy mercy.
4 O Lord, Father and God of my life, [leaue me not in their imagination] neyther giue me a proude looke, but turne away from thy seruants a stout mind.
5 Take from me vaine hope, & concupiscence, and reteyne him in obedience, that desireth continually to serue thee.
6 Let not the greedines of the bellie, nor lust of the flesh holde me, and giue not me thy seruant ouer into an impudent minde.
7 ¶Heare, O yee children, the instruction of a mouth: that shall speake trueth: who so keepeth it, shall not perish through his lips, [nor bee hurt by wicked workes.]
8 The sinner shall be taken by his owne lippes:
for the euill speaker and the proud doe offend
by them.
9 *Accustome not thy selfe to swearing: [for in it there are many falles,] neyther take vp for a custome the naming of the Holy one: [for thou shalt not be vnpunished for such things.] 10 For as a seruant which is oft punished, cannot be without some skarre, so he that sweareth, & nameth God continually, shall not be faultlesse.

11 A man that vseth much swearing, shalbe filled with wickednes, and the plague shall neuer goe from his house: when he shal offend, his faute shal-be vpon him, and if he knowledge not his finne, he maketh a double offence: and if he sweare in vaine, he shall not be innocent, but his house shall be full of plagues.
12 There is a word which is clothed with death:
God graunt that it be not found in the herytage of Iacob: but they that feare God, eschewe al such,
and are not wrapped in sinne.
13 Vse not thy mouth to || ignorant rashnes: for gotten in their sight, and so through thy custome

ous wordes, will neuer bee reformed all the dayes of his life.
16 There are two sortes [of men] that abound in sinne, and the third bringeth wrath [and destruction:] a minde hot as fire, that cannot be quenched till it be consumed: an adulterous man that giueth his body no rest, till he haue kindled a fire.
17 (All bread is sweete to a whoremonger: he will not leaue off till he perish.) 18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and thinketh thus in his heart, *Who seeth me? I am com-passed about with darkenesse: the walles couer me:

no body seeth me: whome neede I to feare? the most High will not remember my sinnes.
19 Such a man onely feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lorde are ten thousand times brighter then the sunne, beholding all the wayes of men, [and the ground of the deepe,] and considereth the most secret parts.
20 He knewe al things or euer they were made,
and after they be brought to passe also, he looketh vpon them all.
21 *The same man shall be punished in the

streetes of the citie, [and shal be chased like a yong horse foale,] and when he thinketh not vpon it, he shall be taken: [thus shall he be put to shame of euery man, because he would not vnderstand the feare of the Lord.]
22 And thus shal it go also with euery wife, that leaueth her husband, and getteth inheritance by another.
23 *For first she hath disobeyed the Lawe of *Exod.20.14.
the most High, and secondly shee hath trespassed against her owne husband, and thirdly, she hath played the whore in adultery, and gotten her children by another man.
24 She shalbe brought out into the congregation, and examination shalbe made of her children.
25 Her children shall not take roote, and her branches shall bring forth no fruite.
26 A shamefull report shall she leaue, and her reproch shall not be put out.
27 And they that remaine, shall knowe that there is nothing better then the feare of the Lord, & that there is nothing sweeter then to take heede vnto the commandements of the Lord.
28 It is great glorie to follow the Lord, and to be receiued of him is long life.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 A praise of wisedome proceeding foorth of the mouth of God.
6 Of her works and place where she resteth. 20 She is giuen to the children of God.

WIsedome shall praise her selfe, [and be honoured in God,] and reioyce in the middes of her people.
2 In the congregation of the most High shall she open her mouth, and triumph before his power.
3 [In the middes of her people shall she be exalted, and wondred at in the holy assemblie.
4 In the multitude of the chosen she shall be commended, and among such as be blessed, she shall be praised, and shall say,] 5 I am come out of the mouth of the most High, [first borne before all creatures.
6 I caused the light that fayleth not, to arise in the heauen,] and couered the earth as a cloude.
7 My dwelling is aboue in the height, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloude.
8 I alone haue gone round about the compasse of heauen, and haue walked in the bottome of the depth.
9 I possessed the waues of the sea, and all the earth, and all people, and nations, [and with my power haue I troden downe the heartes of all, both high and low.]
10 In all these things I sought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.
11 So the creator of all things gaue me a commandement, and he that made me, appointed me a tabernacle, and said, Let thy dwelling be in Iacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and roote thy selfe among my chosen.

in Ierusalem was my power.
14 I tooke roote in an honourable people, euen in the portion of the Lords inheritance.
15 I am set vp on hie like a cedar in Libanus, and as a cypres tree vpon the mountaines of Hermon.

oliue tree in a pleasant fielde, and am exalted as a plane tree by the water.
17 I smelled as the cinnamom, and as a bag of spices: I gaue a sweete odour as the best mirrhe, as galbanum, and onix, and sweete storax, and perfume of incense in an house.
18 As the terebinth, haue I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honor and grace.
19 * As the vine haue I brought forth [fruite] *Iohn 15.1. of sweete sauour, and my flowres are the fruite of honour and riches.
20 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of feare, and of knowledge, and of holy hope: I giue eternall things to all my children to whom God hath commanded.
21 [In me is all grace of life and trueth: in mee is all hope of life and vertue.] 22 Come vnto me al ye that be desirous of me, and fill your selues with my fruites.
23 * For the remembrance of mee is sweeter *Psal.19.10,11 then honie, and mine inheritance [sweeter] then the hony combe: [the remembrance of me endureth
for euermore]
24 They that eate me, shall haue the more hunger, and they that drinke me, shall thirst the more.
25 Who so hearkeneth vnto me, shall not come to confusion, and they that worke by me, shall not offende: [they that make me to be knowen, shall haue euerlasting life.] 26 All these things are the booke [of life,] and the couenant of the most high God, [& the knowledge of the trueth,] * and the Law that Moyses [in *Exod.20.1.and 24.8. deut.4.1.and 33.4.

heritage vnto the house of Iacob, [and the promises pertaining vnto Israel.] 27 Be not wearie to behaue your selues valiantly with the Lorde, that he may also confirme you: cleaue vnto him: for the Lord almightie is but one God, and besides him there is none other Sauiour.
28 [Out of Dauid his seruant hee ordeined to raise vp a most mightie King that shoulde sit in the throne of honour for euermore.]

haruest.
31 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appeare as the light, and ouerfloweth as Geon in the time of the vintage.
32 The first man hath not knowen her perfectly: no more shall the last seeke her out.
33 For her considerations are more aboundant then the sea, and her counsell is profounder then the great deepe.
34 I wisedome [haue cast out floodes:] I am as an arme of the riuer: I runne into Paradise as a water conduite.
35 I sayd, I will water my faire garden, and will water my pleasant grounde: and loe, my ditch became a flood, and my flood became a sea.
36 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for euer.
37 [I will pearce thorow all the lower partes of the earth: I will looke vpon all such as be a sleepe, and lighten all them that trust in the Lord.] 38 I will yet powre out doctrine, as prophesie, and leaue it vnto all ages for euer.
39 * Beholde that I haue not laboured for my *Chap.33.16.
selfe onely, but for all them that seeke wisedome.

teth. 7 Of nine things that be not to be suspect. 14 Of the malice of a woman.*

brethren, the loue of neighbours, a man and wife that agree together.
2 ¶Three sortes of men my soule hateth, and I vtterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proude: a rich man that is a lyar, and an old adulterer that doteth.
3 ¶If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou finde in thine age?
4 ¶Oh, how pleasant a thing is it when gray headed men minister iudgement, and when the elders can giue good counsell!
5 Oh, how comely is wisedome vnto the aged men, and vnderstanding and prudencie to men of honour!
6 The crowne of old men is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glorie.
7 ¶There be nine things, which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happy, and the tenth wil I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while he li-ueth, hath ioy of his children, and seeth the fall of his enemies.
7 ¶Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, * and that hath not fallen with his *Chap.14.1.and 19.16. iam.3.2.
tongue, and that hath not serued such as are vnworthie of him.
9 Well is him that findeth prudencie, & he that speaketh in the eares of them that will heare.
10 ¶Oh, how great is he that findeth wisdome!
yet is there none aboue him, that feareth the Lord.
11 The feare of the Lorde passeth all things in cleerenesse.
12 [Blessed is the man vnto whom it is granted to haue the feare of God.] vnto whom shall he be likened that hath attayned it?
13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, & faith is ye beginning to be ioyned vnto him.
14 [¶The greatest heauinesse is the heauinesse of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.]
15 Giue me any plague, saue only the plague of the heart, & any malice, saue ye malice of a woman: 16 Or any assault, saue the assault of them that hate, or any vengeance, saue the vengeance of the enemy.
17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of a serpent, and there is no wrath aboue
the wrath of an || enemie. ||Or, woman.
18 * I had rather dwell with a lion and dragon, *Pro.21.19.
then to keepe house with a wicked wife.
19 The wickednesse of a woman changeth her face, & maketh her countenance blacke as || a sacke. ||Or, a beare.
20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbors:
because of her he sigheth sore or he beware.
21 All wickednesse is but little to the wickednesse of a woman: let the portion of the sinner fall vpon her.
22 As the climing vp of a sandie way is to the feete of the aged, so is a wife full of wordes to a quiet man.
23 *Stumble not at the beautie of a woman, and *Chap.42.12. 2.sam.11.2.and 13.2. desire her not for thy pleasure.
24 If a woman nourish her husband, she is angry
and

and impudent and full of reproche.
25 A wicked wife maketh a sorie heart, an heauie countenance, and a wounded minde, weake handes and feeble knees, and can not comfort her husband in heauinesse.
*Gene.3.6. 1.tim.2.14. 26 Of the * woman came the beginning of sinne, and through her we all die.
27 Giue the water no passage, [no not a litle,] neither giue a wicked woman libertie to goe out.
28 If she walke not in thine obedience, [shee shall confound thee in the sight of thine enemies.] Cut her off then from thy flesh: Giue her, and forsake her.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The prayse of a good woman. 5 Of the feare of three things, and of the fourth. 6 Of the ielous and drunken woman. 29 Of two things that cause sorowe, and of the third which moueth wrath.

BLessed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his yeeres shalbe double.
2 An honest woman reioyceth her husbande, and she shall fill the yeeres of his life with peace.
3 A vertuous woman is a good portion, which shalbe giuen for a gift vnto such as feare the Lord.
4 Whether a man bee rich or poore, he hath a good heart towarde the Lorde, and they shall at all times haue a cheerefull countenance.
5 ¶ There be three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afrayde of the fourth: treason in a citie: the assemblie of the people, and false accusation: all these are heauier then death.
6 ¶ But the sorowe and griefe of the heart is a woman that is ielous ouer another: and she that communeth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.
7 An euill wife is as a yoke of oxen that drawe diuers wayes: hee that hath her, is as though hee helde a scorpion.
8 A drunken woman and such as can not bee tamed, is a great plague: for shee cannot couer her owne shame.
9 The whoredome of a woman may bee know-en in the pride of her eyes, and eye liddes.
*Chap.42.11. 10 ¶ * If thy daughter be not shamefast, holde her straitly, lest shee abuse her selfe through ouermuch libertie.
11 Take heede of her that hath an vnshamefast eye: and marueile not if she trespasse against thee.
12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thirsty, so shall shee open her mouth, and drinke of euery next water: by euery hedge shall she sit downe, and open her quiuer against euery arrowe.
13 The grace of a wife reioyceth her husbande, and feedeth his bones with her vnderstanding.
14 A peaceable woman and of a good heart is a gifte of the Lorde, and there is nothing so much worth as a woman well instructed.
15 A shamefast and faithfull woman is a double grace, and there is no weight to be compared vnto her continent minde.
16 As the sunne when it ariseth in the high places of the Lorde, so is the beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.
17 As the cleere light is vpon the holy candlesticke, so is the beautie of the face in a ripe age.
18 As the golden pillars are vpon the sockets of siluer: so are faire feete with a constant minde.
19 [Perpetuall are the foundations that be laid vpon a strong rocke: so are the commaundements of God in the heart of an holy woman.] 20 My sonne, keepe the strength of thine age stable, and giue not thy strength to strangers.
21 When thou hast gotten a fruitfull possession through all the fieldes, sowe it with thine owne seede, trusting in thy nobilitie.
22 So thy stocke that shall liue after thee, shall grow, trusting in ẏ great liberalitie of their nobility.
23 An harlot is compared to a sowe: but the wife that is marryed, is counted as a towre against death to her husband.
24 A wicked woman is giuen as a rewarde to a wicked man: but a godly woman is giuen to him that feareth the Lorde.
25 A shamelesse woman contemneth shame: but a shamefast woman will reuerence her husband.
26 A shamelesse woman is compared to a dog:
but she that is shamefast, reuerenceth the Lord.
27 A woman that honoureth her husband, shall be iudged wise of all: but shee that despiseth him, shalbe blased for her pride.
28 A loude crying woman and a babbler let her be sought out to driue away the enemies: the mind of euery man that liueth with such, shalbe conuersant among the troubles of warre.
29 There be two things that grieue mine heart, and the thirde maketh me angrie: a man of warre that suffreth pouertie: and men of vnderstanding that are not set by: and when one departeth from righteousnesse vnto sinne: the Lorde appoynteth such to the sworde.
30 [There bee two things, which me thinke to be hard and perillous.] A marchant can not lightly keepe him from wrong, and a vitailer is not without sinne.

shalt dwell with her, and she shall defende thee for stedfastnesse.

trueth turne vnto them, that are practised in her.
10 As the lyon waiteth for the beast, so doeth sinne vpon them that doe euill.
11 The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisdome: as for a foole, he changeth as the moone.
12 If thou be among the vndiscreete, obserue the time, but haunt still the assemblie of them that are wise.

18 For as a man destroyeth his enemie, so doest thou destroy the friendship of thy neighbour.
19 As one that letteth a birde goe out of his hande, so if thou giue ouer thy friende, thou canst not get him againe.
20 Follow after him no more, for he is too farre off: he is as a roe escaped out of the snare: [for his soule is wounded.]
21 As for woundes, they may bee bounde vp againe, and an euill worde may be reconciled: but who so bewrayeth the secrets of a friende, hath lost all his credit.

ly, and prayse thy wordes: but at the last hee will turne his tale, and slander thy saying.
24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing so euill as such one: for the Lord also hateth him.
25 Who so casteth a stone on hie, casteth it vp-on his owne head: and he that smiteth with guile, maketh a great wound.

another, shalbe taken in it himselfe.
27 He that worketh euill, shall be wrapped in euils, and shall not knowe from whence they come vnto him.
28 Mockerie and reproche followe the proude, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lyon.
29 They that reioyce at the fall of the righteous, shalbe taken in the snare, and anguish shall consume them before they dye.

and the sinfull man is subiect to them both.

19 Wel is him that is kept from an euil tongue, and commeth not in the anger thereof, which hath not drawen in that yoke, neither hath bene bound in the bandes thereof.
20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yron, and the bandes of it are bandes of brasse.
21 The death thereof is an euill death: hell were better then such one.
22 It shall not haue rule ouer them that feare God, neither shall they bee burnt with the flame
thereof.
23 Such as forsake the Lorde, shall fall therein:
and it shall burne them, and no man shalbe able to quenche it: it shall fall vpon them as a lyon, and deuoure them as a leopard.
24 Hedge thy possession with thornes, & make doores and barres for thy mouth.
25 Binde vp thy siluer and golde, and weigh thy wordes in a balance, and make a doore and a barre, [and a sure bridle] for thy mouth.
26 Beware that thou slide not by it, and so fall before him that lyeth in wayte, [and thy fall be incurable, euen vnto death.]

and pay thou thy neighbour againe in due season.
3 Keepe thy worde, and deale faithfully with him, and thou shalt alway finde the thing that is necessarie for thee.
4 Many when a thing was lent them, recke-ned it to be found, and grieued them that had helped them.

5 Till they receiue,they kisse his handes, and for their neighbours good they humble their voyce:
but when they should pay againe,they prolong the terme,and giue a careles answere, and make excuses by reason of the time.
6 And though he be able,yet giueth he scarce the halfe againe, & reckeneth the other as a thing found: els he deceiueth him of his money, and ma-keth him an enemie without a cause: he paieth him with cursing and rebuke,and giueth him euil words for his good deede.
7 There be many which refuse to lend because of this inconuenience, fearing to bee defrauded
without cause.
8 Yet haue thou patience with him that hum-bleth himselfe,and deferre not mercy from him.
9 Helpe the poore for the commandements sake,

16 Forget not the friendship of thy suretie: for 19 [Some man promiseth for his neighbour:

20 Suretiship hath destroyed many a rich man, and remooued them as the waues of the sea: mightie men hath it driuen away from their houses,and caused them to wander among strange nations.
21 A wicked man, transgressing the commandements of the Lord shall fall into suretiship: and

saying,
28 Come thou stranger,and prepare the table, and feede me of that thou hast readie.

19 As long as thou liuest, and hast breath, giue not thy selfe ouer to any person.

20 For better it is that thy children should pray vnto thee, then that thou shouldest looke vp to the hands of thy children.

21 In all thy workes bee excellent, that thine honour be neuer stained.

22 At the time when thou shalt ende thy dayes, and finish thy life, distribute thine inheritance.

23 ¶ The fodder, the whippe and the burden belong vnto the asse: and meate, correction and worke vnto thy seruant.

24 If thou set thy seruant to labour, thou shalt finde rest: but if thou let him goe idle, he shal seeke libertie.

that thy wonderous workes may be praised.

cording to the *blessing of Aaron ouer thy people, *Nomb.6.23.

18 ¶ The bellie deuoureth all meates,yet is one meate better then another.
19 As the throte tasteth venison,so doeth a wise minde discerne false wordes.

20 A froward heart bringeth griefe, but a man of experience will resist it.

21 A woman is apt to receiue euery man: yet is one daughter better then another.

22 The beautie of a woman cheereth the face, and a man loueth nothing better.

23 If there be in her tongue gentlenes, meekenes, and wholesome talke, then is not her husband like other men.

The prayse of a good woman. 24 He that hath || gotten a [vertuous] woman, hath begun to get a possession: she is an helpe like vnto himselfe, and a pillar to rest vpon.

25 Where no hedge is, there the possession is spoyled: and hee that hath no wife, wandereth to and fro, mourning.

26 Who will trust a thiefe that is alway ready, and wandereth from towne to towne? and likewise him, that hath no rest, and lodgeth, wheresoeuer the night taketh him?

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 Howe a man should knowe friends and counsellers, 12 To keepe his company that serueth God.

Of friendship. Every friend sayth, || I am a friend vnto him also: but there is some friend, which is onely a friend in name.

2 Remaineth there not heauines vnto death, when a companion and friend is turned to an enemie?

3 O wicked presumption, from whence art thou sprong vp to couer the earth with deceite?

*Chap. 6.10. 4 *There is some companion which in prosperitie reioyceth with his friend: but in the time of trouble he is against him.

5 There is some companion that helpeth his friend for the bellies sake, and taketh vp the buckler against the enemie.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy minde, and think vpon him in thy riches.

Of whome we should take counsell. 7 Seeke ||no counsell at him of whome thou art suspected, and disclose not thy counsell vnto such as hate thee.

*Chap. 8.19. and 9.14. 8 *Euery counseller prayseth his owne counsel: but there is some that counselleth for himselfe.

|| Or, what neede he hath. 9 Beware of the counseller, and bee aduised afore || whereto thou wilt vse him: for he wil counsell for himselfe, least he cast the lot vpon thee,

10 And say vnto thee, Thy way is good, and afterward he stand against thee, and looke what shall become of thee.

11 [Aske no counsell for religion of him, that is without religion, not of iustice, of him that hath no iustice,] nor of a woman touching her of whom shee is ielous, not of a coward in matters of warre, nor of a marchant concerning exchange, nor of a buyer for the sale, nor of an enuious man touching thankfulnesse, nor of the vnmercifull touching kindnesse, [nor of an vnhonest man of honestie,] nor of the slouthfull for any labour, nor of an hireling for the finishing of a worke, nor of an idle seruant for much busines: hearken not vnto these in any matter of counsell.

12 But be continuall with a godly man whome thou knowest to keepe the commaundements of the Lorde, whose minde is according to thy minde, and is sorie for thee when thou stumblest.

13 Take counsell of thine owne heart: for there is no man more faithfull vnto thee, then it.

14 For a mans minde is sometime more accustomed to shewe more then seuen watchmen that sit aboue in an hie towre.

15 And aboue all this pray vnto the most High, that he will direct thy way in trueth.

16 Let reason goe before euery enterprise, and counsell before euery action.

17 ¶ The [changing] of the countenance is a signe of the changing of the heart: foure things appeare, good & euill, life and death, but the tongue hath euermore the gouernement ouer them.

18 ¶ Some man is wittie, and hath instructed many, and yet is vnprofitable vnto him selfe.

19 Some man will be wise in wordes, and is hated, yea, he is destitute of all || foode, || Or, wisdome.

20 Because grace is not giuen him of the Lorde: for he is destitute of all wisdome.

21 Another is wise for himselfe, and the fruites of vnderstanding are faithfull in his mouth.

22 A wise man instructeth his people, and the fruites of his wisdome faile not.

23 A wise man shall be plenteously blessed, and all they that see him, shall thinke him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

25 A wise man shall obteine credite among his people, and his name shall be perpetuall.

26 My sonne, proue thy soule in thy life, and see what is euill for it, and permit it not to doe it.

27 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath euery soule pleasure in euery thing.

28 Be not ||griedy in all delites, and be not too hastie vpon all meates. || Of temperancie.

29 * For excesse of meates bringeth sicknesse, and gluttonie commeth into cholericke diseases. *Chap. 31.19.

30 By surfet haue many perished: but hee that ||dieteth him selfe, prolongeth his life. || Or, taketh heede.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 A physicion is commendable. 16 To burie the dead. 24 The wisdome of him that is learned.

Honour the || Phisicion with that honour that is due vnto him, because of necessitie: for the Lord hath created him. || Of Physicions and physicke.

2 For of the most High commeth healing, and he shall receiue giftes of the King.

3 The knowledge of the Phisicion lifteth vp his head, and in the sight of great men he shalbe in admiration.

4 The Lorde hath created medicines of the earth, and he that is wise, will not abhorre them.

5 *Was not the water made sweete with wood, that men might know the vertue thereof? *Exod. 15.25.

6 So hee hath giuen men knowledge, that hee might be glorified in his wonderous workes.

7 With such doeth he heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8 Of such doeth the Apothecarie make a confection, and yet he cannot finish his owne workes: for of the Lord commeth prosperitie and wealth ouer all the earth.

9 My sonne, faile not in thy sicknes, but * pray vnto the Lord, and he will make thee whole. *Isa. 38.2, 3.

10 Leaue off from sinne, and order thine hands aright, and cleanse thine heart from all wickednes.

11 Offer sweete incense, and fine flowre for a remembrance: make the offering fat, for thou art not the first ||giuer. || God bestoweth first his benefits, & we must render a portion thereof to such vses as he appointeth.

12 Then giue place to the phisicion: for the Lord hath created him: let him not goe from thee, for thou hast neede of him.

13 The houre may come, that their enterprises may haue good successe.

14 For they also shall pray vnto the Lorde, that he

he would prosper that, which is giuen for ease, and their phisicke for the prolonging of life.
15 Hee that sinneth before his maker, let him fall into the hands of the phisicion.
*Chap.22.11. ||Of mourning. 16 My sonne, *powre foorth teares ouer the fered great harme thy selfe, and then couer his bo-

17 Make a grieuous lamentation, and be earnest in mourning, and vse lamentation, as he is worthy, and that, a day or two, least thou be euill spoken of,
and then comfort thy selfe for thine heauines.
*Prou.15.13. and 17.22. 18 *For of heauines commeth death, and the heauines of the heart breaketh the strength.
19 Of the affection of the heart commeth sorrow, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.
20 Take no heauines to heart: driue it away and remember the last end.
21 Forget it not: for there is no turning againe:
thou shalt doe him no good, but hurt thy selfe.
22 Remember his iudgement: thine also shalbe likewise, vnto me yesterday, and vnto thee to day.
*2.Sam.12.20. 23 *Seeing the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, and comfort thy selfe againe for him, when his spirit is departed from him.
24 ¶ The wisdome of a learned man commeth by vsing well his vacant time: and hee that ceaseth from his owne matters and labour, may come by wisdome.
25 How can he get wisdome that holdeth the plough, and he that hath pleasure in the goad, and in driuing oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and talketh but of the breed of bullocks?
26 He giueth his minde to make furrowes, and is diligent to giue the kine fodder.
27 So is it of euery carpenter, and workemaster that laboureth night and day: and they that cut, and graue seales, and make sundry diuersities, and giue themselues to counterfaite imagerie, and watch to performe the worke.
28 The smith in like maner abideth by his anuill, and doeth his diligence to labour the yron: the vapour of the fire dryeth his flesh, and hee must fight with the heate of the fornace: the noyse of the hammer is euer in his eares, and his eyes looke still vpon the thing that he maketh: he setteth his mind to make vp his workes: therefore hee watcheth to polish it perfectly.
29 So doeth the potter sit by his worke: hee turneth the wheele about with his feete: he is carefull alway at his worke, & maketh his work by number.
30 He fashioneth the clay with his arme, and with his feete hee tempereth the hardnes thereof:
his heart imagineth how to couer it with leade, and his diligence is to cleanse the ouen.
31 All these hope in their hands, and euery one bestoweth his wisdome in his worke.
32 Without these cannot the cities be maintei-ned, nor inhabited, nor occupied.
33 And yet they are not asked their iudgement in the counsell of the people, neither are they hie in the congregation, neither sit they vpon the iudge-ment seates, nor vnderstand ye order of iustice: they cannot declare matters according to the forme of the Lawe, and they are not meete for hard matters.
34 But they maintaine the state of the world,
and their desire is concerning their worke and occupation.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 A wise man. 16 The workes of God. 24 Vnto the good, good things profite, but vnto the euill, euen good things are euill.

HEe onely that applieth his minde to the Law of the most high, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, seeketh out the || wisdome of all the ||Of true wis-ancient, and exerciseth himselfe in the prophecies. dome.
2 He keepeth the sayings of famous men, and entreth in also to the secrets of darke sentences.
3 He seeketh out the mysterie of graue sentences, and exerciseth himselfe in darke parables.
4 Hee shall serue among great men and ap-peare before the prince: hee shall trauaile through strange countreys: for hee hath tried the good and the euill among men.
5 He will giue his heart to resort early vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the most High, and will open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his sinnes.
6 When the great Lorde will, he shall bee filled with the Spirit of vnderstanding, that hee may powre out wise sentences, and giue thankes vnto
the Lord in his prayer.
7 ||He shall direct his counsell, and knowledge ||Or, the Lord.
so shall he meditate in his secrets.
8 He shall shew forth his science and learning, and reioyce in the Law and couenant of the Lord.
9 Many shall commend his vnderstanding, and his memorie shall neuer be put out, nor depart away: but his name shall continue from generation to generation.
10 *The congregation shal declare his wisdome, *Chap.44.15.
and shewe it.
11 Though he be dead, hee shall leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if he liue still, he shal get the same.
12 Yet will I speake of moe things: for I am full as the moone.
13 Hearken vnto me, ye holy children, & bring forth fruit, as the rose that is planted by the brooks of the fielde,
14 And giue yee a sweete smell as ||incense, and ||Or, Libanus.
bring forth flowers as the lillie: giue a smell & sing
a song of prayse: blesse the Lord in all his workes.
15 Giue honour vnto his Name, and shew forth his prayse with the songs of your lips, and with harpes, and ye shall say after this maner, 16 *All the workes of the Lorde are exceeding *Gen.1.31. mar.7.37.
good, and all his commandements are done in due season.
17 And none may say, What is this? wherefore is that? for at time couenient they shal all be sought out: at his commaundement the water stood as an heape, and at the worde of his mouth the waters gathered themselues.
18 His whole fauour appeared by his commandement, and none can diminish that which he will saue.
19 The workes of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.
20 He seeth from euerlasting to euerlasting, and there is nothing wonderfull vnto him.
21 A man neede not to say, What is this? wherefore is that? for hee hath made all things for their owne vse.
22 His blessing shall runne ouer as the streame, and moysten the earth like a flood.
23 As he hath turned the waters into saltnes, so shall the heathen feele his wrath.

24 As his wayes are plaine and right vnto the iust,so are they stumbling blockes to the wicked.
25 ¶For the good,are good things created from the beginning, and euill things for the sinners.
*Chap.19.13. 26 *The principall thinges for the whole vse of mans life is water, fire, and yron, and salt, and meale, wheat and hony, and milke, the blood of the grape,
and oyle, and clothing.
27 All these things are for good to the godly:
but to the sinners they are turned vnto euill.
28 There be spirits that are created for vẽgeance, which in their rigour lay on sure strokes:in the time of destruction they shewe foorth their power, and accomplish the wrath of him that made them.
*Chap.49.10. 29 *Fire,and haile, & famine,and death: al these are created for vengeance.
30 The teeth of wilde beastes,and the scorpions, and the serpents, and the sword execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.
31 They shalbe glad to do his commandements:
and when neede is, they shall be readie vpon earth:
and when their houre is come, they shall not ouer-passe the commandement.
32 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto me from the beginning, and haue thought on these things,and haue put them in writing.
*Gen.1.31. 33 *All the workes of the Lord are good, and he giueth euery one in due season, & when neede is:
34 So that a man neede not to say,This is worse then that: for in due season they are al worthy praise.
35 And therefore praise the Lorde with whole heart and mouth, and blesse the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

1 Many miseries in mans life. 14 Of the blessing of the righteous and prerogatiue of the feare of God.

‖The miseries of mans life. GReat ‖ trauaile is created for all men, and an heauie yoke vpon the sonnes of Adam from the day that they goe out of their mothers wombe, till the day that they returne to the mother of al things, 2 Namely their thoughts,and feare of the heart, and their imagination of the things they waite for,
and the day of death,
3 From him that sitteth vpõ the glorious throne,
vnto him that is beneath in the earth and ashes: 4 From him that is clothed in blewe silke , and weareth a crowne,euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linnen.
5 Wrath and enuie, trouble, and vnquietnesse, and feare of death, and rigour,and strife, and in the time of rest the sleepe in the night vpon his bed, change his knowledge.
6 A little or nothing is his rest, and afterward in sleeping he is as in a watchtowre in the day : he is troubled with the visions of his heart, as one that runneth out of a battell.
7 And when all is safe, hee awaketh, and marueileth that the feare was nothing.
8 Such things come vnto all flesh, both man and beast, but seuen folde to the vngodly:

13 The substance of the vngodly shall be dried vp like a riuer, and they shall make a sounde like a great thunder in the raine.
14 When he openeth his hand,he reioyceth:but all the transgressours shall come to nought.
15 The children of the vngodly shall not obtaine many branches : for the vncleane rootes are as vpon the high rocke.
16 Their tender stalke by what water so euer it man hath,is a sweete life: but he that findeth a treasure,is aboue them both.

19 Children, and the building of the citie ma-keth a perpetuall name: but an honest woman is counted aboue them both.
20 Wine and musike reioyce the heart: but the loue of wisdome is aboue them both.
21 The pipe and the psalterion make a sweete noyse : but a pleasant tongue is aboue them both.
22 Thine eye desireth fauour and beautie : but a greene seede time,rather then them both.
23 A friende, and companion come together at opportunitie : but aboue them both is a wife with her husband.
24 Friends and helpe are good in the time of trouble, but almes shal deliuer more then them both.
25 Golde and siluer fasten the feete : but counsell is esteemed aboue them both.
26 Riches and strength lift vp the minde:but the feare of the Lord is aboue them both : there is no want in the feare of the Lord,& it needeth no helpe.
27 The feare of the Lord is a pleasant garden of blessing, and there is nothing so beautifull as it is.
28 ¶My sonne,leade not a beggers life:for better it were to die then to begge.
29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table,is not to be counted for a life:for he tor-menteth himselfe after other mens meate : but a wise man and well nourtered, will beware thereof.
30 Begging is sweete in the mouth of the vnshamefast, and in his belly there burneth a fire.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Of the remembrance of death. 3 Death is not to be feared. 8 A curse vpon them that forsake the Lawe of God. 12 Good name and fame. 14 An exhortation to giue heede vnto wisdome. 17 Of what things a man ought to be ashamed.

O ‖ Death, how bitter is the remembrance of thee ‖Of death.
to a man that liueth at rest in his possessions, vnto the man that hath nothing to vexe him ; and that hath prosperitie in all things : yea, vnto him that yet is able to receiue meate!
2 O death , howe acceptable is thy iudgement vnto the needefull , and vnto him whose strength faileth,and that is nowe in the last age,and is vexed with all things,and to him that despaireth,and hath lost patience!
3 Feare not the iudgement of death: remember them that haue bene before thee, and that come after: this is the ordinance of the Lord ouer all flesh.
4 And why wouldest thou be against the pleasure of the most High? whether it bee tenne or an hundreth, or a thousand yeeres , there is no defence for life against the graue.
5 ¶ The children of the vngodly are abominable children , and so are they that keepe companie with the vngodly.
6 The inheritance of vngodly children shal perish, & their posteritie shal haue a perpetual shame.

7 The children complaine of an vngodly father,because they are reproched for his sake.
8 Woe be vnto you,O ye vngodly,which haue forsaken the Law of the most high God:for though you increase,yet shall you perish.
9 If ye be borne, ye shall be borne to cursing:
if ye die,the curse shalbe your portion.
*Chap.40.11. 10 *All that is of the earth,shal turne to earth againe:so the vngodly go frō the curse to destruction.
11 Though men mourne for their body,yet the wicked name of the vngodly shall be put out.
12 Haue regard to thy name : for that shall continue with thee aboue a thousand treasures of gold.
‖A good name. 13 A good life hath the dayes nombred : but ‖ a good name endureth euer.
*Chap.20.29. 14 My children, keepe wisedome in peace: *for wisdome that is hid,and a treasure that is not seene, what profite is in them both?
15 A man that hideth his foolishnesse, is better then a man that hideth his wisdome.
‖Of shamefastnesse. 16 Therefore beare reuerence vnto thy wordes:
for it is not good in all things to be ‖ ashamed: neither are all things allowed as faithfull in all men.
17 Be ashamed of whoredome before father and mother : be ashamed of lyes before the prince and men of authoritie:
18 Of sinne before the Iudge and ruler : of offence before the congregation and people : of vnrighteousnesse before a companion and friend; 19 And of theft before the place where thou dwellest, and before the trueth of God and his couenant, and to leane with thine elbowes vpon ‖ the ‖Or,table. bread,or to be reproued for giuing or taking, 20 And of silence vnto them that salute thee,
and to looke vpon an harlot, 21 And to turne away thy face from thy kinsman : or to take away a portion or gift, or to bee euill minded toward another mans wife, 22 Or to solicite any mans mayd,or to stand by her bed,or to reproch thy friendes with wordes, 23 Or to vpbraide when thou giuest any thing, or to report a matter that thou hast heard, or to re-ueile secret wordes.
24 Thus mayst thou well be shamefast,and shalt finde fauour with all men.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The Law of God must be taught. 9 A daughter. 14 A woman. 18 God knoweth all things,yea, euen the secrets of thine heart.

‖In what things we ought not to be ashamed. OF these things be not thou ‖ ashamed, neither haue regard to offende for any person:
2 Of the Lawe of the most High and his couenant, and of iudgement to iustifie the godly:
3 Of the cause of thy companion,and of strangers,or of distributing the heritage among friendes: 4 To bee diligent to keepe true balance, and weight,whether thou haue much or litle:
5 To sell marchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, and to beate an euill seruant to the blood: 6 To set a good locke where an euil wife is,and to locke where many handes are:
7 If thou giue any thing by nomber,& weight, to put all in writing,both that that is giuen out,and that that is receiued againe: 8 To teach the vnlearned & the vnwise,and the aged,that contend against the yong:thus shalt thou be well instructed, and approued of all men liuing.
‖Or,is a secret watch to the father. 9 ¶The daughter ‖maketh the father to watch secretly,and the carefulnesse that he hath for her,taketh away his sleepe in the youth, least shee should passe the flower of her age : and when shee hath an husband,least she should be hated:

she is with her husband,least she misbehaue herself:

13 For as the moth commeth out of garments:

14 The wickednes of a man is better then the good intreatie of a woman,to wit, of a woman that is in shame, and reproche.
15 ¶I will remember the workes of the Lorde, and declare the thing that I haue seene:by the word of the Lord are his workes.
16 The sunne that shineth, looketh vpon all things,and all the worke thereof is full of the glory of the Lord.
17 Hath not the Lord appointed that his Saints should declare all his wonderous workes, which the almightie Lord hath stablished to cōfirme all things by in his maiestie?
18 He seeketh out the depth, & the heart,and he knoweth their practises: for the Lord knoweth all science, and he beholdeth the signes of the world.
19 He declareth the things that are past,and for
to come, and discloseth the pathes of things that are secrete.

13 ¶Through his commandement he maketh the snow to haste, and sendeth swiftly the lightning of his iudgement.
14 Therefore he openeth his treasures, and the cloudes flie forth as the foules.
15 In his power hath he strengthened ỷ clouds, and broken the hailestones.
16 The mountaines leape at the sight of him: the South winde bloweth according to his will.
17 The sound of his thunder beateth the earth:
so doeth the storme of the North: the whirlewinde also, as birds that flie, scattereth the snowe, and the falling downe thereof is as the grashoppers that light downe.
18 The eye marueileth at the beautie of the whitenes thereof, and the heart is astonished at the raine of it.
19 He also powreth out the frost vpon ỷ earth like salte, and when it is frosen, it sticketh on the tops of pales.
20 When the colde North winde bloweth, an yce is frosen of the water, it abideth vpon all the gatherings together of water, and clotheth the waters as with a brestplate.
21 It deuoureth the mountaines, & burneth the wildernes, & destroyeth that that is greene, like fire.
22 The remedie of all these is when a cloude commeth hastily, and when a dewe commeth vp-on the heate, it refresheth it.
23 [By his worde he stilleth the winde] by his counsell he appeaseth the deepe, & planteth ylands therein.
24 They that saile ouer the sea, tell of the perils thereof, and when we heare it with our eares, wee marueile thereat.
25 For there be strange, and wonderous workes, diuers maner of beasts, and the creation of whales.
26 Through him are all things directed to a good end, and are stablished by his worde.
27 And when we haue spoken much, we cannot attaine vnto them: but this is the summe of all, that he is all.
28 What power haue we to prayse him? for hee is aboue all his workes.
29 The Lord is terrible, and very *great, and *Psal.96.4.
marueilous is his power.
30 Prayse the Lord, and magnifie him as much as ye can, yet doeth hee farre exceede: exalt him with all your power, and be not wearie, yet can ye not attaine vnto it.
31 *Who hath seene him, that hee might tel vs? *Psal.106.2. rom.1.18.
and who can magnifie him as he is?
32 For there are hid yet greater things then these be, & we haue seene but a fewe of his workes.
33 For the Lord hath made all things, & giuen wisdome to such as feare God.

CHAP. L.

Of Simon the sonne of Onias. 22 An exhortation to prayse the Lord. 27 The authour of this booke.

||Simon. *2.Mac.3.1. ||Or, people.

|| SImon *the sonne of Onias the hie Priest, which in his life set vp the house againe, & in his dayes established the || Temple,
2 Vnder him was the foundation of the double height layed, and the hie walles that compasseth the Temple.
3 In his dayes the places to receiue water, that were decayed, were restored, and the brasse was about in measure as the sea.
4 He tooke care for his people, that they should not fall, and fortified the citie against the siege.
5 How honorable was his conuersation among the people, and when he came out of the house co-uered with the vaile!
6 He was as the morning starre in the middes of a cloude, and as the moone when it is full, 7 And as the sunne shining vpon the Temple of the most High, & as the rainebowe that is bright
in the faire cloudes, 8 And as the flowre of the roses in the spring of the yeere, and as lilies by the springs of waters, and as the branches of the frankincense tree in the time of sommer.
9 As a fire and incense in the censer, and as a vessell of massie golde, set with all maner of precious stones,
10 And as a faire oliue tree that is fruitfull, and as a cypresse tree, which groweth vp to the cloudes.
11 When he put on the garment of honour and was clothed with all beautie, he went vp to the holy altar, & made the garment of holines honourable.
12 When he tooke the portions out of ÿ Priests handes, he himselfe stoode by the herth of the altar, compassed with his brethren round about, as ÿ branches doe the cedar tree in Libanus, and they com-passed him as the branches of the palme trees.
13 So were all the sonnes of Aaron in their glorie, and the oblations of the Lord in their hands before all the congregation of Israel.
14 And that he might accomplish his ministerie vpon the altar, and garnish the offering of the most High and Almightie, 15 He stretched out his hand to the drinke offering, and powred of the blood of the grape, and he powred at the foote of the altar a perfume of good fauour vnto the most high King of all.
16 Then shouted the sonnes of Aaron, and blowed with brasen trumpets, & made a great noise to be heard, for a remembrance before the most High.
17 Then all the people together hasted, and fell downe to the earth vpon their faces to worship their Lord God almightie, and most High.
18 The singers also sang ŵ their voyces, so that the sound was great, and the melodie sweete.
19 And the people prayed vnto the Lorde most high

high with prayer before him that is merciful, till the honour of the Lord were performed, and they had accomplished his seruice.
20 Then went he downe, and stretched out his hands ouer the whole congregation of the children of Israel, that they shoulde giue prayse with their lippes vnto the Lord, and reioyce in his name.
21 Hee began againe to worship, that he might receiue the blessing of the most High.
22 Nowe therefore giue prayse all ye vnto God, that worketh great things euery where, which hath increased our daies from the wombe, and dealt with vs according to his mercie, 23 That he would giue vs ioyfulnesse of heart, and peace in our dayes in Israel, as in olde time, 24 That he would confirme his mercie with vs,
and deliuer vs at his time.
25 ¶ There be two maner of people, that mine heart abhorreth, and the third is no people.
26 They that sit vpon the mountaine of Samaria, the Philistims and the foolish people that dwell
in || Sicimus. || Or, Sichem.
27 ¶ Iesus the sonne of Syrach, the sonne of Eleazarus, of Ierusalem, hath written the doctrine of vnderstanding and knowledge in this booke, & hath powred out the wisdome of his heart.
28 Blessed is he that exerciseth himselfe therein:
and he that layeth vp these in his heart, shalbe wise.
29 For if he doe these things, he shall be strong in all things: for he setteth his steppes in the light of the Lorde, which giueth wisedome to the godly.
The Lord be praysed for euermore: So be it, so be it.

CHAP. LI.

A prayer of Iesus the sonne of Syrach.

I Will confesse thee, O Lord and King, and prayse thee, O God, my sauiour: I giue thankes vnto thy name.
2 For thou art my defender & helper, and hast preserued my body from destruction, and from the snare of the slanderous tongue, and from the lippes that are occupied with lies: thou hast holpen me against mine aduersaries,
3 And hast deliuered me according to the multitude of thy mercie, and for thy Names sake, from the roaring of them that were ready to deuoure me, and out of the hands of such as sought after my life, and from the manifold afflictions, which I had,
4 And from the fire that choked me round about,
& from the mids of the fire that I burned not,
5 And from the bottome of the belly of hell, from an vncleane tongue, from lying wordes, from false accusation to the King, and from the slaunder of an vnrighteous tongue.
6 [My soule shall prayse the Lord vnto death:] for my soule drewe neere vnto death; my life was neere to hell beneath.
7 They compassed me on euery side, and there was no man to helpe mee: I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.
8 Then thought I vpon thy mercie, O Lorde, and vpon thine actes of olde, howe thou deliuerest such as waite for thee, and sauest them out of the hands of the || enemies. || Or, nations.
9 Then lifted I vp my prayer from the earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.
10 I called vpon the Lorde the Father of my Lord, that he would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, and in the time of ye proude without helpe.
11 I will prayse thy Name continually, and will sing praise wt thankesgiuing: and my prayer was heard.
12 Thou sauedst mee from destruction, and deliueredst mee from the euill time: therefore will I giue thankes, and prayse thee, and blesse the Name of the Lorde.
13 When I was yet young, or euer I went abroade,
I desired wisedome openly in my prayer.
14 I praied for her before the Temple, & sought after her vnto farre countreis, & she was as a grape that waxeth ripe out of the flower.
15 Mine heart reioyced in her: my foote walked in the right way, & from my youth vp sought I after her.
16 I bowed somewhat downe mine eare, and receiued her, and gate me much wisdome: 17 And I profited by her: therefore wil I ascribe the glory vnto him, that giueth me wisedome.
18 For I am aduised to doe thereafter: I wil be ielous of that that is good: so shall I not bee confounded.
19 My soule hath wrestled with her, and I haue examined my workes: I lifted vp mine hands on hie, and considered the ignorances thereof.
20 I directed my soule vnto her, and I founde her in purenesse: I haue had my heart ioyned with her from the beginning: therefore shall I not bee
forsaken.
21 My bowels are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.
22 The Lord hath giuen me a tongue for my reward, wherewith I will prayse him.
23 Draw neere vnto me, ye vnlearned, and dwell in the house of learning.
24 Wherefore are ye slowe? and what say you of these things, seeing your soules are very thirstie?
25 I opened my mouth, and sayd, * Bye her for * Isa.55.1.
you without money.
26 Bowe downe your necke vnder the yoke, and your soule shall receiue instruction: shee is readie that yee may finde her.
27 Beholde with your eyes, * howe that I haue * Chap.6.18.
had but litle labour, and haue gotten vnto mee much rest.
28 Get learning with a great summe of money:
for by her ye shall possesse much golde.
29 Let your soule reioyce in the mercie of the Lord, and be not ashamed of his prayse.
30 Doe your duetie betimes, and he wil giue you a reward at his time.

BARVCH.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a booke during the captiuitie of Babylon, which he read before Iechoniah and all the people. 10 The Iewes sent the booke with money vnto Ierusalem to their other brethren, to the intent that they should pray for them.

AND these are the woordes of the booke, which Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the sonne of Maasias, the sonne of Sedecias, the sonne of || Asadias, || Or, Sedrias.
the sonne of Helcias wrote in at Babylon, 2 In the fift yeere, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, what time as the Chaldeans tooke Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.
3 And Baruch did reade the woordes of this booke, that Iechonias the sonne of Ioacim king of Iuda might heare, and al the people that were come to heare the booke,

4 And in the audience of the gouernour, & of the Kings sonnes, and before the Elders, and before the whole people, frō the lowest vnto the hiest, be-‖Or, Sud. fore all them ẏ dwelt at Babylon by the riuer ‖ Sud.
5 Which when they heard it, wept, fasted, and made prayers before the Lord.
6 They made a collection also of money, according to euery mans power, 7 And sent it to Ierusalem vnto Ioacim ẏ sonne of Helcias the sonne of Salom priest, and vnto the other priests, and to all the people which were with him at Ierusalem,
8 When hee had receiued the vessels of the Temple of the Lorde, that were taken away out of the Temple, to bring them againe into the land of ‖Or, Siban. Iuda, the tenth day of the moneth ‖ Siuan, to wit, siluer vessels, which Sedecias the sonne of Iosias King of Iuda had made,
9 After that Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon had led away Iechonias from Ierusalem, & his princes, and his nobles, prisoners, and the people, and caried them to Babylon.
10 And they sayde, Beholde, we haue sent you money, wherewith ye shall bye burnt offerings for ‖Or, Manna, for Minhah, which was the euening and morning sacrifice. sinnes, and incense, and prepare a ‖ meat offering, and offer vpon the altar of the Lord our God, 11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their dayes may be vpon earth, as the dayes of heauen, 12 And that God woulde giue vs strength and lighten our eyes, that we may liue vnder the shadowe of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, & vnder the shadowe of Baltasar his sonne, that we may long doe them seruice, & finde fauour in their sight.
13 Pray for vs also vnto the Lorde our God (for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and vnto this day the furie of the Lorde and his wrath is not turned from vs.) 14 And reade this booke (which we haue sent to you to be rehearsed in the Temple of the Lord) vp-on the feast dayes, and at time conuenient.
*Chap. 2. 6. 15 Thus shall ye say, * To the Lord our God belongeth righteousnesse, but vnto vs the confusion of our faces, as it is come to passe this day vnto them of Iuda, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, 16 And to our Kings, and to our Princes, and to our Priestes, & to our Prophets, and to our fathers, *Dan. 9. 5. 17 Because we haue * sinned before the Lorde our God,
18 And haue not obeied him, neither heakened vnto the voyce of the Lorde our God, to walke in the commandements that he gaue vs openly.
19 From the day that the Lord brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, euen vnto this day, we haue bene disobedient vnto the Lorde our God,
and we haue bene negligent to heare his voyce.
*Deut. 28. 15. 20 * Wherefore these plagues are come vpon vs, and the curse which the Lorde appointed by Moy-ses his seruant at the time that hee brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, to giue vs a land that floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day.
21 Neuerthelesse, wee haue not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, according to all the words of the Prophets, whome he sent vnto vs.
22 But euery one of vs followed ẏ wicked imagination of his owne heart, to serue strange gods, and to doe euill in the sight of the Lord our God.

CHAP. II.

1 The Iewes confesse that they suffer iustly for their sinnes. The true confession of the Christians. 11 The Iewes desire to haue the wrath of God turned from them 32 Hee promiseth that hee will call againe the people from captiuitie, and giue them a newe and euerlasting Testament.

THerefore the Lorde our God hath perfourmed his worde, which he pronounced against vs, and against our iudges that gouerned Israel, and against our Kings, and against our princes, and against the men of Israel and Iuda, 2 To bring vpon vs great plagues, such as neuer came to passe vnder the whole heauen, as they that were done in Ierusalem, according to things that were * written in the Lawe of Moyses, *Deut. 28. 53.
3 That some among vs should eat ẏ flesh of his owne sonne, & some the flesh of his owne daughter.
4 Moreouer, hee hath deliuered them to be in subiection to all the kingdomes, that are round about vs, to be as a reproche and desolation among all the people rounde about where the Lorde hath scattered them.
5 Thus they are brought beneath and not aboue, because we haue sinned against the Lorde our God, and haue not heard his voyce.
6 * To the Lord our God apperteineth righte- *Chap. 1. 15.
ousnes, but vnto vs and to our fathers open shame,
as appeareth this day.
7 For all these plagues are come vpon vs, which the Lord hath pronounced against vs.
8 Yet haue wee not prayed before the Lorde, that wee might turne euery one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart.
9 So the Lord hath watched ouer the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them vpon vs: for the Lord is righteous in all his workes, which he hath commanded vs.
10 Yet wee haue not hearkened vnto his voyce, to walke in the commandements of the Lorde that he hath giuen vnto vs.
11 * And nowe, O Lord God of Israel, that hast *Dan. 9. 15. brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mightie hand, and an hie arme, and with signes, and with wonders, and with great power, and hast gotten thy selfe a Name, as appeareth this day, 12 O Lorde our God, we haue sinned: we haue done wickedly: we haue offended in all thine ordinances.
13 Let thy wrath turne from vs: for we are but a fewe left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered vs.
14 Heare our prayers, O Lorde, and our petitions, and deliuer vs for thine owne sake, and giue vs fauor in the sight of them, which haue led vs away, 15 That all the earth may knowe that thou art the Lord our God, and that thy Name is called vp-on Israel and vpon their posteritie.
16 Therefore looke downe frō thine holy Temple, and thinke vpon vs: encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare vs.
17 * Open thine eyes, and beholde: for the dead *Deut. 26. 15. Isa. 63. 15. that are in the graues, and whose soules are out of their bodies, * giue vnto the Lorde neither ‖ prayse, *Psal. 6. 5, 6. & 115. 17, 18. Isa. 38. 18, 19.
nor righteousnesse. ‖Or, glory, nor prayse of righteousnesse.
18 But the soule that is vexed for the greatnes of sinne, and he that goeth crookedly, and weake, and the eyes that faile, and the hungrie soule will giue thee prayse and righteousnesse, O Lord.
19 For wee doe not require mercie in thy sight, O Lorde our God, for the righteousnesse of our fathers, or of our Kings, 20 But because thou hast sent out thy wrath and indignation

‖ Or, by the hand of thy seruants.
* Iere.27.7.

indignation vpon vs, as thou hast spoken by ‖ thy seruants the Prophets, saying, 21 * Thus sayth the Lord, Bowe downe your shoulders, and serue the King of Babylon: so shal ye remaine in the land, that I gaue vnto your fathers.
22 But if ye wil not heare the voyce of the Lord, to serue the King of Babylon, 23 I will cause to cease the cities of Iuda, and in Ierusalem, I wil cause to cease the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of ioy, and the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, and the land shall be desolate of inhabitants.
24 But we woulde not hearken vnto thy voyce, to serue the King of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the wordes that thou spakest by thy ser-uants the Prophets: namely, that the bones of our Kings, and the bones of our fathers should be caried out of their places.
25 And lo, they are cast out to the heate of the day, and to the colde of the night, and are dead in great miserie with famine, and with the sworde, and in banishment.
26 And the Temple wherein thy Name was called vpon, thou hast brought to the state, as appeareth
this day, for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and the house of Iuda.
27 O Lord our God, thou hast intreated vs according to equitie, and according to all thy great
mercie,
28 As thou spakest by thy seruant Moyses, in the day when thou diddest command him to write thy Lawe before the children of Israel, saying, 29 * If ye will not obey my voyce, then shall this great swarme and multitude bee turned into a very fewe among the nations where I will scatter them.
30 For I knowe that they will not heare me: for it is a stiffenecked people: but in the land of their captiuitie they shall remember themselues, 31 And knowe that I am the Lorde their God:
then wil I giue them an heart to vnderstand, & eares.
32 And they shall heare, and praise me in the land of their captiuitie, and thinke vpon my Name.
33 Then shall they turne them from their hard backes, and from their euill workes: for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord.
34 And I will bring them againe into the land, which I promised with an othe vnto their fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob, and they shalbe Lords of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.
35 And I will make an euerlasting couenant with them, that I will be their God, and they shall be my people: and I will no more driue my people of Israel out of the land that I haue giuen them.

* Leui.26.14. deut.28.15.

CHAP. III.

1 The people continueth in their prayer begunne for their deliuerance. 9 Hee prayseth wisedome vnto the people, shewing that so great aduersities came vnto them for the despising thereof. 36 Onely God was the finder of wisedome. 37 Of the incarnation of Christ.

O Lorde Almightie, O God of Israel, the soule that is in trouble, and the spirite that is vexed, cryeth vnto thee.
2 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercie: for thou art mercifull, and haue pitie vpon vs, because we haue sinned before thee.
3 For thou endurest for euer, & we vtterly perish.
4 O Lorde Almightie, the God of Israel, heare nowe the prayer of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which haue sinned before thee, and not hearkened vnto the voyce of thee their God, wherefore these plagues hang vpon vs.
5 Remember not the wickednesse of our fathers, but thinke vpō thy power, & thy Name at this time.
6 For thou art the Lord our God, and thee, O Lord, will we prayse.
7 And for this cause hast thou put thy feare in our hearts, that we should call vpon thy Name, and prayse thee in our captiuitie: for wee haue considered in our mindes all the wickednesse of our fathers, that sinned before thee.
8 Beholde, we are yet this day in our captiuitie, where thou hast scattered vs, to bee a reproch and a curse, and subiect to payments, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which are departed from the Lord their God.
9 O Israel, heare ẏ cōmandements of life: hearken vnto them, that thou mayest learne wisdome.
10 What is the cause, O Israel, that thou art in thine enemies land, and art waxen olde in a strange countrey?
11 And art defiled with the dead? and art counted with them, that goe downe to the graue?
12 Thou hast forsaken the fountain of wisdome.
13 For if thou hadst walked in the way of God, thou shouldest haue remained safe for euer.
14 Learne where is wisedome, where is strength, where is vnderstanding, that thou mayest know also from whence commeth long continuance, and life, and where the light of the eyes, and peace is.
15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?
16 Where are the princes of the heathen, and such as ruled the beastes vpon the earth?
17 They that had their pastime with the foules of the heauen, that hoarded vp siluer & gold, wher-in men trust, & made none ende of their gathering?
18 For they that coyned siluer, & were so carefull of their worke, and whose inuention had none ende, 19 Are come to nought, and gone downe to hel, and other men are come vp in their steades.
20 When they were young, they sawe the light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they vnderstood not
the way of knowledge, 21 Neither perceiued the pathes thereof, neither haue their children receiued it: but they were farre off from that way.
22 It hath not bene heard of in the land of Chanaan, neither hath it bene seene in Theman, 23 Nor the Agarines that sought after wisdome vpon the earth, nor the marchants of Nerran, and of Theman, nor the expounders of fables, nor the searchers out of wisdome haue knowen the way of wis-dome, neither doe they thinke vpon the pathes
thereof.
24 O Israel, how great is the House of God! and how large is the place of his possession!
25 It is great, and hath none ende: it is hie, and vnmeasurable.
26 There were the gyants, famous from the beginning, that were of so great stature, and so expert in warre.
27 Those did not the Lorde choose, neither gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.
28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisdom, & perished through their owne foolishnes.
29 Who hath gone vp into heauen, to take her,
and brought her downe from the cloudes?
30 Who hath gone ouer the sea to finde her,
and hath brought her, rather then fine golde?

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither considereth her paths.
32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her,
and he hath found her out with his vnderstanding:
this same is hee which hath prepared the earth for euermore, and hath filled it with foure footed beastes.
33 When he sendeth out the light, it goeth: and when he calleth it againe, it obeyeth him with feare.
34 And the starres shine in their watch, and re-ioyce. When he calleth them, they say, Here we be:
and so with cheerefulnesse they shew light vnto him that made them.
35 This is our God, and there shall none other be compared vnto him.
36 He hath found out all the way of knowledge, and hath giuen it vnto Iaakob his seruant, and to Israel his beloued.
37 Afterward hee was seene vpon earth, and dwelt among men.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The reward of them that keepe the Lawe, and the punishment of them that despise it. 12 A comforting of the people being in captiuitie. 19 A complaint of Ierusalem and vnder the figure thereof the Church. 25 A consolation and comforting of the same.

THis is the booke of the commandements of God, and the Lawe that endureth for euer: all they that keepe it, shall come to life: but such as forsake it, shall die.
2 Turne thee, O Iacob, and take holde of it:
walke by this brightnesse before the light thereof.
3 Giue not thine honour to another, nor the things that are profitable vnto thee, to a strange nation.
4 O Israel, wee are blessed: for the things that are acceptable vnto God, are declared vnto vs.
5 Be of good comfort, O my people, which art
the memoriall of Israel.
6 Ye are solde to the nations, not for your destruction: but because ye prouoked God to wrath, ye were deliuered vnto the enemies.
7 For ye haue displeased him that made you, offering vnto deuils and not to God.
8 Ye haue forgotten him that created you, euen the euerlasting God, and ye haue grieued Ierusalem, that nourished you.
9 When she saw the wrath comming vpon you from God, she saide, Hearken, ye that dwell about Sion: for God hath brought me into great heauines.
10 I see the captiuitie of my sonnes and daughters, which the Euerlasting will bring vpon them.
11 With ioy did I nourish them, but I must leaue them with weeping and mourning.
12 Let no man reioyce ouer me a widow, & forsaken of many, which for ŷ sinnes of my children am desolate, because they departed from ŷ Law of God.
13 They would not know his righteousnesse, nor walke in the way of his commandements: neither did they enter into the paths of discipline, through his righteousnesse.
14 Come, yee that dwell about Sion, and call to remembrance the captiuitie of my sonnes & daughters, which the euerlasting hath brought vpon them.
15 For hee hath brought vpon them a nation from farre, an impudent nation, and of a strange language,
16 Which neither reuerence the aged, nor pitie
the yong: these haue caried away the deare beloued of the widowes, leauing me alone, and destitute of my daughters.
17 But what can I helpe you?
18 Surely hee that hath brought these plagues vpon you, can deliuer you from the handes of your enemies.
19 Goe your way, O children, goe your way: for I am left desolate.
20 I haue put off the clothing of peace, and put vpon me the sackecloth of prayer, and so long as I liue, I will call vpon the Euerlasting.
21 Be of good comfort, O children: crye vnto God, and hee will deliuer you from the power, and hand of the enemies.
22 For I haue hope of your saluation through the Euerlasting, and ioy is come vpon me from the Holy one, because of the mercie, which shall quickly come vnto you from our euerlasting Sauiour.
23 For I sent you away with weeping, & mourning: but with ioy and perpetuall gladnes will God bring you againe vnto me.
24 Like as now the neighbours of Sion saw your captiuitie, so shall they also see shortly your saluation from God, which shall come vnto you with great glorie, and brightnesse from the Euerlasting.
25 My children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come vpon you from God: for thine enemie hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt treade vpon his necke.
26 My darlings haue gone by rough wayes, and were led away as a flock ŷ is scattered by ŷ enemies.
27 Be of good comfort, my children, and crye vnto God: for he that led you away, hath you in remembrance.
28 And as it came into your minde to goe astray from your God, so endeuour your selues ten times more, to turne againe and to seeke him.
29 For he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, will bring you euerlasting ioy againe, with your saluation.
30 Take a good heart, O Ierusalem: for he which gaue thee that name, will comfort thee.
31 They are miserable that afflict thee, and such as reioyce at thy fall.
32 The cities are miserable whome thy children serue: miserable is she that hath taken thy sonnes.
33 For as she reioyced at thy decay, and was glad of thy fal, so shal she be sory for her own desolation.
34 For I wil take away the reioycing of her great multitude, and her ioy shalbe turned into mourning.
35 For a fire shall come vpon her from the Euerlasting, long to endure, and shee shall be inhabited of deuils for a great season.
36 O Ierusalem, looke toward the East, and behold the ioy that cometh vnto thee from thy God.
37 Lo, thy sonnes (whom thou hast let go) come gathered together from the East vnto the West, re-ioycing in the word of the Holy one vnto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

1 Ierusalem is moued vnto gladnesse for the returne of her people, and vnder the figure thereof the Church.

PVt off thy mourning clothes, O Ierusalem, and thine affliction, and decke thee with the worship and honour, that commeth vnto thee from God, for euermore.
2 Put on the garment of righteousnesse, that commeth from God, and set a crowne vpon thine head of the glorie of the Euerlasting.
3 For God will declare thy brightnes to euery countrey vnder the heauen.
4 And God will name thee by this name for
euer,

teuen, The peace of righteousnesse, and the glory of the worship of God.
5 Arise, O Ierusalem, and stand vp on hie, and looke about thee toward the East, and beholde thy children gathered from the East vnto the West by the worde of the holy one, reioyceing in the remembrance of God.
6 For they departed from thee on foote, and were led away of their enemies: but God will bring them againe vnto thee, exalted in glory, as children of the kingdome.
7 For God hath determined to bring downe euery high mountaine, & the long enduring rockes, and to fill the valleys, to make the ground plaine, that Israel may walke safely vnto the honor of God.
8 The woods and all sweete smelling trees shall ouershadowe Israel at the commandement of God.
9 For God shal bring Israel with ioy in ẏ light of his maiestie, with the mercie and righteousnes that commeth of him.

C H A P. VI.

A COPIE OF THE EPISTLE THAT Ieremias sent vnto them that were led away captiues into Babylon by the King of the Babylonians, to certifie them of the thing that was commanded him of God.

Because of the sinnes, that yee haue commited against God, yee shall be led away captiues vnto Babylon, by Nabuchodonosor, King of the Babylonians.
2 So when ye be come into Babylon, yee shall remaine there many yeeres, and a long season, euen seuen generations, and after that wil I bring you againe peaceably from thence.
3 *Now shall ye see in Babylon gods of siluer, *Isai.44.10. psal.115.9. wisd.13.10.
and of gold, and of wood, borne vpon mens shoulders, to cause the people to feare.
4 Beware therefore that yee in no wise be like the strangers, neither be ye afraid of them, when ye see the multitude before them and behinde them worshipping them,
5 But say ye in your hearts, O Lorde, we must worship thee.
6 For mine Angel shall be with you, and shall care for your soules.
7 As for their tongue, it is polished by the carpenter, and they themselues are gilted, & laide ouer with siluer: yet are they but lies, and cannot speake.
8 And as they take golde for a maide that lo-ueth to be deckt, 9 So make they crownes for the heads of their gods: sometimes also the Priests themselues conuey away the golde, and siluer from their gods, and bestowe it vpon themselues.
10 Yea, they giue of the same vnto the harlots, that are in their houses: againe, they decke these gods of siluer, and gods of golde, and of wood with garments like men, 11 Yet can not they be preserued from rust and wormes,
12 Though they haue couered them ẇ clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the Temple, whereof there is much vpon them.
13 One holdeth a scepter, as though he were a certaine iudge of the countrey: yet can he not slay such as offend him.
14 Another hath a dagger or an axe in his right hande: yet is he not able to defende him selfe from battell, nor from theeues: so then it is euident, that they be no gods.
15 Therefore feare them not: for as a vessel that a man vseth, is nothing worth when it is broken, 16 Such are their gods: when they be set vp in their temples their eyes be full of dust by reason of the feete of those that come in.
17 And as the ‖gates are shut in rounde about ‖Or, courts. vpon him that ẏ hath offended the King: as one that shoulde be ledde to be put to death: so the priestes keepe their temples with doores, and with lockes, and with barres, least their gods shoulde be spoyled by robbers.
18 They light vp candles before them, yea, more then for them selues, whereof they can not see one:
for they are but as one of the postes of the temple.
19 They confesse, ẏ euen their hearts are gnawen vpon: but when the things that creepe out of the earth, eate them and their clothes, they feele it not.
20 Their faces are blacke through the smoke that is in the temple.
21 The owles, swalowes and birds flie vpon their bodies, and vpon their heads, yea, and the cats also.
22 By this ye may be sure, that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.
23 Notwithstanding the golde, that is about them to make them beautifull, except one wipe off the rust, they cannot shine: neither when they were molten, did they feele it.
24 The things wherein is no breath, are bought for a most high price.
25 * They are borne vpon mens shoulders, be- *Isai.46.7.
cause they haue no feete, whereby they declare vnto men, that they be nothing woorth: yea, and they that worship them, are ashamed.
26 For if they fall to the grounde at any time, they can not rise vp againe of themselues, neither if one set them vp right, can they mooue of them selues, neither if they be bowed downe, can they make them selues streight: but they set giftes before them, as vnto dead men.
27 As for the things that are offered vnto them, their Priests sell them, and abuse them: likewise also the women lay vp of the same: but vnto the poore and sicke they giue nothing.
28 The menstruous women, and they that are in childbed, touch their sacrifices: by these things ye may know that they are no gods: feare them not.
29 From whence commeth it then, that they are called gods? because the women bring giftes to the gods of siluer, and golde, and wood.
30 And the priestes sit in their temples, hauing their clothes rent, whose heads and beards are sha-uen, and being bare headed, 31 They roare, and cry before their gods, as men doe at the feast of one that is dead.
32 The priests also take away of their garments, and clothe their wiues and childen.
33 Whether it be euil that one doeth vnto them or good, they are not able to recompence it: they can neither set vp a King nor put him downe.
34 In like maner they can neither giue riches, nor money: though a man make a vowe vnto them
and keepe it not, they will not require it.
35 They can saue no man from death, neither deliuer the weake from the mightie.
36 They can not restore a blind man to his sight, nor helpe any man at his neede.
37 They can shewe no mercy to the widdowe, nor doe good to the fatherlesse.
38 Their gods of wood, golde, and siluer, are as stones, that bee hewen out of the mountaine, and
they

they that worship them shalbe confounded.
39. Howe shoulde a man then thinke or say that they are Gods?
40 Moreouer the Chaldeans them selues disho-nour them: for when they see a domme man, that can not speake, they present him to Bel, 41 And desire that hee woulde make him to speake, as though he had any feeling: yet they that vnderstande these things, can not leaue them; for they also haue no sense.
42 Furthermore the wome͂, girded with coards, sitte in the streetes, and burne ‖strawe. ‖Or, bran.
43 And if one of them be drawen away, and lie with any such as come by, shee casteth her neighbour in the teeth, because shee was not so worthily reputed, nor her coarde broken.
44 Whatsoeuer is done among them, is lies: howe may it then be thought or sayd, that they are gods?
45 Carpenters and goldsmithes make them, neither be they any other thing, but euen what the workeman wil make them.
46 Yea, they that make them, are of no long co͂- tinuance: how should then the things that are made of them, be gods?
47 Therefore they leaue lies, and shame for their posteritie.
48 For when there co͂meth any warre or plague vpon them, the Priestes imagine with them selues, where they may hide themselues with them.
49 Howe then can men not perceiue, that they be no gods, which can neither defende themselues, from warre nor from plagues?
50 For *seeing they be but of wood, and of sil- *Psal.115.4. wisd.13.10.
uer, and of golde, men shall knowe hereafter that they are but lies, and it shall be manifest to all nations & Kings, that they be no gods, but the workes of mens handes, and that there is no worke of God
in them.
51 Whereby it may be knowen, that they are no gods.
52 They can set vp no King in the lande, nor giue raine vnto men.
53 They can giue no sentence of a matter, neither preserue from iniurie: they haue no power, but are as crowes betweene the heauen and the earth.
54 When there falleth a fire vpon the house of those gods of wood, and of siluer, and of golde, the priestes shall escape and saue them selues, but they burne as the balkes therein.
55 They cannot w͂stand any King or enemies:
how can it then be thought or said ẏ they be gods?
56 Moreouer these gods of wood, of golde, and of siluer can neither defe͂d themselues from theeues nor robbers.
57 For they that are strongest, take away their golde and siluer, and apparell, wherewith they be clothed: and when they haue it, they get them away:
yet can they not helpe themselues.
58 Therefore it is better to be a King, and so to shewe his power, or els a profitable vessell in an house, whereby hee that oweth it, might haue pro-fite, then such false gods: or to bee a doore in an house, to keepe such things safe as be therein, then such false gods: or a pillar of wood in a palace, then such false gods.
59 For the sunne, and the moone, & the starres that shine, when they are sent downe for necessarie vses, obey.
60 Likewise also the lightning, when it shineth, it is euident: and the winde bloweth in euery
countrey.
61 And when God commandeth the cloudes to go about ẏ whole world, they do as they are bidden.
62 When the fire is sent downe from aboue to destroy hilles and woods, it doeth that which is commaunded: but these are not like any of these things, neither in forme, nor power.
63 Wherefore men should not thinke, nor say that they be gods, seeing they can neither giue sentence in iudgement, nor doe men good.
64 For so much nowe as yee are sure, that they be no gods, feare them not.
65 For they can neither curse, nor blesse Kings: 66 Neither can they shewe signes in the heauen among the heathen, neither shine as the moone.
67 The beasts are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, & do themselues good.
68 So yee may be certified that by no maner of meanes, they are no gods: therefore feare them not.
69 For as a skarrecrowe in a garden of cucumbers keepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood, and of siluer, and of golde:
70 And likewise their gods of wood, and golde and siluer are like to a white thorne in an orcharde, that euery bird sitteth vpon, and as a dead bodie that is cast in the darke.
71 By the purple also and brightnes, which fa-deth vpon them, yee may vnderstande, that they be no gods: yea, they themselues shall be consumed at the last, and they shall be a shame to the countrey.
72 Better therefore is the iust man, that hath none idoles: for he shalbe farre from reproofe.

The song of the three holy children, which followeth in the thirde chapter of Daniel after this place, They fell downe bound in the middes of the hote fire fornace.

CHAP. I.

23 The prayer of Azarias. 46 The crueltie of the King. 48 The flame deuoureth the Chaldeans. 49 The Angel of the Lorde was in the furnace. 51 The three children prayse the Lord, and prouoke all creatures to the same.

24 AND they walked in the middes of the flame, praysing God, & magnified the Lord.
25 Then Azarias stood vp, & prayed on this maner, and opening his mouth in the mids of ẏ fire, saide, 26 Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers:
thy Name is worthie to bee praysed and honoured
for euermore.
27 For thou art righteous in all the things, that thou hast done vnto vs, and all thy works are true, and thy wayes are right, and all thy iudgements certaine.
28 In all the things that thou hast brought vp-on vs, and vpon Ierusalem, the holy citie of our fathers, thou hast executed true iudgements: for by right and equitie hast thou brought all these things vpon vs, because of our sinnes.
29 For we haue sinned and done wickedly, departing from thee: in all things haue we trespassed, 30 And not obeyed thy commaundements, nor kept them, neither done as thou haddest commanded vs, that we might prosper.
31 Wherefore in all that thou hast brought
vpon

vpon vs, and in euery thing that thou hast done to vs, thou hast done them in true iudgement.

32 As in deliuering vs into the handes of our wicked enemies, and most hatefull traitours, and to an vnrighteous King, and the most wicked in all the world.

33 And nowe we may not open our mouthes:
we are become a shame and reproofe vnto thy ser-uants, and to them that worship thee.

34 Yet for thy Names sake, we beseech thee, giue vs not vp for euer, neither breake thy couenant,

35 Neither take away thy mercie from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams sake, and for thy seruant Isaacs sake, and for thine holy Israels sake,

36 To whom thou hast spoken and promised, that thou wouldest multiplie their seed as the starres of heauen, & as the sand, that is vpon the sea shore.

37 For wee, O Lord, are become lesse then any nation, and be kept vnder this day in all the world, because of our sinnes:

38 So that now we haue neither prince, nor prophet, nor gouernour, nor burnt offering, nor sacrifice, nor oblation, nor incense, nor place to offer the first fruits before thee, that we might finde mercie.

39 Neuerthelesse in a contrite heart and an humble spirit, let vs be receiued.

40 As in the burnt offring of rams & bullocks, and as in tenne thousand of fat lambs, so let our offering bee in thy sight this day, that it may please thee: for there is no confusion vnto them that put their trust in thee.

41 And nowe we follow thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and seeke thy face.

42 Put vs not to shame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindenesse, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs also by thy miracles, and giue thy Name the glory, O Lord,

44 That all they which doe thy seruants euill, may be confounded: euen let them be confounded by thy great force and power, and let their strength be broken,

45 That they may know, that thou onely art the Lord God, and glorious ouer the whole world.

46 ¶ Now the kings seruants that had cast them in, ceased not to make the ouen hote with naphtha, and with pitch, and with towe, and with fagots,

47 So that the flame went out of the fornace fourtie and nine cubites.

48 And it brake forth, and burnt those Chaldeans, that it found by the fornace.

49 But the Angel of the Lord went downe into the fornace with them that were with Azarias, and smote the flame of the fire out of the fornace,

50 And made in the middes of the fornace like a moyst hissing winde, so that the fire touched them not at all, neither grieued nor troubled them.

51 Then these three (as out of one mouth) praised, and glorified, and blessed God in the fornace,
saying,

52 Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers, and praysed, and exalted aboue all things for euer.
And blessed bee thy glorious and holy Name, and praised aboue all things, and magnified for euer.

53 Blessed be thou in the Temple of thine holy glorie, and praised aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

54 Blessed be thou that beholdest the depthes, and sittest vpon the Cherubims, and praised aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

55 Blessed be thou in the glorious Throne of thy kingdome, and praysed aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

56 Blessed be thou in the firmament of heauen, and praised aboue all things, and glorified for euer.

57 All ye works of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord:
prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

58 O *heauens, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, *Psal.148.4.
and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

59 O Angels of the Lord, blesse yee the Lord:
praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

60 All ye waters that be aboue the heauen, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

61 All ye powers of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord:
praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

62 O sunne and moone, blesse ye the Lord: praise
him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

63 O starres of heauen, blesse ye the Lord: praise
him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

64 Euery showre and dewe, blesse ye the Lorde:
praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

65 All ye windes, blesse ye the Lord: praise him,
and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

66 O fire and heate, blesse yee the Lord: praise
him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

67 O ‖ winter and sommer, blesse ye the Lord: ‖Or, colde.
praise him, and exalt him aboue all thing for euer.

68 O dewes and ‖ stormes of snowe, blesse yee ‖Or, frosts.
the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things
for euer.

69 O frost and colde, blesse ye the Lord: praise
him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

70 O yce & snow, blesse ye the Lord: praise him,
and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

71 O nights and dayes, blesse ye the Lord: praise
him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

72 O light and darkenesse, blesse ye the Lord:
praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

73 O lightnings and cloudes, blesse ye the Lord:
praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

74 Let the earth blesse the Lord: let it prayse
him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

75 O mountaines, and hilles, blesse ye the Lord:
praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

76 All things that growe on the earth, blesse ye
the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things
for euer.

77 O fountaines, blesse ye the Lord: praise him,
and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

78 O sea and floods, blesse yee the Lord: prayse
him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

79 O whales, and all that mooue in the waters, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

80 All ye foules of heauen, blesse yee the Lord:
praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

81 All ye beastes and cattell, blesse ye the Lord:
praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

82 O children of men, blesse ye the Lord: praise
him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

83 Let Israel blesse the Lord, praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

84 O Priestes of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord:
praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

85 O seruants of the Lord, blesse yee the Lord:
praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

86 O spirits and soules of the righteous, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

87 O Saintes and humble of heart, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things
for euer.
88 O Ananias, Azarias, and Misael, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer: for he hath deliuered vs from the hel, & saued vs from the hand of death, and deliuered vs out of the middest of the furnace, and burning flame: euen out of the middes of the fire hath he deliuered vs.
89 Confesse vnto the Lord, that he is gracious:
for his mercie endureth for euer.
90 All ye that worship the Lord, blesse the God of gods: praise him, and acknowledge him: for his mercie endureth world without ende.

THE HISTORIE OF ‖ SVSANna, which some ioyne to the ende of Daniel, and make it the thirteenth Chapter.

‖ Or, Susanna.

8 The two gouernours are taken with the loue of Susanna. 19 They take her alone in the garden. 20 They solicite her to wickednesse. 23 Shee chooseth rather to obey God, though it be to the danger of her life. 34 She is accused. 45 Daniel doth deliuer her. 62 The gouernours are put to death.

THere dwelt a man in Babylon called Ioacim,
2 And hee tooke a wife, whose name was Susanna, the daughter of Helcias, a very faire woman, and one that feared God.
3 Her father and her mother also were godly people, and taught their daughter according to the Lawe of Moyses.
4 Now Ioacim was a great rich man, and had a faire garden ioyning vnto his house, and to him resorted the Iewes, because he was more honourable then all others.
5 The same yeere were appoynted two of the ancients of the people to be Iudges, such as the Lord speaketh of, that the iniquitie came from Babylon, and from the ancient Iudges, which seemed to rule the people.
6 These haunted Ioacims house, and all such as had any thing to doe in the Lawe, came thither
vnto them.
7 Nowe when the people departed away at noone, Susanna went into her husbands garden to walke.
8 And the two Elders sawe her that shee went in daily and walked, so that their lust was inflamed toward her.
9 Therefore they turned away their minde, and cast downe their eyes, that they should not see heauen, nor remember iust iudgements.
10 And albeit they both were wounded with her loue, yet durst not one shewe another his griefe.
11 For they were ashamed to declare their lust, that they desired to haue to doe with her.
12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to see her.
13 And the one sayde to the other, Let vs goe nowe home, for it is dinner time.
14 So they went their way, and departed one from another: yet they returned againe, and came into the same place, and after that they had asked one another the cause, they acknowledged their lust: then appoynted they a time both together when they might finde her alone.
15 Now when they had spyed out a conuenient time that shee went in, as her maner was, with two maydes onely, and thought to wash her selfe in the garden (for it was an hote season) 16 And there was no body there, saue the two Elders that had hid themselues, and watched for her.
17 She said to her maides, Bring me oyle & sope, and shut the garden doores, that I may wash me.
18 And they did as she bade them, and shut the garden doores, and went out themselues at a backe doore, to fet the thing that she had comanded them:
but they saw not the Elders, because they were hid.
19 Now when the maydes were gone foorth, the two Elders rose vp and ranne vnto her, saying, 20 Beholde, the garden doores are shut, that no man can see vs, and wee burne in loue with thee:
therefore consent vnto vs, and lye with vs.
21 If thou wilt not, we will beare witnes against thee, that a yong man was with thee: and therefore thou diddest send away thy maydes from thee.
22 Then Susanna sighed, & said, I am in trouble on euery side: for if I doe this thing, it is death vnto me: and if I doe it not, I cannot escape your hands.
23 It is better for me to fall into your hands, and not to doe it, then to sinne in the sight of the Lord.
24 With that Susanna cried with a loude voyce, and the two Elders cryed out against her.
25 Then ranne the one, and opened the garden doore.
26 ¶ So when the seruants of the house heard the cry in the garden, they rushed in at the backe doore, to see what was done vnto her.
27 But when the Elders had declared their matter, the seruants were greatly ashamed: for there was neuer such a report made of Susanna.
28 On the morowe after, came the people to Ioacim her husband, and the two Elders came also, full of mischieuous imagination against Susanna, to put her to death,
29 And sayde before the people, Send for Susanna the daughter of Helcias Ioacims wife. And im-mediatly they sent.
30 So she came with her father and mother, her children and all her kinred.
31 Nowe Susanna was very tender, and fayre of face.
32 And these wicked men commanded to vncouer her face (for she was couered) that they might so be satisfied with her beautie.
33 Therefore they that were about her, and all they that knewe her, wept.
34 Then the two Elders stood vp in the middes of the people, and layde their hands vpon her head.
35 Which wept and looked vp toward heauen:
for her heart trusted in the Lord.
36 And the Elders said, As we walked in the garden alone, she came in with two maydes, whom she sent away from her, and shut the garden doores.
37 Then a yong man which there was hid, came vnto her, and lay with her.
38 Then we which stood in a corner of the garden, seeing this wickednesse, ranne vnto them, and we sawe them as they were together, 39 But wee coulde not holde him: for he was stronger

ſtronger then we & opened the dore, & leaped out.
40 Nowe when we had taken this woman, wee asked her what yong man this was, but ſhee would not tell vs: of theſe things are we witneſſes.
41 Then the aſſemblie beleeued them, as thoſe that were the Elders and iudges of the people: ſo they condemned her to death.
42 Then Suſanna cried out with a loud voyce, & ſaide, O euerlaſting God, that knoweſt the ſecretes, and knoweſt all things afore they come to paſſe, 43 Thou knoweſt, that they haue borne falſe witneſſe againſt me, and behold, I muſt die, whereas I neuer did ſuch things as theſe men haue maliciouſly inuented againſt me.
44 And the Lord heard her voyce.
45 ¶ Therefore when ſhee was led to be put to death, the Lorde raiſed vp the holy ſpirit of a yong childe, whoſe name was Daniel.
46 Who cried with a loude voyce, I am cleane from the blood of this woman.
47 Then all the people turned them towarde him, and ſaid, What meane theſe wordes, that thou haſt ſpoken?
48 Then Daniel ſtoode in the middes of them, and ſayd, Are ye ſuch fooles, O Iſraelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the trueth, yee haue condemned a daughter of Iſrael?
49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue borne falſe witneſſe againſt her.
50 Wherefore the people turned againe in all haſte, and the Elders ſaid vnto him, Come, ſit down among vs, and ſhewe it vs, ſeeing God hath giuen thee the office of an Elder.
51 Then ſaide Daniel vnto them, Put theſe two aſide, one farre from another, and I will examine
them.
52 [illegible] when they were put aſunder, one from another, he called one of them and ſayde vnto him, O thou that art olde in a wicked life, nowe thy ſinnes which thou haſt committed aforetime, are come to light.
53 For thou haſt pronounced falſe iudgements, and haſt condemned the innocent, and haſt let the guiltie goe free, albeit the Lord ſaith, * The inno- *Exod.23.7.
cent and righteous ſhalt thou not ſlay.
54 Now then, if thou haſt ſeene her, tell me, vnder what tree ſaweſt thou them companying together? Who anſwered, Vnder a lentiske tree.
55 Then ſayde Daniel, Verely thou haſt lyed a-gainſt thine owne || head: for loe, the Angel of God ||Or, liſe.
hath receiued ẏ ſentence of God, to cut thee in two.
56 So put he him aſide, & commanded to bring the other, and ſaid vnto him, O thou ſeede of Chanaan, and not of Iuda, beautie hath deceiued thee, and luſt hath ſubuerted thine heart.
57 Thus haue yee dealt with the daughters of Iſrael, and they for feare companied with you: but the daughter of Iuda woulde not abide your wic-kedneſſe.
58 Nowe therefore tell mee, vnder what tree diddeſt thou take thē companying together? Who anſwered, Vnder a || prime tree. ||Or, mirtle 59 Then ſaid Daniel vnto him, Verely thou haſt alſo lied againſt thine head: for the Angel of God waiteth with the ſworde to cut thee in two, and ſo to deſtroy you both.
60 ¶ With that all the whole aſſemblie cryed with a loude voyce, and prayſed God, which ſaueth them that truſt in him.
61 And they aroſe againſt the two Elders, (for Daniel had conuict them of falſe witneſſe by their owne mouth)
62 * And according to the Law of Moyſes they *Deut.19.19. Prou.19.5. dealt with them, as they dealt wickedly againſt their neighbour, and put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was ſaued the ſame day.
63 Therefore Helcias, and his wife praiſed God for their daughter Suſanna, with Ioacim her huſband, and all the kinred, that there was no diſho-neſtie found in her.
64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the ſight of the people.
65 And king Aſtyages was laid with his fathers, and Cyrus of Perſia reigned in his ſtead.

THE HISTORIE OF BEL
and of the Dragon, which is the fourteenth chapter of Daniel after the Latine.

NOwe when King Aſtyages was layde with his fathers, Cyrus the Perſian receiued his kingdome.
2 And Daniel did eat at the kings table, and was honoured aboue all his friendes.
3 Now the Babylonians had an idole called Bel, and there were ſpent vpon him euery day, twelue || great meaſures of fine floure, and fourtie ſheepe,
and ſixe great || pots of wine.
4 And the king *worſhipped it, and went dayly to honor it: But Daniel worſhipped his owne God.
And the king ſaide vnto him, Why doeſt not thou worſhip Bel?
5 Who anſwered, and ſaide, Becauſe I may not worſhip idoles made with handes, but the liuing God, which hath created the heauen and the earth, and hath power vpon all fleſh.
6 Then ſaide the king vnto him, Thinkeſt thou not that Bel is a liuing God? Seeſt thou not howe much he eateth and drinketh euery day?
7 Then Daniel ſmiled and ſayde, O king, be not deceiued: for this is but clay within, and braſſe without, and did neuer eate any thing.
8 So the king was wroth, and called for his Prieſtes, and ſayde vnto them, If yee tell mee not,
who this is that eateth vp theſe expences, yee ſhall die:
9 But if yee can certifie me that Bel eateth them, then Daniel ſhal die: for he hath ſpoken blaſphemie againſt Bel. And Daniel ſayde vnto the king, Let it be according to thy word.
10 (Now the Prieſtes of Bel were threeſcore and tenne, beſide their wiues and children:) and the king went with Daniel into the temple of Bel.
11 So Bels Prieſtes ſaid, Behold, we will go out, and ſet thou the meate there, O king, and let the wine be filled: then ſhut the doore faſt, and ſeale it with thine owne ſignet.
12 And to morowe when thou commeſt in, it thou findeſt not that Bel hath eaten vp all, we will ſuffer death, or els Daniel that hath lied vpon vs.
13 Now they thought themſelues ſure ynought, for vnder the table they had made a priuie entrance,

||Called Artaba, whereof euery one conteined ſomewhat more then nine gallons, which make in all an hundreth and eight gallons at leaſt.
||Called Metreta, and euery one of theſe meaſures conteined about ten gallons, which in all make threeſcore.

and there went they in euer, and tooke away the things.

14 So when they were gone forth, the king set meates before Bel. Nowe Daniel had commaunded his seruants to bring ashes, and these they strowed throughout all the Temple, in the presence of the king alone: then went they out, and shut the doore, and sealed it with the kings signet, and so departed.

15 Nowe in the night came ẏ Priests, with their wiues and children, (as they were wont to do) and did eate and drinke vp all.

16 In the morning betimes, the king arose and Daniel with him.

17 And the king said, Daniel, are ẏ seales whole? Who answered, Yea, O King, they be whole.

18 And assoone as hee had opened the doore, the king looked vpon the table, and cryed with a loude voyce, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceit.

19 Then laughed Daniel, and helde the king that he shoulde not goe in, and said, Beholde nowe the pauement, and marke well whose footesteppes are these.

20 And the king sayde, I see the footesteppes of men, women, and children: therefore the king was angrie,

21 And tooke the Priests, with their wiues, and children, and they shewed him the priuie doores, where they came in, and consumed such things as were vpon the table, 22 Therefore the king slewe them, and deliuered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him and his temple.

23 ¶ Moreouer in that same place there was a great Dragon, which the Babylonians worshipped.

24 And the king said vnto Daniel, Sayest thou, that this is of brasse also? loe, he liueth and eateth and drinketh, so that thou canst not say, that hee is no liuing god: therefore worship him.

25 Then saide Daniel vnto the king, I will worship the Lord my God: for he is the liuing God.

26 But giue me leaue, O king, and I wil slay this Dragon without sword or staffe. And the king said, I giue thee leaue.

27 Then Daniel tooke pitch, and fat, and haire, & did seethe them together, and made lumps thereof: this hee put in the Dragons mouth, and so the Dragon burst in sunder. And Daniel sayd, Beholde, whom ye worship.

28 When the Babylonians heard, they were wonderfull wroth, and gathered them together against the king, saying, The king is become a Iew: for he hath destroyed Bel, and hath slaine the Dragon, and put the Priests to death.

29 So they came to the king, and sayde, Deliuer vs Daniel, or else wee will destroy thee and thine house.

30 Nowe when the king saw, that they preassed sore vpon him, and that necessitie constreined him, he deliuered Daniel vnto them:

31 Who cast him into the Lyons denne, where he was sixe dayes.

32 In the denne there were seuen Lyons, and they had giuen them euery day two bodies and two sheepe, which then were not giuen them, to the intent that they might deuoure Daniel.

33 ¶ Now there was in Iewrie a Prophet called Abbacuc, which had made pottage, and broken bread into a bowle, and was going into the fielde for to bring it to the reapers.

34 But the Angel of the Lord saide vnto Abbacuc, Goe, cary the meate that thou hast, into Babylon vnto Daniel, which is in the Lyons denne.

35 And Abbacuc said, Lord, I neuer sawe Babylon, neither doe I knowe where the denne is.

36 Then the Angel tooke him by the crowne of the head, and bare him by the haire of the head, and through a mightie winde set him in Babylon vpon the denne.

37 And Abbacuc cried, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

38 Then said Daniel, O God, thou hast thought vpon mee, and thou neuer failest them that seeke thee and loue thee.

39 So Daniel arose, and did eate, and the Angel of the Lorde set Abbacuc in his owne place againe immediatly.

40 Vpon the seuenth day, the king went to bewaile Daniel: and when hee came to the denne, he looked in, and beholde, Daniel sate in the middes of the Lyons.

41 Then cried the king with a loude voyce, saying, Great art thou, O Lorde God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And he drew him out of the denne, and cast them that were the cause of his destruction into the denne, and they were deuoured in a moment before his face.

THE FIRST BOOKE of the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

1 The death of Alexander the king of Macedonia. 11 Antiochus taketh the kingdome. 12 Many of the children of Israel make couenant with the Gentiles. 21 Antiochus subdueth Egypt and Jerusalem vnto his dominion. 50 Antiochus setteth vp idoles.

AFTER that Alexander the Macedonian, the sonne of Philippe, went forth of the land of Chettiim, and slewe Darius King of the Persians & Medes, and reigned for him, as hee had before in Grecia,

2 He tooke great warres in hand, and wanne strong holdes, and slew the kings of the earth.

3 So went he thorow to the ends of the world, and tooke spoyles of many nations, in so much that the world stood in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed vp and was hawtie.

4 Now when he had gathered a mightie strong hoste,

5 And had reigned ouer regions, nations and kingdomes, they became tributaries vnto him.

6 After these things he fel sicke, and knew that he should die.

7 Then he called for the chiefe of his seruants, which had bene brought vp with him of children, and parted his kingdome among them, while hee was yet aliue.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeres whẽ he died.

9 And his seruãts reigned euery one in his roome.

10 And they all caused them selues to be crowned ned after his death, and so did their children after them many yeeres, and much wickednes increased in the worlde.

11 For out of these came the wicked roote, euen
Antiochus ||Epiphanes, the sonne of King Antio- ||Or, Noble.
chus, which had bene an hostage at Rome, and he reigned in the hundreth and seuen & thirtieth yere of the kingdome of the Greekes.
12 In those dayes went there out of Israel wicked men, which entised many, saying, Let vs go, and make a couenant with the heathen, that are round about vs: for since we departed from them, we haue had much sorow.
13 So this deuice pleased them well.
14 And certaine of the people were readie, and went to the King, which gaue them licence to doe after the ordinances of the heathen.
15 Then set they vp a place of exercise at Ieru- Joseph. Antiq. 12. Chap. 6.
salem, according to the facions of the heathen, 16 And made themselues a vncircumcised, & for- a By drawing þ skinne ouer the part that was circumcised, as Cels. 7. chap. 25. Epiph. li. de ponderib & mensuris.
sooke the holy Couenant, & ioyned themselues to the heathen, and were solde to doe mischiefe.
17 So when Antiochus kingdome was set in order, he went about to reigne ouer Egypt, that hee might haue the dominion of two Realmes.
18 Therefore he entred into Egypt with a mightie company, with charets, and Elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great nauie, 19 And moued warre against Ptolemeus King of Egypt: but Ptolemeus was afraid of him, & fled, and many were wounded to death.
20 Thus Antiochus wanne many strong cities in the land of Egypt, and tooke away the spoyles of the land of Egypt.
21 And after that Antiochus had smittē Egypt, he turned againe in the hundreth, fourtie and three yeere,
22 And went vp towarde Israel and Ierusalem with a mightie people, 23 And entred proudely into the Sanctuary, & tooke away the golden altar, and the candlesticke for the light, & all the instruments thereof, and the table of the shewbread, and the powring vessels, & the bowles, and the golden basins, & the vaile, and the crownes, and the golden apparel which was before the Temple, and brake all in pieces.
24 He tooke also the siluer and golde, and the precious iewels, & he tooke the secret treasures that he founde, and when he had taken away all he departed into his owne land, 25 After he had murthered many men, & spoken very proudely.
26 Therefore there was a great lamentation in euery place of Israel.
27 For the Princes & the Elders mourned: the yong women, & the yong men were made feeble, and the beautie of the women was changed.
28 Euery bridegrome tooke him to mourning, and shee that sate in the marriage chamber, was in heauinesse.
29 The lande also was mooued for the inhabitants thereof: for all the house of Iacob was coue-red with confusion.
30 After two yeres the King sent his chiefe taxe master into the cities of Iuda, which came to Ieru-salem with a great multitude.
31 Who spake peaceable wordes vnto them in deceite, and they gaue credit vnto him.
32 Then he fell suddenly vpon the citie, and smote it with a great plague, and destroyed much people of Israel.
33 And when he had spoyled the citie, he set fire on it, casting downe the houses thereof, and walles thereof on euery side, 34 The women and their children tooke they captiue, and led away the cattell.
35 Then fortified they the citie of Dauid with a great and thicke wall, and with mightie towres, and made it a strong holde for them, 36 Moreouer they set wicked people there, and vngodly persons, & fortified themselues therein.
37 And they stored it with weapons and vitailes, and gathered the spoyle of Ierusalem, and layed it vp there, 38 Thus became they a sore snare and were in ambushment for the Sanctuarie, and were wicked enemies euermore vnto Israel.
39 For they shed innocent blood on euery side of the Sanctuary, and defiled the Sanctuary, 40 Insomuch that the citizens of Ierusalem fled away because of them, and it became an habitation of strangers, being desolate of them whome she had borne: for her owne children did leaue her.
41 Her Sanctuarie was left waste as a wildernes: her holy dayes were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproche, and her honour brought to nought.
42 As her glory had bene great, so was her dishonour, & her excellencie was turned into sorowe. Joseph. Antiq. Chap. 6. & 7.
43 Also the King wrote vnto all his kingdome, that all the people should be as one, and that euery man should leaue his lawes.
44 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the King.
45 Yea, many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offring vnto idoles, & defiling þ Sabbath.
46 So the King sent letters by the messengers vnto Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iuda, that they should follow the strange lawes of the countrey, 47 And that they shoulde forbid the burnt offerings, & sacrifices, & the || offrings in the Sanctuary, ||Or, drinke offrings.
48 And that they shoulde defile the Sabbaths and the feastes,
49 And pollute the Sanctuarie & the holy men, 50 And to set vp altars, and groues, and chap-pels of idoles, and offer vp swines fleshe, and vncleane beastes,
51 And that they shoulde leaue their children vncircumcised, & defile their soules with vncleannes, and pollute themselues, that they might forget the Lawe, and change all the ordinances, 52 And that whosoeuer woulde not doe according to the commandement of the King, shoulde suffer death.
53 In like maner wrote he throughout all his kingdomes, and set ouerseers ouer all the people, for to compell them to do these things, 54 And he commanded the cities of Iuda to doe sacrifice, citie by citie.
55 Then went many of the people vnto them by heapes, euery one that forsooke the Law, and so they committed euill in the land.
56 And they droue the Israelites into secret places, euen wheresoeuer they could flee for succour.
57 The fifteenth day of Casleu, in the hundreth and fiue and fourtieth yeere, they set vp the abomination of desolation vpon the altar, and they builded altars throughout the cities of Iuda on e-uery side.
58 And before the doores of the houses, and in the streetes they burnt incense.

59 And the bookes of the Lawe, which they found, they burnt in the fire, and cut in pieces.
60 Whosoeuer had a booke of the Testament found by him, or whosoeuer consented vnto the Lawe, the Kings commaundement was, that they should put him to death by their authoritie.
61 And they executed these thinges euery moneth vpon the people of Israel that were founde in their cities.
62 And in the fiue & twentieth day of the moneth, they did sacrifice vpon the altar, which was in the stead of the altar of sacrifices.
63 And according to the commandement, they put certeine women to death, which had caused their children to be circumcised, 64 And they hanged vp the children at their neckes, and they spoyled their houses, and slew the circumcisers of them.
65 Yet were there many in Israel, which were of courage, and determined in themselues, that they would not eate vncleane things, 66 But chose rather to suffer death, thē to be defiled with those meates: so because they would not breake the holy couenant, they were put to death.
67 And this ‖ tyrannie was very sore vpon the people of Israel. ‖Or, rage.

CHAP. II.

1 The mourning of Mattathias and his sonnes for the destruction of the holy citie. 19 They refuse to doe sacrifice vnto idoles. 24 The zeale of Mattathias for the Lawe of God. 33 They are slaine and will not fight againe because of the Sabbath day. 49 Mattathias dying, commaundeth his sonnes to sticke by the worde of God, after the example of the fathers.

IN those dayes stoode vp Mattathias the Priest the sonne of Ioarib, the sonne of Simeon, of the sonnes of Ioanns of Ierusalem, and dwelt in Modin. Ioseph. Antiq. 12. chap. 7.
2 And hee had fiue sonnes, Ioanan called Gaddis, 3 Simon called Thassi,
4 Iudas which was called Maccabeus,
5 Eleazar called ‖ Abaron, & Ionathan, whose name was Apphus. ‖Or, Auaran.
6 Nowe he sawe the blasphemies, which were committed in Iuda and Ierusalem:
7 And he sayde, Woe is me: wherefore was I borne, to see this destruction of my people, and the destruction of the holy citie, & thus to sit still? it is deliuered into the handes of the enemies.
8 And the Sanctuarie is in the handes of strangers: her Temple is as a man that hath no renoume.
9 Her glorious vessels are caryed away into captiuitie: her infants are slaine in the streetes, and her yong men are fallen by the sworde of the enemies.
10 What people is it, that hath not some possession in her kingdome, or hath not gotten of her spoyles?
11 Al her glory is taken away: of a free woman, she is become an handmayde.
12 Behold, our Sanctuarie and our beautie, and honour is desolate, & the Gentiles haue defiled it.
13 What helpeth it vs then to liue any longer?
14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, he, and his sonnes, and put sackcloth vpon them, and mourned very sore.
15 ¶ Then came men from the King to the citie of Modin to compell them to forsake God, and to sacrifice.
16 So many of the Israelites consented vnto them: but Mattathias and his sonnes assembled together.
17 Then spake the Commissioners of the King, and sayd vnto Mattathias, Thou art the chiefe and an honourable man, and great in this citie, & hast many children and brethren.
18 Come thou therefore first, & fulfil the Kings commandement, as all the heathen haue done, and also the men of Iuda, and such as remaine at Ierusalem: so shalt thou & thy familie be in the Kings fauor, and thou & thy children shalbe enriched with siluer and golde, and with many rewardes.
19 Then Mattathias answered and sayde with a loude voyce, Though all nations that are vnder the Kings dominion, obey him, & fall away euery man from the religion of their fathers, and consent to his commandements, 20 Yet will I and my sonnes, and my brethren, walke in the couenant of our fathers.
21 God be merciful vnto vs, that we forsake not the Law and the ordinances.
22 We will not hearken vnto the Kings wordes to transgresse our religion, neither on the right side, not on the left.
23 And when hee had left off speaking these wordes, there came one of the Iewes, in the sight of all to sacrifice vpon the altar which was at Modin, according to the Kings commandement.
24 Nowe when Mattathias sawe it, he was so inflamed with zeale, that his reynes shooke, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the Lawe: therefore he ranne vnto him, and killed him by the altar:
25 And at the same time he slewe ẏ Kings commissioner, that compelled him to doe sacrifice, and destroyed the altar.
26 Thus bare he a zeale to the Lawe of God, * doing, as Phinees did vnto Zambri the sonne of Salom. *Nom. 25. 7.
27 ¶ Then cryed Mattathias with a loude voyce in the citie, saying, Whosoeuer is zealous of the Law, and will stand by the couenant, let him come forth after me.
28 So he, & his sonnes fled into the mountaines, and left all that they had in the citie.
29 Then many that ‖ sought after iustice and judgement, ‖Or, that liued iustly and vprightly.
30 Went downe into the wildernesse to dwell there, both they, and their children, & their wiues, and their cattell: for the afflictions increased sore vpon them.
31 ¶ Nowe when it was tolde vnto the Kings seruants, and to the garisons, which were in Ierusalem in the citie of Dauid, that men had broken the Kings commandement, and were gone downe into the secret places in the wildernesse, 32 Then many pursued after them: and hauing ouertaken them, they camped against them, & set the battel in aray against them on the Sabbath day, 33 And sayd vnto them, Let this now be sufficient: come forth and do according to the commandement of the King, and ye shall liue.
34 But they answered, We will not goe forth, neither will we doe the Kings commandement, to defile the Sabbath day.
35 Then they gaue them the battell.
36 But the other answered them nothing, neyther cast any one stone at them, nor stopped the priuie places, 37 But sayde, We will die all in our innocencie: the heauen and earth shal testifie for vs, that ye destroy vs wrongfully.

38 Thus

38 Thus they gaue them the battel vpon þ Sabbath, and slew both men and cattell, their wiues & their children to the number of a thousand people.
39 ¶ When Mattathias and his friendes vnder-stood this, they mourned for them greatly, 40 And said one to another, If we all doe as our brethren haue done, and fight not against the heathen for our liues, and for our Lawes, then shal they incontinently destroy vs out of the earth.
41 Therefore they concluded at the same time, saying, Whosoeuer shall come to make battell with vs vpon the Sabbath day, we will fight against him, that we die not all, as our brethren that were murthered in the secret places.
42 Then came vnto them the assembly of the Asideans, which were of the strongest men of Israel, all such as were well minded toward the Law.
43 And all they that were fled for persecution, ioyned themselues vnto them, and were an helpe
vnto them.
44 So they gathered a power, and smote the wicked men in their wrath, & the vngodly in their anger: but the rest fledde vnto the heathen, and escaped.
45 Then Mattathias and his friends went about,
and destroyed the altars, 46 And circumcised the children by force that were vncircumcised, as many as they found within the coasts of Israel, 47 And they pursued after the proud men: and this act prospered in their hands.
48 So they recouered the Lawe out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hande of Kings, and gaue not place to the wicked.
49 Nowe when the time drewe neere, that Mat-tathias should die, hee said vnto his sonnes, Nowe is pride and persecution increased, and the time of destruction, and the wrath of indignation.
50 Nowe therefore, my sonnes, be ye zealous of the Lawe, and giue your liues for the couenant of
our fathers.
51 Call to remembrance what actes our fathers did in their time: so shall yee receiue great honour and an euerlasting name.

CHAP. III.

1 Iudas is made ruler ouer the Iewes. 11 He killeth Apollonius and Seron the Princes of Syria. 43 The confidence of Iudas toward God. 55 Iudas determineth to fight against Lysias, whom Antiochus had made captaine ouer his host.

THen Iudas his sonne, called Maccabeus, rose vp in his place.
2 And all his brethren helped him, and all they that held with his father, and fought with courage the battell of Israel.
3 So he gate his people great honour: he put on a breastplate as a giant, and armed himselfe, and set the battel in aray, and defended the campe with
the sword.
4 In his acts he was like a Lion, and as a Lions whelpe roaring after the pray.
5 For he pursued the wicked, and sought them out, and burnt vp those that vexed his people.
6 So that the wicked fled for feare of him, and all the workers of iniquitie were put to trouble: and saluation prospered in his hand.
7 And he grieued diuers Kings, but Iacob reioyced by his actes, and his memoriall is blessed for euer.
8 He went also thorow the cities of Iuda, and destroyed the wicked out of them, and turned away
the wrath from Israel.
9 So was he renowmed vnto the endes of the earth, and hee assembled together those that were ready to perish.
10 ¶ But Apollonius gathered the Gentiles, &
a great host out of Samaria, to fight against Israel.
11 Which when Iudas perceiued, he went forth to meete him, and smote him, and slew him, so that many fell downe slaine, and the rest fled.
12 So Iudas tooke their spoyles, and tooke also Apollonius sworde, and fought with it all his life long.
13 ¶ Nowe when Seron a prince of the armie of Syria, heard that Iudas had gathered vnto him the Congregation, and Church of the faithfull, and went forth to the warre, 14 He sayd, I wil get me a name, and wil be glorious in the realme: for I will goe fight with Iudas, and them that are with him, which haue despised the kings commandement.
15 So he made him ready to go vp, & there went with him a mightie hoste of the vngodly to helpe him, and to be auenged of the children of Israel.

16 And when he came neere to the going vp of Bethhoron, Iudas went forth to meete him with a small companie.

17 But when they sawe the armie comming against them, they sayde to Iudas, How are we able, being so few, to fight against so great a multitude, and so strong, seeing we be so weary, and haue fasted all this day?

18 Then said Iudas, It is an easie thing for many to be shut vp in the hands of fewe, and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a small company.

19 For the victorie of the battell standeth not in the multitude of the host, but the strength commeth from heauen.

20 They come against vs with a cruell & proud multitude, to destroy vs, and our wiues, & our children, and to robbe vs.

21 But wee doe fight for our liues, and for our Lawes.

22 And God himselfe will destroy them before our face: therefore be not ye afraid of them.

23 And when he had left off speaking, he leapt suddenly vpon them: so was Seron and his host destroyed before him.

24 And they pursued them frō the going downe of Bethhoron vnto the plaine: where there were slaine eight hundreth men of them, and the residue fled into the land of the Philistims.

25 Then the feare and terrour of Iudas and his brethren fell vpon the nations round about,

26 So that his fame came vnto the king: for all the Gentiles could tell of the warres of Iudas.

27 ¶ But when king Antiochus heard these tidings, he was angry in his minde: wherefore he sent foorth, and gathered all the power of his realme, a very strong armie, 28 And opened his treasurie, and gaue his host a yeeres wages in hande, commanding them to be ready for a yeere for all occasions.

29 Neuerthelesse, when he sawe that the money of his treasures failed, and that the tributes in the countrey were small, because of the dissension, and plagues that he had brought vpon the lande, in taking away the lawes which had bene of olde time,

30 He feared least he shoulde not haue nowe at the seconde time, as at the first, for the charges and gifts that he had giuen with a liberall hande afore: for in liberalitie he farre passed the other kings that were before him.

31 Wherefore he was heauie in his minde, and thought to goe into Persia, for to take tributes of the countries, and to gather much money.

32 So he left Lysias a noble man & of the kings blood to ouersee the kings businesse, from the riuer of Euphrates vnto the borders of Egypt, 33 And to bring vp his sonne Antiochus, till he came againe.

34 Moreouer, he gaue him halfe of his host and elephants, & gaue him the charge of all things that he would haue done,

35 And concerning those which dwelt in Iuda and Ierusalem, that he should send an armie against them, to destroy and roote out the power of Israel and the remnant of Ierusalem, and to put out their memoriall from that place, 36 And to set strangers for to inhabite all their quarters, and part their land among them.

37 And the king tooke the halfe of the hoste that remained, and departed from Antiochia his royall citie, in the yeere an hundreth fourtie and seuen, and passed the riuer Euphrates, and went thorow the hie countreys.

38 Then Lysias chose Ptolemeus the sonne of Doriminus, and Nicanor, and Gorgias, mighty men, and the kings friends, 39 And sent with them fourtie thousande footemen, and seuen thousande horsemen, to goe into the lande of Iuda, and to destroye it, as the king commaunded.

40 So they went foorth with all their power, and came and pitched by ‖ Emmaus in the plaine countrey. ‖ Emaus.

41 Nowe when the marchants of the countrey heard the rumour of them, they tooke very much siluer and golde, and seruantes, and came into the campe to buy the children of Israel for slaues, and the strength of Syria and of strange nations ioyned with them.

42 ¶ Nowe when Iudas and his brethren sawe that trouble increased, and that the hoste drewe neere vnto their borders, considering the kings words, whereby he had commaunded to destroy the people, and vtterly abolish them, 43 They saide one to another, Let vs redresse the decay of our people, and let vs fight for our people, and for our Sanctuarie.

44 Then the Congregation were soone readie gathered to fight, and to pray, and to desire mercie and compassion.

45 As for Ierusalem, it was not inhabited, but was as a wildernesse. There went none that was borne in it, in or out at it, and the Sanctuarie was troden downe, and the strangers kept the fortresse, and it was the habitation of the heathen: and the mirth of Iacob was taken away: the pipe and the harpe ceased.

46 So they gathered themselues together, and came to Maspha before Ierusalem: for in Maspha was the place where they praied aforetime in Israel,

47 And they fasted that day, and put sackcloth vpon them, and cast ashes vpon their heads, & rent their clothes,

48 And opened the booke of the lawe, wherein the heathen sought to paynt the likenesse of their idoles,

49 And brought the Priestes garments, and the first fruites, and the tithes, and set there the Nazarites, which accomplished their dayes.

50 And they cried with a loude voyce towarde heauen, saying, What shall wee doe with these? and whither shall we cary them away?

51 For thy Sanctuarie is troden downe and defiled, and thy Priestes are in heauinesse, and brought downe.

52 And beholde, the heathen are come against vs, to destroy vs: thou knowest what thinges they imagine against vs.

53 How can we stand before them, except thou helpe vs?

54 Then they blew the trumpets, and cried with a loude voyce.

55 And after this, Iudas ordeined captaines ouer the people, euen captaines ouer thousands, and captaines ouer hundreths, and captaines ouer fifties, and captaines ouer tenne.

56 And they commaunded them that builded houses, or married wiues, or planted vineyardes, or were fearefull, that they shoulde returne euery one to his owne house, according *to the Lawe. *Deut.20.5. iudg.7.3.

57 So

57 So the hoste remoued, and pitched vpon the Southside of Emmaus.
58 And Iudas sayde, Arme your selues, and be valiant men, and be ready against the morning to fight with these nations, which are gathered together against vs, to destroy vs and our Sanctuarie.
59 For it is better for vs to dye in battell, thẽ to see the calamities of our people & of our Sanctuary.
60 Neuertherlesse as the will of God is in heauen, so be it.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Iudas goeth against Gorgias which lyeth in wayte. 14 Hee putteth Gorgias and his hoste to flight. 28 Lysias inuadeth Iudea, 29 But Iudas driueth him out. 43 Iudas purifieth the Temple and dedicateth the altar.

Ioseph.lib.12. chap.10. THen tooke Gorgias fiue thousande foote men, and a thousande of the best horsemen, and departed out of the campe by night, 2 To inuade the campe of the Iewes, and to slay them suddenly: and the men of the fortresse were his guides.
3 Nowe when Iudas heard it, he remoued, and they that were valiant men to smite the Kings armie which was at Emmaus, 4 Whiles yet the armie was dispersed from the campe.
5 In the meane season came Gorgias by night into Iudas campe: and when he founde no man there, he sought them in the mountaines: for saide he, They flee from vs.
6 But assoone as it was day, Iudas shewed him selfe in the fielde with three thousand men, which had neither harnesse nor swordes to their mindes.
7 And they saw that the armies of the heathen were strong and well armed, and their horsemen about them, & that these were expert men of warre.
8 Then sayde Iudas to the men that were with him, Feare ye not their multitude, neither be afraid of their assault.
9 Remember, howe our fathers were deliue-
*Exod.14.9,29. red * in the redde Sea, when Pharao pursued them with an armie.
10 Therefore nowe let vs cry vnto heauen, and the Lorde wil haue mercie vpon vs, and remember the couenant of our fathers, and will destroy this hoste before our face this day: 11 So shall all the heathen knowe, that there is one, which deliuereth and saueth Israel.
12 Then the strangers lift vp their eyes, & sawe them comming against them, 13 And they went out of their tentes into the battell, and they that were with Iudas, blewe the trumpets.
14 So they ioyned together, and the heathen were discomfited and fled by the playne.
15 But the hindmost of them fel by the sworde, &
|| Or, Assaremoth. they pursued them vnto || Gazeron, & into ẏ plaines of Idumea, & of Azotus, & of Iamna, so that there were slaine of them about three thousande men.
16 So Iudas turned againe with his hoste from pursuing them,
17 And sayde vnto the people, Be not greedy of the spoyles: for there is a battell before vs.
18 And Gorgias and the armie is here by vs in the mountaine: but stand ye now fast against your enemies, and ouercome them: then may ye safely take the spoyles.
19 As Iudas was speaking these wordes, there appeared one part which looked from ẏ mountaines.
20 But when Gorgias sawe that his were fled, & that Iudas soudiers burnt the tents: (for the smoke that was seene, declared what was done.) 21 When they saw these things, they were sore afraide, & when they saw also that Iudas & his hoste were in the field ready to set themselues in aray, 22 They fled euery one into the lande of strangers.
23 So Iudas turned againe to spoyle the tentes, where he gate much golde and siluer, and precious stones, and purple of the sea, and great riches.
24 Thus they went home, & sung psalmes, and praysed toward the heauen: for he is gracious, and his mercy endureth for euer.
25 And so Israel had great victorie in that day.
26 ¶ Nowe all the strangers that escaped, came,
and tolde Lysias all the things that were done.
27 Who when he heard these things, was sore afraide, & discouraged, because such things came not vpon Israel as he would, neither such things as the King had commanded him, came to passe.
28 Therefore the next yere following, gathered Lysias three score thousande chosen foote men, and fiue thousand horsemen to fight against Ierusalem. || Or, Iudea.
29 So they came into || Idumea, & pitched their || Or, Bethsura.
tents at || Beth-sura, where Iudas came against them with ten thousand men.
30 And whẽ he saw that mightie armie, he prayed, and sayde, Blessed be thou, O Sauiour of Israel, *1.Sam.17.50. 51.
*which diddest destroy the assault of the mightie man by the hand of thy seruant Dauid, * & gauest *1.Sam.14. 13,14.
the hoste of the strangers into the hand of Ionathan, the sonne of Saul, and of his armour bearer.
31 Shut vp this armie in the hand of thy people of Israel, & let them be confounded with their power, and with their horsemen.
32 Make them afraide, and consume their boldnesse and strength, that they may be astonished at their destruction.
33 Cast them downe by the sworde of them that loue thee: then shall all they that knowe thy Name, prayse thee with songs.
34 So they ioyned together, and there were slaine of Lysias hoste, fiue thousande men, and they fell before them.
35 Then Lysias, seeing his armie put to flight, and the manlines of Iudas souldiers, and that they were ready, either to liue or die valiantly, he went into Antiochia, and gathered strangers, and when he had furnished his armie, he thought againe (being prepared) to come against Iudea.
36 Then said Iudas and his brethren, Beholde, our enemies are discomfited: let vs nowe goe vp to clense, and to repaire the Sanctuarie.
37 So all the hoste gathered them together, and went vp into the mountaine of Sion.
38 Nowe when they sawe the Sanctuarie layde waste, and the altar defiled, and the doores burnt vp, and the shrubbes growing in the courtes, as in a forest, or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Priestes chambers were broken downe, 39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast ashes vpon their heades, 40 And fell downe to the ground on their faces, and blewe an alarme with the trumpets, and cryed toward heauen.
41 Then Iudas commanded certaine of the men to fight against those which were in the castle, till he had clensed the Sanctuarie.
42 So he chose Priestes that were vndefiled, such as delited in the Lawe,

 43 And

16 And when he came neere to the going vp of Bethhoron, Iudas went forth to meete him with a small companie.
17 But when they sawe the armie comming against them, they sayde to Iudas, How are we able, being so few, to fight against so great a multitude, and so strong, seeing we be so weary, and haue fasted all this day?
18 Then said Iudas, It is an easie thing for many to be shut vp in the hands of fewe, and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a small company.

30 And whẽ he saw that mightie armie, he prayed, and sayde, Blessed be thou, O Sauiour of Israel, *which diddest destroy the assault of the mightie *1. Sam. 17. 50. 51. man by the hand of thy seruant Dauid, * & gauest *1. Sam. 14. 13, 14. the hoste of the strangers into the hand of Ionathan, the sonne of Saul, and of his armour bearer.

31 Shut vp this armie in the hand of thy people of Israel, & let them be confounded with their power, and with their horsemen.

32 Make them afraide, and consume their boldnesse and strength, that they may be astonished at their destruction.

33 Cast them downe by the sworde of them that loue thee: then shall all they that knowe thy Name, prayse thee with songs.

34 So they ioyned together, and there were slaine of Lysias hoste, fiue thousande men, and they fell before them.

35 Then Lysias, seeing his armie put to flight, and the manlines of Iudas souldiers, and that they were ready, either to liue or die valiantly, he went into Antiochia, and gathered strangers, and when he had furnished his armie, he thought againe (being prepared) to come against Iudea.

36 Then said Iudas and his brethren, Beholde, our enemies are discomfited: let vs nowe goe vp to clense, and to repaire the Sanctuarie.

37 So all the hoste gathered them together, and went vp into the mountaine of Sion.

38 Nowe when they sawe the Sanctuarie layde waste, and the altar defiled, and the doores burnt vp, and the shrubbes growing in the courtes, as in a forest, or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Priestes chambers were broken downe,

39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast ashes vpon their heades, 40 And fell downe to the ground on their faces, and blewe an alarme with the trumpets, and cryed toward heauen.

41 Then Iudas commanded certaine of the men to fight against those which were in the castle, till he had clensed the Sanctuarie.

42 So he chose Priestes that were vndefiled, such as delited in the Lawe,

43 And

43 And they clensed the Sanctuarie, and bare out the defiled stones into an vncleane place, 44 And consulted what to doe with the altar of burnt offrings, which was polluted.
45 So they thought it was best to destroy it, least it shoulde be a reproche vnto them, because the heathen had defiled it: therefore they destroyed the altar,
46 And layde vp the stones vpon the moun-taine of the Temple in a conuenient place, till there should come a Prophet, to shewe what shoulde be done with them.
47 So they tooke whole stones according to the Lawe, and builded a newe altar according to the former,
48 And made vp the Sanctuarie, and the things that were within the Temple, and the courtes, and all things.
49 They made also new holy vessels, & brought into the Temple the candlesticke, and the altar of burnt offrings, and of incense, and the table.
50 And they burnt incense vpon the altar, and lighted the lampes which were vpon the candlesticke, that they might burne in the Temple.
51 They set also the shewbread vpon the table, and hanged vp the vailes, & finished all the workes that they had begunne to make.
52 And vpon the fiue and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, which is called the moneth of Cha-slu, in the hundreth and eight and fourtieth yeere they rose vp betimes in the morning, 53 And offred sacrifice according to the Lawe, vpon the new altar of burnt offrings, that they had made.
54 According to the time, and according to the day, that the heathen had defiled it, in the same day was it made new with songs, and harpes, and lutes, and cymbales.
55 And all the people fell vpon their faces, worshipping and praysing toward the heauen him that had giuen them good successe.
56 So they kept the dedicatiō of the altar eight dayes, offring burnt offrings with gladnesse, and of-fred sacrifices of deliuerance and prayse, 57 And deckt the forefront of the Temple with crownes of golde and shieldes, and dedicated the gates & chambers, and hanged doores vpon them, 58 Thus there was very great gladnesse among the people, and the reproche of the heathen was put away.
59 So Iudas and his brethren with the whole congregation of Israel, ordeyned that the dayes of dedication of the altar should be kept in their season from yeere to yeere, by the space of eight dayes, from the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth Chaslu, with mirth and gladnesse.
60 And at the same time builded they vp moūt Sion with hie walles, & strong towres round about, lest the Gentiles should come, and tread it downe,
as they had done afore.
61 Therefore they set a garrison there to keepe it, and fortified Beth-sura to keepe it, that the people might haue a defence against Idumea.

CHAP. V.

8 Iudas vanquished the heathen that goe about to destroy Israel, and is holpen of his brethren Simon and Ionathan. 50 Hee ouerthroweth the citie of Ephron, because they denied him passage thorowe it.

NOwe when the nations rounde about heard, that the altar was builded, and the Sanctuarie renued, as afore, they were sore grieued.
2 Therefore they thought to destroy the generation of Iacob that was among them, and began to slay and destroy the people.
3 Then Iudas fought against the children of Esau in Idumea at || Arrabathene, because they be- || Or, Arabathane. sieged the Israelites, & he smote them with a great plague, and droue them to straites, and tooke their spoyles.
4 He thought also vpon the malice of the children of Bean, which had bene a snare and an hinderance vnto the people, when they laye in wayte for them in the hie way.
5 Wherefore he shut them vp in towers, and besieged them, and destroyed them vtterly, and burnt their towers with fire, with all that were in
them.
6 Afterwarde, went he against the children of Ammon, where he founde a mightie power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their captaine.
7 So he had many battels with them, but they were destroyed before him, and so he discomfited
them,
8 And tooke Gazer with the townes thereof, and so turned againe into Iudea.
9 ¶ Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered them together against the Israelites that were in their quarters, to slay them: but they fled to the castle of Datheman, 10 And sent letters to Iudas, & to his brethren, saying, The heathen that are about vs, are gathered against vs, to destroy vs, 11 And they make them ready for to come, and to take the fortresse, whereunto we are fledde, and Timotheus is captaine of their hoste.
12 Come nowe therefore, and deliuer vs out of their handes: for many of vs are slaine: 13 And all our brethren that were at Tubin, are slaine, and they haue taken away their wiues, and their children, and their goods, and destroyed there almost a thousand men.
14 While these letters were yet a reading, be-holde, there came other messengers from Galile with their clothes rent, which tolde ẏ same tidings, 15 And said, that they of Ptolemais, & of Tyrus, and of Sidon, and of all Galile of the Gentiles were gathered against them to destroy them.
16 When Iudas, and the people heard these wordes, a great congregation came together, to consult what they might do for their brethren that were in trouble, and whome they besieged.
17 Then said Iudas to Simon his brother, Chuse thee out men, and goe and deliuer thy brethren in Galile, and I, and my brother Ionathan, will goe into the countrey of Galaad.
18 ¶ So he left Iosephus the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias to be captaines of the people, and to keepe the remnant of the hoste in Iudea, 19 And commanded them, saying, Take the ouersight of this people, and make no warre against the heathen, vntill we come againe.
20 And vnto Simon were giuen three thousand men to goe into Galile, and to Iudas eight thousand men for the countrey of Galaad.
21 Then went Simon into Galile, and gaue di-uers battels to the heathen, and the heathen were discomfited by him.
22 And he pursued them vnto the gates of Ptolemais: & there were slaine of the heathen almost thee thousand men: so he tooke their spoyles.

23 Thus

23 Thus they rescued them that were in Galile and in Arbattis with their wiues, and their children, and all that they had, and brought them into Iudea
with great ioy.
24 ¶ Iudas Maccabeus also, and his brother Ionathan went ouer Iorden, and trauailed three dayes iourney in the wildernes, 25 Where they mette with the Nabathites, who receiued them louingly, and tolde them euery thing that was done vnto their brethren in the countrey of Galaad,
26 And howe that many of them were besieged in Bosorra, and Bosor, in Alemis, ‖ Chasbon, Maged and Carnaim (all these cities are strong, and great) 27 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad, and to morow they are appointed to bring their hoste vnto these fortes, and to take them, and to destroy them all in one day.
28 So Iudas and his hoste turned in all haste by the way of the wildernesse towarde Bosorra, and wanne the citie, and slew al the males with the edge of the sworde, and tooke all their spoyle, and set fire vpon the citie.
29 And in the night he remoued from thence,
and went toward the fortresse.
30 And betimes in the morning when they looked vp, beholde, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and instruments of warre, to take the forte, and had assaulted them.
31 When Iudas sawe that the battel was begun, and that the cry of the citie went vp to heauen with trumpets, and a great sound, 32 Then he saide vnto the armie, Fight this day for your brethren.
33 So hee went foorth behinde them with three companies, and they blewe the trumpets, and cryed with prayer.
34 Then the host of Timotheus knew, that it was Maccabeus, and they fled from him, and he smote them with a great slaughter, so that there was killed of them the same day, almost eight thousand men.
35 ¶ Then departed Iudas vnto Maspha, and laid siege vnto it, and wanne it, and slewe all the males thereof, and spoyled it, and set fire vpon it.
36 From thence went hee and tooke Chasbon, Maged, and Bosor, and the other cities in Galaad.
37 After these things gathered Timotheus another hoste, and he camped before Raphon beyonde the flood.
38 Nowe Iudas had sent to espie the hoste, and they brought him word againe, saying, All the heathen that bee rounde about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the hoste is very great, 39 And hee hath hired the Arabians to helpe them, and they haue pitched their tents beyond the flood, and are ready to come and fight against thee.
So Iudas went to meete them.
40 Then Timotheus saide vnto the captaines of his hoste, When Iudas and his host come neere the flood, if he passe ouer first vnto vs, we shal not be able to withstand him: for he wil be too strōg for vs.
41 But if hee be afraide, and campe beyond the flood, we wil goe ouer vnto him, and shall preuaile against him.
42 Now when Iudas came neere to the flood, he caused the gouernours of the people to remaine by the flood, and cōmanded them, saying, Suffer none to pitch a tent, but let euery man come to the battel.
43 So he went first ouer toward them, & all the people after him: and al the heathen were discōfited before him, and cast away their weapons, and fled into the Temple that was at Carnaim.
44 Which citie Iudas wanne, and burnt the temple with al that were in it: so was Carnaim subdued, and might not withstand Iudas.
45 ¶ Then Iudas gathered all the Israelites that were in the countrey of Galaad, from the least vnto the most, with their wiues and their children, and their baggage, a very great hoste, to come into the land of Iuda.
46 So they came vnto Ephron, which was a great citie by the way, and strongly defensed: they coulde not passe, neither at the right hande nor at the left, but must goe thorow it.
47 But they that were in the citie, shutte themselues in, and stopped vp the gates with stones: and Iudas sent vnto them with peaceable words, saying, 48 Let vs passe thorowe your land, that we may goe into our owne countrey, and none shall hurt you: wee will but onely goe thorowe on foote: but they would not open vnto him.
49 Wherefore Iudas commanded a proclamation to be made throughout the host, that euery man should assault it according to his standing.
50 So the valiant men set vpon it, and assaulted the citie all that day, and all that night, and the citie was giuen ouer into his hands: 51 Who slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and destroyed it, and tooke the spoile thereof, and went thorowe the citie ouer them that were slaine.
52 Then went they ouer Iorden into the great plaine before Bethsan.
53 And Iudas gathered together those that were behinde, & gaue the people good exhortation al the way thorow, til they were come into ẏ land of Iuda.
54 Thus they went vp with ioy, and gladnesse vnto mount Sion, where they offred burnt offrings, because there were none of them slaine, but came home againe in safetie.
55 ¶ Nowe whilest Iudas and Ionathan were in the land of Galaad, and Simon their brother in Ga-lile before Ptolemais, 56 Ioseph the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias the captaines, hearing of the valiant actes, and bat-tels which they had atchieued, said, 57 Let vs get vs a name also, and go fight against the heathen that are round about vs.
58 So they gaue their hoste a commaundement and went toward Iamnia.
59 But Gorgias and his men came out of the ci-tie to fight against them.
60 And Ioseph and Azarias were put to flight, and pursued vnto the borders of Iudea: and there were slaine that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men: so that there was a great ouer-throw among the people of Israel, 61 Because they were not obedient vnto Iudas, and his brethren, but thought to doe some valiant thing.
62 Also they came not of ẏ stocke of these men,
by whose hands deliuerance was giuen to Israel.
63 But the man Iudas, & his brethrē were greatly commended in the sight of all Israel, & of all the heathen, wheresoeuer their name was heard of.
64 And the people came vnto them, bidding them welcome.
65 Afterwarde went Iudas foorth with his bre- Joseph. Ant. 12. chap. 11. and 12.
thren, & fought against the children of Esau in the land towarde the South, where hee wanne Hebron,
and

and the townes thereof, and he destroyed the castel thereof, and burnt the towres thereof round about.
66 Then remoued he to goe into the land of the || strangers, and went thorow Samaria. ||Or, Philistims.
67 At the same time were the Priestes of the cities slaine in the battell, which would shewe their valiantnes, and went forth to battell without counsell: and when Iudas came to Azotus in the strangers lande, hee brake downe their altars, and burnt with fire the images of their gods, and tooke away the spoyles of the cities, and came againe into the land of Iuda.

CHAP. VI.

1 Antiochus, willing to take the cities of Elimais, is driuen away of the citizens. 8 Hee falleth into sicknes, and dyeth. 17 His sonne Antiochus is made King. 34 The maner to prouoke elephants to fight. 43 Eleazarus valiant acte. 48 The siege of Sion.

Ioseph. Antiq. 12. chap. 13.

NOwe when King Antiochus trauailed thorowe the high countreys, he heard that Elimais in the countrey of Persia was a citie greatly renowmed for riches, siluer and golde, 2 And that there was in it a very riche temple, where as were couerings of golde, coate armours, and harnesse, which Alexander King of Macedonia the sonne of Philip (that reigned first in Grecia) had left there.
3 Wherefore hee went about to take the citie,
and to spoyle it, but hee was not able: for the citizens were warned of the matter, 4 And rose vp against him in battell, and he fled and departed thence with great heauinesse, & came againe into Babylon.
5 Moreouer, there came one which brought him tidings in the coũtrey of Persia, that the armies that went against the land of Iuda, were driuen away, 6 And that Lysias, which went foorth first with a great power, was driuen away of the Iewes, and that they were made strong by the armour, and power, and diuers spoyles which they had gotten of the armies whom they had destroyed, 7 And that they had pulled downe the abomination, which hee had set vp vpon the altar at Ierusalem, and fensed the Sanctuarie with high walles, as it was afore, and Bethsura his citie.
8 So when the king had heard these wordes, hee was astonished, and sore mooued: therefore he layd him downe vpon his bed, and fell sicke for very sorow, because it was not come to passe, as hee had thought.
9 And there continued hee many dayes: for his griefe was euer more and more, so that hee sawe hee must needes die.
10 Therefore he sent for all his friends, and said vnto them, The sleepe is gone from mine eyes, and mine heart faileth for very care.
11 And I thinke with my selfe, Into what ad-uersitie am I come? and into what floods of miserie am I fallen nowe, whereas aforetime I was in pros-peritie, and greatly set by, by reason of my power?
12 And nowe doe I remember the euils that I haue done at Ierusalem: for I tooke all the vessels of golde and of siluer that were in it, and sent to destroy the inhabitants of Iuda without cause.
13 I knowe that these troubles are come vpon me for the same cause, and beholde, I must die with great sorow in a strange land.
14 Then called he for Philip, one of his friends, whom he made ruler ouer all his realme, 15 And gaue him the crowne, and his robe, and the ring, that he should instruct his sõne Antiochus, and bring him vp, till he might reigne himselfe.
16 So king Antiochus died there in the hun-dreth, and fourtie and ninth yeere.
17 ¶ When Lysias knewe, that the king was Ioseph. Antiq. 12. chap. 14. dead, he ordeined Antiochus his sonne (whome hee had brought vp) to raigne in his fathers steade, and called him Eupator.
18 Now they that were in the castell at Ierusalem, kept in the Israelites rounde about the Sanctuarie, and sought alwayes their hurt, and the strengthening of the heathen.
19 Therefore Iudas thought to destroy them,
and called all the people together to besiege them.
20 So they came together, and besieged them in the hundreth and fiftie yeere, and made instruments to shoote and other engins of warre.
21 But certaine of them that were besieged, gat foorth, (vnto whome some vngodly men of Israel ioyned themselues)
22 And they went vnto the king, saying, Howe long wilt thou cease from executing iudgement, and auenge our brethren?
23 We haue bene readie to serue thy father, and to goe forward in those things, that hee appointed,
and to obey his commandements.
24 Therefore they of our nation fell from vs for this cause, & wheresoeuer they found any of vs, they slew them, and spoyled our inheritance.
25 And they haue not onely layd hand vpon vs, but vpon all about their borders.
26 And beholde, this day are they besieging the castle at Ierusalem to take it, and haue fortified the Sanctuarie, and Beth-sura.
27 And if thou doest not preuent them quickely, they will doe greater things then these, and thou shalt not be able to ouercome them.
28 When the King heard this, hee was very an-grie, and called all his friendes, the captaines of his armie, and his horsemen, 29 And bandes that were hired, came vnto him from the Kings, that were confederate, and from the yles of the sea.
30 So the number of his armie was an hundreth thousande footemen, and twentie thousande horsemen, and two and thirtie elephants exercised in battell.
31 These came through Idumea and drew neere to Beth-sura, and besieged it a long season and made engins of warre: but they came out, and burnt them with fire, and fought valiantly.
32 Then departed Iudas from the castell, and remoued the hoste toward Beth-zacarias ouer against the kings campe.
33 So the King arose very early, and brought the armie and his power toward the way of Beth-zaca-rias, where the armie set themselues in aray to the battel, and blew the trumpets.
34 And to prouoke the elephants for to fight, they shewed them the blood of grapes & mulberies, 35 And they set the beastes according to the ranges: so that by euery elephant there stood a thousande men armed with coates of maile and helmets of brasse vpon their heades, and vnto euery beast were ordeined fiue hundreth horsemen of the best, 36 Which were readie at all times wheresoeuer the beast was: and whithersoeuer the beast went,
they went also, and departed not from him.
37 And vpon them were strong towers of wood that couered euery beast, which were fastened thereon with instruments, and vpon euery one was two
and

and thirtie men that fought in them, and the Indian that ruled him.

38 They set also the remnant of the horsemen vpon both the sides in two wings of the hoste, to stirre them vp, and to keepe them in the valleyes.

39 And when the sunne shone vpon the golden shieldes, the mountaines glistered therewith, and gaue light as lampes of fire.

40 Thus part of the Kings armie was spred vpon the high mountaines, and part beneath: so they marched forward warily, and in order.

41 And all they that heard the noyse of their multitude, and the marching of the companie, and the ratling of the harnesse, were astonished: for the armie was very great and mightie.

42 Then Iudas and his hoste entred into the battell, and they slewe sixe hundreth men of the Kings armie.

‖Or, Sauara. 43 ¶ Now when Eleazar, the sonne of ‖ Abaron, saw one of the elephants armed with royal harnesse, and was more excellent then all the other beastes, he thought that the King should be vpon him.

44 Wherefore he ieoparded him selfe to deliuer his people, and to get him a perpetuall name, 45 And ran boldly vnto him through the mids of the hoste, slaying on the right hande and on the left, so that they departed away on both sides.

46 So went he to the elephants feete, and gate him vnder him, and slewe him: then fell the elephant downe vpon him, and there he dyed.

47 But the other, seeing the power of the king and the fiercenesse of his armie, departed from them.

48 ¶ And the Kings armie went vp to meete them towarde Ierusalem, and the King pitched his tents in Iudea toward mount Sion.

49 Moreouer, the King tooke truce with them that were in Beth-sura: but when they came out of the citie, because they had no vitailes there, and were shut vp therein, and the lande had rested,

50 The King tooke Beth-sura, and set there a garison to keepe it, 51 And besieged the Sanctuarie many dayes, and made instruments to shoote, and other engins of warre, and instruments to cast fire and stones, and pieces to cast dartes and slings.

‖Or, the Iewes. 52 ‖ They also made engines against their engines, and fought a long season.

53 But in the garners there were no vitailes: for it was the seuenth yeere, and then they that were in Iudea, and were deliuered from the Gentiles, had eaten vp the residue of the store,

54 So that in the Sanctuarie were fewe men left: for the famine came so vpon them, that they were scattered euery man to his owne place.

55 ¶ Nowe when Lysias heard that Philippe (whome Antiochus the King, whiles hee liued, had ordeyned to bring vp Antiochus his sonne, that he might be King)

56 Was come againe out of Persia and Media, and the Kings hoste with him, and thought to take vnto him the rule of things, 57 He and his hasted, and were stirred forwarde by them in the castle to goe and tell the King, and the captaines of the hoste, and to others, saying, We decrease daily, & our vitailes are but small: and the place that wee lay siege vnto, is strong, and the affaires of the realme depend vpon vs.

‖Or, giue handes 58 Now therefore let vs ‖ agree with these men, and take truce with them, and with all their nation, 59 And graunt them to liue after their Lawes, as they did afore: for they be grieued, and doe all these things, because we haue broken their Lawes.

60 So the King and the princes were content, and sent vnto them to make peace, and they receiued it.

61 When the King and the princes had made an othe vnto them, they came vpon this out of the fortresse.

62 And the King went vp to mount Sion: but when he sawe that the place was well defensed, hee brake his othe that he had made, and commaunded to breake downe the wall round about.

63 Then departed he in all haste, and returned vnto Antiochia, where he found Philip hauing dominion of the citie: so he fought against him, and tooke the citie by force.

C H A P. VII.

1 Demetrius reigned, after hee had killed Antiochus and Lysias. 5 Hee troubleth the children of Israel through the counsell of certaine wicked persons. 37 The prayer of the Priests against Nicanor. 41 Iudas killeth Nicanor, after hee had made his prayer.

IN the hundreth, and one and fiftieth yeere, departed Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus from Rome, and came vp with a fewe men vnto a citie of the sea coast, and reigned there. Ioseph. Antiq. 12. cap. 5.

2 And when hee came into the possession of his fathers kingdome, his souldiers tooke Antiochus and Lysias, and brought them vnto him.

3 But when it was tolde him, he said, Shew me not their faces.

4 So they put them to death. Now when Demetrius was set vpon the throne of his kingdome, 5 There came vnto him all the wicked and vngodly men of Israel, whose captaine was Alcimus, that would haue bene the hie Priest.

6 These men accused the people vnto ẏ King, saying, Iudas and his brethren haue slaine all thy friendes, and driuen vs out of our owne lande,

7 Wherefore sende now some man, whome thou trustest, that hee may goe and see all the destruction, which hee hath done vnto vs, and to the Kings lande, and let him punish them with all their partakers.

8 Then the King chose Bacchides a friende of his, which was a great man in the realme, and ruled beyond the flood, and was faithfull vnto the king, and sent him.

9 And that wicked Alcimus, whome he made hie Priest, and commaunded him to be auenged of the children of Israel.

10 So they departed, and came with a great hoste into the lande of Iuda, and sent messengers to Iudas and his brethren, deceitfully with peaceable wordes.

11 But they beleeued not their saying: for they sawe that they were come with a great hoste.

12 Then a company of the gouernours assembled vnto Alcimus and Bacchides to intreat of reasonable pointes.

13 And the ‖ Asideans were the first that required peace among the children of Israel. ‖Or, Hasideans.

14 For said they, Hee that is a Priest of the seede of Aaron, is come with this armie: therefore he will not hurt vs.

15 Then hee spake vnto them peaceably, and swore vnto them, and sayde, Wee will doe you no harme, neither your friendes:

16 And they beleeued him: but he tooke of them three score men, and slewe them in one day according

ding to the wordes that were written,
*Psal.79.2. 17 * They haue cast the bodyes of thy Saintes, and their blood round about Ierusalem, and there was no man that would burie them.
18 So there came a feare and trembling among all the people: for they said, There is neither trueth nor righteousnesse in them: for they haue broken the appoyntment and othe that they made.
19 Then Bacchides remoued from Ierusalem, ‖Or, Bethzeth, or, Bezeth. and pitched his tent at ‖ Beth-zecha, where he sent foorth and tooke many of the men that had forsaken him, and certaine of the people whom he slewe and cast into the great pit.
20 Then committed he the countrey vnto Alcimus, and left men of warre with him to helpe him: so Bacchides went vnto the King.
21 Thus Alcimus stroue for the Priesthoode.
22 And all such as troubled the people, resorted vnto him: in so much, that they obteined the lande of Iuda, and did much hurt in Israel.
23 Now when Iudas sawe all the mischiefe, that Alcimus and his company had done among the Israelites more then the heathen, 24 Hee went foorth rounde about all the borders of Iudea, and punished those that were fallen away, so that they came no more abroade in the countrey.
25 But when Alcimus sawe that Iudas and his people had gotten the vpper hand, and knewe that hee was not able to abide them, he went againe to the King, and accused them of wicked things.
Joseph. Antiq. 12.cap.18. 26 Then the King sent Nicanor one of his chiefe princes, which hated Israel deadly, and commanded him, that he should destroy the people.
27 ¶ So Nicanor came to Ierusalem with a great hoste, and sent vnto Iudas, and his brethren deceitfully with friendly wordes, saying, 28 Let there be no warre betweene mee, and you: I will come with fewe men, to see how ye doe, friendly.
29 So he came vnto Iudas, and they saluted one another peaceably: but the enemies were prepared to take away Iudas.
30 Neuerthelesse, it was tolde Iudas, that hee came vnto him vnder deceite: therefore he feared him, and would see his face no more.
31 When Nicanor perceiued that his counsell was bewrayed, he went out to fight against Iudas, ‖Or, Capharsarama. beside ‖ Capharsalama.
32 Where there were slaine of Nicanors hoste about fiue thousande men: so they fled vnto the citie of Dauid.
33 After this came Nicanor vp vnto mount Sion, and some of the Priestes with the Elders of the people went foorth of the Sanctuarie to salute him peaceably, and to shewe him the burnt offring that was offred for the King.
34 But he laughed at them, and mocked them,
and counted them prophane, and spake proudly, 35 And sware in his wrath, saying, If Iudas and his hoste bee not deliuered now into mine handes, if euer I come againe in safetie, I will burne vp this house. With that, went he out in a great anger.
36 Then the Priestes came in, and stoode before the altar in the Temple, weeping, and saying, 37 For so much as thou, O Lorde, hast chosen
*Isa.56.7. this * House, that thy Name might be called vpon therein, and that it should bee an house of prayer, and petition for thy people, 38 Bee auenged of this man and his hoste, and let them be slaine by the swordes: remember their blasphemies, and suffer them not to continue.
39 ¶ When Nicanor was gone from Ierusalem, he pitched his tent at Beth-horon, and there an hoste met him out of Syria.
40 And Iudas pitched in ‖ Adasa with three ‖Or, Adarsa.
thousand men, where Iudas prayed, saying, 41 O Lorde, * because the messengers of King *2.King.19.35. tobit.1.18. ecclus.48.21. isa.37.36. 2.mac.8.19.
Sennacherib blasphemed thee, thine Angel went foorth, and slewe an hundreth, fourescore and fiue thousand of them.
42 So destroy thou this hoste before vs to day, that all other may knowe that he hath spoken wickedly against thy Sanctuarie, and punish him according to his malice.
43 So the armies ioyned together in battell, the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar: but Nicanors hoste was discomfited, and hee him selfe was first slaine in the battell.
44 Nowe when his armie sawe that Nicanor was slaine, they cast away their weapons, and fled.
45 But they pursued after them a dayes iourney from Adasa vnto Gasera, blowing an alarme with the trumpets after them.
46 So they came foorth of all the townes of Iudea rounde about, and rushed vpon them, and threwe them from one to another, so that they all fell by the sworde, and there was not one of them left.
47 Then they tooke the spoyles, and the pray, and smote off Nicanors head, and his right hande, which he helde vp so proudly, and brought it with them, and hanged them vp afore Ierusalem.
48 So the people reioyced greatly, and kept that day as a day of great gladnesse.
49 And they ordeined to keepe yeerely that day on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar.
50 Thus the lande of Iuda was in rest a litle while.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas, considering the power and policie of the Romanes, ma-keth peace with them. 22 The conditions of mutuall friendship sent to the Iewes.

IVdas heard also the fame of the Romanes, that Joseph. Antiq. 12.cap.18.
they were mightie, and valiant, and agreeable to all things that were required of them, and made peace with all that came vnto them, 2 And that they were men of great power, and they tolde him of their battels, and their worthie actes, which they did among the ‖ Galatians ‖Or, French men.
whome they had conquered, and made to pay tribute,
3 And what they had done in the countrey of Spaine: how that they had wonne there the mines of siluer and golde, 4 And that by their counsell, and gentle behauiour they were rulers in euery place, though the place was farre from them, and that they had discomfited, and giuen great ouerthrowes to the Kings that came against them, from the vttermost part of the earth, and that others gaue them tribute euery yeere,
5 Howe they had also discomfited by battell Philippe and Perses Kings of the ‖ Macedonians, ‖Or, Cittims. and others, that arose against them, and howe they ouercame them,
6 And how great Antiochus King of Asia that came against them in battell, hauing an hundreth and twentie elephantes, with horsemen, and charets, and a very great armie, was discomfited by them,

7 And how they tooke him aliue, and ordeined him, with such as should reigne after him, to pay a great tribute, and to giue hostages, and a separate portion,

8 Euen the countrey of India, and Media, and Lydia, and of his best countreys, which they tooke of him and gaue them to king Eumenes,

9 Againe when it was told them that the Grecians were comming to destroy them,

10 They sent against them a captaine, which gaue them battell, and slewe many of them, and tooke many prisoners with their wiues, and children, and spoyled them and conquered their land, and destroyed their strong holds, and subdued them to be their bond men vnto this day:

11 Moreouer, how they destroyed, & brought into subiection other kingdomes and yles, whosoeuer had withstand them:

12 But that they kept amitie with their owne friendes, and those that stayed vpon them: finally, that they conquered kingdomes, both farre and neere, insomuch that whosoeuer heard of their renowne, was afraide of them.

13 For whome they would helpe to their kingdomes, those reigned, & whom they would, they put downe: thus were they in most high authoritie.

14 Yet for all this that none of them ware a crowne, neither was clothed in purple, to bee magnified thereby,

15 But that they had ordeyned them selues a counsell, wherein three hundreth and twentie men consulted dayly, and prouided for the common affaires, to gouerne them well,

16 And that they committed their gouernment to one man euery yere, who did rule ouer all their countrey, to whom euery man was obedient: and there was neither hatred nor enuie among them.

17 ¶ Then Iudas chose Eupolemus the sonne of Iohn, the sonne of Accus, and Iason, the sonne of Eleazar, and sent them vnto Rome to make friendship, and mutuall fellowship with them,

18 That they might take from them the yoke (for they sawe that the kingdome of the Grecians would keepe Israel in bondage)

19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a very great iourney, and came into the ‖ Senate, where they spake and said, ‖Or, counsell.

20 Iudas Maccabeus with his brethren, and the people of the Iewes hath sent vs vnto you, to make a bond of friendship, and peace with you, and yee to register vs as your partakers and friends.

21 And the matter pleased them.

22 And this is the copie of the epistle that they wrote in tables of brasse and sent to Ierusalem, that they might haue by them a memoriall of the peace, and mutuall fellowship.

23 Good successe be to the Romanes, and to the people of the Iewes, by sea, & by land for euer, and the sword, and enemie be from them.

24 If there come first any warre vpon the Romaines, or any of their friendes throughout all their dominion,

25 The people of the Iewes shall helpe them, as the time shalbe appointed, with all their heart, 26 Also ‖ they shall giue nothing to them that come to fight for them, nor serue them with wheat nor weapons, nor money, nor shippes, as it pleaseth the Romaines, but ‖ they shall keepe their couenants without taking any thing of them. ‖Or, the Romanes. ‖Or, the Iewes.

27 Likewise also if warre come first against the nation of the Iewes, the Romanes shall helpe them with a good will, according as the time shall be appoynted them.

28 Neither shal wheat be giuen vnto them, that take their part, nor weapons, nor money nor ships, as it pleased the Romaines, who will keepe these couenants without deceit.

29 According to these articles the Romaines made the bond with the people of the Iewes.

30 If after these points the one partie, or the other will adde or diminish, they may doe it, at their pleasures, and whatsoeuer they shall adde, or take away, shalbe ratified.

31 And as touching the euill that Demetrius hath done vnto ẏ Iewes, we haue written vnto him, saying, Wherefore layest thou thy heauy yoke vpon our friends, and confederates the Iewes?

32 If therfore they complayne any more against thee, we will doe them iustice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

CHAP. IX.

1 After the death of Nicanor, Demetrius sendeth his armie against Iudas. 18 Iudas is slaine. 31 Ionathan is put in stead of his brother. 47 The battel betweene Ionathan, and Bacchides. 55 Alcimus is smitten with the palsie, and dyeth. 68 Hee commeth vpon Ionathan by the counseil of certaine wicked persons, and is ouercome. 70 The truce of Ionathan with Bacchides.

IN the meane season when Demetrius had heard how Nicanor, and his hoste had giuen the battel, he sent Bacchides, and Alcimus againe into Iudea, and his ‖ chiefe strength with them. Ioseph. Antiq. 12. chap. 18. ‖Or, the right horne.

2 So they went forth by the way that is toward Galgala, and pitched their tentes before Mesaloth which is in Arbelis, and wanne it, and slewe much people.

3 And in the first moneth of the hundreth, fifty and two yeere, they layed their siege against Ierusalem.

4 But they raysed their campe, and came to Berea, with twentie thousand foote men and two thousand horsemen.

5 Now Iudas had pitched his tent at ‖ Eleasa, and three thousand chosen men with him. ‖Or, Laisa.

6 And when they saw that the multitude of the armie was great, they were sore afraid, & many conueied themselues out of the hoste, so that there abode no mo of them, but eight hundreth men.

7 When Iudas saw that his host fayled him, and that he must needes fight, he was sore troubled in mind that he had no time to gather them together, and was discouraged.

8 Neuerthelesse, he sayd vnto them that remained, Let vs rise, & go vp against our enemies, if peraduenture we may be able to fight with them.

9 But they would haue stayed him, saying, We are not able: but let vs rather saue our liues: turne backe nowe, seeing our brethred are departed: for shall we fight against them that are so fewe?

10 Then Iudas said, God forbid, that we should doe this thing, to flie from them: if our time bee come, let vs die manfully for our brethren, and let vs not staine our honour.

11 Then the host remooued out of the tents, & stood against thē, who had deuided their horsemen into two troupes, & they that threwe with slinges, & the archers marched in the foreward, and they that fought in the foreward, were all valiant men.

12 And Bacchides was in the right wing. So the armie drewe neere on both sides, and blewe the trumpets.

13 They

13 They of Iudas side blewe the trumpets also,
and the earth shooke at the noyse of the armies, and the battel continued from morning to night.
14 And when Iudas saw that Bacchides and the strength of his armie was on the right side, he tooke with him all the hardie men, 15 And brake the right wing, and followed vpon them vnto mount Azotus.
16 Now when they which were of the left wing, sawe that the right wing was discomfited, they followed Iudas behinde, and them that were with him hard at the heeles.
17 Then was there a sore battell: for many were slaine of both the parties.
18 Iudas also himselfe was killed, and the remnant fled.
19 So Ionathan and Simon tooke Iudas their brother, and buried him in his fathers sepulchre in the citie of Modin.
20 And all the Israelites wept for him, & mourned greatly for him, & lamented many daies, saying, 21 How is the valiant man fallen which deliue-red Israel!
22 Concerning the other thinges of Iudas, both the battels and the valiant actes that hee did, and of his worthines, they are not written: for they were very many.
Ioseph. Antiq. 13. chap. 1. & 3. 23 ¶Now after the death of Iudas, wicked men came vp in all the coastes of Israel, and there arose all such as gaue themselues to iniquitie.
24 In those dayes was there a very great famine in the lande, and all the countrey gaue ouer themselues with them.
25 And Bachides did chuse wicked men, and made them lords in the land.
26 These sought out, and made search for Iudas friends, and brought them vnto Bacchides, which auenged himselfe vpon them, and mocked them.
27 And there came so great trouble in Israel, as was not since the time that no Prophet was seene among them.
28 Then came all Iudas friendes together, and said vnto Ionathan, 29 Seeing thy brother Iudas is dead, and there is none like him to goe foorth against our enemies, euen against Bacchides, and ‖ against them of our nation that are enemies vnto vs, ‖Or, against the enemies of our nation.
30 Therefore this day wee chuse thee, that thou mayest be our Prince and captaine in his place, to order our battell.
31 So Ionathan tooke the gouernance vpon him at the same time, and ruled in stead of his brother Iudas.
32 But when Bacchides knewe it, he sought for
to slay him.
33 Then Ionathan and Simon his brother, per-ceiuing that, fled into the wildernes of Thecua with all their companie, and pitched their tentes by the water poole of Asphar.
34 Which when Bacchides vnderstoode, hee came ouer Iorden with all his hoste vpon the Sabbath day.
35 (Nowe had Ionathan sent his brother Iohn, a captaine of the people, to pray his friendes the Nabathites, that they would keepe their baggage which was much.
36 But the children of ‖ Ambri came out of Medaba, and tooke Iohn, and all that he had, and when they had taken it, went their way.
‖Or, Iambri.
37 After this came worde vnto Ionathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Ambri made a great marriage, and brought the bride from ‖Medaba with great pompe: for shee was daughter ‖Or, Nadabath.
to one of the noblest Princes of Canaan.
38 Therefore they remembred Iohn their brother, and went vp, and hid themselues vnder the co-uert of the mountaine.
39 So they lift vp their eyes, and looked, and be-holde, there was a great noyse, and much preparation: then the bridegrome came foorth, and his friendes and his brethren met them with tymbrels, and instruments of musike, and many weapons.
40 Then Ionathans men that lay in ambush, rose vp against them, and slewe many of them, and the remnant fledde into the mountaines, so that they tooke all their spoyles.
41 Thus the marriage was turned to mourning,
and the noyse of their melodie into lamentation.
42 And so when they had auenged the blood of their brother, they turned againe vnto Iorden.
43 When Bacchides heard this, hee came vnto the border of Iorden with a great power vpon the Sabbath day.)
44 Then Ionathan said vnto his companie, Let vs rise nowe, and fight against our enemies: for it is not to day as in time past.
45 Beholde, the battell is before vs, and behinde vs, and the water of Iorden on this side & that side, and the marise, and forest, so that there is no place for vs to turne aside.
46 Wherefore crie nowe vnto heauen, that yee may be deliuered from the power of your enemies:
so they ioyned battel.
47 Then Ionathan stretched out his hande to smite Bacchides: but hee turned aside from him and reculed.
48 Then Ionathan, & they that were with him, leapt into Iorden, and swimmed ouer vnto the further banke: but the other would not passe through Iorden after them.
49 So in that day were slaine of Bacchides side about a thousand men.
50 Then hee turned againe to Ierusalem, and built vp the strong cities in Iuda, as the castell of Iericho, and Emmaus, and Bethhoron, and Bethel, and Thamnatha, Pharathoni, & Tepho, with high walles, with gates, and with barres, 51 And set garisons in them, that they might vse their malice vpon Israel.
52 Hee fortified also the citie Beth-sura, and Gazara, and the castell, and set a garison in them with prouision of vitailes.
53 He tooke also the chiefest mens sonnes in the countrey for hostages, and put them in the castel at Ierusalem to be kept.
54 ¶Afterward in the hundreth, fiftie and three yeere, in the second moneth, Alcimus commanded, that the walles of the inner court of the Sanctuarie should be destroyed, and he pulled downe the monuments of the Prophets, & began to destroy them.
55 But at the same time Alcimus was plagued, and his enterprises were hindered, and his mouth was stopped: for hee was smitten with a palsie, and could no more speake, nor giue order concerning his house.
56 Thus died Alcimus with great torment at the same time.
57 And when Bacchides sawe that Alcimus was dead, hee turned againe to the King, and so the land of Iuda was in rest two yeeres.

58 Then

58 Then all the vngodly men helde a counsell, saying, Behold, Ionathan and his companie dwell at ease, and without care: wherefore let vs bring Bacchides hither, and he wil take them all in one night.
59 So they went and consulted with him.
60 Who arose and came with a great hoste, and sent letters priuily to his adherents, which were in Iudea, to take Ionathan and those that were with him: but they coulde not, for their counsell was knowen vnto them.
‖Or, Ionathan. 61 And ‖ they tooke fiftie men of the countrey, which were the chiefe workers of this wickednesse,
and slewe them.
62 ¶ Then Ionathan and Simon with their com-‖Or, Beth-bessen. panie departed vnto ‖ Beth-basin which is in the wildernes, and repaired the decay thereof, and made it strong.
63 When Bacchides knewe this, he gathered all his hoste, & sent word to them that were of Iudea.
64 Then came he and layd siege to Beth-basin, and fought against it a long season, and made instruments of warre.
65 But Ionathan had left his brother Simon in the citie, and went foorth into the countrey, and came with a certaine nomber, ‖Or, Odaris. 66 And slewe ‖ Odomeras and his brethren and the children of Phasiron in their tentes: so hee began to slay, and increased in power.
67 Simon also and his companie went out of the citie, and burnt vp the instruments of warre, 68 And fought against Bacchides, and discomfited him, and vexed him sore, so that his counsell and iourney was in vaine.
69 Wherefore he was very wroth at the wicked men, that gaue him counsell to come into the countrey, and slewe many of them, and purposed to returne into his owne countrey.
70 Whereof when Ionathan had knowledge, he sent Ambassadours vnto him, to intreate of peace with him, & that the prisoners should be deliuered.
71 Which thing he accepted, and did according to his desire, and made an othe, that he would neuer doe him harme all the dayes of his life.
72 So he restored vnto him the prisoners that he had taken aforetime out of the land of Iuda, and so returned and went into his owne lande, neither did he come any more into their borders.
73 Thus the sworde ceased from Israel, and Ionathan dwelt at Machmas, and began there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the vngodly men out of Israel.

CHAP. X.

4 Demetrius desireth to haue peace with Ionathan. 18 Alexander also desireth peace with the Iewes. 48 Alexander maketh warre against Demetrius. 50 Demetrius is slaine. 51 The friendship of Ptolemeus and Alexander.

Ioseph. Anti.13. chap.2.3. IN the hundreth and three score yeere came Alexander the sonne of Antiochus Epiphanes, and tooke Ptolemais, and they receiued him, and there he reigned.
2 Now when Demetrius the King heard it, he gathered an exceeding great hoste, and went foorth against him to fight.
3 Also Demetrius sent letters vnto Ionathan, with louing words, as thogh he would preferre him.
4 For he saide, Wee will first make peace with him, before he ioyne with Alexander against vs.
5 Els he will remember all the euill that wee haue done against him, and against his brethren and his nation.
6 And so he gaue Ionathan leaue to gather an hoste, and to prepare weapons, and to be confederate with him, and commaunded the hostages that were in the castell, to be deliuered vnto him.
7 ¶ Then came Ionathan to Ierusalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and
of them that were in the castell.
8 Therefore they were sore afraide, because they heard that the King had giuen him licence to gather an armie.
9 So they that were of the castel, deliuered the hostages vnto Ionathan, who restored them to their parents.
10 Ionathan also dwelt at Ierusalem, and began to builde, and repaire the citie.
11 And he commanded the workemen to build the walles, and the mount Sion round about with hewen stone, to fortifie it: and so they did.
12 Then the strangers that were in the castels which Bacchides had made, fled, 13 So that euery man left his place, and went into his owne countrey.
14 Onely at Beth-sura remained certaine which had forsaken the Lawe and the commaundements:
for it was their refuge.
15 ¶ Now when King Alexander had heard of the promises that Demetrius had made vnto Ionathan: and when it was tolde him of the battels and noble actes, which he and his brethren had done,
and of the paines that they had endured, 16 He said, Might we find such a man? now therefore we will make him our friend and confederate.
17 Vpon this he wrote a letter, and sent it vnto him, with these wordes, saying, 18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother
Ionathan sendeth salutation.
19 We haue heard of thee, that thou art a very valiant man, and worthy to be our friend.
20 Wherefore this day we ordaine thee to bee the hie Priest of thy nation, and to bee called the Kings friend: (and he sent him a purple robe, and a ‖ crowne of golde,) that thou mayst ‖ consider what ‖Or, mitre. ‖Or, take our part.
is for our profite, and keepe friendship toward vs.
21 So in the seuenth moneth of the hundreth and three score yeere, vpon the feast day of the tabernacles, Ionathan put on the holy garment, and gathered an hoste, and prepared many weapons.
22 ¶ Which when Demetrius heard, he was mar- Ioseph. Antiq. 13. chap.3. ueilous sorie, and said, 23 What haue wee done, that Alexander hath preuented vs in getting the friendship of the Iewes for his strength?
24 Yet will I write and exhort them, and promise them dignities and rewardes, that they may helpe mee.
25 Whereupon he wrote vnto them these words, KING DEMETRIVS vnto the nations of the Iewes sendeth greeting.
26 Wee haue heard that ye haue kept your couenant toward vs, and continued in our friendship, and haue not ioyned with our enemies, whereof we are glad.
27 Now therefore remaine still, and keepe fidelitie toward vs, and we will recompence you for the good things that ye haue done for vs, 28 And will release you of many charges, and giue you rewardes.
29 And now I discharge for your sake all the Iewes from tributes, and free you from the customes of salt, and the crowne taxes, and from the thirde part

part of the seede.
30 And from the halfe of the fruite of the trees which is mine owne duetie, I so release them that from this day foorth, none shall take any thing of the land of Iuda,or of the three gouernments which are added thereunto, as of Samaria and of Galile, from this day forth for euermore.
31 Ierusalem also with all things belōging thereto, shalbe holy and free from the tenths & tributes.
32 Also I release the power of the castel which is at Ierusalem,and giue it vnto the hie Priest, that he may set in it such men, as he shall chuse to keepe it.
33 Moreouer I freely deliuer euery one of the Iewes ẏ were taken away prisoners out of the lande of Iuda throughout all my realme,and euery one of them shalbe free from tributes,yea,euē their cattel, 34 And all the feastes, and Sabbaths, and newe Moones,and the dayes appointed & the three dayes before the feast,and the three dayes after the feast, shall be dayes of freedome and libertie for all the Iewes in my realme, 35 So that in them no man shall haue power to doe any thing,or to vexe any of them in any maner of cause.
36 Also thirtie thousande of the Iewes shall be written vp in the Kings hoste, and haue their wages payed them as appertaineth to all them that are of the Kings armie: and of them shalbe ordeined certaine to keepe the Kings strong holdes.
37 And some of them shalbe set ouer the Kings most secret affaires, and their gouernours and their Princes shalbe of themselues, and they shall liue after their owne lawes, as the King hath commanded in the land of Iuda.
38 And the three gouernments that are added vnto Iudea from the countrey of Samaria, shall be ioyned vnto Iudea, and they shall be as vnder one, and obey none other power,but the hie Priest.
39 And I giue Ptolemais and the borders thereof vnto the Sanctuarie at Ierusalem,for the necessarie expenses of the holy things.
40 Moreouer, I will giue euery yeere fifteene thousand sicles of siluer of the Kings reuenues out of the places apperteining vnto me.
41 And all the ouerplus which they haue not payed for the things due, as they did in the former yeeres,from henceforth they shall giue it towarde the workes of the Temple.
42 And besides this, the fiue thousande sicles of siluer which they receiued yeerely of the account appoynted for the interteinment of the Sanctuarie these yeeres passed,euen these things shalbe released because they apperteine to the Priests that minister.
43 Item, whosoeuer they bee that flee vnto the Temple at Ierusalem, or within the liberties thereof, and are indetted to the King for any maner of thing,they shalbe pardoned, and all that they haue in my realme.
44 For the building also and repayring of the workes of the Sanctuarie,expenses shall be giuen of the Kings reuenues.
45 And for the making of the walles of Ierusalem, and fortifying it round about, that the holdes in Iudea may be buylt vp,shall also the costes be gi-uen out of the Kings reuenues.
46 ¶ But when Ionathan and the people heard these words,they gaue no credit vnto them,neither receiued them:for they remembred the great wickednesse that he had done in Israel,and how sore he had vexed them.
47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander: for he was the first that had intreated of true peace with them,and so were confederate with him alway.
48 Then gathered King Alexander a great hoste, and camped ouer against Demetrius.
49 So the two Kings ioyned battell,but Demetrius hoste fled, and Alexander pursued him, and preuailed against them.
50 So that sore battell continued till the sunne went downe, & Demetrius was slaine the same day.
51 ¶ Then Alexander sent Ambassadours vnto Ioseph. Antiq. 13. Chap. 5.
Ptolemeus the King of Egypt ẇ these words,saying, 52 For so much as I am come againe to my realme, and am set in the throne of my fathers, and haue gotten the dominion, and haue destroyed Demetrius,and enioy my countrey, 53 Seeing that I haue euen giuen him the battell,and he and his armie is discomfited by me, and I sit in the throne of his kingdome, 54 Let vs now make friendship together, and giue me now thy daughter to wife: so shall I be thy sonne in lawe,and giue thee rewardes, and vnto her things according to thy dignitie.
55 Then Ptolemeus the King gaue answere,saying, Happie bee the day, wherein thou art come againe vnto the land of thy fathers,and sittest in the throne of their kingdome.
56 Now therefore will I fulfill thy writing: but meete mee at Ptolemais that wee may see one another, and that I may make thee my sonne in lawe, according to thy desire.
57 So Ptolemeus went out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolemais in the hundreth threescore and two yeere, 58 Where King Alexander met him,and he gaue vnto him his daughter Cleopatra, and marryed them at Ptolemais with great glorie, as the maner of Kings is.
59 ¶ Then wrote King Alexander vnto Ionathan,that he should come and meete him.
60 So he went honourably vnto Ptolemais, and there hee met the two Kings, and gaue them great presents of siluer and golde, and to their friends,and found fauour in their sight.
61 And there assembled certaine pestilent fellowes of Israel, and wicked men to accuse him: but the King would not heare them.
62 And the King commanded that they should take off the garments of Ionathan, and clothe him in purple: and so they did: and the King appointed him to sit by him, 63 And said vnto his Princes, Goe with him into the middes of the citie, and make a proclamation, that no man complaine against him of any matter, and that no man trouble him for any maner of cause.
64 So when his accusers sawe his honour according as it was proclaimed, and that he was clothed in purple,they fled all away.
65 And the King preferred him to honour, and wrote him among his chiefe friends, and made him a Duke,and partaker of his dominion.
66 Thus Ionathan returned to Ierusalem with peace and gladnesse.
67 ¶ In the hundreth, threescore and fiue yeere Ioseph. Antiq. Cap. 8. lib. 13.
came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius,from Cre-ta into his fathers land.
68 Whereof when King Alexander heard, hee was very sorie,and returned vnto Antiochia.
69 Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius the gouernour

governour of Coelosyria, who gathered a great hoste, and camped in Iamnia, and sent vnto Ionathan the hie Priest, saying, 70 Darest thou, being but alone, lift vp thy selfe against vs? and I am laughed at, and reproched, because of thee: nowe therefore why doest thou vaunt thy selfe against vs in the mountaines?
71 Nowe then if thou trust in thine owne strength, come downe to vs into the plaine fielde, and there let vs trie the matter together: for I haue
the strength of cities.
72 Aske and learne who I am, and they shal take my part: and they shall tell thee that your foote is not able to stande before our face: for thy fathers haue bene twise chased in their owne land.
73 And now how wilt thou be able to abide so great an hoste of horsemen and footemen in the plaine, where is neither stone, nor rocke, nor place to flee vnto?
74 When Ionathan heard the wordes of Apol-lonius, he was moued in his minde: wherefore hee chose ten thousand men, & went out of Ierusalem, and Simon his brother met him for to helpe him.
75 And he pitched his tentes at Ioppe: but they shut him out of the citie: for Apollonius garison was in Ioppe.
76 Then they fought against it, and they that were in the citie, for very feare let him in: so Ionathan wanne Ioppe.
77 Apollonius hearing of this, tooke three thousand horsemen with a great hoste of foote men, and went toward Azotus, as though hee would go forward, and came immediatly into the plaine fielde, because he had so many horsemen, and put his trust
in them.
78 So Ionathan followed vpon him to Azotus, and the armie skirmished with his arriere band.
79 For Apollonius had left a thousand horsmen behinde them in ambush.
80 And Ionathan knewe that there was an ambushment behinde him, and though they had com-passed in his hoste, and shot dartes at the people from the morning to the euening, 81 Yet the people stood still, as Ionathan had commanded them, till their horses were wearie.
82 Then brought Simon foorth his hoste, and set them against the band: but the horses were weary, and he discomfited them, and they fled: so the horsemen were scattered in the fielde, 83 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon their idole, that they might there saue them selues.
84 But Ionathan set fire vpon Azotus and all the cities round about it, and tooke their spoyles, and burnt with fire the temple of Dagon with all them that were fled into it.
85 Thus were slaine and burnt about eight thousand men.
86 So Ionathan remooued the hoste from thence, and camped by Ascalon, where the men of the citie came foorth, and met him with great honour.
87 After this went Ionathan and his hoste againe to Ierusalem with great spoyles.
88 And when King Alexander heard these things, he began to doe Ionathan more honour, 89 And sent him a coller of golde, as the vse is to be giuen vnto such as are of the Kings blood: he gaue him also Accaron, with the borders thereof in possession.

CHAP. XI.

1 The dissention betwene Ptolemeus and Alexander his sonne in lawe. 17 The death of Alexander. 19 Demetrius reigneth after the death of Ptolemeus. 21 Sion is besieged of Ionathan. 42 Demetrius seeing that no man resisted him, sendeth his armie againe. 54 Tryphon moueth Antiochus against Demetrius.

AND the king of Egypt gathered a great hoste, Ioseph. Anti. 13. cap. 7.
like the sande that lieth vpon the sea shore, and many shippes, and went about through deceite to obtaine the kingdome of Alexander, and to ioyne it vnto his owne Realme.
2 Vpon this hee went into Syria with friendly wordes, and was let into the cities, and men came foorth to meete him: for king Alexander had commanded them to meete him, because he was his father in lawe.
3 Now when he entred into the citie of Ptolemais, he left bands and garisons in euery citie.
4 And when hee came neere to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus, and the suburbs thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies cast abroad, and them that hee had burnt in the battell: for they had made heapes of them by the way where he should passe.
5 And they tolde the king what Ionathan had done, to the intent they might get him euill will:
but the King helde his peace.
6 And Ionathan met the king with great honour at Ioppe, where they saluted one another, and lay there.
7 So when Ionathan had gone with the king vnto the water that was called Eleutherus, hee turned againe to Ierusalem.
8 So King Ptolemeus gate the dominion of the cities by the sea vnto Seleucia vpon ÿ sea coast, imagining wicked counsels against Alexander, 9 ¶ And sent Ambassadours vnto King Demetrius, saying, Come, let vs make a league betweene vs, and I will giue thee my daughter, which Alexander hath, and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdome.
10 For I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for he goeth about to slay me.
11 Thus hee slandered Alexander, as one that should desire his Realme.
12 And hee tooke his daughter from him, and gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forsooke Alexander, so that their hatred was openly knowen.
13 Then Ptolemeus came to Antiochia, where he set two crownes vpon his own head, of Asia and of Egypt.
14 In the meane season was King Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwelt in those places, had rebelled against him.
15 But when Alexander heard it, hee came to warre against him, and Ptolemeus brought foorth his hoste, and met him with a mightie power, and put him to flight.
16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia, there to be defended: so Ptolemeus was exalted.
17 And Zabdiel the Arabian smote off Alexanders head, and sent it vnto Ptolemeus.
18 But the thirde day after, King Ptolemeus dyed: and they that were in the holdes, were slaine one of another.
19 And Demetrius reigned in the hundreth, threescore and seuenth yeere.
20 ¶ At the same time gathered Ionathan them that were in Iudea, to lay siege vnto ÿ castell, which was at Ierusalem, and they made many instruments

 of

of warre against it.
21 Then went there certaine vngodly persons (which hated their owne people) vnto King Demetrius, and tolde him that Ionathan besieged the castell.
22 So when hee heard it, he was angry, and im-mediatly came vnto Ptolemais, and wrote vnto Ionathan, that hee shoulde lay no more siege vnto it, but that he should meete him and speake with him at Ptolemais in all haste.
23 Neuerthelesse when Ionathan heard this, hee commanded to besiege it: he chose also certaine of the Elders of Israel, and the Priests, and put himselfe in danger,
24 And tooke with him siluer and golde, and apparell, and diuers presents, and went to Ptolemais vnto the King, and found fauour in his sight.
25 And though certaine vngodly men of his owne nation had made complaints vpon him, 26 Yet the King intreated him as his predecessours had done, and promoted him in the sight of al his friends,
27 And confirmed him in the hie priesthood with all the honourable things, that hee had afore, and made him his chiefe friend.
28 Ionathan also desired the King, that he would make Iudea free with the three gouernements, and the countrey of Samaria, and Ionathan promised him three hundreth talents.
29 Whereunto the King consented, and gaue Ionathan writing of the same, conteining these
wordes,
30 King Demetrius vnto his brother Ionathan, and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.
31 We send you here a copy of the letter which we did write vnto our cousin Lasthenes concerning you, that ye should see it.
32 King Demetrius vnto Lasthenes his father, sendeth greeting.
33 For the faithfulnes that our friends the nation of the Iewes keepe vnto vs, and for their good wil towards vs, we are determined to do them good.
34 Wherefore we assigne to them the coasts of Iudea with the three gouernments, Apherema, and Lydda, and Ramathe (which are added vnto Iudea from the countrey of Samaria) and all that apper-taineth to all them that sacrifice in Ierusalem: both concerning the paiments which the King tooke yeerely aforetime, both for the fruites of the earth, and for the fruites of the trees.
35 As for the other things appertaining vnto vs of the tenthes and tributes, which were due vnto vs, and the customes of salt, and crowne taxes, which were payed vnto vs, we discharge them of all from hencefoorth.
36 And nothing hereof shal be reuoked from this time forth and for euer.
37 Therefore see that yee make a copy of these things, and deliuer it vnto Ionathan, that it may be set vp vpon the holy mount in an open place.
38 After this when Demetrius the King sawe that his land was in rest, and that no resistance was made against him, he sent away all his hoste, euery man to his owne place, except certaine bands of strangers, whome he brought from the yles of the heathen: wherefore all his fathers hoste hated him.
39 Now was there one Tryphon, that had bene of Alexanders part afore, which when he sawe that all the hoste murmured against Demetrius, he went to ‖ Simalcue the Arabian, that brought vp Antio- ‖ Or, Simalcue. chus the sonne of Alexander, 40 And lay sore vpon him, to deliuer him this yong Antiochus, that he might reigne in his fathers steade: hee tolde him also what great euill Demetrius had done, and howe his men of warre hated him, and he remained there a long season.
41 Also Ionathan sent vnto King Demetrius to driue them out which were in the castell at Ierusalem, and those that were in the fortresses: for they fought against Israell.
42 So Demetrius sent vnto Ionathan, saying, I will not onely doe these things for thee, and thy nation, but if opportunitie serue, I will honour thee, and thy nation.
43 Nowe therefore thou shalt doe me a pleasure, if thou wilt sende me men to helpe me: for all mine armie is gone from me.
44 So Ionathan sent him three thousand strong men vnto Antiochia, and they came vnto the King: wherefore the King was very glad at their comming.
45 ¶ But they that were of the citie, euen an hundreth, and twentie thousande men, gathered them together in the mids of the citie, and would haue slaine the King.
46 But the King fled into the palace, and the citizens kept the streetes of the citie, and began to fight.
47 Then the king called to the Iewes for helpe, which came to him all together, and went abroad
through the citie,
48 And slewe the same day an hundreth thousand, and set fire vpon the citie, and tooke many spoyles in that day, and deliuered the King.
49 So when the citizens sawe that the Iewes had gotten the vpper hande of the citie, and that they themselues were disappointed of their purpose, they made their supplication vnto the King, saying, 50 ‖ Graunt vs peace, and let the Iewes cease ‖ Or, giue vs the right hand.
from vexing vs and the citie.
51 So they cast away their weapons, and made peace, and the Iewes were greatly honoured before the King, and before all that were in his Realme, and they came againe to Ierusalem with great pray.
52 Then King Demetrius sate in the throne of his kingdome, and had peace in his land.
53 Neuerthelesse hee dissembled in all that euer
he spake, and withdrewe him selfe from Ionathan, neither did he rewarde him according to the benefites which hee had done for him, but troubled him very sore.
54 ¶ After this returned Tryphon with the yong childe Antiochus, which reigned, and was crowned.
55 Then there gathered vnto him all the men of warre, whome Demetrius had scattered, and they fought against him, who fled and turned his backe.
56 So Tryphon tooke the ‖ beastes, and wanne ‖ Or, Elephants.
Antiochia.
57 And yong Antiochus wrote vnto Ionathan, saying, I appoynt thee to bee the chiefe Priest, and make thee ruler ouer the foure gouernements, that thou mayest be a friend of the kings.
58 Vpon this hee sent him golden vessels to be serued in, and gaue him leaue to drinke in gold, and to weare purple, and to haue a colar of golde.
59 He made his brother Simon also captaine frõ the coastes of Tyrus vnto the borders of Egypt.
60 Then Ionathan went foorth, and passed thorowe

thorow the cities beyond the flood, and all the men of warre of Syria gathered vnto him for to helpe him: so he came vnto Ascalon, and they of the citie receiued him honourably.

61 And from thence went hee vnto Gaza: but they of Gaza shut him out: wherefore he laid siege vnto it, and burned the suburbes thereof with fire, and spoyled them.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication vnto Ionathan, and he made peace with them, and tooke of the sonnes of the chiefe men for hostages, and sent them to Ierusalem, and went thorow the countrey vnto Damascus.

63 And when Ionathan heard that Demetrius princes were come into Cades, which is in Galile, with a great hoste, purposing to driue him out of the countrey, 64 Hee came against them, and left Simon his brother in the countrey.

65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, and fought against it a long season, and shut it vp.

66 So they desired to haue peace with him, which he graunted them, and afterwarde put them out from thence, and tooke the citie, and set a garison in it.

67 Then Ionathan with his hoste came to the water of Genesar, and betimes in the morning came to the plaine of Azor.

68 And behold the hostes of the ‖ strangers met him in the plaine, and had laide ambushments for him in the mountaines.

‖Or, heathen.

69 So that when they came against them, the ambushments rose out of their places & skirmished.

70 So that all that were of Ionathans side, fled: and there was not one of them left, except Mattathias the sonne of ‖ Absalomus, and Iudas the sonne of Calphi the captaines of the hoste.

‖Or, Abessalomus.

71 Then Ionathan rent his clothes, and cast earth vpon his head, and prayed, 72 And turned againe to them to fight, and put them to flight, so that they fled away.

73 Now when his owne men that were fled, saw this, they turned againe vnto him, and helped him to followe after all vnto their tentes at Cades, and there they camped.

74 So there were slaine of the strangers the same day about three thousand men, and Ionathan turned againe to Ierusalem.

CHAP. XII.

1 Ionathan sendeth ambassadours to Rome, 2 And to the people of Sparta, to renue their couenant of friendship. 24 Ionathan goeth to fight the princes of Demetrius. 40 Tryphon taketh Ionathan by deceite.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. chap. 8.

IOnathan now seeing that the time was meete for him, chose certeine men, & sent them vnto Rome, to establish and renue the friendship with them.

2 He sent letters also vnto ‖ the Spartians and to other places, for the same purpose.

‖Or, Lacedemonians.

3 So they went vnto Rome, and entred into the Senate, and saide, Ionathan the high Priest and the nation of the Iewes sent vs vnto you, for to renue friendship with you, and the bond of loue, as in times past.

4 So the Romanes gaue them free pasports, that men should leade them home into the land of Iuda peaceably.

5 ¶ And this is the copie of the letters that Ionathan wrote vnto the Spartians, 6 Ionathan the hie Priest with the Elders of the nation, and the Priestes, and the rest of the people of the Iewes, send greeting vnto the Spartians their brethren.

7 Heretofore were letters sent vnto Onias the hie Priest, from ‖ Arius, which then reigned among you, that ye would be our brethren, as the copy hereunder written specifieth.

Ioseph. Antiq. 12. chap. 5.
‖Or, Darius.

8 And Onias intreated the ambassadour honourably, & receiued the letters: wherein there was mention made of the bond of loue and friendship.

9 But as for vs, we neede no such writings: for we haue the holy bookes in our hands for comfort.

10 Neuerthelesse wee thought it good to sende vnto you, for the renuing of the brotherhood and friendship, least we should be strange vnto you: for it is long since the time that ye sent vnto vs.

11 Wherefore wee remember you at all seasons continually, and in the feasts & other dayes appointed, when we offer sacrifices & praiers, as it is meete and conuenient to thinke vpon our brethren.

12 And we reioyce at your prosperous estate.

13 And though wee haue bene enuironed with great troubles and warres, so that the kings rounde about vs haue fought against vs, 14 Yet would we not be grieuous vnto you, nor to other of our confederates and friendes in these warres.

15 For we haue had helpe from heauen, that hath succoured vs, and wee are deliuered from our enemies, and our enemies are subdued.

16 Yet haue wee chosen Numenius the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Iason, & sent them vnto the Romanes, for to renue the former friendship with them, and league.

17 We commanded them also to goe vnto you, and to salute you, and to deliuer you our letters, concerning the renuing of our brotherhood.

18 And now ye shall doe vs a pleasure to giue vs an answere of these things.

19 ¶ And this was the copie of the letters, which Arius the King of Sparta sent vnto Onias.

20 The king of the Spartians vnto Onias the high Priest sendeth greeting.

21 It is found in writing, that the Spartians and Iewes are brethren, and come out of the generation of Abraham.

22 And nowe for so much as this is come to our knowledge, ye shall doe well, to write vnto vs of your prosperitie.

23 As for vs wee haue written vnto you, that your cattell and goods are ours, and ours are yours: these things haue wee commaunded to be shewed vnto you.

24 ¶ Nowe when Ionathan heard, that Demetrius princes were come to fight against him, with a greater hoste then afore, 25 Hee went from Ierusalem, and met them in the land of Hamath: for he gaue them not space to come into his owne countrie.

26 And hee sent spies vnto their tentes, which came againe, and tolde him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night.

27 Wherfore, when the sunne was gone downe, Ionathan commaunded his men to watch, and to be in armes ready to fight all the night, & sent watchmen round about the hoste.

28 But when the aduersaries heard that Ionathan was ready with his men to the battel, they feared, and trembled in their hearts, and kindled fires in their tents, and fled away.

29 Neuerthelesse Ionathan and his companie knewe it not till the morning: for they saw the fires burning.

30 Then Ionathan followed vpon them, but he could not ouertake them: for they were gone ouer the flood Eleutherus.
31 So Ionathan turned to the Arabians, which were called Zabadei, and slewe them, and tooke their spoile.
32 Hee proceeded further also, and came vnto
Damascus, and went thorow all the countrey.
33 But Simon his brother went forth, and came to Ascalon and to the next holdes, departing vnto Ioppe, and wanne it.
34 For he heard that they would deliuer the hold to them that tooke Demetrius part: wherefore hee set a garison there to keepe it.
35 ¶ After this came Ionathan home, and called the Elders of the people together, and deuised with them for to builde vp ÿ strong holds in Iudea, 36 And to make the walles of Ierusalem hyer, and to make a great mount betwixt the castell and the citie, for to separate it from the citie, that it might be alone, and that men shoulde neither bye nor sell in it.
37 So they came together to builde vp the citie:
for part of the wall vpon the brooke of the Eastside was fallen downe, and they repaired it, and called it Caphenatha.
38 Simon also set vp Adida in Sephela, and made it strong with gates and barres.
Ioseph. Antiq. 13.chap.9. 39 ¶ In the meane time Tryphon purposed to reigne in Asia, & to be crowned when he had slaine the King Antiochus.
40 But he was afraide that Ionathan would not suffer him, but fight against him: wherefore he went about to take Ionathan, and to kill him: so he departed, and came vnto Bethsan.
41 Then went Ionathan foorth against him to the battell with fourtie thousand chosen men, and came vnto Bethsan.
42 But when Tryphon saw that Ionathan came with so great an hoste, hee durst not lay hande vp-on him,
43 But receiued him honourably, and commended him vnto all his friends, and gaue him rewards, and commaunded his men of warre to be as obedient vnto him as to himselfe, 44 And said vnto Ionathan, Why hast thou caused this people to take such trauaile, seeing there is no warre betweene vs?
45 Therefore send them now home againe, and chuse certaine men to waite vpon thee, and come thou with me to Ptolemais: for I will giue it thee, with the other strong holds, and the other garisons, and all them that haue the charge of the common affaires: so will I returne, and depart: for this is the cause of my comming.
46 Ionathan beleeued him, and did as hee saide, and sent away his hoste, which went into the land of Iuda,
47 And reteined but three thousand with him, whereof he sent two thousand into Galile, and one thousand went with himselfe.
48 Nowe assoone as Ionathan entred into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais shut the gates, and tooke him, and slew all them with the sword, that came in with him.
49 Then sent Tryphon an hoste of footemen, and horsemen into Galile, and into the great plaine, to destroy all Ionathans companie.
50 But when they knew that Ionathan was taken, and slaine, and those that were with him, they incouraged one another, and came foorth against them ready to the battell, 51 But when they which followed vpon them, sawe that it was a matter of life, they turned backe
againe.
52 By this meanes all they came into the land of Iuda peaceably, and bewailed Ionathan, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, and all Israel made great lamentation.
53 For all the heathen that were rounde about them, sought to destroy them.
54 For they said, Now haue they no captaine, nor any man to helpe them: therefore let vs now fight against them, and roote out their memorie from among men.

CHAP. XIII.

1 After Ionathan was taken, Simon is chosen captaine. 17 Tryphon, taking his children, and money for the redemption of Ionathan, killeth him and his children. 31 Tryphon killeth Antiochus, and possesseth the Realme. 36 Demetrius taketh truce with Simon. 43 Simon winneth Gaza. 50 Hee possesseth the tower of Sion. 53 He maketh his sonne Iohn captaine.

NOwe when Simon heard that Tryphon gathe- Ioseph. Antiq. red a great hoste to come into the land of Iu- 13.chap.9.
da, to destroy it,
2 And sawe that the people was in great trembling and feare, he came vp to Ierusalem, and gathered the people together, 3 And gaue them exhortation, saying, Ye know what great things I, and my brethren, and my fathers house haue done for the Law and the Sanctuarie, and the battels, & troubles that we haue seene, 4 By reason whereof al my brethren are slaine for Israels sake, and I am left alone.
5 Nowe therefore God forbid, that I shoulde spare mine owne life in any time of trouble: for I am not better then my brethren.
6 But I will auenge my nation, and the Sanctuarie, and our wiues, and our children: for all the heathen are gathered together to destroye vs of very malice.
7 In hearing these words the hearts of the people were kindled,
8 So that they cryed with a loud voyce, saying, Thou shalt bee our captaine in steade of Iudas and Ionathan thy brethren.
9 Fight thou our battels, and whatsoeuer thou commaundest vs, we will doe it.
10 ¶ So hee gathered all the men of warre, making hast to finish the walles of Ierusalem, and fortified it round about.
11 Then sent he Ionathan the sonne of Absalomus with a great host vnto Ioppe, which droue them out that were therein, and remained there himselfe.
12 Tryphon also remoued from Ptolemais with a great armie, to come into the land of Iuda, & Ionathan was with him as prisoner.
13 And Simon pitched his tents at || Addidis vp- || Or, Addus.
on the open plaine.
14 But when Tryphon knew that Simon stoode vp in steade of his brother Ionathan, and that hee would fight against him, hee sent messengers vnto him, saying,
15 Wheras we haue kept Ionathan thy brother, it is for money that hee is owing in the Kings account concerning the busines that he had in hand.
16 Wherefore send now an hundreth talents of siluer, and his two sonnes for hostages, that when he is letten foorth, hee will not turne from vs, and we

we will send him againe.

17 Neuertheles Simon knew that he dissembled in his wordes, yet commaunded he the money and children to be deliuered vnto him, least hee should be in greater hatred of the people of Israel.

18 Who might haue sayde, Because he sent him not the money and the children, therefore, is Ionathan dead.

19 So he sent the children and an hundreth talents: but he dissembled, and would not let Ionathan goe.

20 ¶ Afterward came Tryphon into the land to destoy it, and went rounde about by the way, that leadeth vnto Adora: but wheresoeuer they went, thither went Simon and his hoste.

21 Nowe they that were in the castell, sent messengers vnto Tryphon that hee should make haste to come by the wildernes, & to send them vitailes.

22 So Tryphon, made ready all his horsemen: but the same night fell a very great snowe, so that he came not, because of the snow: but hee remoued and went into the countrey of Galaad.

23 And when hee came neere to Bascama, hee slewe Ionathan, and he was buried there.

24 So Tryphon returned, and went into his owne land.

25 ¶ Then sent Simon to take the bones of Ionathan his brother, and they buried him in Modin his fathers citie.

26 And all Israel bewayled him with great lamentation, and mourned for him very long.

27 And Simon made vpon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, a building hie to looke vnto, of hewen stone behinde and before,

28 And set vp seuen pillars vpon it, one against another, for his father, his mother, and foure brethren, 29 And set great pillars round about them, and set armes vpon the pillars for a perpetual memorie, and carued ships beside the armes, that they might be seene of men sayling in the sea.

30 This sepulchre which hee made at Modin, standeth yet vnto this day.

31 ¶ Nowe as Tryphon went foorth with the yong King Antiochus, he slew him traiterously, Ioseph. Anti.13. cap.10.

32 And reigned in his steade, and crowned him selfe King of Asia, and brought a great plague vpon the land.

33 Simon also built vp the castels of Iudea, and compassed them about with hie towers, and great walles, euen with towers, and gates, and barres, and layde vp vittailes in the strong holdes.

34 Moreouer Simon chose certaine men & sent them to king Demetrius, that hee would discharge the land: for all Tryphons doings were robberies.

35 Whereupon Demetrius, the king answered him, and wrote vnto him after this maner, 36 DEMETRIUS the King vnto Simon the hie Priest, and the friend of Kings, & to the Elders and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

37 The golden crowne, and ||precious stone that ye sent vnto vs, haue we receiued, and are ready to make a stedfast peace with you, and to write vnto the officers, to release you of the things wherein we made you free.

||Or, coler, or, baudricke: in Greeke Βάϊνην, or, bahen,

38 So the things that wee haue graunted you, shall be stable: the strong holdes which yee haue builded, shalbe your owne.

39 Also wee forgiue the ouersights, and faultes committed vnto this day, and the crowne taxe that ye ought vs: and whereas was any other tribute in Ierusalem, it shalbe nowe no tribute.

40 And they that are meete among you to bee written with our men, let them be written vp, that there may be peace betweene vs.

41 Thus the yoke of the heathen was taken from Israel in the hundred and seuentie yeere.

42 And the people of Israel began to write in their letters, and publique instruments, IN THE FIRST yeere of Simon the hie and chiefe Priest, gouernour and prince of the Iewes.

43 In those dayes Simon camped against Gaza, and besieged it round about, where he set vp an engine of warre, and approched neere the citie, and beat a tower, and tooke it.

44 So they that were in the engine, leapt into the citie, and there was great trouble in the citie,

45 In so much that the people of the citie rent their clothes, and climed vp vpon the walles with their wiues, & children, & cried with a loud voyce, beseeching Simon to graunt them peace, saying,

46 Deale not with vs according to our wickednes, but according to thy mercy.

47 Then Simon pitied them, and would fight no more against them, but put them out of the citie, and clensed the houses, wherein the idoles were, and so entred thereunto with psalmes and thankesgiuing.

48 So when he had cast all the filthines out, he set such men in it as kept the Law, and fortified it, and builded there a dwelling place for him selfe.

49 Nowe when they in the castell at Ierusalem were kept, that they could not come foorth nor goe into the countrey, neither buy nor sell, they were very hungry, & many of them were famished to death,

50 In so much that they besought Simon to make peace with them: which hee graunted them, and put them out from thence, and clensed the castell from filthines.

51 And vpon the three and twentie day of the second moneth, in the hundreth seuentie and one yeere, they entred into it with thankesgiuing, and branches of palme trees, and with harpes, and with cymbales, and with violes, & with psalmes, & songs, because the great enemie of Israel was ouercome.

52 And hee ordeined that the same day should be kept euery yeere with gladnes.

53 And hee fortified the mount of the Temple that was beside the castell where he dwelt himselfe with his company.

54 Simon also seeing that Iohn his sonne was now a man, he made him captaine of all the hostes, and caused him to dwell in ||Gazaris. ||Or, Gaza.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Demetrius is ouercome of Arsaces. 11 Simon being captaine, there is great quietnesse in Israel. 18 The couenant of friendshippe with the Romanes, and with the people of Sparta is renued.

IN the hundred seuentie and two yeere gathered King Demetrius his hoste, and departed vnto Media, to get him helpe for to fight against Tryphon.

2 But when Arsaces the King of Persia and Media heard, that Demetrius was entred within his borders, hee sent one of his princes to take him aliue.

3 So he went, and ouercame the armie of Demetrius, and tooke him, and brought him to Arsaces, which kept him in warde.

4 Thus all the land of Iuda was in rest, so long as Simon liued: for he sought the wealth of his nation: therefore were they glad to haue him for their ruler, and to doe him worship alway.

5 Simon also wanne the citie of Ioppe to his great honour to be an hauen towne, and made it an entrance vnto the yles of the sea.
6 He enlarged also the borders of his people, their and conquered the countreys.
7 Hee gathered vp many of their people that were prisoners, & he had the dominion of Gazaris, and Beth-sura, & the castell, which he clensed from filthines, and there was no man that resisted him, 8 So that euery mã tilled his ground in peace, and the land gaue her fruits, and the trees gaue their fruite.
9 The Elders sate in the open places, and consulted all together for the common wealth, and the yong men were honourably clothed and armed.
10 Hee prouided vittailes for the cities, and all kinde of munition, so that his glorious fame was renoumed vnto the end of the world.
11 He made peace throughout the land, and Israel had perfite mirth and ioy.
12 For euery man sate vnder his vine, and the fig trees, and there was no man to fray them.
13 There was none in the land to fight against them: for then the Kings were ouercome.
14 Hee helped all those that were in aduersitie among his people: hee was diligent to see the Law kept, and he tooke away the vngodly, and wicked.
15 He beautified the Sanctuarie, and encreased
the vessels of the Temple.
16 When the Romanes heard, and the Sparti-ans had knowledge, that Ionathan was dead, they were very sorie.
17 But when they heard, that Simon his brother was made hie Priest in his steade, and howe he had wonne the land againe with the cities in it, 18 They wrote vnto him in tables of brasse, to renue the friendship, and bond of loue, which they had made with Iudas and Ionathan his brethren.
19 Which writings were reade before the congregation at Ierusalem, and this is the copy of the letters that the Spartians sent, 20 THE SENATORS and citie of Sparta vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the Elders, and to the Priests, and to the residue of the people of the Iewes their brethren send greeting.
21 When your ambassadours that were sent vnto our people, certified vs of your glory and honour, we were glad of their comming, 22 And haue registred their ambassage in the publique records in this maner, NVMENIVS the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Iason the Iewes ambassadours came vnto vs, to renue amitie with vs.
23 And it pleased the people, that the men should be honourably intreated, that the copy of their am-bassage should be registred in the publique records, that it might be for a memoriall vnto the people of Sparta: and a copy of the same was sent to Simon the chiefe Priest.
24 After this Simon sent Numenius to Rome, with a great shield of golde of a thousand pound weight, to confirme the friendship with them.
25 Which when the people vnderstood, they sayd, What thankes shal we recompense againe vnto Simon and his children?
26 For he and his brethren, and the house of his father haue stablished Israel, and ouercome their enemies, and haue confirmed the libertie thereof:
therefore they wrote this in tables of brasse, and set it vpon pillars in mount Sion.
27 The copy of the writing is this, In the eight and twentie day of the moneth ‖ Elul in the hun- ‖August.
dreth, seuentie and two yeere, in the third yeere of Simon the hie Priest.
28 In ‖ Saramel in the great congregation of the ‖Or, Ierusalem.
Priests, and of the people, and of the gouernours of the nation, and of the Elders of the countrey, wee woulde signifie vnto you, that many battels haue bene fought in our countrey.
29 Wherin Simon ẏ sonne of Mattathias (come of the children of Iarib) and his brethren put them selues in danger, and resisted the enemies of their nation, that their Sanctuarie, and Lawe might be mainteined, and did their nation great honour.
30 For Ionathan gathered his nation together, and became their hie Priest, and is layde with his
people.
31 After that would their enemies haue inuaded their countrey, and destroyed their lande, and lay their hands on their Sanctuarie.
32 Then Simon resisted them, and fought for his nation, and spent much of his owne substance, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gaue them wages, 33 He fortified also the cities of Iudea, & Beth-sura that lyeth vpon the borders of Iudea (where the ordinance of their enemies lay sometime) and set there a garison of the Iewes.
34 And he fortifid Ioppe, which lyeth vpon the sea, & Gazara that bordereth vpon Azotus, (where the enemies dwelt afore) and there he placed Iewes, and furnished them with things necessarie for the reparation thereof.
35 Now when the people saw the faithfulnes of Simon, and to what glory hee thought to bring his nation vnto, they made him their gouernour, and the chiefe Priest, because hee had done all these things, and for the vprightnes, and fidelitie that he had kept to his nation, & that sought by all meanes to exalt his people.
36 For in his time they prospered well by him, so that the heathen were taken out of their countrey, and they also which were in the citie of Da-uid at Ierusalem, where they had made them a castell, out of the which they went, and defiled all things that were about the Sanctuarie, & did great hurt vnto religion.
37 And he set Iewes in it, and fortified it, for the assurance of the lande, and citie, and raised vp the walles of Ierusalem.
38 And King Demetrius confirmed him in his hie Priesthood for these causes, 39 And made him one of his friends, and gaue him great honour,
40 For it was reported that the Romanes called the Iewes their friends, and confederates, and that they honourably receiued Simons Ambassadours, 41 And that the Iewes, and Priests consented, that Simon shoulde bee their Prince, and hie Priest perpetually, till God raised vp the true Prophet, 42 And that hee shoulde bee their captaine, and haue the charge of the Sanctuarie, and to set men ouer the workes, and ouer the countrey, and ouer the weapons, and ouer the fortresses, and that should make prouision for the holy things, 43 And that he should be obeyed of euery man, and that all the writings in the countrey shoulde be

be made in his name, and that he should be clothed in purple, and weare golde,

44 And that it shoulde not bee lawfull for any of the people or Priestes to breake any of these things, or to withstand his wordes, or to call any congregation in the countrey without him, or bee clothed in purple, or weare a colar of gold:

45 And if any did contrary to these thinges, or brake any of them, he should be punished.

46 So it pleased all the people to agree that it shoulde bee done to Simon according vnto these wordes.

47 Simon also accepted it, and was content to be the high Priest, and the captaine, and the Prince of the Iewes, and of the Priestes, and to bee the chiefe of all.

48 And they commaunded to set vp this writing in tables of brasse, and to fasten it to the wall that compassed the Sanctuarie in an open place, 49 And that a copie of the same should be laide vp in the treasurie, that Simon and his sonnes might haue it.

CHAP. XV.

1 Antiochus maketh a couenant of friendship with Simon. 11 Tryphon is pursued. 15 The Romanes write letters vnto Kings and nations in the defence of the Iewes. 27 Antiochus refusing the helpe that Simon sent him, breaketh his couenant.

Moreouer king Antiochus the sonne of Demetrius sent letters from the yles of the sea vnto Simon the Priest, and prince of the Iewes, and to all the nation,

2 Conteyning these words, ANTIOCHVS the King vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

3 For so much as certeine pestilent men haue vsurped the kingdome of our fathers, I am purposed to chalenge the Realme againe, and to restore it to the olde estate: wherefore I haue gathered a great hoste, and prepared shippes of warre,

4 That I may goe thorowe the countrey, and be auenged of them, which haue destroyed our countrey, and wasted many cities in the Realme.

5 Nowe therefore I doe confirme vnto thee all the liberties, whereof all the kings my progenitours haue discharged thee, and all the payments, whereof they haue released thee.

6 And I giue thee leaue to coyne money of thine owne stampe within thy countrey,

7 And that Ierusalem, and the Sanctuarie bee free, and that all the weapons, that thou hast prepared, and the fortresses, which thou hast builded, and keepest in thine hands, shall be thine.

8 And all that is due vnto the king, and all that shall be due vnto the king, I forgiue it thee, from this time foorth for euermore.

9 And when we haue obteined our kingdome, wee will giue thee, and thy nation and the Temple great honour, so that your honour shall be knowen throughout the world.

Ioseph Antiq. 13. chap. 11. 10 ¶ In the hundreth, seuentie and foure yeere, went Antiochus into his fathers lande, and all the bands came together vnto him, so that fewe were left with Tryphon.

11 So the king Antiochus pursued him, but he fled and came to Dora, which lyeth by the sea side.

12 For he sawe that troubles were towarde him, and that the armie had forsaken him.

13 Then camped Antiochus against Dora with an hundreth and twentie thousand fighting men, and eight thousand horsemen.

14 So he compassed the citie about, & the ships came by the sea. Thus they pressed the citie by land and by sea, in so much that they suffered no man to goe in nor out.

15 In the meane season came Numenius, and his companie from Rome, hauing letters written vnto the Kings and countries, wherein were conteyned these wordes, 16 LVCIVS the Consull of Rome vnto King Ptolemeus sendeth greeting.

17 The Ambassadours of the Iewes are come vnto vs as our friendes and confederates from Simon the hie Priest, and from the people of ÿ Iewes to renewe friendship, and the bond of loue, 18 Who haue brought a shield of golde weying a thousand pound.

19 Wherefore we thought it good to write vnto the kings and countreys, that they shoulde not goe about to hurt them, nor to fight against them, nor their cities, nor their countrey, neither to maintayne their enemies against them.

20 And we were content to receiue of them the shield,

21 If therefore there bee any pestilent felowes fled from their countrey vnto you, deliuer them vnto Simon the hie Priest, that hee may punish them according to their owne Lawe.

22 The same things were written to Demetrius the King, and to Attalus, and to Arathes, and to Arsaces, 23 And to all ÿ countries, as ‖Sampsames, and to them of Sparta, and to Delus, and to Mindus, and to Sicion, and to Caria, and to Samos, and to Pamphylia, and to Lycia, and to Halicarnassus, and to Rhodus, and to Phaselis, and to Cos, and to Siden, and to Cortyna, and to Gnidon, and to Cyprus, and to Cyrene. ‖Or, Sampsacus.

24 And they sent a copie of them to Simon the hie Priest.

25 ¶ So Antiochus the King camped against Dora the seconde time euer readie to take it, and made diuers engins of warre, and kept Tryphon in, that he could neither goe in nor out.

26 Then Simon sent him two thousand chosen men to helpe him with siluer and golde, and much furniture.

27 Neuerthelesse, hee woulde not receiue them, but brake all the couenant, which he had made with him afore, and withdrewe himselfe from him,

28 And sent vnto him Athenobius one of his friendes to commune with him, saying, Ye withhold Ioppe, and Gazara with the castell that is at Ierusalem, the citie of my Realme, 29 Whose borders yee haue destroyed and done great hurt in the land, and haue the gouernment of many places of my kingdome.

30 Wherefore nowe deliuer the cities, which ye haue taken, with the tributes of the places, that ye haue rule ouer without the borders of Iudea,

31 Or els giue me for them fiue hundreth talents of siluer, and for the harme that ye haue done, and for the tributes of the places other fiue hundreth talents: if not, wee will come, and fight against you,

32 So Athenobius the kings friend came to Ierusalem, and when hee sawe the honour of Simon, and the cupborde of golde and siluer plate, and so great preparation, he was astonished, and tolde him the kings message.

33 Then answered Simon, & said vnto him, We haue haue neither taken other mens lands, nor withholden that which apperteyneth to others: but our fathers heritage, which our enemies had vnrighteously in possession a certeine time.

34 But when we had occasion, we recouered the inheritance of our fathers.
35 And whereas thou ‖ requirest Ioppe and Gazara, they did great harme to our people, and thorowe our countrey, yet will wee giue an hundreth talents for them. But Athenobius answered him not one worde,

‖Or, complainest concerning.

36 But turned againe angry vnto the King, and tolde him all these wordes, and the dignitie of Simon, with all that he had seene: and the King was very angrie.
37 ¶ In the meane time fled Tryphon by shippe vnto Orthosias.
38 Then the king made Cendebeus captaine of the sea coast, and gaue him bands of footemen and horsemen, 39 And commaunded him to remoue the hoste toward Iudea, and to build vp Cedron, and to fortifie the gates, and to warre against the people: but the king pursued Tryphon
40 So Cendebeus came vnto Iamnia, and began to vexe the people, and to inuade Iudea, and to take the people prisoners, and to slay them.
41 And he built vp Cedron, where he set horsemen and garisons, that they might make outrodes by the wayes of Iudea, as the king had commanded him.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Cendebeus the captaine of Antiochus hoste is put to flight by the sonnes of Simon. 11 Ptolomeus the sonne of Abubus killeth Simon and his two sonnes at a banket. 23 Iohn killeth them that lye in wayte for his life.

Ioseph. Anti. 13. Chap. 12.

THen came Iohn vp from Gazara, and tolde Simon his father, what Cendebeus had done.
2 So Simon called two of his eldest sonnes, Iudas and Iohn, and saide vnto them, I, and my brethren, and my fathers house, haue euer from our youth vnto this day fought against the enemies of Israel, & the matters haue had good successe vnder our hands, and we haue deliuered Israel oftentimes.
3 But I am nowe olde, and ye by Gods mercie are of a sufficient age: be yee therefore in steade of me, and my brother, and goe foorth and fight for our nation, and the helpe of heauen be with you.
4 So hee chose twentie thousand fighting men of the countrie with the horsemen, which went foorth against Cendebeus, and rested at Modin.
5 In the morning they arose, and went into the plaine fielde: and beholde, a mightie great hoste came against them both of footemen, and horsemen: but there was a riuer betwixt them.
6 And Iohn ranged his armie ouer against him, and when he sawe that the people was afraid to goe ouer the riuer, he went ouer first himselfe, and the men seeing him, passed through after him.
7 Then he deuided his men, and set the horsemen in the middes of the footemen.
8 For their enemies horsemen were very many; but when they blewe the trumpets, Cendebeus fled with his host, whereof many were slaine, and the remnant gate them to the fortresse.
9 Then was Iudas Iohns brother wounded: but Iohn followed after them, till he came to Cedron, which Cendebeus had built.
10 Also they fled vnto the townes, that were in the fieldes of Azotus, and those did Iohn burne with fire: thus were there slaine two thousande men of them: so he returned peaceably into the land of Iuda.
11 ¶ Now in the field of Iericho was Ptolemeus the sonne of Abubus made captaine, and hee had abundance of siluer and gold.
12 (For hee had married the daughter of the hie Priest)
13 Therefore hee waxed proud in his mind, and thought to rule the land, and thought to slay Simon and his sonnes by deceit.
14 Nowe as Simon went about thorowe the citie of the countrie, and studied carefully for them, he came downe to Iericho with Mattathias, and Iudas his sonnes in the hundreth, seuentie and seuen yeere, in the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth Sabat.
15 Then the sonne of Abubus receiued them by treason into a little holde, called Doehus, which hee had built, where he made them a great banket, and had hid them there.
16 So when Simon and his sonnes had made good cheere, Ptolomeus stood vp with his men, and tooke their weapons, and entred in to Simon in the banket house, and slewe him with his two sonnes, and certaine of his seruants.
17 Whereby he committed a great vilenie, and recompensed euill for good.
18 Then wrote Ptolemeus these things and sent to the King, that hee might sende him an hoste to helpe him, and so woulde deliuer him the countrey with the cities.
19 He sent other men also vnto Gazara, to take Iohn, and sent letters vnto the captaines to come to him, and he woulde giue them siluer, and golde and rewardes.
20 And to Ierusalem he sent other to take it, and the mountaine of the Temple.
21 But one ranne before, and tolde Iohn in Gazara, that his father, and his brethren were slaine, and that Ptolomeus had sent to slay him.
22 When he heard this, he was sore astonished, and laid hands of them that were come to slay him, and slewe them: for he knewe that they went about to kill him.
23 Concerning other things of Iohn, both of his warres, and of his noble actes (wherein he behaued himselfe manfully) of the building of walles which he made, and other of his deedes, 24 Beholde, they are written in the Chronicles of his Priesthood, from the time that he was made high Priest after his father.

THE SECOND BOOKE OF THE MACCABEES.

CHAP. I.

1 An Epistle of the Iewes that dwelt at Ierusalem, sent vnto them that dwelt in Egypt, wherein they exhort them to giue thankes for the death of Antiochus. 19 Of the fire that was hid in the pit. 24 The prayer of Neemias.

THe brethren the Iewes, which be at Ierusalem, and they that are in the countrey of Iudea, vnto the brethren ÿ Iewes, that are throughout Egypt, send salutation, and prosperitie.
2 God be gratious vnto you and remember his couenant made with Abraham, and Isaac, and Iacob his faithfull seruants, 3 And giue you al an heart, to worship him, and to doe his will with a whole heart and with a willing minde,
4 And open your hearts in his Lawe, and com-mandements, and send you peace, 5 And heare your prayers, and be reconciled with you, and neuer forsake you in time of trouble.
6 Thus nowe we pray here for you.
7 When Demetrius reigned, in the hundreth, threescore and ninth yere, we Iewes wrote vnto you in the trouble, and violence that came vnto vs in those yeeres, after that Iason, and his companie departed out of the holy land and kingdome, 8 And burnt the porch, & shed innocent blood.
Then we prayed vnto the Lord, and were heard: we offered sacrifices and fine flowre, and lighted the lampes, and set foorth the bread.
9 Nowe therefore keepe ye the dayes of ÿ feast of the Tabernacles in the moneth Casleu.
10 ¶ In the hundreth, fourescore & eight yeere, the people that was at Ierusalem, and in Iudea, and the counsell and Iudas, vnto Aristobulus King Ptolemeus master, which is of the stocke of the anointed Priestes, and to the Iewes that are in Egypt, sendeth greeting and health.
11 In so much as God hath deliuered vs from great perils, wee thanke him highly, as though we had ouercome the King.
12 For he brought them into Persia by heapes, that fought against the holy citie.
13 For albeit the captaine, and the armie, that was with him, seemed inuincible, yet they were slaine in the Temple of Nanea, by the deceit of Na-neas Priests.
14 For Antiochus, as though hee would dwell with her, came thither, he, and his friends with him, to receiue money vnder the title of a dowrie.
15 But when the Priests of Nanea had laide it foorth, and hee was entred with a small companie within the Temple, they shut the Temple, when Antiochus was come in,
16 And by opening a priuie doore of the vaute, they cast stones, as it were thunder, vpon the captaine and his, and hauing bruised them in pieces, they cut off their heads and threwe them to those that were without.
17 God be blessed in all things, which hath deli-uered vp the wicked.
18 Whereas we are nowe purposed to keepe the purification of the Temple vpon the fiue and twen-tie day of the moneth Casleu, wee thought it necessarie to certifie you thereof, that yee also might keepe the feast of the Tabernacles, and of the fire which was giuen vs when Neemias offered sacrifice, after that he had built the Temple, and the altar.
19 For when as our fathers were led away vnto Persia, the Priests, which sought the honor of God, tooke the * fire of the altar priuilie, and hid it in an *Leuit.6.13. and 10.2. and 16.12.
hollowe pit, which was drie in the bottome, and therein they kept it, so that the place was vnknowen vnto euery man.
20 Now after many yeeres when it pleased God that Neemias should be sent from the king of Persia, he sent of the posteritie of those Priestes, which had hid it to fetch the fire, and as they tolde vs, they found no fire, but thicke water.
21 Then commaunded he them to drawe it vp, and to bring it: and when the things apperteining to the sacrifices were brought, Neemias commaunded the Priestes to sprinkle the wood, and the things laide thereupon with water.
22 When this was done, and the time came that the sunne shone, which afore was hid in the cloud, there was a great fire kindled, so that euery man marueiled.
23 Nowe the Priests, and all prayed, while the sacrifice was consuming: Ionathan began, and the other answered thereunto.
24 And the prayer of Neemias was after this maner, O Lord, Lord God maker of all things, which are fearefull, and strong, and righteous, and mercifull, and the onely and gratious king, 25 Onely liberall, onely iust and almightie and euerlasting, thou that deliuerest Israel from all trouble, & hast chosen the fathers, and sanctified them, 26 Receiue the sacrifice for thy whole people of Israel, and preserue thine owne portion, and sanctifie it.
27 Gather those together, ÿ are scattered from vs: deliuer them that serue among the heathen:
looke vpon them which are despised, and abhorred, that the heathen may knowe that thou art our God.
28 Punish them that oppresse vs, and with pride doe vs wrong.
29 Plant thy people againe in thine holy place
* as Moyses hath spoken. *Deut.30.3.
30 And the Priests sang Psalmes thereunto.
31 Now when the sacrifice was consumed, Neemias commanded the great stones to be sprinkled with the residue of the water.
32 Which when it was done, there was kindled a flame, which was consumed by the light, that shined from the altar.
33 ¶ So when this matter was knowen, it was tolde the King of Persia, that in the place where the Priests, which were led away, had hid fire, there appeared water, wherewith Neemias and his compa-nie had purified the sacrifices.
34 The King tried out the thing, and closed the place about, and made it holy.
35 And to them that the King fauoured, he gaue and bestowed many giftes.
36 And Neemias called the same place Ephthar, which is to say, purification: but many men call it ‖ Nephthar. ‖Or, Nephi.

CHAP. II.

4 Howe Ieremie hid the tabernacle, the Arke and the altar in the hill. 23 Of the fiue bookes of Iason contriued in one.

IT is founde also in the writings of Ieremias the Prophet, that he commaunded them, which were caried away, to take fire, as was declared, and as the Prophet commanded them that were led into cap-tiuitie,

*Baruch.6. 2 * Giuing them a lawe that they shoulde not forget the commaundements of the Lord, and that they should not erre in their mindes, when they sawe images of golde and siluer, with their ornaments.

3 These and such other things commaunded he them, and exhorted them that they should not let the Lawe goe out of their hearts.

4 It it written also, howe the Prophet, by an oracle that he had, charged them to take the tabernacle and the arke, and followe him: and when hee came vp into the mountaine where Moyses went *Deut.34.1. vp, * and sawe the heritage of God,

5 Ieremias went foorth and founde an hollow caue, wherein he laide the Tabernacle, & the Arke, and the altar of incense, and so stopped the doore.

6 And there came certaine of those ẏ followed him, to marke the place: but they could not finde it.

7 Which whē Ieremias perceiued, he reproued them, saying, As for that place: it shalbe vnknowen, vntill the time that God gather his people together againe, and that mercie be shewed.

8 Then shal the Lord shewe them these things, and the maiestie of the Lord shall appeare and the cloude also, as it was shewed vnder Moyses, and as *1.King.14.23, 30. 2.chro.6.21. * when Salomon desired, that the place might be honourably sanctified.

9 For it is manifest that he, being a wise man,
*1.Kin.8.61,65. 2.chron.7.4.5. offered the * sacrifice of dedication, and consecration of the Temple.

*Leuit.9.24. and 2 4.16. 10 *And as when Moyses prayed vnto the Lord, *2.Chron.7.1. the fire came downe from heauen, and consumed the sacrifice: so, when Salomon prayed, * the fire came downe from heauen, and consumed the burnt offering.

11 And Moyses sayd, Because the sinne offering was not eaten, therefore is it consumed.

12 So Salomon kept those eight dayes.

13 These things also are declared in the writings,
||Some read Ieremie. and registers of || Neemias, and howe he made a librarie, and howe he gathered the acts of the Kings, and of the Prophets, and the acts of Dauid, and the epistles of the Kings concerning the holy gifts.

14 Euen so Iudas also gathered all things that came to passe by the warres that were among vs, which things we haue.

15 Wherefore if yee haue neede thereof, sende some to fetch them vnto you.

16 Whereas we then are about to celebrate the purification, we haue written vnto you, and ye shall doe well, if ye keepe the same dayes.

17 We hope also that the God, which deliuered all his people, and gaue an heritage to them all and the kingdome, and the Priesthoode, and the Sanctuarie,

*Deut.30.3. 18 *As he promised in the lawe, wil shortly haue mercy vpon vs, and gather vs together from vnder the heauen into his holy place: for he hath saued vs from great perils, and hath clensed the place.

19 As concerning Iudas Maccabeus, and his brethren, the purification of the great Temple, and the dedication of the altar,

20 And the warres against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Eupator his sonne,

21 And the manifest signes that came from heauen vnto those, which manfully stood for the Iewes religion: (for though they were but fewe, yet they ranne through whole countreys, and pursued the barbarous armies.

22 And repaired the Temple that was renowmed throughout all the worlde, and deliuered the citie, and established the Lawes, that were like to be abolished, because the Lorde was mercifull vnto them with all lenitie)

23 Wee will assaie to abbridge in one volume those things, that Iason the Cyrenian hath declared in fiue bookes.

24 For considering the wonderful nomber, and the difficultie that they haue that woulde be occupied in the rehearsall of stories, because of the diuersitie of the matters,

25 We haue endeuoured, that they that would reade, might haue pleasure, and that they which are studious, might easily keepe them in memorie, and whosoeuer reade them, might haue profite.

26 Therefore to vs that haue taken in hand this great labour, it was no easie thing to make this abbridgement, but required both swear, and watching.

27 Like as hee that maketh a feast, and seeketh other mens commoditie, hath no small labour: so we also for many mens sakes are very well content to vndertake this great labour.

28 Leauing to the authour the exact diligence of euery particular, we will labour to goe forwarde according to ẏ prescript order of an abbridgement.

29 For as he that wil builde a newe house, must prouide for the whole building, but he that setteth out the plat or goeth about to paint it, seeketh but onely what is comely for the decking thereof:

30 Euen so I thinke for vs, that it appertaineth to the first writer of a storie to enter deepely into it, and to make mention of all things, and to be curious in euery part.

31 But it is permitted to him that will shorten it, to vse fewe wordes, and to auoide those things that are curious therein.

32 Here then will wee begin the storie, adding thus much to our former wordes, that it is but a foolish thing to abound in wordes before the storie, and to be short in storie.

CHAP. III.

2 Of the honour done vnto the Temple by the Kings of the Gentiles, 6 Simon vttereth what treasure is in the Temple. 7 Heliodo-rus is sent to take them away. 26 Hee is striken of God, and healed at the prayer of Onias.

WHat time as the holy citie was inhabited with all peace, and when the Lawes were very well kept, because of the godlinesse of Onias
the hie Priest, and hatred of wickednesse,

2 It came to passe that euen the kings did honour the place, and garnished the Temple with great giftes.

3 In so much that Seleucus king of Asia of his owne rents, bare all the costes belonging to the seruice of the sacrifices.

4 But one Simon of the tribe of Beniamin being appointed ruler of the Temple, contended with the hie Priest concerning ||the iniquitie committed ||Or, the state and prouision.
in the citie.

5 And when hee could not ouercome Onias, he gate him to Apollonius the sonne of Thraseas which then was gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice,

6 And tolde him that the treasurie in Ierusalem was full of innumerable money, which did not belong to the prouision of the sacrifices, and that
it

it were possible that these things might come into the Kings hands.

7 Nowe when Apollonius came to the King, and had shewed him of the money, as it was tolde him, the King chose out Heliodorus his treasurer, and sent him with a commandement, to bring him the foresaid money.

8 Immediatly Heliodorus tooke his iourney as though he would visite the cities of Coelosyria and Phenice, but in effect to fulfill the Kings purpose.

9 So when he came to Ierusalem, and was courteously receiued of the hie Priest into the citie, hee declared what was determined concerning the money, and shewed the cause of his comming, and asked if these things were so in deede.

10 Then the hie Priest told him that there were such things laid vp by the widowes and fatherlesse,

11 And that a certaine of it belonged vnto Hircanus the sonne of Tobias a noble man, and not as that wicked Simon had reported, and that in all, there were but foure hundreth talents of siluer, and two hundreth of golde,

12 And that it were altogether vnpossible to do this wrong to them that had committed it of trust to the holinesse of the place and Temple, which is honoured thorowe the whole worlde for holinesse and integritie.

13 But Heliodorus because of the Kings commandement giuen him, said that in any wise it must be brought into the Kings treasurie.

14 So he appoynted a day, and went in to take order for these things: then there was no small griefe throughout the whole citie.

15 For the Priestes fell downe before the altar in the Priestes garments, and called vnto heauen vpon him which had made a Law concerning things giuen to be kept, that they shoulde be safely preserued for such as had committed them to be kept.

16 Then they that looked the hie Priest in the face, were wounded in their heart: for his countenance, and the changing of his colour declared the sorowe of his minde.

17 The man was so wrapped in feare and trembling of the body, that it was manifest to them that looked vpon him, what sorowe he had in his heart.

18 Others also came out of their houses by heapes vnto the common prayer, because the place was like to come vnto contempt.

19 And the women, girt with sackecloth vnder their breastes, filled the streetes, and the virgins that were kept in, ranne some to the gates, and some to the walles, and others looked out at the windowes.

20 And all held vp their hands toward heauen, and made prayer.

21 It was a lamentable thing to see the multitude that fell downe of all sortes, and the expectation of the high Priest being in such anguish.

22 Therefore they called vpon the Almightie Lord, that he would keepe safe and sure the things, which were laid vp for those that had deliuered them.

23 Neuerthelesse, the thing that Heliodorus was determined to doe, that did he performe.

24 And as he and his souldiers were nowe there present by the treasurie, he that is the Lord of the spirits, and of all power, shewed a great vision, so that all they which presumed to come with him, were astonished at the power of God, and fell into feare, and trembling.

25 For there appeared vnto them an horse with a terrible man sitting vpon him, most richly barbed, and he ranne fiercely, and smote at Heliodorus with his forefeete, and it seemed that hee that sate vpon the horse, had harnesse of golde.

26 Moreouer, there appeared two yong men, notable in strength, excellent in beautie, and comely in apparell, which stood by him on either side, & scourged him continually, & gaue him many sore stripes.

27 And Heliodorus fel suddenly vnto the ground, and was couered with great darkenes: but they that were with him, tooke him vp, and put him in a litter.

28 Thus he that came with so great companie, and many souldiers into the said treasurie, was borne out: for hee coulde not helpe himselfe with his weapons.

29 So they did knowe the power of God manifestly, but he was domme by the power of God, and lay destitute of all hope and health.

30 And they praysed the Lord that had honoured his owne place: for the Temple which a litle afore was full of feare and trouble, when the almightie Lord appeared, was filled with ioy and gladnesse.

31 Then streightwayes certaine of Heliodorus friendes praied Onias, that he woulde call vpon the most High to graunt him his life, which lay ready to giue vp the ghost.

32 So the hie Priest, considering that the King might suspect that the Iewes had done Heliodorus some euill, he offered a sacrifice for the health of the man.

33 Now when the hie Priest had made his prayer, the same yong men in the same clothing appeared, and stoode beside Heliodorus, saying, Giue Onias the hie Priest great thanks: for, for his sake hath the Lord graunted thee thy life.

34 And seeing that thou hast bene scourged from heauen, declare vnto all men the mightie power of God: and when they had spoken these wordes, they appeared no more.

35 So Heliodorus offered vnto the Lord sacrifice, and made great vowes vnto him, which had graunted him his life, and thanked Onias, and went againe with his hoste to the King.

36 Then testified he vnto euery man of the great workes of God that he had seene with his eyes.

37 And when the King asked Heliodorus, who were meete to be sent yet once againe to Ierusalem, he said, 38 If thou hast any enemie or traitour, send him thither, and thou shalt receiue him well scourged, if he escape with his life: for in that place, no doubt, there is a speciall power of God.

39 For he that dwelleth in heauen, hath his eye on that place, and defendeth it, and he beateth and destroyeth them that come to hurt it.

40 This came to passe concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasurie.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Simon reporteth euill of Onias. 7 Iason obtaineth the office of the hie Priest by corrupting the King. 27 And was by Menelaus defrauded by the like brybing. 34 Onias is slaine traiterously by Andronicus.

THis Simon nowe, of whom we spake afore, being a bewtrayer of the money and of his owne naturall countrey, reported euill of Onias, as though he had mooued Heliodorus vnto this, and had bene the inuenter of the euill.

2 Thus was he bolde to call him a traitour that was so beneficiall to the citie, and a defender of his nation, and so zealous of the Lawes.

3 But when his malice increased so farre, that through one that belonged to Simon, murthers were

were commited,

4 Onias considering the danger of this contention, and that Apollonius, as hee that was the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, did rage, and increased Simons malice,

5 He went to the King not as an accuser of the citizens, but as one that intended the common wealth both priuately and publikely.

6 For hee sawe it was not possible except the King tooke order to quiet the matters, and that Simon would not leaue off his follie.

7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus, called Epiphanes, tooke the kingdome, Iason the brother of Onias laboured by vnlawfull meanes to be hie Priest.

8 For hee came vnto the King, and promised him three hundreth and threescore talents of siluer, and of an other rent, fourescore talents.

9 Besides this, hee promised him an hundreth and fiftie, if he might haue licence to set vp a place for exercise, and a place for the youth, and that they would ‖ name them of Ierusalem Antiochians.

‖ Or, that he would write the Antiochians that were at Ierusalem among them.

10 The which thing when the King had graunted, and he had gotten the superioritie, he beganne immediatly to drawe his kinsemen to the customes of the Gentiles,

11 And abolished the friendly priuiledges of the Kings, that the Iewes had set vp by Iohn, the father of Eupolemus, which was sent ambassadour vnto Rome, to become friendes and confederates: he put downe their Lawes and policies, and brought vp newe statutes, and contrary to the Lawe.

12 For he presumed to builde a place of exercise vnder the castell, and brought the chiefe yong men vnder his subiection, and made them weare ‖ hattes.

‖ Or, hatkins in token of wantonnesse as the Gentiles did.

13 So there beganne a great desire to followe the maners of the Gentiles, and they tooke vp the fashions of strange nations by the exceeding wickednesse of Iason, not the hie Priest, but the vngodly person,

14 So that the Priestes were nowe no more diligent about the seruice of the altar, but despised the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made haste to be partakers of the wicked expences at the play ‖ after the casting of the stone.

‖ This game was to trie strength by casting a stone that had an hole in the middes, or a piece of metall.

15 For they did not set by the honour of their fathers, but liked the glorie of the Gentiles best of all.

16 By reason whereof great calamitie came vpon them: for they had them to bee their enemies and punishers, whose custome they followed so earnestly, and desired to be like them in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to transgresse against the Lawes of God, but the time following shall declare these things.

18 ¶ Now when the ‖ games that were vsed euery fiue yeere, were played at Tyrus, the King being present,

‖ Or, Olympian sportes, which were games kept euery fift yeere.

19 This wicked Iason sent from Ierusalem men to looke vpon them, as though they had bene Antiochians, which brought three hundreth drachmes of siluer for a sacrifice to Hercules: albeit they that caried them, desired they might not be bestowed on the sacrifice (because it was not comely) but to be bestowed for other expenses.

20 So he that sent them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hercules: but because of those that brought them, they were giuen to the making of gallies.

21 ¶ Now Apollonius the sonne of Menestheus was sent into Egypt because of the coronation of King Ptolemeus Philometor: but when Antiochus perceiued that he was euill affectioned toward his affaires, he sought his owne assurance, and departed from thence to Ioppe, and so came to Ierusalem, 22 Where hee was honourably receiued of Iason, and of the citie, and was brought in with torchlight, and with great showtings, and so he went with his hoste vnto Phenice.

23 Three yeere afterward Iason sent Menelaus, the foresaid Simons brother, to beare the money vnto the King, and to bring to passe certaine necessarie affaires, whereof he had giuen him a memoriall.

24 But he, being commended to the King, magnified him for the appearance of his power, and turned the Priesthood vnto himselfe: for he gaue three hundreth talents of siluer more then Iason.

25 So hee gate the Kings ‖ letters patents, albeit he had nothing in himselfe worthie of the hie Priesthood, but bare the stomacke of a cruell tyrant, and the wrath of a wilde beast.

‖ Or, commandement.

26 Then Iason, which had deceiued his owne brother, being deceiued by another, was compelled to flee into the countrey of the Ammonites.

27 So Menelaus gate the dominion: but as for the money that he had promised vnto the King, he tooke none order for it, albeit Sostratus the ruler of the castell required it.

28 For vnto him apperteyned the gathering of the customes: wherefore they were both called before the King.

29 Nowe Menelaus left his brother Lysimachus in his steade in the Priesthoode, and Sostratus left Crates which was gouernour of the Cyprians.

30 ¶ Whiles these things were in doing, the Tharsians and they of Mallot made insurrection, because they were giuen to the Kings concubine called Antiochis.

31 Then came the King in all haste, to appease the businesse, leauing Andronicus a man of authoritie to be his lieutenant.

32 Now Menelaus, supposing that he had gotten a conuenient time, stole certaine vessels of gold out of the Temple, and gaue certaine of them to Andronicus: and some he solde at Tyrus and in the cities thereby.

33 Which when Onias knewe of a suretie, he reproued him, and withdrewe himselfe into a Sanctuarie at Daphne by Antiochia.

34 Wherefore Menelaus, taking Andronicus apart, prayed him to slaye Onias: so when he came to Onias, hee counselled him craftily, giuing him his right hand with an othe: (howbeit he suspect him, and perswaded him to come out of the Sanctuarie) so hee slewe him incontinently without any regard of righteousnesse.

35 For the which cause not onely the Iewes, but many other nations also were grieued, and tooke it heauily for the vnrighteous death of this man.

36 ¶ And when the king was come againe from the places about Cilicia, the Iewes that were in the citie, and certaine of the Greekes that abhorred the fact also, complained because Onias was slaine without cause.

37 Therefore Antiochus was sorie in his minde, and he had compassion, and wept because of the modestie and great discretion of him that was dead.

38 Wherefore being kindled with anger, he tooke away Andronicus garment of purple, and rent his clothes, and commanded him to be led throughout the citie, and in the same place where hee had commited

committed the wickednesse against Onias, he was slaine as a murtherer. Thus the Lorde rewarded him his punishment, as he had deserued.
39 ¶ Nowe when Lysimachus had done many wicked deedes in the citie through the counsell of Menelaus, and the bruit was spred abroad, the multitude gathered them together against Lysimachus:
for he had caried out nowe much vessell of golde.
40 And when the people arose, and were full of anger, Lysimachus armed about three thousande, and began to vse vnlawfull power, a certaine tyrant being their captaine, who was no lesse decayed in wit then in age.
41 But when they vnderstoode the purpose of Lysimachus, some gate stones, some great clubs, and some cast handfuls of dust, which lay by, vpon Lysimachus men, and those that inuaded them.
42 Whereby many of them were wounded, some were slaine, and al the other chased away: but the wicked Churchrobber himselfe they killed besides the treasurie.
43 For these causes an accusation was laide against Menelaus.
44 And whē the King came to Tyrus, three men sent from the Senate pleaded the cause before him.
45 But Menelaus, being now conuinced, promised to Ptolemeus the sonne of Dorimenes much money, if he would perswade the King.
46 So Ptolemeus went to the king into a court, where as he was to coole himselfe, and turned the kings minde.
47 In so much ẏ hee discharged Menelaus from the accusations (notwithstanding he was the cause of all mischiefe) and cōdemned those poore men to death, which if they had tolde their cause, yea, before the Scythians, they should haue bene heard as innocent.
48 Thus were they soone punished vniustly, which followed vpon the matter for the citie, and for the people, and for the holy vessels.
49 Wherefore they of Tyrus hated ẏ wickednes, and ministred all things liberally for their buriall.
50 And so through the couetousnesse of them that were in power, Menelaus remained in authori-tie, increasing in malice, and declared himselfe a great traitour to the citizens.

C H A P. V.

2 Of the figures and tokens seene in Ierusalem. 6 Of the ende and wickednesse of Iason. 11 The pursuit of Antiochus against the Iewes. 15 The spoyling of the Temple. 27 Maccabeus fleeth into the wildernesse.

ABout the same time Antiochus vndertooke his second voyage into Egypt.
2 And then were there seene throughout all the citie of Ierusalem, fourtie dayes long, horsemen running in the aire, with robes of gold, & as bands of speare men,
3 And as troupes of horsemen set in aray, in-countering and coursing one against another with shaking of shields and multitude of darts, and drawing of swordes, and shooting of arrowes, and the glittering of the golden armour seene, and harnesse of all sortes.
4 Therefore euery man prayed, that those tokens might turne to good.
5 Nowe when there was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus had bene dead, Iason tooke at the least a thousand men, & came suddenly vpon the citie, and they that were vpon the wals, being put backe, and the citie at length taken, 6 Menelaus fled into the castell, but Iason slew his owne citizens without mercie, not considering, that to haue the aduantage against his kinsemen is greatest disaduantage, but thought that he had gotten the victorie of his enemies, and not of his owne nation.
7 Yet hee gate not the superioritie, but at the last receiued shame for the rewarde of his treason, and went againe like a vagabonde into the countrey of the Ammonites.
8 Finally he had this ende of his wicked conuersation, that hee was ‖accused before Areta the ‖Or, shut vp.
king of the Arabians, and fled from citie to citie,
being pursued of euery man, and hated as a forsaker of the Lawes, and was in abommation, as an enemie of his countrey and citizens, and was driuen into Egypt.
9 Thus hee that had chased many out of their owne coūtrey, perished as a banished man, after that he was gone to the Lacedemonians, thinking there to haue gotten succour by reason of kinred.
10 And he that had cast many out vnburied, was throwen out himselfe, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue: neither was he partaker of his fathers sepulchre.
11 ¶ Nowe when these thinges that were done, were declared to the king, hee thought that Iudea would haue fallen from him: wherefore hee came with a furious minde out of Egypt, and tooke the citie by violence.
12 He commaunded his men of warre also, that they should kill and not spare such as they met, and to slay such as went into their houses.
13 Thus was there a slaughter of yong men, and olde men, and a destruction of men and women and children, and virgins, and infants were murthered.
14 So that within three dayes were slaine fourescore thousand, & fourtie thousand taken prisoners, and there were as many solde as were slaine.
15 Yet was he not content with this, but durst goe into the most holy Temple of all the worlde, hauing Menelaus that traitour to the Lawes, and to his countrey, to be his guide, 16 And with his wicked handes tooke the holy vessels, which other kings had giuen for the garnishing, glory and honour of that place, and handled them with his wicked hands.
17 So hautie in his minde was Antiochus, that he considered not, that God was not a litle wroth for the sinnes of them that dwelt in the citie, for the which such contempt came vpon that place.
18 For if they had not bene wrapped in many sinnes, hee, assoone as he had come, had suddenly bene punished, and put backe from his presumption, as Heliodorus was, whom Seleucus the king sent to viewe the treasurie.
19 But God hath not chosen the nation for the places sake, but the place for the nations sake.
20 And therefore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterward shall it be partaker of the benefites of the Lord, and as it is nowe forsaken in the wrath of the Almightie, so when the great Lord shalbe reconciled, it shalbe set vp in great worship againe.
21 ¶ So when Antiochus had taken eighteene hundred talents out of the Temple, he gate him to Antiochia in all haste, thinking in his pride to make men saile vpon the drie land, and to walke vpon the sea: such an hie minde had he.
22 But he left deputies to vexe the people at Ie-

rusalem

rusalem Philip a Phrigian by birth, in maners more cruell then he that set him there:
23 And at Garizin Andronicus, and with them Menelaus, which was more grieuous to the citizens then the other, and was despitefull against the Iewes his citizens.
24 He sent also Apollonius a cruell prince, with an armie of two and twentie thousand, whome hee commanded to slay those that were towarde mans age, and to sell the women, and the yonger sort.
25 So when he came to Ierusalem, hee fained peace, and kept him still vntill the holy day of Sabbath: and then finding the Iewes keeping the feast, he commanded his men to take their weapons.
26 And so he slew all them that were gone forth to the shewe, and running through the citie with his men armed, he murthered a great number.
27 But Iudas Maccabeus, being as it were the tenth, fled into the wildernesse, and liued there in the mountaines w his companie among the beastes, and dwelling there, and eating grasse, least they should be partakers of the filthinesse.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Iewes are compelled to leaue the Lawe of God. 4 The Temple is defiled. 10 The women cruelly punished. 18 The grieuous paine of Eleazarus.

NOt long after this, sent the king an olde man of ‖ Athens, for to compell the Iewes, to trans- ‖Or, Antiochia. gresse the Lawes of the fathers, and not to be go-uerned by the Lawe of God, 2 And to defile the Temple that was at Ierusalem, and to call it the Temple of Iupiter Olympius, and that of Garizin, according as they did that dwelt at that place, Iupiter, that keepeth hospitalitie.
3 This wicked gouernment was sore and grie-uous vnto the people.
4 For the Temple was full of dissolution, and gluttonie of the Gentiles, which dallied with har-lots, and had to doe with women within the circuit of the holy places, and brought in such things as were not lawfull.
5 The altar also was full of such things, as were abominable and forbidden by the Lawe.
6 Neither was it lawful to keepe the Sabbaths, nor to obserue their ancient feastes, nor plainely to confesse himselfe to be a Iewe.
7 In the day of the Kings birth they were grieuously compelled perforce euery moneth to ban-ket, and when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrained to goe in the procession of Bacchus with garlands of yuie.
8 Moreouer through the councell of Ptolemeus, there went out a commaundement vnto the next cities of the heathen against the Iewes, that the ‖Or, eating of the flesh that was sacrificed. like custome, and ‖ banketting should be kept.
9 And who so would not conforme themselues to the maners of ẏ Gentiles, should be put to death:
then might a man haue seene the present miserie.
10 For there were two women brought foorth, that had circumcised their sonnes, whom when they had led rounde about the citie (the babes hanging at the breastes) they cast them downe headlong over the walles.
11 Some that were runne together into dennes to keepe the Sabbath day secretly, were discouered vnto Philip, and were burnt together, because that for the reuerence of the honourable day they were afraide to helpe themselues.
12 ¶ Now I beseech those which read this boke, that they bee not discouraged for these calamities, but that they iudge these afflictions, not to be for destruction, but for a chastening of our nation.
13 For it is a token of his great goodnes not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straight wayes to punish them.
14 For the Lord doeth not long waite for vs, as for other nations, whome he punisheth when they are come to the fulnesse of their sinnes.
15 But thus he dealeth with vs, that our sinnes should not be heaped vp to the full, so that afterward he should punish vs.
16 And therefore hee neuer withdraweth his mercie from vs: and though he punish with aduersitie, yet doeth he neuer forsake his people.
17 But let this bee spoken nowe for a warning vnto vs: and nowe will we come to the declaring of the matter in fewe wordes.
18 ¶ Eleazar then one of the principall scribes, an aged man, and of a well fauoured countenance, was constrained to open his mouth, and to eate swines flesh.
19 But he desiring rather to die gloriously then to liue with hatred, offered himselfe willingly to the torment, and spit it out.
20 As they ought to goe to death which suffer punishment for such things, as it is not lawfull to taste of for the desire to liue.
21 But they that had the charge of this wicked banket, for that olde friendship of the man, tooke him aside priuily, and prayed him, that hee woulde take such flesh, as was lawfull for him to vse, and as hee woulde prepare for himselfe, and dissemble as though hee had eaten of the things appointed by the King, euen the flesh of the sacrifice, 22 That in so doing he might be deliuered from death, and that for the olde friendship that was among them, he would receiue this fauour.
23 But he began to consider discreetely, and as became his age, and the excellencie of his ancient yeres, and the honour of his gray haires, whereunto hee was come, and his most honest conuersation from his childehoode, but chiefly the holy Lawe made and giuen by God: therefore hee answered consequently, and willed them straightwayes to send him to the graue.
24 For it becommeth not our age, sayde he, to dissemble, whereby many young persons might thinke, that Eleazar being fourescore yere olde and ten were nowe gone to ‖ another religion, ‖Or, to another maner of life.
25 And so through mine hypocrisie (for a litle time of a transitorie life) they might be deceiued by me, and I should procure malediction, and reproche
to mine olde age.
26 For though I were nowe deliuered from the torments of men, yet could I not escape the hande of the Almightie, neither aliue nor dead.
27 Wherefore I will nowe change this life man-fully, & wil shew my self such as mine age requireth, 28 And so wil leaue a notable example for such as be yong, to die willingly & courageously for the honourable and holy Lawes. And when he had sayd these wordes, immediatly he went to torment.
29 Nowe they that led him, changed the loue which they bare him before, into hatred, because of the wordes that he had spoken: for they thought it had bene a rage.
30 And as hee was ready to giue the ghost because of the strokes, he sighed and sayde, The Lorde that hath the holy knowledge, knoweth manifestly, that whereas I might haue bene deliuered from
death,

death, I am scourged and suffer these sore paynes of my body: but in my minde I suffer them gladly for his religion.

31 Euen now after this maner ended he his life, leauing his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memorial of vertue, not only vnto yong men, but vnto all his nation.

CHAP. VII.

The punishment of the seuen brethren and of their mother.

IT came to passe also, that seuen brethren, with their mother, were taken to be compelled by the King against the Lawe, to taste swines flesh, & were tormented with scourges and whippes.

2 But one of them, which spake first, saide thus, What seekest thou and what wouldest thou knowe of vs? we are ready to die, rather then to transgresse the Lawes of our fathers.

3 Then was the King angry, and commaunded to heate pannes and caldrons, which were incontinently made hote.

4 And he commanded the tongue of him that spake first, to be cut out, and to flay him, and to cut off the vtmost partes of his body in the sight of his other brethren and his mother.

5 Nowe when hee was thus mangled in all his members, hee commanded him to bee brought aliue to the fire, and to frye him in the panne: and while the smoke for a long time smoked out of the panne, the other brethren with their mother, exhorted one another to die couragiously, saying in this maner,

6 The Lord God doeth regard vs, and in deede taketh pleasure in vs, as Moyses * declared in the Deut.32.36.
song wherein hee testified openly, saying, That God will take pleasure in his seruants.

7 ¶ So when the first was dead after this maner, they brought the seconde to make him a mocking stocke: and when they had pulled the skinne with the haire ouer his head, they asked him, if hee would eate, or he were punished in all the members of the body.

8 But he answered in his owne language, and sayd, No. Wherefore hee was tormented forthwith like the first.

9 And when he was at the last breath, he sayde, Thou murtherer takest this present life from vs, but the king of the world will raise vs vp, which die for his Lawes, in the resurrection of euerlasting life.

10 ¶ After him was the thirde had in derision, and when they demaunded his tongue, hee put it out incontinently, and stretched foorth his handes boldely, 11 And spake manfully, These haue I had from the heauen, but nowe for the Lawe of God I despise them, and trust that I shall receiue them of him againe.

12 Insomuch that the King and they which were with him, maruelled at the yong mans courage, as at one that nothing regarded the paynes.

13 ¶ Nowe when hee was dead also, they vexed and tormented the fourth in like maner.

14 And when he was nowe readie to dye, he said thus, It is better, that we should change this which we might hope for of men, and wayte for our hope from God, that we may be raised vp againe by him: as for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to life.

15 ¶ Afterward they brought the fifth also and tormented him,

16 Who looked vpon the King, and sayd, Thou hast power among men, and though thou be a mortall man, thou doest what thou wilt: but thinke not, that God hath forsaken our nation.

17 But abide a while, and thou shalt see his great power, how he will torment thee and thy seede.

18 After him also they brought the sixt, who being at the poynt of death, sayde, Deceiue not thy selfe foolishly: for we suffer these things, which are worthy to be wondred at for our owne sakes, because we haue offended our God.

19 But thinke not thou, which vndertakest to fight against God, that thou shalt be vnpunished.

20 But the mother was marueilous aboue all other, and worthy of honourable memorie: for when she sawe her seuen sonnes slaine within the space of one day, shee suffered it with a good will, because of the hope that she had in the Lord,

21 Yea, shee exhorted euery one of them in her owne language, and being full of courage and wisdome, stirred vp her womanly affections with a manly stomacke, and sayd vnto them,

22 I cannot tell howe ye came into my wombe: for I neither gaue you breath nor life: it is not I that set in order the members of your body,

23 But doubtelesse the Creator of the worlde, which formed the birth of man, and founde out the beginning of all things, will also of his owne mercie giue you breath and life againe, as ye nowe regard not your owne selues, for his Lawes sake.

24 Nowe Antiochus thinking himselfe despised, and considering the iniurious words, while the yongest was yet aliue, he did exhort him not onely with wordes, but sware also vnto him by an othe that he would make him rich and wealthy, if hee would forsake the Lawes of his fathers, and that hee woulde take him as a friend, and giue him offices.

25 But when the yong man woulde in no case hearken vnto him, the King called his mother, and exhorted that she would counsell the yong man to saue his life.

26 And when he had exhorted her with many wordes, shee promised him that she would counsell her sonne.

27 So she turned her vnto him, laughing the cruell tyrant to scorne, and spake in her owne language, O my sonne, haue pitie vpon me, that bare thee nine moneths in my wombe, and gaue thee sucke three yeeres, and nourished thee, and tooke care for thee vnto this age, and brought thee vp.

28 I beseech thee, my sonne, looke vpon the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, and consider that God made them of things that were not, and so was mankinde made likewise.

29 Feare not this hangman, but shewe thy selfe worthy such brethren by suffering death, that I may receiue thee in mercie with thy brethren.

30 While she was yet speaking these words, the yong man said, Whom wait ye for? I will not obey the Kings commandement: but I will obey the commandement of the Lawe that was giuen vnto our fathers by Moyses.

31 And thou that imaginest all mischiefe against the Hebrewes, shalt not escape the hand of God.

32 For wee suffer these things, because of our sinnes.

33 But though the liuing Lord be angry with vs a litle while for our chastening and correction, yet will he be reconciled with his owne seruants.

34 But thou, O man without religion and most wicked of all men, lift not thy selfe vp in vayne, which which art puffed vp with vncertaine hope, & liftest thine hands against the seruants of God.

35 For thou hast not yet escaped the iudgement of Almightie God, which seeth all things.
36 My brethren that haue suffered a little paine, are nowe vnder the diuine couenant of euerlasting life: but thou through the iudgement of God, shalt suffer iust punishments for thy pride.
37 Therefore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my body & life for the Lawes of our fathers, beseeching God, that he will soone be mercifull vnto our nation, and that thou by torment and punishment mayst confesse, that he is the onely God, 38 And that in mee and my brethren the wrath of the Almightie, which is righteously fallen vpon all our nation, may cease.
39 Then the King being kindled with anger, raged more cruelly against him then the others, and tooke it grieuously, that he was mocked.
40 So he also dyed holily, and put his whole trust in the Lord.
41 Last of all after the sonnes, was the mother put to death.
42 Let this now be ynough spoken concerning the bankets, and extreme cruelties.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas gathereth together his hoste. 9 Nicanor is sent against Iudas. 16 Iudas exhorteth his souldiers to constancie. 20 Nicanor is ouercome. 27 The Iewes giue thanks, after they haue put their enemies to flight, deuiding part of the spoyles vnto the fatherlesse and vnto the widowes. 30 Timotheus and Bacchides are discomfited. 35 Nicanor flyeth vnto Antiochus.

THen Iudas Maccabeus, and they that were with him, went priuily into the townes, and called their kinsfolkes and friends together, & tooke vnto them all such as continued in the Iewes religion, & assembled sixe thousand men.
2 So they called vpon the Lord, that he would haue an eye vnto his people, which was vexed of e-uery man, and haue pitie vpon the Temple that was defiled by wicked men,
3 And that hee woulde haue compassion vpon the citie that was destroyed, and almost brought to the ground, and that hee woulde heare the voyce of the blood that cryed vnto him, 4 And that hee woulde remember the wicked slaughter of the innocent children, and the blasphemies committed against his name, and that he would shew his hatred against the wicked.
5 Nowe when Maccabeus had gathered this multitude, he could not be withstand by the heathē:
for the wrath of the Lord was turned into mercie.
6 Therefore he came at vnwares, and burnt vp the townes and cities: yet he tooke the most commodious places, and slewe many of the enemies.
7 But specially he vsed the nights to make such assaultes, in so much that the bruite of his manlines was spread euery where.
8 ¶ So when Philippe sawe that this man increased by little and little, and that things prospered with him for the most part, hee wrote vnto Ptolemeus the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, to helpe him in the kings businesse.
9 Then sent hee speedily Nicanor the sonne of Patroclus, a speciall friend of his, and gaue him of all nations of the heathen no lesse then twentie thousand men, to roote out the whole generation of the Iewes, & ioyned with him Gorgias a captaine, which in matters of warre had great experience.
10 Nicanor ordeined also a tribute for the king of two thousand talents, which the Romanes should haue to be taken of þ Iewes þ were taken prisoners.
11 Therefore immediately he sent to the cities on the sea coast, prouoking them to buye Iewes to be their seruants, promising to sell foure score and ten for one talent: but hee considered not the vengeance of almighty God, that should come vpō him.
12 When Iudas then knewe of Nicanors com-ming, he tolde them that were with him, of the comming of the armie.
13 Nowe were there some of them fearefull, which trusted not vnto the righteousnesse of God,
but fled away, and abode not in that place.
14 But the other solde all that they had left, and besought the Lord together, to deliuer them from that wicked Nicanor, which had solde them, or euer he came neere them.
15 And though hee woulde not doe it for their sakes, yet for the couenant made with their fathers, and because they called vpon his holy and glorious Name.
16 And so Maccabeus called his men together, about sixe thousand, exhorting them not to bee afraid of their enemies, neither to feare the great multitude of the Gentiles, which came against them vnrighteously, but to fight manly, 17 Setting before their eies the iniurie that they had vniustly done to the holy place, & the crueltie done to the citie by derision, and the destruction of the orders established by their fathers, 18 For they, sayd he, trust in their weapons and boldenesse: but our confidence is in the Almightie God, which at a Becke can both destroy them that come against vs, and all the world.
19 Moreouer he admonished them of the helpe that God shewed vnto their fathers, as when there perished an hundreth and fourescore, and fiue thousand vnder * Sennacherib, * 2.King.19.35 20 And of the battell that they had in Babylon Isa.37.36. against the Galatians, howe they came in all to the Tob.1.18.
battell eight thousand, with foure thousand Mace- Ecclus.48.21.
donians: and when the Macedonians were astoni- 1.Macc.7.41.
shed, the eight thousande slewe an hundreth and twentie thousand through the helpe that was giuen them from heauen, whereby they had receiued many benefites.
21 Thus when hee had made them bolde with these wordes, and ready to die for the Lawes & the countrey, he deuided his armie into foure partes, 22 And made his owne brethen captaines ouer the armie, to wit, Simon, and Ioseph and Ionathan, giuing ech one fifteene hundreth men.
23 And when || Eleazarus had read the holie || Or, Esdras.
booke, and giuen them a token of the helpe of God, Iudas which led the forward, ioyned with Nicanor,
24 And because the Almightie helped them, they slewe aboue nine thousand men, and wounded and maymed the most part of Nicanors hoste, and so put all to flight,
25 And tooke the money from those that came to buye them, and pursued them farre: but lacking time they returned.
26 For it was the day before the Sabbath, and therefore they would no longer pursue them.
27 So they tooke their weapons, and spoyled the enemies, and kept the Sabbath, giuing thankes and praysing the Lord wonderfully, which had deli-uered them that day, and powred vpon them the beginning of his mercie.
28 And after the Sabbath, * they distributed the * Rom.5.? 1.Sam.?
spoyles

ſpoiles to the ſicke, and to the fatherleſſe, and to the widowes, and diuided the reſidue among them ſelues and their children.
29 When this was done, and they all had made a general prayer, they beſought the mercifull Lorde to be reconciled at the length with his ſeruants.
30 Afterwarde with one conſent they fell vpon Timotheus and Bacchides, and ſlewe aboue twenty thouſand, and wanne hie and ſtrong holdes, and diuided great ſpoyles, & gaue an equall portion vnto the ſicke, and to the fatherles, and to the widowes, and to aged perſons alſo.
31 Moreouer they gathered their weapons together, and laid them vp diligently in conuenient places, and brought the remnant of the ſpoyles to Ieruſalem.
32 They ſlew alſo Philarches a moſt wicked per-ſon, which was with Timotheus, and had vexed the Iewes many wayes.
33 And when they kept the feaſt of victorie in their countrey, they burnt Caliſtenes that had ſet fire vpon the holy gates, which was fled into a litle houſe: ſo he receiued a reward meet for his wickedneſſe.
34 And that moſt wicked Nicanor, which had brought a thouſand merchants to buy the Iewes, 35 He was through ye helpe of the Lord brought downe of them whom he thought as nothing, in ſo much that he put off his glorious rayment, and fled ouerthwart the countrey like a fugitiue ſeruant, & came alone to Antiochia, with great diſhonour through the deſtruction of his hoſte.
36 Thus hee that promiſed to pay tribute to the Romanes, by meanes of the priſoners of Ieruſalem, brought newes, that the Iewes had a ‖ defender, & for this cauſe none coulde hurt the Iewes, becauſe they followed the Lawes appoynted by him.

‖ Or, God their defender.

CHAP. IX.

1 Antiochus willing to ſpoyle Perſepolis, is put to flight. 5 As he perſecuteth the Iewes, he is ſtricken of the Lord. 13 The fained repentance of Antiochus. 28 He dieth miſerably.

AT the ſame time, came Antiochus againe with diſhonour out of the countrey of Perſia.
2 For when he came to Perſepolis, and went about to robbe the Temple, and to ſubdue the citie,
the people ranne in a rage to defende them ſelues with their weapons, and put them to flight, and Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants, and returned with ſhame.
3 Now when he came to Ecbatane, he vnderſtoode the thinges that had come to Nicanor, and Timotheus.
4 And the being chafed in his fume, he thought to impute to the Iewes their fault, which had put him to flight, and therefore commanded his charet man to driue continually, and to diſpatch the iour-ney: for Gods iudgement compelled him: for hee had ſayde thus in his pride, I will make Ieruſalem a common burying place of the Iewes, when I come thither.
5 But the Lorde almightie and God of Iſrael ſmote him with an incurable and inuiſible plague:
for aſſoone as he had ſpoken theſe wordes, a payne of the bowels, that was remedilés, came vpon him,
and ſore torments of the inner parts, 6 And that moſt iuſtly: for he had tormented other mens bowels with diuers, and ſtrange torments.
7 Howbeit he would in no wiſe ceaſe from his arrogancie, but ſwelled the more with pride, breathing out fire in his rage againſt the Iewes, & commanded to haſte the iourney: but it came to paſſe that he fell downe from the charet that ran ſwiftly, ſo that all the members of his body were bruiſed with the great fall.
8 And thus hee that a litle afore thought hee might commaund the floodes of the ſea (ſo proude was he beyond the condition of man) & to weigh the hie mountaines in the balance, was now caſt on the ground, and caried in an horſliter, declaring vnto all the manifeſt power of God, 9 * So that the wormes came out of the bodie of this wicked man in abundance: & whiles he was aliue, his fleſh fell off for paine and torment, and all his armie was grieued at his ‖ ſmell.
10 Thus no man coulde beare becauſe of his ſtinke, him that a litle afore thought hee might reach to the ſtarres of heauen.
11 Then hee began to leaue off his great pride, and ſelfewill, when hee was plagued and came to the knowledge of himſelfe by the ſcourge of God, and by his paine which increaſed euery moment.
12 And when hee him ſelfe might not abide his owne ſtinke, hee ſaid theſe words, It is meete to be ſubiect vnto God, and that a man which is mortall, ſhould not thinke himſelfe equal vnto God through pride.
13 This wicked perſon prayed alſo vnto ye Lord, who would now haue no mercy on him, 14 And ſaide thus that hee would ſet at libertie the holy citie vnto the which he made haſte to deſtroy it, and to make it a burying place.
15 And as touching the Iewes (whome hee had iudged not worthie to be buried, but woulde haue caſt them out with their children to bee deuoured of the foules and wilde beaſts) he would make them all like the citizens of Athens.
16 And whereas he had ſpoiled the holy Temple afore, he would garniſh it with great giftes, and increaſe the holy veſſels, & of his owne rents beare the charges belonging to the ſacrifices.
17 Yea, and that he woulde alſo become a Iewe himſelfe, and goe thorow all the world that was inhabited, and preach the power of God.
18 But for all this his paines woulde not ceaſe:
for the iuſt iudgement of God was come vpon him: therfore deſpairing of his health, he wrote vnto the Iewes this letter vnder written, conteining the forme of a ſupplication.
19 ¶ THE KING and Prince Antiochus vnto the Iewes his louing citizens wiſheth much ioy and health and proſperitie.
20 If ye and your children fare well, and if all thinges goe after your minde, I giue great thankes vnto God hauing hope in the heauen.
21 Though I lie ſicke, yet I am mindful of your honour, and good will for the loue I beare you:
therefore when I returned from the countrey of Perſia, and fell into a ſore diſeaſe, I thought it neceſſarie to care for the common ſafetie of all, 22 Not diſtruſting mine health, but hauing great hope to eſcape this ſickeneſſe.
23 Therefore conſidering that when my father led an hoſte againſt the high countries, he appoynted who ſhould ſucceed him:
24 That if any controuerſie happened contrary to his expectation, or if ye any tidings were brought that were grieuous, they in the land might know to whō the affaires were committed, that they ſhould not be troubled.

* Acts 12.23.

‖ Or, rottenneſſe.

25 Againe, when I ponder howe that the gouernours, that are borderers, and neighbours vnto my kingdome, waite for all occasions, and looke but for opportunity, I haue ordeined that my sonne Antiochus shall be king, whome I oft commended and committed to many of you, when I went into the hie prouinces, and haue written vnto him as followeth hereafter.

26 Therefore, I pray you, and require you to remember the benefites that I haue done vnto you generally, and particularly, and that euery man will be faithfull vnto me and my sonne.

27 For I trust that he will be gentle, and louing vnto you according to my minde.

28 ¶ Thus the murtherer and blasphemer suffered most grieuously, and as hee had intreated other men, so he died a miserable death in a strange countrey among the mountaines.

29 And Philippe that was brought vp with him, caried away his body, who fearing the sonne of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolemeus Philometor.

1 Iudas Maccabeus taketh the citie and the Temple. 10 The actes of Eupator. 16 The Iewes fight against the Idumeans. 24 Timotheus inuadeth Iudea, with whom Iudas ioyneth battell. 29 Fiue men appeare in the aire to the helpe of the Iewes. 37 Timotheus is slaine.

MAccabeus nowe and his company, through the helpe of the Lord, wanne the Temple and the citie againe,

2 And destroyed the altars, and chappels that the heathen had builded in the open places,

3 And clensed the Temple, and made another altar, and burned stones, and tooke fire of them, and offered sacrifices, and incense two yeeres, and sixe moneths after, and set forth the lampes, and the shewbread.

4 When that was done, they fell downe flat vpon the grounde, and besought the Lorde, that they might come no more into such troubles: but if they sinned any more against him, that hee him selfe woulde chasten them with mercy, and that they might not bee deliuered to the blasphemous, and barbarous nations.

5 Nowe vpon the same day, that the strangers polluted the Temple, on the very same day it was clensed againe, euen the fiue and twentie day of the same moneth, which is || Chasleu. || Or, Nouember.

6 They kept eight dayes with gladnesse as in the feast of the Tabernacles, remembring, that not long afore they held the feast of the Tabernacles when they liued in the mountaines and dennes like beastes.

7 And for the same cause they bare greene boughes, and faire branches and palmes, and sang Psalmes vnto him that had giuen them good successe in clensing his place.

8 They ordeined also by a common statute and decree, that euery yeere those dayes shoulde be kept of the whole nation of the Iewes.

9 And this was the ende of Antiochus called Epiphanes.

10 ¶ Nowe will wee declare the actes of Antiochus Eupator, which was the sonne of this wicked man, gathering briefly the calamities of the warres that followed.

11 For when hee had taken the kingdome, hee made one Lysias, which had bene captaine of the hoste in Phenice, and Coelosyria, ruler ouer the affaires of the realme.

12 For Ptolemeus that was called Macron, purposed to doe iustice vnto the Iewes for the wrong, that had bene done vnto them, and went about to behaue himselfe peaceably with them.

13 For the which cause hee was accused of his friendes before Eupator, and was called oft times traitour, because hee had left Cyprus that Philometor had committed vnto him, and came to Antiochus Epiphanes: therefore seeing that hee was no more in estimation, he was discouraged, and poysoned himselfe, and died.

14 ¶ But when Gorgias was gouernour of the same places, hee interteined strangers, and made warre oft times against the Iewes.

15 Moreouer the Idumeans that held the strong holdes, which were meete for their purpose, troubled the Iewes, and by receiuing them that were driuen from Ierusalem, tooke in hande to continue warre.

16 Then they that were with Maccabeus made prayers, and besought God that he woulde be their helper, and so they fell vpon the strong holdes of the Idumeans, 17 And assaulted them sore, that they wan the places, and slewe all that fought against them on the wall, and killed all that they met with, & slew no lesse then twentie thousand.

18 And because certaine (which were no lesse then nine thousand) were fled into two strong castles, hauing all maner of things conuenient to susteine the siege,

19 Maccabeus left Simon, and Ioseph, and Zacheus also, and those that were with them, which were inow to besiege them, and departed to those places which were more necessarie.

20 Nowe they that were with Simon, being led with couetousnes, were intreated for mony (through certaine of those that were in the castel) and tooke seuentie thousand drachmes, and let some of them escape.

21 But when it was tolde Maccabeus what was done, hee called the gouernours of the people together, and accused those men, that they had solde their brethren for money, and let their enemies goe.

22 So he slew them when they were conuict of treason, and immediatly wan the two castels:

23 And hauing good successe, as in all the warres that he tooke in hande, hee slewe in the two castels moe then twentie thousand.

24 Nowe Timotheus whome the Iewes had ouercome afore, gathered an armie of strangers of all sorts, and brought a great troupe of horsemen out of Asia to winne Iewrie by strength.

25 But when hee drewe neere, Maccabeus and they that were with him, turned to pray vnto God, and sprinkled earth vpon their heads, and girded their reines with sackcloth,

26 And fell downe at the foote of the altar, and besought the Lorde to bee mercifull to them, and to bee an enemie to their enemies, and to bee an aduersarie to their aduersaries, * as the Lawe declareth. *Exod.23.22. deut.20.4.

27 So after the prayer, they tooke their weapons, and went on further from the citie, and when they came neere to the enemies, they tooke heede to themselues.

28 And when the morning appeared, they both ioyned together: the one part had the Lorde for their refuge, and pledge of prosperitie, and noble

victorie,

victorie, and the other tooke courage as a guide of the warre,

29 But when the battel waxed strong, there appeared vnto the enemies from heauen fiue comely men vpon horses with bridles of golde, and two of them led the Iewes,

30 And tooke Maccabeus betwixt them, and couered him on euery side with their weapons, and kept him safe, but shot dartes, and lightnings against the enemies, so that they were confounded with blindenesse, and beaten downe and full of trouble.

31 There were slaine of foote men twentie thousande and fiue hundreth, and sixe hundreth horsemen.

32 As for Timotheus himselfe, he fled vnto Gazara, which was called a very strong holde, wherein Chereas was captaine.

33 But Maccabeus and his companie layde siege against the fortresses with courage for foure dayes.

34 And they that were within, trusting to the height of the place, blasphemed exceedingly, and spake horrible wordes.

35 Neuerthelesse vpon the || fifth daye in the morning, twentie yong men of Maccabeus companie, whose heartes were inflamed, because of the blasphemies, came vnto the wall, and with bolde stomakes smote downe those that they met.

|| Or, the fiue and twentie day.

36 Others also that climed vp vpon the engines of warre against them that were within, set fire vpō the towres, and burnt those blasphemers quicke with the fires that they had made, and others brake vp the gates, and receiued the rest of the armie, and tooke the citie.

37 And hauing founde Timotheus, that was crept into a caue, they killed him, and Chereas his brother with Appollophanes.

38 When this was done, they praysed the Lorde with psalmes, and thanksgiuing, which had done so great thinges for Israel, and giuen them the victorie.

CHAP. XI.

1 Lysias goeth about to ouercome the Iewes. 8 Succour is sent from heauen vnto the Iewes. 16 The letter of Lysias vnto the Iewes 20 The letter of King Antiochus vnto Lysias. 27 A letter of the same vnto the Iewes. 34 A letter of the Romanes to the Iewes.

VEry shortly after this, Lysias the kings steward, and a kinsman of his, which had the gouernance of the affaires, tooke sore displeasure for the things that were done.

2 And when he had gathered about fourescore thousand, with all the horsemen, he came against the Iewes, thinking to make the citie an habitation of the Gentiles.

3 And the temple would he haue to get money by, like the other temples of the heathen: for hee would sell the Priestes office euery yeere.

4 And thus being puffed vp in his minde, because of the great number of footemen, and thousands of horsemen, & in his fourescore Elephants,

5 He came into Iudea, and drew neere to Bethsura, which was a castle of defence, fiue furlongs from Ierusalem, and layde sore siege vnto it.

6 But when Maccabeus, and his companie knew that he besieged the holdes, they, and all the people made prayers with weeping, and teares before the Lord, that he would send a good Angel to deliuer Israel.

7 And Maccabeus him selfe first of all tooke weapons, exhorting the other that they would ieoparde themselues together with him to helpe their brethren: so they went forth together with a couragious minde.

8 And as they were there besides Ierusalem, there appeared before them vpon horsebacke a man in white cloathing, shaking his harnesse of golde.

9 Then they praysed the mercifull God all together, and tooke heart, in so much that they were ready, not onely to fight with men, but with the most cruell beastes, and to breake downe walles of yron.

10 Thus they marched forwarde in aray, hauing an helper from heauen: for the Lord was mercifull vnto them.

11 And running vpon their enemies like lions, they slew eleuen thousande footemen, and sixteene hundreth horsemen, and put all the other to flight.

12 Many of them also being wounded, escaped naked, and Lysias himselfe fled away shamefully, & so escaped,

13 Who as he was a man of vnderstanding, considering what losse he had had, and knowing, that the Hebrewes could not be ouercome because the almightie God helped them, sent vnto them,

14 And promised, that he would consent to all things which were reasonable, & perswade the king to be their friend.

15 Maccabeus agreed to Lysias requests, hauing respect in all things to the common wealth, and whatsoeuer Maccabeus wrote vnto Lysias concerning the Iewes, the King granted it.

16 For there were letters written vnto ẏ Iewes from Lysias conteining these wordes, LYSIAS vnto the people of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

17 Iohn and Abessalom, which were sent from you, deliuered me the things that you demande by writing, and required mee to fulfill the things that they had declared.

18 Therefore what things soeuer were meete to be reported to the King himselfe, I haue declared them, and he granted that that was possible.

19 Therefore if ye behaue your selues as friends towarde his affaires, hereafter also I will endeuour my selfe to doe you good.

20 As concerning these thinges, I haue giuen commandements to these men, and to those whome I sent vnto you, to commune with you of the same particularly,

21 Fare ye well, the hundreth and eight and fourtie yeere, the foure and twentieth day of the moneth of Dioscorinthius.

22 ¶ Nowe the Kinges letter conteined these wordes, KING ANTIOCVS vnto his brother Lysias sendeth greeting.

23 Since our father is translated vnto the gods, our will is, that they which are in our realme, liue quietly, that euery man may apply his owne affaires.

24 We vnderstand also that the Iewes woulde not consent to our father, for to be brought vnto the custome of the Gentiles, but would keepe their owne maner of liuing: for the which cause they require of vs, that we would suffer them to liue after their owne Lawes.

25 Wherefore our minde is that this nation shal be in rest, and haue determined to restore them their Temple, that they may be gouerned according to the custome of their fathers.

26 Thou shalt doe well therefore to sende vnto them, & grant them peace, that when they are certified

CHAP. XII.

1 Timotheus troubleth the Iewes. 3 The wicked deede of them of Ioppe against the Iewes. 6 Iudas is auenged of them. 9 He setteth fire in the hauen of Iamnia. 20 The pursuite of the Iewes against Timotheus. 24 Timotheus is taken & let go vnhurt. 32 Iudas pursueth Gorgias.

WHen these couenantes were made, Lysias went vnto the King, and the Iewes tilled their grounde.

2 But the gouernours of the places, as Timotheus and Appollonius the sonne of Genneus, and Ieronimus, and also Demophon, and besides them Nicanor the gouernour of Cyprus, woulde not let them liue in rest and peace.

3 ¶ They of Ioppe also did such a vile acte: they prayed the Iewes that dwelt among them, to goe with their wiues and children into the shippes, which they had prepared as though they had ought them none euill will.

4 And so by the common aduise of the citie, they obeyed them, and suspect nothing: but when they were gone forth into the deepe, they drowned no lesse then two hundreth of them.

5 Nowe when Iudas knewe of this crueltie shewed against his nation, hee commanded those men that were with him, to make them readie.

6 And hauing called vpon God the righteous Iudge, hee went foorth against the murtherers of his brethren, and set fire in the hauen by night, and burnt the shippes, and those that fled thence, he slewe.

7 And when the citie was shut vp, hee departed as though he would come againe, and roote out all them of the citie of Ioppe.

8 ¶ But when hee perceiued that the Iamnites were minded to doe in like maner vnto the Iewes, which dwelt among them,

9 He came vpon the Iamnites by night, and set fire in the hauen with the nauie, so that the light of the fire was seene at Ierusalem, vpon a two hundreth and fourtie furlongs.

10 Now when they were gone from thence nine furlongs, in their iourney toward Timotheus, about fiue thousand men of foote and fiue hundreth horsemen of the Arabians set vpon him.

11 So the battell was sharpe, but it prospered with Iudas through the helpe of God: the || Nomades of Arabia being ouercome, besought Iudas to make peace with them, and promised to giue him certaine cattell, and to helpe him in other things.

|| So called because they were shepheards.

12 And Iudas thinking that they shoulde in deede be profitable concerning many things, granted them peace: whereupon they shooke hands, and so they departed to their tents.

13 ¶ Iudas also assaulted a citie called Caspis, which was strong by reason of a bridge, and fenced round about with walles, and had diuers kindes of people dwelling therein.

14 So they that were within it, put such trust in the strengh of the walles, and in store of vitailes, that they were ÿ slacker in their doings, reuiling thē that were with Iudas, and reproching them: yea, they blasphemed and spake such wordes as were not lawfull.

15 But Maccabeus souldiers, calling vpon the great Prince of the world (which without any || instruments, or engins of warre, did * cast downe the walles of Iericho, in the time of Iesus) gaue a fierce assault against the walles,

|| Or, battell rammes. * Iosu. 6.20.

16 And tooke the citie by the will of God, and made an exceeding great slaughter, in so much that a lake of two furlongs broade, which lay thereby, seemed to flowe with blood.

17 ¶ Then departed they from thence, seuen hundreth and fiftie furlongs, and came to Characa vnto the Iewes that are called Tubieni.

18 But they founde not Timotheus there: for he was departed from thence, and had done nothing, and had left a garison in a very strong hold.

19 But Dositheus, and Sosipater, which were captaines with Maccabeus, went foorth, and slewe those that Timotheus had left in the fortresse, more then tenne thousand men.

20 And Maccabeus prepared, and ranged his armie by bandes, and went couragiously against Timotheus, which had with him an hundreth and twentie thousand men of foote, and two thousand and fiue hundreth horsemen.

21 When Timotheus had knowledge of Iudas comming, he sent the women, and children, and the other baggage afore vnto a fortresse called Carnion (for it was hard to besiege, and vneasie to come vnto because of the straites on all sides.)

22 But when Iudas first band came in sight, the enemies were smitten with feare, and a trembling was among them through the presence of him that seeth all thinges, in so much that they fleeing one here, another there, were oft times hurt by their owne people, and wounded with the poyntes of their owne swordes.

23 But Iudas was very earnest in pursuing, and slewe

slewe those wicked men : yea, hee slew thirtie thousand men of them.
24 Timotheus also himselfe fell into the handes of Dositheus, and Sosipater, whome hee besought with much craft to let him go with his life, because he had many of the Iewes parents and the brethren of some of them, which, if they put him to death, should be despised.
25 So when hee had assured them with many wordes, and promised that he woulde restore them without hurt, they let him goe for the health of their brethren.
26 ¶ Then went Maccabeus towarde Carnion, and Atargation, and slewe fiue and twentie thousand persons.
27 And after that hee had chased away and slaine them, Iudas remooued the hoste towarde E-phron a strong citie, wherein was Lysias and a great multitude of all nations, and the strong yong men kept the walles defending them mightily : there was also great preparation of engins of warre, and dartes.
28 But when they had called vpon the Lorde, which with his power breaketh the strength of the enemies, they wanne the citie, and slewe fiue and twentie thousand of them that were within.
29 ¶ From thence went they to Scythopolis, which lieth sixe hundreth furlonges from Ierusalem.
30 But when the Iewes which dwelt there, testified, that the Scythopolitans delt louingly with them, & intreated them kindly in the time of their aduersitie,
31 They gaue them thankes, desiring them to be friendly still vnto them, and so they came to Ie-rusalem, as the feast of the weeks approched.
32 ¶ And after the feast called Pentecost, they went forth against Gorgias y^e gouernour of Idumea: 33 Who came out with three thousand men of foot and foure hundreth horsemen.
34 And when they ioyned together, a few of the Iewes were slaine, 35 And Dositheus one of the Baccenors, which was on horsebacke and a mighty man, tooke Gorgias, and laide holde of his garment, and drewe him by force, because he woulde haue taken the wicked man aliue : but an horseman of Thracia fell vpon him, & smote off his shoulder, so that Gorgias fled into Marisa.
36 And when they that were ‖ with Esrin, had foughten long, and were weary, Iudas called vpon the Lord, that he would shewe him selfe to be their helper, and captaine of the field.

‖ Or, with Gorgias.

37 And then hee began in his owne language, and sung psalmes with a loude voyce, in so much that straightwayes hee made them that were about Gorgias, to take their flight.
38 ¶ So Iudas gathered his hoste, and came into the citie of Odolla. And when the seuenth day came, they clensed them selues (as the custome was)
and kept the Sabbath in the same place.
39 And vpon the day following, as necessitie required, Iudas and his companie came to take vp the bodies of them that were slaine, and to burie them with their kinsmen in their fathers graues.
40 Nowe vnder the coates of euery one, that was slaine, they founde iewels that had bene consecrate to the idoles of the * Iamnites, which thing is forbidden the Iewes by the Lawe. Then euery man sawe, that this was the cause wherefore they were slaine.

* Deut. 7. 25. Iosh. 7. 1, 11, 12.

41 And so euery man gaue thankes vnto the Lorde, the righteous Iudge, which had opened the things that were hid.
42 And they gaue themselues to prayer, and besought him, that they shoulde not vtterly bee destroyed for the fault committed. Besides that, noble Iudas exhorted the people to keepe themselues from sinne, for so much as they sawe before their eyes the thinges which came to passe by the sinne of these that were slaine, 43 And hauing made a gathering through the company, sent to Ierusalem about two thousande drachmes of siluer, to offer a sinne offering, doing very well, and honestly that he thought of the resurrection.
44 For if he had not hoped, that they which were slaine, should rise againe, it had bene superfluous, and vaine, to ‖ pray for the dead.
45 And therefore hee perceiued, that there was great fauour layde vp for those that dyed godly. (It was an holy, and a good thought.) So hee made a reconciliation for the dead, that they might be deli-uered from sinne.

‖ From this verse to the end of this chapter, the Greeke text is corrupt, so that no good sense, much lesse certaine doctrine can bee gathered thereby: Also it is euident that this place was not written by the holy Ghost, both because it dissenteth from the rest of the holy Scriptures, and also the autor of this booke acknowledging his owne infirmitie, desireth pardon, if hee haue not atteined to that hee should. And it seemeth, that this Iason the Cyreuean, out of whome hee tooke this abbridgement, is Ioseph Ben Gorion, who hath written in Ebrewe fiue bookes of these matters, and intreating this place, maketh no mention of this prayer for the dead, lib. 3. chap. 19. for it is contrary to the custome of the Iewes, euen to this day, to pray for the dead. And though Iudas had so done, yet this particular example is not sufficient to establish a doctrine, no more then Zipporahs was to prooue that women might minister the Sacraments. Exod. 4. 25. or the example of Razis that one might kill himselfe, whom this authour so much commendeth, Chap. 14. 41.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The comming of Eupator into Iudea. 4 The death of Menelaus. 10 Maccabeus going to fight against Eupator, moueth his souldiers vnto prayer. 15 Hee killeth fourteene thousande men in the tents of Antiochus. 21 Rhodocus the betrayer of the Iewes is taken.

IN the hundreth, fourtie and nine yere it was tolde Iudas, that Antiochus Eupator was comming with a great power into Iudea, 2 And Lysias the stewarde and ruler of his affaires with him, hauing both in their armie an hun-dreth and ten thousande men of foote of the Gre-cians, and fiue thousande horsemen, and two and twentie elephants, and three hundreth charets set with hookes.
3 Menelaus also ioyned himselfe with them, and with great deceit encouraged Antiochus, not for the sauegard of the countrey, but because he thought to haue bene made the gouernour.
4 But the King of Kings mooued Antiochus minde against this wicked man, and Lysias infour-med the King that this man was the cause of all mis-chiefe, so that the King commaunded to bring him to Berea to put him vnto death, as the maner was in that place.
5 Now there was in that place a towre of fiftie cubites high, full of ashes, and it had an instrument that turned rounde, and on euery side it rowled downe into the ashes.
6 And there whosoeuer was condemned of sa-criledge, or of any other grieuous crime, was cast of all men to the death.
7 And so it came to passe that this wicked man should die such a death, and it was a most iust thing that Menelaus should want buriall, 8 For because hee had committed many sinnes by the altar, whose fire and ashes were holy : he him selfe also died in the ashes.
9 ¶ Nowe the King raged in his minde, and came

came to shewe himselfe more cruel vnto the Iewes then his father.
10 Which things when Iudas perceiued, he commanded the people to cal vpon the Lord night and day, that if euer he had holpen them, he would now helpe them, when they should be put frō their lawe, from their countrey and from the holy Temple: 11 And that hee woulde not suffer the people, which a little afore began to recouer, to be subdued vnto the blasphemous nations.
12 So when they had done this all together, and besought the Lord for mercie with weeping, and fasting, and falling downe three dayes together, Iudas exhorted them to make themselues readie.
13 And hee being apart with the Elders, tooke counsell to goe foorth, afore the King brought his hoste into Iudea, and should take the citie, and commit the matter to the helpe of the Lord.
14 So committing the charge to the Lord of the worlde, he exhorted his souldiers to fight manfully, euen vnto death for the Lawes, the Temple, the ci-tie, their countrey, and the common wealth, and camped by Modin.
15 And so giuing his souldiers for a watchword,
The victorie of God, hee piked out the manliest yong men, and went by night into the kings campe, and slew of the hoste fourteene thousande men, and the greatest elephant with all that sate vpon him.
16 Thus when they had brought a great feare, and trouble in the campe, and all things went prosperously with them, they departed.
17 This was done in the breake of the day, because the protection of the Lord did helpe them.
18 ¶ Nowe when the King had tasted the manlinesse of the Iewes, hee went about to take the holdes by policie, 19 And marched towarde Beth-sura, which was a strong holde of the Iewes: but he was chased away, hurt and lost of his men.
20 For Iudas had sent vnto them that were in it, such things as were necessarie.
21 But Rhodocus which was in the Iewes hoste, disclosed the secrets to the enemies: therefore hee was sought out, and when they had gotten him, they put him in prison.
22 After this did the King commune with them
that were in Beth-sura, and ||tooke truce with them, departed, and ioyned battell with Iudas, who ouercame him.
23 But when hee vnderstoode, that Philippe (whome hee had left to be ouerseer of his businesse at Antiochia) did rebell against him, hee was astonished, so that he yeelded himselfe to the Iewes, and made them an othe to doe all thinges that were right, and was appeased toward them, and offered sacrifice and adorned the Temple, and shewed great gentlenesse to the place, 24 And embraced Maccabeus, and made him captaine and gouernour from Ptolemais vnto the Gerreneans.
25 Neuertheles, when he came to Ptolemais, the people of the citie were not content with this agreement: and because they were grieued, they woulde that he should breake the couenants.
26 Then went Lysias vp into the iudgement seate, and excused the facte as well as he coulde, and perswaded them, and pacified them, and made them well affectioned, and came againe vnto Antiochia.
This is the matter concerning the Kings iourney, and his returne.

||Or, gaue and tooke the right hand.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Demetrius mooued by Alcimus sendeth Nicanor to kill the Iewes. 18 Nicanor maketh a compact with the Iewes, 29 Which hee yet breaketh through the motion of the King. 37 Nicanor commaundeth Razis to bee taken, who slayeth himselfe.

AFter three yeeres was Iudas enformed that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come vp with a great power and nauie by the hauen of Tripolis,
2 When hee had wonne the countrey, and slaine Antiochus and his Lieutenant Lysias.
3 Now Alcimus, which had bene the high Priest, and wilfully defiled him selfe in the time that all thinges were confounded, seeing that by no meanes he coulde saue himselfe, nor haue any more entrance to the holy Altar,
4 Hee came to King Demetrius in the hundreth, fiftie and one yeere, presenting vnto him a crowne of golde, and a palme, and of the boughes, which were vsed solemnly in the Temple, and that day he held his tongue.
5 But when hee had gotten opportunitie, and occasion for his rage, Demetrius called him to cōū-sell, and asked him what deuises or counsels the Iewes leaned vnto.
6 To the which he answered, The Iewes that be called Asideans, whose captaine is Iudas Maccabeus, maintaine warres, and make insurrections, and will not let the Realme be in peace.
7 Therefore I, being depriued of my fathers honour (I meane the high Priesthood) am now come hither,
8 Partly, because I was well affectioned vnto the kings affaires, and secondly, because I sought the profite of mine owne citizens: for all our people, thorow their rashnesse, are not a litle troubled.
9 Wherefore, O King, seeing thou knowest all these thinges, make prouision for the countrey, and our nation which is abused, according to thine own humanitie, that is readie to helpe all men.
10 For as long as Iudas liueth, it is not possible that the matter should be well.
11 When hee had spoken these wordes, other friendes also hauing euil will at Iudas, set Demetrius on fire.
12 Who immediatly called for Nicanor, the ruler of the Elephants, and made him captaine ouer Iudea,
13 And sent him forth, commanding him to slay Iudas, and to scatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus high Priest of the great Temple.
14 Then the heathen which fled out of Iudea from Iudas, came to Nicanor by flockes, thinking the harme and calamities of the Iewes to bee their welfare.
15 Now when the Iewes heard of Nicanors com-ming, and the gathering together of the heathen, they sprinkled themselues with earth, and prayed vnto him which had appoynted himselfe a people for euer, and did alwayes defende his owne portion with euident tokens.
16 So at the commaundement of the captaine, they remooued straightwayes from thence, and came to the towne of Dessau, 17 Where Simon Iudas brother had ioyned battell with Nicanor, and was somewhat astonished through the sudden silence of the enemies.
18 Neuerthelesse Nicanor hearing the manlines of them that were with Iudas, and the bolde sto-mackes that they had for their countrey, durst not proue

proue the matter with bloodsheading.
19 Wherefore, he sent Posidonius, ‖Theodocius, and ‖ Matthias before, to make peace.
‖Or, Theodotus.
‖Or, Mattathias.
20 So when they had taken long aduisement thereupon, & the captaine shewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one minde, and consented to the couenants.
21 And they appointed a day when they should particularly come together: so when the day was come, they set for euery man his stoole.
22 Neuerthelesse Iudas commaunded certaine men of armes to waite in conuenient places, least there should suddenly arise any euill through the enemies: and so they communed together of the things whereupon they had agreed.
23 Nicanor, while hee abode at Ierusalem, did none hurt, but sent away the people that were gathered together.
24 Hee ‖ loued Iudas, and fauoured him in his heart.
‖Or, had Iudas before his eyes.
25 He prayed him also to take a wife, & to beget children: so he married, and they liued together.
26 But Alcimus perceiuing the loue that was betweene them, and vnderstanding the couenants that were made, came to Demetrius, and tolde him that Nicanor had taken strange matters in hande, and ordeined Iudas a traytour to the Realme, to be his successour.
27 Then the King was displeased, and by the reportes of this wicked man, hee wrote to Nicanor, saying, that hee was very angry for the couenants, commaunding him that he should send Maccabeus in all haste prisoner vnto Antiochia.
28 When these things came to Nicanor, he was astonished and sore grieued, that he should breake the things wherein they had agreed, seeing that that man had committed no wickednesse.
29 But because it was not commodious to him to withstand the King, he sought craftily to accomplish it.
30 Notwithstanding when Maccabeus perceiued that Nicanor began to be rough vnto him, and that he intreated him more rudely thē he was wont, he perceiued that such rigour came not of good, and therefore hee gathered a fewe of his men, and withdrewe himselfe from Nicanor.
31 But the other perceiuing that he was preuen-ted by Maccabeus worthie pollicie, came into the great and holy Temple, and commaunded the Priests, which were offring their vsuall sacrifices, to deliuer him the man.
32 And when they sware that they could not tell where the man was, whom he sought, 33 He stretched out his right hand towarde the Temple, and made an othe in this maner, If ye will not deliuer me Iudas as a prisoner, I will make this Temple of God a plaine fielde, and will breake downe the altar, and will erect a notable Temple vnto Bacchus.
34 After these wordes hee departed: then the Priestes lift vp their handes towarde heauen, and besought him that was euer the defender of their nation, saying in this maner, 35 Thou, O Lord of all things, which hast neede of nothing, wouldest that the Temple of thine habitation should be among vs.
36 Therefore now, O most holy Lorde, keepe this house euer vndefiled, which lately was clensed, and stoppe all the mouthes of the vnrighteous.
37 Now was there accused vnto Nicanor, Razis one of the Elders of Ierusalem, a louer of the ci-tie, and a man of very good report, which for his loue was called a father of the Iewes.
38 For this man aforetimes when the Iewes were minded to keepe them selues vndefiled and pure, being accused to bee of the religion of the Iewes, did offer to spend his body and life, with all constancie for the religion of the Iewes.
39 So Nicanor willing to declare the hatred that he bare to the Iewes, sent about fiue hundreth men of warre to take him.
40 For hee thought by taking him to doe the Iewes much hurt.
41 But when this companie would haue taken his castle, and would haue broken the gates by violence, and commaunded to bring fire to burne the gates, so that he was readie to be taken on eue-ry side, he ‖ fell on his sworde,
‖As this priuate example ought not to be followed of the godly, because it is contrary to the worde of God although the autor seemē here to approue it: so that place as touching prayer, Chap. 12. 44. though Iudas had appointed it, yet were it not sufficient to proue a doctrine, because it is onely a particular example.
42 Willing rather to dye manfully, then to giue him selfe into the handes of wicked men, and to suffer reproch vnworthy for his noble stocke.
43 Notwithstanding what time as he missed of his stroke for haste, and the multitude rushed in violently betweene the doores, he ranne boldly to the wall, and cast him selfe downe manfully among the multitude.
44 Which conueyed them selues lightly away,
and gaue place, so that he fell vpon his bellie.
45 Neuerthelesse while there was yet breath in him, being kindled in his minde, hee rose vp, and though his blood gushed out like a fountaine, and he was very sore wounded, yet he ranne thorow the middest of the people, 46 And gate him to the toppe of an high rocke:
so when his blood was vtterly gone, hee tooke out his owne bowels with both his handes, and threwe them vpon the people, calling vpon the Lorde of life and spirit, that hee would restore them againe vnto him, and thus he dyed.

CHAP. XV.

1 Nicanor goeth about to come vpon Iudas on the Sabbath day.
5 The blasphemie of Nicanor. 14 Maccabeus expounding vnto the Iewes the vision, incourageth them. 21 The prayer of Maccabeus. 30 Maccabeus commandeth Nicanors head and handes to bee cut off, and his tongue to bee giuen vnto the foules. 39 The autor excuseth him selfe.

NOwe when Nicanor knewe that Iudas and his companie were in the countrey of Samaria, he thought with all assurance to come vpon them, vp-on the Sabbath day.
2 Neuerthelesse, the Iewes that were compelled to goe with him, saide, O kill not so cruelly and barbarously, but honour and sanctifie the day, that is appoynted by him that seeth all things.
3 But this most wicked person demaunded, Is there a Lorde in heauen, that commaunded the Sabbath day to be kept?
4 And when they said, There is a liuing Lorde, which ruleth in the heauen, who commaunded the seuenth day to be kept,
5 Then he saide, And I am mightie vpon earth to commaund them for to arme them selues, and to perfourme the Kings businesse. Notwithstanding, he could not accomplish his wicked enterprise.
6 For Nicanor lifted vp with great pride, pur-posed to set vp a memorial of the victorie obteined of all them that were with Iudas.
7 But Maccabeus had euer sure confidence and a perfite hope that the Lord would helpe him, 8 And exhorted his people not to be afraide at the comming of the heathen, but alway to remember

ber the helpe that had bene shewed vnto them from heauen,and to trust now also,that they should haue the victorie by the Almightie.
9 Thus he incouraged them by the Lawe and Prophets, putting them in remembrance of the battels that they had wonne afore, and so made them more willing,
10 And stirred vp their hearts,and shewed them also the deceitfulnesse of the heathen,and how they had broken their othes.
11 Thus hee armed euery one of them,not with the assurance of shieldes & speares, but with wholesome wordes and exhortations, and shewed them a dreame worthie to be beleeued, and reioyced them greatly.
12 Aud this was his vision, He thought that he sawe Onias (which had bene the High Priest, a ver-tuous and a good man, reuerent in behauiour, and of sober conuersation, well spoken, and one that had bene exercised in all pointes of godlinesse from a childe) holding vp his handes towardes heauen, and praying for the whole people of the Iewes.
13 ¶ After this there appeared vnto him another man which was aged, honourable, and of a wonderfull dignitie,and excellencie aboue him.
14 And Onias spake, and said, This is a louer of the brethren, who prayeth much for the people, and for the holy citie, to wit, Ieremias the Prophet
of God.
15 Hee thought also that Ieremias helde out his right hand, and gaue vnto Iudas a sworde of golde:
and as he gaue it,he spake thus,
16 Take this holy sworde a gifte from God, wherewith thou shalt wound the aduersaries.
17 And so being comforted by the wordes of Iudas, which were very sweete & able to stirre them vp to valiantnesse and to incourage the heartes of the yong men,they determined to pitch no campe, but couragiously to set vpon them, and manfully to assaile them,and to trie the matter hand to hand, because the citie and the Sanctuarie and the Temple were in danger.
18 As for their wiues,and children, & brethren and kinsfolkes, they set lesse by their danger: but their greatest and principall feare was for the holy Temple.
19 Againe they that were in the citie,were care-full for the armie that was abroad.
20 Nowe whiles they all wayted for the tryall of the matter, and the enemies nowe mette with ‖Or, elephants. them,and the hoste was set in aray,and the ‖beastes were separated into conuenient places, and the horsemen were placed in the wings: 21 Maccabeus considering the comming of the multitude, and the diuers preparations of weapons, and the fiercenesse of the beastes, helde vp his handes toward heauen,calling vpon the Lorde that doeth wonders,and that looked vpon them,knowing that the victorie commeth not by the weapons, but that hee giueth the victorie to them that are worthy,as seemeth good vnto him.
22 Therefore in his prayer he said after this ma-
*2.King.19.35. esa.37.36. tob.1.18. ecclus.48.22. ner, O Lorde, *thou that diddest send thine Angell in the time of Ezechias King of Iudea, who in the host of Sennacherib slewe an hundreth, foure score and fiue thousand,
23 Sende now also thy good Angell before vs, O Lorde of heauens, for a feare and dread vnto
them,
24 And let them be discomfited by the strength of thine arme, which come against thine holy people to blaspheme. Thus with these wordes he made an ende.
25 Then Nicanor and they that were with him, drew neere with trumpets and shoutings for ioy.
26 But Iudas and his company praying and calling vpon God,encountered with the enemies, 27 So that with their handes they fought, but with their hearts they prayed vnto God, and slewe no lesse then fiue and thirtie thousande men: for through the presence of God they were wonderously comforted.
28 Now when they left off, and were turning againe with ioy, they vnderstoode that Nicanor himselse was slaine for all his armour.
29 Then they made a great shout & a cry, pray-sing the Almightie in their owne language.
30 Therefore Iudas, which was euer the chiefe defender of his citizens both in body and minde, and which bare euer good affection towards them of his nation, commaunded to smite off Nicanors head,with his hand and shoulder, and to bring it to Ierusalem.
31 And when he came there, he called all them of his nation, and set the Priestes by the altar, and sent for them of the castel, 32 And shewed them wicked Nicanors head, and the hand of that blasphemour which hee had holden vp against the holy Temple of the Almigh-tie with proude bragges.
33 He caused the tongue also of wicked Nica-nor to be cut in litle pieces, and to be cast vnto the foules,and that the rewardes of his madnesse should be hanged vp before the Temple.
34 So euery man praised toward the heauen the glorious Lord, saying, Blessed be he,that hath kept his place vndefiled.
35 He hanged also Nicanors head vpon the hie castell, for an euident and plaine token vnto all of the helpe of God.
36 And so they established all together by a common decree, that they would in no case suffer this day without keeping it holy:
37 And that the feast should be the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Adar in the Syrians language, the day before Mardocheus day.
38 Thus farre as concerning Nicanors matters, and from that time the Hebrues had the citie in possession. And here will I also make an ende.
39 If I haue done wel,and as the storie required, it is the thing that I desired: but if I haue spoken slenderly and barely,it is that I could.
40 For as it is hurtful to drinke wine alone, and then againe water: and as wine tempered with water is pleasant and delighteth the taste: so the setting out of the matter delighteth the eares of them that reade the storie. And here shall be the ende.

THE ENDE OF APOCRYPHA.

THE NEWE TESTA-MENT OF OVR LORD IESVS CHRIST, TRANSLATED OVT OF GREEKE BY THEOD. BEZA.

DEare Christian Reader, to the intent thou mightest [illegible] ter enioy the benefite of these notes or expositions [illegible] he newe Testament: I thought it not amisse to dec[illegible] thee the vse of the same. And first, for as much as th[illegible] tions or citing of places of the Scriptures in the [illegible] which direct to other places, conteining like phr[illegible] se, haue bene so placed, that none without great labo[illegible] ulde finde out the textes alleaged, I haue made these sixe seuerall figures or markes, ✣ ⁜ ∵ ⁎ ✱ * and haue set them as well in the margent as in the text, so that thou mayest easely finde that which thou desirest. For example, in the first word of the first Chapter of Matthew is placed this first marke ✣, looke out the like marke in the margent, and there thou shalt finde, Luke 3.23. which place agreeth to this of Matthew, and so likewise thou shalt finde in the residue. But if many quotations belong to one place, worde or sentence, the first is onely marked, and those that follow vnmarked appertaine to the same. And if it fall out that there be more then sixe directions in one columne, then is the first repeated againe, and the residue folowing in order as at the beginning: as it appeareth in the first columne of Matthewe, where both in the text and margent also, they are all two times set downe, and the foure first repeated againe.

The Notes which are directed by figures of Arithmeticke, as 1.2.3.4.&c. throughout the Euangelistes and Actes, declare the effect or summe of the doctrine conteined betweene one of the said figures, and the next that foloweth: as for example, from the figure 1. in the first line and first worde of Matthewe vnto the figure, 2. in the 18. verse of the same Chapter, the doctrine there gathered is set downe in the [illegible]rgent in this sort, 1 Iesus came of Abraham of the tribe of Iuda, and of the flocke of Da-[illegible] God promised.

THE HOLY GOSPEL OF IESVS CHRIST ACCORDING TO S. MATTHEWE.

CHAP. I.

1 That, Iesus is that Messias, the Sauiour promised to the Fathers. 18 The natiuitie of Christ.

✠ 1 THE [a] booke of the [b] generation of IESVS CHRIST the sonne
of Dauid, the [c] sonne of Abraham.
2 ✠ Abraham begate
Isaac. ∵ And Isaac begate
Iacob. And ⁑ Iacob begat
Iudas and his brethren.
3 ✱ And Iudas begate Phares, and Zara of Thamar. And *Phares begate Esrom. And Esrom begate Aram.
4 And Aram begate Aminadab. And Aminadab begate Naasson. And Naasson begat Salmon.
5 And Salmon begat Booz of Rachab. And ✠ Booz begat Obed of Ruth. and Obed begat Iesse.
6 And ✝ Iesse begate Dauid the King. And ∵ Dauid the King begate Solomon of her that was the wife of Vrias.
7 And ⁑ Solomon begate Roboam. And Roboam begate Abia. And Abia begate Asa.
8 And Asa begate Iosaphat. And Iosaphat begate Ioram. And Ioram begate Hozias.
9 And Hozias begat Ioatham. And Ioatham begate Achaz. And Achaz begate Ezekias.
10 And ✱ Ezekias begate Manasses. And Manasses begate Amon. And Amon begate Iosias.
11 And * Iosias begate Iakim. And Iakim [d] begate Iechonias and his brethren about the time they were caried away to Babylon.
12 And after they were caried away into Babylon, ✝ Iechonias begate Salathiel. ✝ And Salathiel begate Zorobabel.
13 And Zorobabel begate Abiud. And Abiud begate Eliacim. And Eliacim begate Azor.
14 And Azor begate Sadoc. And Sadoc begate Achim. And Achim begate Eliud.
15 And Eliud begate Eleazar. And Eleazar begate Matthan. And Matthan begate Iacob.
16 And Iacob begat Ioseph ẏ husbād of Mary, of whom was borne IESVS, that is called Christ.
17 So [e] all the generations frō Abraham to Dauid, are fourtene generations. And frō Dauid vntil they were caried away into Babylon, fourtene generations:
and after they were caried away into Babylon vntill Christ, fourteene generations.
18 ¶ Nowe the birth of [2] IESVS Christ was thus, When as his mother Mary was ∵ betrothed to Ioseph, before they came together, shee was found with childe of the holy Ghost.
19 Then Ioseph her husbande being a iust man, and not willing to make her a publike example, was minded to put her away secretly.
20 But whiles he thought these things, behold, the Angel of the Lorde appeared vnto him in a dreame, saying, Ioseph, the sonne of David, feare not to [f] take Mary thy [g] wife: for that which is [h] conceiued in her, is of the holy Ghost.
21 And she shall bring [3] foorth a sonne, and thou shalt ✠ call his name IESVS: for he shall ✝ [i] saue his people from their sinnes.
22 And all this was done ẏ it might be fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord by ẏ Prophet, saying, 23 ∵ Behold, a [k] virgine shalbe with childe, and shall beare a sonne, & they shal call his name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, God with vs.
24 ¶ Then Ioseph, being raised from sleepe, did as the Angel of the Lorde had inioyned him,
and tooke his wife.
25 But he knew her not, [l] til she had broght forth her first borne sonne, & he called his name IESVS.

CHAP. II.

The wise men, who are the first fruites of the Gentiles, worship Christ. 14 Ioseph fleeth into Egypt with Iesus and his mother. 16 Herod slayeth the children.

WHen ⁑ [1] IESVS then was borne at Bethleem in [a] Iudea, in the dayes of Herod the King, beholde, there came [b] Wisemen from the East to Hierusalem,
2 Saying, Where is that King of the Iewes that is borne? for wee haue seene his starre in the East, and are come to worship him.
3 When King Herod heard this, he was troubled, and all Hierusalem with him.
4 And gathering together all the [d] chiefe Priestes and [e] Scribes of the people, hee asked of them, where Christ should be borne.
5 And they sayd vnto him, At Beth-leem in Iudea: for so it is written by the Prophet, 6 ✱ And thou Beth-leem in the land of Iuda, art not the [f] least among the Princes of Iuda:
For out of thee shall come the gouernour that [g] shall feede that my people Israel.
7 Then Herod priuily called the Wisemen, and diligently inquired of them the time of the starre that appeared,
8 And sent them to Beth-leem, saying, Goe, and searche diligently for the babe: and when ye haue found him, bring mee worde againe, that I may come also, and worship him.
9 ¶ So when they had heard the King, they departed: and loe, the starre which they had seene in the East, went before them, till it came and stoode ouer the place where the babe was.
10 And when they sawe the starre, they reioyced with an exceeding great ioy, 11 And went into the house, and founde the babe with Mary his mother, and [h] fell downe, and worshipped him, and opened their [i] treasures, and presented vnto him giftes, euen golde, and frankincense, and myrrhe.

saying, Arise, and take the babe & his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be there til I bring thee word:
for Herod will seeke the babe, to destroy him.
14 So he arose and tooke the babe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt, foorth, and slew all the male children that were in Beth-leem, and in all the coasts thereof, from two yeere old and vnder, according to the time which he had diligently searched out of the Wisemen.

17 Then was that fulfilled which is spoken
[l] by the Prophet Ieremias, saying, 18 ✠ In Rhama was [m] a voyce heard, mourning, and weeping, and great howling: [n] Rachel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted, because they were not.

Angel of the Lord appeareth in a dreame to Ioseph in Egypt, 20 Saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and goe into the land of Israel: for they are dead which sought the babes life.
21 Then he arose vp and tooke the babe and his mother, and came into the land of Israel.
22 But whẽ he heard ÿ Archelaus did reigne in Iudea in stead of his father Herod, he was afraide to go thither: yet after he was warned of God in a dreame, he turned aside into the parts of Galile,

12 ¶ ∵ 2 And when Iesus had heard that Iohn was committed to prison, he returned into Galile.
13 And leauing Nazareth, went and dwelt in d Capernaum, which is nere the sea in the borders of Zabulon and Nephthalim, 14 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken
by Esaias the Prophet, saying, 15 ※ The lande of Zabulon, and the lande of Nephthalim by the way of the e sea, beyond Iordan, f Galile of the Gentiles: 16 The people which sate in darkenes, sawe great light: and to them which sate in the region, and shadow of death, light is risen vp.
17 ✠ From that time Iesus began to preach, and to say, Amend your liues: for the kingdome of heauen is at g hand.
18 ¶ 3 And Iesus walking by the sea of Galile, sawe two brethren, Simon, which was called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea (for they were fishers.)
19 *And he said vnto them, Follow mee, and I will make you fishers of men.
20 And they straightway leauing the nets, followed him.
21 And when he was gone forth from thence,
he saw other two brethren, Iames the sonne of Ze-bedeus, and Iohn his brother in a ship with Zebedeus their father, mending their nets, & he called them.
22 And they without tarying, leauing the ship,
and their father, folowed him.
23 So 4 Iesus went about all Galile, teaching in h their i Synagogues, and preaching the Gospell of the k kingdome, and healing l euery sickenesse and euery m disease among the people.
24 And his fame spread abroad through all Syria: and they brought vnto him all sicke people, that were taken with diuers diseases & n torments, and them that were possessed with deuils, and those which were o lunatike, and those that had the p pal-

25 And there followed him great multitudes out of Galile, and Decapolis, and Hierusalem, and Iudea, and from beyond Iordan.

6 The couetous Pharises taught that God was appeased by the sacrifices appointed in the Lawe, which they them selues deuoured. But Christ on the contrary side denieth that God accepteth any mans offering, vnlesse hee maketh satisfaction to his brother whome hee hath offended: and sayeth moreouer, that these stubburne and stiffenecked despisers of their brethren, shall neuer escape the wrath and curse of God, before they haue made full satisfaction to their brethren. o Hee applieth all this speach, to the state of his time, when as there was an altar standing in Hierusalem: and therefore they are very foolish, that gather hereupon, that wee must builde altars, and vse sacrifices: but they are more fooles, which drawe that to purgatorie, which is spoken of peace making and atonement one with another. ✤ Luke 12. 58. p Cut off all cause of enmitie. q Thou shalt bee dealt withall, to the vtmost extremitie. 7 Hee is taken for an adulterer before God what soeuer hee bee, that coueteth a woman: and therefore we must keepe our eyes chaste, and all the members wee haue, yea and wee must eschewe all occasions which might mooue vs to euill, howe deare soeuer it cost vs. ✤ Exod. 20. 14. rom. 13. 9. ∵ Chap. 18. 8, 9. marke 9. 47. r Hee nameth the right eye and the right hand, because the partes of the right side of our body are the chiefest, and readiest to commit any wickednesse. s Worde for worde, doe cause thee to offend: for sinnes are stumbling blockes as it were, that is to say, rockes which we are cast vpon. ✻ Chap. 19. 7. deuter. 24. 1. marke 10. 4. luke 16. 18. 1. corinth. 7. 10. 8 The meaning of the thirde commandement against the frowarde opinion and iudgement of the Scribes, which excused by othes or indirect formes of swearing. ✻ Exod. 20. 7. leuit. 19. 12. deut. 5. 11.

2 He reprehendeth two foule faultes in prayer, ambition, and vaine babbling.

c Long prayers are not condemned, but vaine, needlesse, and superstitious.

Father knoweth whereof ye haue neede, before ye aske of him.
9 3 After this maner therefore pray ye, ✠ Our father which art in heauen, halowed be thy name.
10 Thy Kingdome come. Thy will bee done euen in earth, as it is in heauen.

14 ∵ 4 For if yee doe forgiue men their trespas-ses, your heauenly Father will also forgiue you.
15 But if ye do not forgiue men their trespas-ses, no more will your father forgiue you your trespasses.
16 5 Moreouer, when ye fast, looke not sowre as the hypocrites: for they [f] disfigure their faces, that they might seeme vnto men to fast. Verely I say vnto you, that they haue their rewarde.
17 But when thou fastest, anoint thine head,
and wash thy face,
18 That thou seeme not vnto men to fast, but vnto thy Father which is in secret: and thy Father which seeth in secret, will rewarde thee openly.
19 ¶ 6 Lay not vp treasures for your selues vp-on the earth, where the mothe & canker corrupt, and where theeues digge through and steale.
20 ✕ But lay vp treasures for your selues in heauen, where neither the mothe nor canker corrupteth, & where theeues neither digge through,
nor steale.
21 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.
22 ¶ ✠ 7 The light of the body is the eye: if then thine [g] eye be single, thy whole body shall be light.
23 But if thine eye be wicked, then all thy body shalbe darke. Wherefore if the light that is in thee, be darkenes, howe great is that darkenesse?
24 * 8 No man can serue [h] two masters: for ey-ther he shall hate the one, and loue the other, or els he shall leane to the one, and despise the other.
Ye cannot serue God and [i] riches.
25 ✠ 9 Therefore I say vnto you, be not care-full for your life, what yee shall eate, or what yee shall drinke: nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more worth then meate?
and the bodie then raiment?
26 Behold the foules of the [k] heauen: for they sowe not, neither reape, nor carie into the barnes: yet your heauenly Father feedeth them. Are yee not much better then they?
27 Which of you by [l] taking care is able to adde one cubite vnto his stature?
28 And why care ye for raiment? Learne howe the lilies of the fielde doe growe: they [m] are not wearied, neither spinne: 29 Yet I say vnto you, that euen Solomon in all his glorie was not arayed like one of these.
30 Wherefore if God so clothe the grasse of the fielde which is to day, and to morowe is cast into the ouen, shall hee not doe much more vnto you, O ye of litle faith?
31 Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eate? or what shall we drinke? or wherewith shall we be clothed?
32 (For after all these things seeke the Gentiles) for your heauenly Father knoweth, that yee haue neede of all these things.
33 But seeke yee first the kingdome of God, cast out the mote out of thy brothers eye.

6 ¶ 2 Giue ye not that which is holy to dogs, neither cast yee your [a] pearles before swine, lest

7 ¶ ✕ 3 Aske, and it shall be giuen you: seeke, and ye shall finde: knocke, and it shall be opened
vnto you.
8 For whosoeuer asketh, receiueth: and hee that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.
9 For what man is there among you, which if his sonne aske him bread, woulde giue him a stone?
10 Or if he aske fish, wil he giue him a serpent?
11 If ye then, which are euill, can giue to your children good giftes, howe much more shall your Father which is in heauen, giue good thinges to them that aske him?
12 ✠ 4 Therefore whatsoeuer yee woulde that men should doe to you, euen so doe yee to them:
for this is the [b] Lawe and the Prophets.
13 ¶ * 5 Enter in at the streight gate: for it is

struction: & many there bee which goe in thereat, 14 Because [c] the gate is streight, and the way narowe that leadeth vnto life, and fewe there bee that finde it.
15 ¶ 6 Beware of false prophets, which come to you, in sheepes clothing, but inwardly they are rauening wolues.
16 Ye shall knowe them by their fruites. ✠ Doe men gather grapes of thornes? or figges of thistles?
17 So euery good tree bringeth foorth good fruite, & a corrupt tree bringeth foorth euil fruite.
18 A good tree can not bring forth euil fruite:
neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruite.
19 ✠ Euery tree that bringeth not forth good fruite, is hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

7 [2] And as they departed, Iesus beganne to speake vnto the multitude, of Iohn, What went

8 But what went ye out to see? A man clothed in soft raiment? Behold, they that weare soft clo-

9 But what went yee out to see? A Prophet?
Yea, I say vnto you, and more then a Prophet.
10 For this is he of whome it is written, ✠ Be-holde, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.
11 Verely I say vnto you, among them which are begotten of women arose there not a greater the least in the [c] kingdome of heauen, is greater then he.

12 And from ∵ the time of Iohn Baptist hi-

and ye haue not lamented.
18 For Iohn came neither eating nor drinking, and they say, He hath a deuill.
19 The sonne of man came eating and drinking, and they say, Beholde a glutton and a drinker of wine, a friend vnto Publicanes and sinners:
[4] but [f] wisedome is iustified of her children.
20 ¶ [5] *Then began he to vpbraide the cities,

21 Woe be to thee, Chorazin: Woe be to thee, Bethsaida: for if ẏ great workes, which were done in you, hath bene done in Tyrus and Sidon, they had repented long agone in sackecloth and ashes.
22 But I say to you, It shalbe easier for Tyrus

if the great workes, which haue bin done in thee, had bene done among them of Sodom, they had remained to this day.
24 But I say vnto you, that it shall be easier for 25 ✠ At that time Iesus answered, and saide, I

CHAP. XII.

1 The disciples plucke the eares of corne. 6 Mercie, sacrifice. 10 The withered hand is healed. 12 Wee must doe good on the Sabbath. 22 The possessed is holpen. 25 A kingdome deuided. 31 Sinne, blasphemie. 33 The good or euill tree. 34 Vipers. 41 The Niniuites. 42 The Queene of Saba. 48 The true mother and brethren of Christ.

AT [1] ∵ that time Iesus went on a Sabbath day through ẏ corne, & his disciples were an hungred, & begã to plucke ẏ eares of corne & to eate.
2 And when the Pharises sawe it, they saide vnto him, Beholde, thy disciples doe that ✕ which is not lawfull to doe vpon the Sabbath.
3 But he saide vnto them, ✻ Haue ye not read what Dauid did when he was an hungred, & they

4 Howe hee entred into ẏ house of God, and did eate the [a] shewe bread, which was not lawfull for him to eate, neither for them which were with him, but onely for the * Priestes?
5 Or haue ye not read in the Lawe, how that on the Sabbath dayes the Priestes in the Temple ✠ [b] breake the Sabbath, and are blameles?
6 But I say vnto you, that here is one greater then the Temple.
7 Wherefore if yee knewe what this is, ✠ I will haue mercie, and not sacrifice, ye would not haue condemned the innocents.
8 For the sonne of man is Lord, euen of the Sabbath.
9 ∵ [2] And hee departed thence, and went into their Synagogue:
10 And beholde, there was a man which had his hand dried vp. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawfull to heale vpon a Sabbath day? that they might accuse him.
11 And he said vnto thẽ, What man shall there be among you, ẏ hath a sheepe, & if it fal on a Sabbath day into a pit, doth not take it & lift it out?
12 How much more then is a man better then a sheepe? therefore, it is lawfull to doe well on a Sabbath day.
13 Then said he to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it foorth, and it was made whole as the other.
14 [3] Then the Pharises went out, & consulted against him, howe they might destroy him.
15 But whẽ Iesus knew it, he departed thẽce, & great multitudes followed him, & he healed thẽ al, 16 And charged them in threatning wise, that they should not make him knowen, 17 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken
by Esaias the Prophet, saying, 18 ✕ Behold my seruant whom I haue chosen, my beloued in whom my soule deliteth: I will put my Spirit on him, and he shall shewe [c] iudgement to the Gentiles.
19 Hee shall not striue, nor crie, neither shall any man heare his voyce in the streetes.
20 A bruised reede shall he not breake, & smoking flaxe shal he not quenche, till he [d] bring forth iudgement vnto victorie.
21 And in his Name shall the Gentiles trust.
22 ¶ ✻ [4] Then was brought to him one, possesled him, so ẏ he which was blind and dumme, both spake and saw.

THe ∵ same day went Iesus out of the house,
and sate by the sea side.
2 [1] And great multitudes resorted vnto him, so that he went into a ship, and sate downe: and the whole multitude stoode on the shore.
3 Then he spake many things to them in parables, saying, Behold, a sower went forth to sowe.
4 And as he sowed, some fell by the way side, and the foules came and deuoured them vp.
5 And some fell vpon stony grounde, where they had not much earth, and anon they sprung vp, because they had no depth of earth.
6 And when the sunne was vp, they were parched, and for lacke of rooting withered away.
7 And some fell among thornes, and the thornes sprung vp, and choked them.
8 Some againe fel in good ground, & brought forth fruite, one corne an hundreth folde, some six-tie folde, and another thirtie folde.
9 He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.
10 ¶ Then the disciples came, and said to him,
Why speakest thou to them in parables?
11 [2] And he answered, & said vnto them, Because it is giuen vnto you, to know the secretes of the kingdome of heauen, but to thẽ it is not giuen.
12 ✱ For whosoeuer hath, to him shalbe giuen, and he shall haue abundance: but whosoeuer hath

13 Therefore speake I to them in parables, because they seeing, doe not see: and hearing, they heare not, neither vnderstand.

haue winked, lest they should see ẇ their eyes, and heare ẇ their eares, & should vnderstand ẇ their 16 [3] But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and 19 Whensoeuer any man heareth the worde of that kingdome,and vnderstandeth it not,that euill one commeth, and catcheth away that which was sowen in his a heart : and this is he which hath re-ceiued the seede by the way side.

20 And hee that receiued seede in the stonie ground,is he which heareth the worde, and incon-tinently with ioy receiueth it, 21 Yet hath hee no roote in himselfe, and dureth but a season: for assoone as tribulation or persecution commeth because of the worde,by and by he is offended.
22 And hee that receiued the seede among thornes, is hee that heareth the worde : but the care of this worlde , and the deceitfulnesse of riches choke the worde, and he is made vnfruitfull.
23 But hee that receiued the seede in the good ground, is hee that heareth the worde,and vnderstandeth it, which also beareth fruite, and bringeth foorth, some an hundreth folde, some sixtie folde,and some thirtie folde.

a Though there be mention made of the heart, yet this saying is referred to hearing without understanding. For whether the seede be receiued in the heart or no, yet he that soweth, soweth it in the heart.

24 ¶ 4 Another parable put hee foorth vnto them,saying,The kingdome of heauen is like vnto
a man which sowed good seede in his fielde.
25 But while men slept,there came his enemie, & sowed tares among the wheat,& went his way.
26 And when the blade was sprung vp, and brought forth fruite,then appeared the tares also.
27 Then came the seruaunts of the housholder, and saide vnto him, Master, sowedst not thou good seede in thy fielde? from whence then hath it tares?
28 And hee saide to them, Some enuious man hath done this. Then the seruaunts saide vnto him, Wilt thou then that wee goe and gather them vp?
29 But he saide, Nay, lest while ye goe about to gather the tares, yee plucke vp also with them
the wheate.
30 Let both growe together vntill the haruest, and in time of haruest I will say to the reapers,Gather yee first the tares, and binde them in sheaues to burne them : but gather the wheate into my barne.

4 Christ sheweth in an other parable of the euill seede mixt with the good,that the Church shal neuer be free and quit from offences, both in doctrine and maners,vntill the day appointed for the restoring of all things doe come,and therefore the faithfull haue to arme them selues with patient and constancie.

31 ¶ ♣ 5 Another parable hee put foorth vnto
them,saying,The kingdome of heauen is like vnto
a graine of mustard seede,which a man taketh and soweth in his fielde:
32 Which in deede is the least of all seedes:
but when it is growen, it is the greatest among herbes, and it is a tree, so that the birdes of heauen come and build in the branches thereof.
33 ¶ ∵ Another parable spake hee to them, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto leauen, which a woman taketh and hideth in three pecks of meale, till all be leauened.
34 ¶ ✠ All these things spake Iesus vnto the multitude in parables, and without parables spake he not to them,
35 That it might bee fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, saying, ✻ I will open my mouth in parables, and will vtter the thinges which haue beene kept secrete from the foundation of the world.
36 Then sent Iesus the multitude away, and went into the house. And his disciples came vnto him, saying, Declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of that fielde.
37 6 Then answered he, and saide to them, He that soweth the good seede, is the Sonne of man, 38 And the fielde is the worlde, and the good seede are the children of the kingdome, and the tares are the children of that wicked one.
39 And the enemie that soweth them, is the deuill, ♣ and the haruest is the ende of the worlde, and the reapers be the Angels.
40 As then the tares are gathered and burned in the fire,so shall it be in the ende of this world.
41 The Sonne of man shall send foorth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdome all things that offend, and them which doe iniquitie, 42 And shall cast them into a fornace of fire.

11 ✠ That

11 ✣ That which goeth into the mouth, defi-

12 ¶ Then came his disciples, and sayde vnto

16 Then sayd Iesus, Are ye yet without vnder-
standing?
17 Perceiue ye not yet, that whatsoeuer entreth into the mouth, goeth into the bellie, and is

18 But those things which proceede out of the

31 In so much that the multitude wondered,
to see the dumme speake, the maimed whole, the
halt to goe, and the blinde to see: and they glori-

and said, I haue compassion on this multitude, because they haue i continued with mee already

let them depart fasting, least they faint in the way.
33 And his disciples sayde vnto him, Whence

THen 1 came to Iesus the Scribes and Pharises, which were of Ierusalem, saying, 2 ✠ Why doe thy disciples transgresse the tradition of the Elders? for they a wash not their hands when they eate bread.
3 2 But he answered and said vnto them, Why doe yee also transgresse the commaundement of God by your tradition?
4 ∵ For God hath commaunded, saying, b Honour thy father and mother: ✠ and he that curseth father or mother, let him die the death.
5 But ye say, c Whosoeuer shall say to father or mother, By the gift that is offered by me, thou maiest haue profite, 6 Though hee honour not his father, or his mother, shall be free: thus haue ye made the commaundement of God of no d authoritie by your tradition.
7 3 O hypocrites, Esaias prophecied well of you, saying,
8 ✠ This people draweth neere vnto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with the lips, but their heart is farre off from me.
9 But in vaine they worship me, teaching for doctrines, mens precepts.
10 4 Then hee called the multitude vnto him, and said to them, Heare and vnderstand.

b By honour is meant all kinde of duetie which children owe to their parents.
✠ Exod.21.17. leu.20.9. pro.20.20. c The meaning is this: whatsoeuer I bestowe vpon the temple, is to thy profite, for it is as good as if I gaue it thee, for (as the Pharises of our time say) it shall bee meritorious for thee, for vnder this colour of religion, they raked all to themselues, as though that hee that had giuen any thing to the temple, had done the duetie of a childe. d You made it of no power and authoritie as much as lyeth in you: for otherwise the commaundements of God stand fast in the Church of God, in despite of the world and Satan. 3 The same men are condemned for hypocrisie and superstition, because they made the kingdome of God to stand in outward things. ✠ Esai 29.13. 4 Christ teacheth that hypocrisie of false teachers which deceiue our soules, is not to be borne withall, no not in indifferent matters, and there is no reason why their ordinarie vocation should blind our eyes: otherwise wee are like to perish with them.

11 ✠ That which goeth into the mouth, defi-leth not the man, but that which commeth out of the mouth, that defileth the man.

✠ Marke 7.18.

12 ¶ Then came his disciples, and sayde vnto him, Perceiuest thou not, that the Pharises are offended in hearing this saying?

13 But hee answered and sayd, ✠ Euery plant which mine heauenly Father hath not planted, shalbe rooted vp.

15 ¶ ※ Then answered Peter, and said to him, Declare vnto vs this parable.

16 Then sayd Iesus, Are ye yet without vnder-
standing?

17 Perceiue ye not yet, that whatsoeuer entreth into the mouth, goeth into the bellie, and is cast out into the draught?

18 But those things which proceede out of the mouth, come from the heart, and they defile the
man.

19 For out of the heart ⁂ come euil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false testimonies, slaunders.

20 These are the things, which defile the man:
but to eat w^t vnwashen hands, defileth not the man.

21 * And Iesus went thence, and departed into the ^e coastes of Tyrus and Sidon.

22 And beholde, a woman a ^f Cananite came out of the same coasts, and cried, saying vnto him, Haue mercie on me, O Lord, the sonne of Dauid:
my daughter is miserably vexed with a deuil.

23 ⁵ But hee answered her not a worde. Then came to him his disciples, and besought him, saying, Sende her away, for she crieth after vs.

24 But he answered, and said, I am not sent, but

25 Yet she came, and worshipped him, saying, Lord, helpe me.

26 And he answered, and said, It is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it to whelps.

27 But she said, Truth, Lord: yet in deede the whelps eate of the crummes, which fall from their masters table.

28 Then Iesus answered, and sayde vnto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it to thee, as thou desirest. And her daughter was made whole at that houre.

29 ¶ ⁶ So Iesus ✠ went away from thence, and came neere vnto the sea of Galile, and went vp into a mountaine and sate downe there.

30 And great multitudes came vnto him, ∴ hauing with them, halt, blinde, dumme, ^h maimed, and many other, and cast them downe at Iesus feete, and he healed them.

31 In so much that the multitude wondered,
to see the dumme speake, the maimed whole, the
halt to goe, and the blinde to see: and they glorified the God of Israel.

32 ※ ⁷ Then Iesus called his disciples vnto him,
and said, I haue compassion on this multitude, because they haue ^i continued with mee already three dayes, & haue nothing to eate: and I will not let them depart fasting, least they faint in the way.

33 And his disciples sayde vnto him, Whence should we get so much bread in the wildernes, as should suffice so great a multitude?

34 And Iesus said vnto them, How many loaues haue ye? And they said, Seuen, & a few litle fishes.

28 ¶ [7] But what thinke yee? A certaine man had two sonnes, and came to the elder, and sayde, Sonne, goe and worke to day in my vineyarde.

29 But he answered, and said, I wil not: yet afterward he repented himselfe, and went.

30 Then came he to the second, and said likewise. And he answered, and said, I will, Syr: yet he went not.

31 Whether of them twaine did the will of the father? They sayd vnto him, The first. Iesus sayd vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that the Publicanes and the harlots [p] goe before you into the kingdome of God.

32 For Iohn came vnto you in the [q] way of righteousnes, and yee beleeued him not: but the Publicanes, and the harlots beleeued him, and ye, though ye sawe it, were not mooued with repentance afteward, that ye might beleeue him.

33 ¶ [8] Heare another parable, There was a certaine housholder, ✠ which planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, & made a winepresse therein, and [r] built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange countrey.

34 And when the time of the fruite drewe neere, hee sent his seruants to the husbandmen to receiue the fruites thereof.

35 And ẏ husbandmen tooke his seruants and beat one, and killed another, and stoned another.

36 Againe hee sent other seruants, moe then the first: and they did the like vnto them.

37 But last of all he sent vnto them his owne sonne, saying, They will reuerence my sonne.

38 But when the husbandmen sawe the sonne, they saide among themselues, * This is the heire: come, let vs kil him, & let vs [s] take his inheritance.

39 So they tooke him, and cast him out of the vineyarde, and slewe him.

40 When therefore the Lorde of the vineyarde shall come, what will he doe to those husbandmen?

41 They sayd vnto him, Hee will [t] cruelly destroy those wicked men, and will let out his vineyard vnto other husbandmen, which shall deliuer him the fruites in their seasons.

42 Iesus sayd vnto them, Read ye neuer in the Scriptures, ✠ The stone which the [u] builders refused, the same is [x] made the [y] head of the corner? [z] This was the Lords doing, and it is marueilous in our eyes.

43 Therefore say I vnto you, The kingdome of God shalbe taken from you, and shalbe giuen to a nation, which shall bring foorth the [a] fruites thereof.

44 ✠ And whosoeuer shall fall on this stone, he shalbe broken: but on whomsoeuer it shal fall, it will [b] dash him in pieces.

45 And when the chiefe Priestes and Pharises had heard his parables, they perceiued that hee spake of them.

46 [8] And they seeking to lay handes on him, feared the people, because they tooke him as a Prophet.

4 Againe he sent foorth other seruants, saying, Tell them which are bidden, Beholde, I haue prepared my dinner: mine oxen and my fatlings are [a] killed, and all things are ready: come vnto the mariage.

5 But they made light of it, and went their wayes, one to his farme, and another about his marchandise.

6 And the remnant tooke his seruants, and intreated them sharpely, and slewe them.

7 [2] But when the King heard it, he was wroth, and sent foorth his warriers, and destroyed those murtherers, and burnt vp their citie.

8 Then sayd hee to his seruants, Truely the [b] wedding is prepared: but they which were bidden, were not worthy.

art true, and teachest the way of God [h] truely, nei-

the [i] person of men.
17 [5] Tell vs therefore, how thinkest thou? Is it

18 But Iesus perceiued their wickednes, and said, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?
19 Shewe mee the tribute money. And they 22 And when they heard it, they marueiled, and 23 ¶ [6] ✱ The same day the Sadduces came to him (which say that there is no resurrection) and asked him,

24 Saying, Master, * Moses saide, If a man die, hauing no [m] children, his brother shall marrie his 27 And last of all the woman died also.

28 Therefore in the resurrection, whose wife shall she be of the seuen? for all had her.
29 Then Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, Yee are deceiued, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God.
30 For in the resurrection they neither marrie wiues, nor wiues are bestowed in marriage, but are as the [n] Angels of God in heauen.
31 And concerning the resurrection of the dead, haue ye not read what is spoken vnto you of God, saying,
32 ✠ I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the liuing.
33 And when the multitude heard it, they were astonied at his doctrine.
34 ¶ ✠ [7] But when the Pharises had heard, that hee had put the Sadduces to silence, they assembled together.
35 And [o] one of them, which was an expounder of the Lawe, asked him a question, tempting him, and saying,
36 Master, which is the great commaundement in the Lawe?
37 Iesus said to him, ✠ Thou shalt loue the Lord thy God with all thine heart, with all thy [p] soule, and with all thy minde.
38 This is the first and the great commaunde-ment.
39 And the second is like vnto this, ✠ Thou shalt loue thy [q] neighbour as thy selfe.
40 On these two commaundements hangeth the whole Lawe, and the Prophets.
41 ¶ [8] ∴ While the Pharises were gathered together, Iesus asked them, 42 Saying, What thinke ye of Christ? [r] whose

43 He said vnto them, How then doeth Dauid

1 The destruction of the citie and especially of the Temple is foretolde.
✱ Luke 19.44.
2 The Church shall haue a continuall conflict with infinite miseries and offences, and that more is, with false prophets, vntill the day of victorie and triumph commeth.
* Ephes. 5. 6. coloss. 2.18.
a That is, when those things are fulfilled, yet the ende shall not come.

b Euery where. c Worde for worde, of great torments, like vnto women in trauaile. ✣ Chap. 10. 17. luke 21.12. iohn 15. 20. and 16.2.

✠ 2.Thess.2.13. 2.tim.2.5.
3 The Gospel shalbe spread abroade, rage the worlde and the deuill neuer so much: and they which doe constantly beleeue, shall be saued.
d Ioyfull tydings of the kingdome of heauen.
e Through all that part that is dwelt in.
4 The kingdome of Christ shall not be abolished when the citie of Hierusalem is vtterly destroyed, but shalbe stretched out euen to the ende of the worlde.
✠ Marke 13.14. luke 21.20.
f The abomination of desolation, that is to say, which all men detest and cannot abide, by reason of the foule and shamefull filthinesse of it: and he speaketh of the Idoles that were set vp in the Temple, or as other thinke, he meant the marring of the doctrine in the Church.
∵ Dani 9.27.
g This betokeneth the great feare that shall be.
※ Actes, 1.12.
h It was not lawfull to take a iourney on the Sabbath day, Ioseph booke 13.
i Those thinges which befell the people of the Iewes in the 34 yeeres, when as the whole land was wasted, and at length the citie of Hierusalem taken, and both it and their Temple destroyed, are mixed with those which shall come to passe before the last comming of our Lord.
k The whole nation should vtterly be destroyed: and this worde Flesh is by a figure taken for man, as the Hebrues vse to speake.
✠ Marke.13.21. luke 17.23.

flicted, and shall kill you, and ye shall be hated of all nations for my Names sake.
10 And then shall many be offended, and shall betray one another, and shall hate one another.
11 And many false prophets shall arise, & shall deceiue many.
12 And because iniquitie shalbe increased, the loue of many shalbe colde.
13 ✠ 3 But hee that endureth to the ende, hee shalbe saued.
14 And this d Gospel of the kingdome shalbe preached through the whole e world for a witnes vnto all nations, and then shall the end come.
15 ¶ 4 When ye ✠ therefore shall see the f abomination of desolation spoken of by ∵ Daniel the Prophet, set in the holy place (let him that readeth consider it.) 16 Then let them which be in Iudea, flee into the mountaines.
17 Let him which is on the house top, not come downe to fetch any thing out of his house.
18 And he that is in the fielde, let not him returne backe to fetch his g clothes.
19 And woe shalbe to them that are w childe, and to them that giue sucke in those dayes.
20 But pray that your flight be not in the winter, neither on the ※ h Sabbath day.
21 For then shall be great tribulation, such as was not from the beginning of the worlde to this time, nor shalbe.
22 And except i those dayes should be shorteped, there should no k flesh be saued: but for the elects sake those dayes shalbe shortened.
23 ✠ Then if any shall say vnto you, Loe, here is Christ, or there, beleeue it not.
24 For there shall arise false Christes, and false prophets, and l shall shewe great signes and wonders, so that if it were possible, they should deceiue the very elect.
25 Beholde, I haue tolde you before.
26 Wherefore if they shall say vnto you, Beholde, he is in the desert, goe not forth: Beholde, he is in the secret places, beleeue it not.
27 For as the lightning commeth out of the East, and is seene into the West, so shall also the comming of the Sonne of man be.
28 * 5 For wheresoeuer a dead m carkeis is, thither will the Egles be gathered together.
29 ✠ 6 And immediatly after ẏ tribulations of those dayes, shall the sunne be darkened, and the moone shall not giue her light, & the starres shall fal frō heauen, & ẏ powers of heauē shalbe shakē.
30 And then shall appeare the n signe of the Sonne of man in heauen: and then shall all the o kinreds of the earth p mourne, ✠ and they shall see the sonne of man q come in the cloudes of heauen with power and great glorie.
31 ∵ And he shall send his Angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect, from the r foure windes, and from the one ende of the heauens vnto the other.
32 7 Now learne the parable of the figge tree:
when her bough is yet f tender, & it putteth foorth leaues, ye knowe that sommer is neere.
33 So likewise ye, when ye see all these things, know ẏ the kingdome of God is nere, euē at ẏ doores.
34 Verely I say vnto you, this t generation shall not passe, till all these things be done.
35 ✠ 8 Heauen and earth shall passe away: but my wordes shall not passe away.
36 9 But of ẏ day and houre knoweth no man, no not the Angels of heauen, but my father only.
37 But as the dayes of Noe were, so likewise shall the comming of the Sonne of may be.
38 ✠ For as in the dayes before the flood, they did u eate and drinke, marrie, and giue in mariage, vnto the day that Noe entred into the Arke, 39 And knewe nothing, till the flood came,
and tooke them all away, so shall also the comming of the Sonne of man be.
40 10 ∵ Then two shall be in the fieldes, the one shalbe receiued, and the other shalbe refused.
41 x Two women shalbe grinding at ẏ mill: the
one shalbe receiued, and the other shalbe refused.
42 11 ※ Watch therefore: for yee knowe not what houre your master will come.
43 ✠ Of this bee sure, that if the good man of the house knewe at what watch the thiefe would come, hee woulde surely watch, and not suffer his house to be digged through.
